I smoke a great many Chesterfields... morning, noon and night... they are always the same.

Chesterfields are milder... they taste better.
We have mused long on this subject. We would not be likely to succeed, if it were not for the invaluable lesson from their first year, which they learned to understand what the man behind me was saying, and was old at $2.00. Miss Monroe, '35

Of House Council

As a meeting of the presidents of group houses on Monday in the office of the dean of women, Margaret Monroe, '35, was elected president of the Inter-Group House council. Other officers elected were Regina Barrett, '36, vice-president; and Charlotte Hill, '36, secretary-treasurer.

The association will be headed by the executive council, which is composed of the presidents of all group houses, being in addition to group houses as the Inter-group council, that in connection with the student council. Seven group houses are represented in the organization at present.

Show News' Advertisers
That Their Ads Are Read

"An eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth," or we might amend the old adage to read, "A sale for every inch of advertising space in the News."

It all amounts to a sort of profits reciprocity agreement between the advertisers of State college and the business men, according to the News. This is why the students of State college do not respond to the advertisement. If the shops and stores spend good money for advertising, why shouldn't they expect some return? It's up to the State students to patronize some of the places which advertise in the News. Here is your chance! If you don't buy anything, it certainly is the fair thing to do to go in and look around. Maybe you will see something you want, and whether you do or don't—just mention the fact that their store was brought to your attention through their ad in the News.
