G. A. A. HIKE TO INDIAN LADDER

Don't miss the hike to Indian Ladder this Saturday, May 24th. It is the biggest and best offering for the whole season for G. A. A. If you are not a member, join now and have one solid day of fun before exams. This is one of the best opportunities to form new friendships and renew old ones. So, Seniors and Freshmen, it should appeal especially to you. Come on, Frosh; show your enthusiasm; we are watching you sign up. The bus leaves College at 9 o'clock.

DANCERS IN SOPHOMORE STUNT

Each Moving-up Day at State is always better than the past and the "Big Day" of 1919 was an exceptional success. The program began at 10:30 with a procession of the classes into the auditorium, the Seniors wearing caps and gowns; the other classes dressed in white and their class color. The Juniors wore yellow collars and arm bands, the Sophomores, red ties and red and white arm bands, and the Freshmen, blue ties and blue hair ribbons. The class banners were carried at the head of each class by the class marshals. The mornings were Margaret Flinn, grand marshal; Frances Reeks and Charlotte Lynch, of the Freshman class; Katherine Collier and Winifred Darling, of the Sophomore class; Alice Lewis and June Snitler, of the Junior class; Margaret Becker and Viola Bronwell, of the Senior class. The Junior section was unopposed on the platform. Following the singing of "College Waiting, Madeline Gomard, Eileen Russell and Pearl Staat, were the other members of this cast.

The second scene was the one in which Althaf, this time played by Lorna Collins, "plants" the letter for Malvolio, who is Malvolio in a scene. Her interpretation of this part was exceedingly commendable, for it was a hard character to portray. Her make-up and "fat" look were more than one real laugh from the audience. The part of the love-sick duke, Viola, was portrayed by Dorothy, and her companions in the scene given were Elizabeth Archbold and Dorothéa Wright. The former, very saucily acted by Eunice Myers; the austere Malvolio, Lloyd Johnson, and the ladies-in-waiting, Madeline Gomard, Eileen Russell and Pearl Staat.

The Moving-up Day program was the Freshman-Sophomore banner rush. For the second time the Sophomores won, having defeated their opponents in the Moving-up Day flag races. A year ago the class of 21 wore their flag that show that of 1919. This year it was the class of '22 that felt the humiliation of defeat, for shortly after the start Baker, '21, gained the chimney, and the Sophomore banner stayed. Baker was loudly cheered, and the Sophomores thought their banner was in the lead, but the Frosh were able to keep them off. This scrap was not such an exciting affair as the one held last year, but this was due to a misunderstanding, standing by the Freshman men the place chosen by the powers-that-be, the highest point. Nevertheless, the Frosh put up a good, clean fight, and may possibly have won had it not been for this misunderstanding.

A WORD TO THE KNOCKERS

With the issue of the "big News" has come a considerable amount of adverse criticism. We ask the student to acknowledge various minor errors which are necessarily inevitable in an extension of the "News." Omission of names or events, or mistakes in numerals should never be attributed to personal spite or carelessness.

For one thing we are very glad—a good share of this criticism has been made directly to the editors, but when such remarks or suggestions are felt to be necessary we will not fail to bring them to the heart, now and then, and consider the difficulty of the position which the various numbers of the "News" are issued.

One thing more—our subscriptions are not made to a city state and dry. When really funny "Smiles" column has been called "that lays its pipes on cultivated ground." If you never really appreciated a student, NOT faculty, should be able to gain a seat in the house.

The membership of the board is limited to seven. Apparently only three of these are to be students. These are to be elected by the students, the seventh is to be a treasurer, appointed by the President of the College. Of course, and properly, this treasurer will not be a faculty member. That leaves the "balance of power" with faculty members.

It is proper and necessary that the faculty be represented, but it is evident that students should be outnumbered on the board of control.

Since the constitution proposed four out of five members must be present at any meeting to be a quorum, it can be seen that the four faculty members will control the student money.

A SENOIR

To the Editor of the "News."

Regarding the proposed, constitution for a Student Financial Board, upon which I understand we are to vote to-morrow, I would like to express a few ideas. I have observed the conduct of the students realizing the following facts:

1. The tax is paid by the students.
2. Even if all the faculty were to pay the tax in the coming years, their income would be only a very, very small part of the whole.
3. This proposed board for controlling student money has three student members, not one of whom may be a voting member of a board which is not to control the student tax. Is this fair, and is it necessary? The members of our boards work very hard and spend a very great deal of time and money for the sake of the College. What do they get out of it? A little honor and a good deal of criticism. They know as much about College needs as most of us. Surely we can not be fair-minded members of a financial board.

There are four faculty members on this board for controlling student money. Five members out of seven must be present to constitute a quorum and the vote of only one is necessary to pass a measure. Perhaps the faculty thinks that the students do not yet know how to control the expenditure of their own money. That may in fact be true, but it is that case surely is not the time to learn a thing or two before going into the world. And there are enormous salaries thrust upon us.

What do you think, you people whose money is under discussion? Wouldn't you rather have a board elected by the students and the faculty, with six student members? Or do you think the students should control their own money. That may in fact be true, but it is that case surely is not the time to learn a thing or two before going into the world.

HOMIE ECONOMICS

Miss Edith Blackman, head of the Home Economics Department at Skidmore School of Fine Arts, visited State College on Friday, May 16. The main reason for this visit was general observation of the department, and especially the study of the Practical House, its organization, management, and other things interesting to one who wishes to establish a Practical House at Canastota, N. Y.

Jessie Lane, '16, who has been teaching at Northfield Seminary, Northfield, Mass., since her graduation, has accepted a position at Town Hall, N. Y.

The class in bacteriology under Miss Wilson's direction have been making observation trips to the Presbyterian Plant, State Laboratory and Borden Laboratories.

The manager of the cafeteria, announces that any girl who wishes to work in the cafeteria during the Junior week-end, wish to take this course next year report their preference as to time to the Registrar at once.

NOTICE CONCERNING ENGLISH 22

It will be necessary to change the time for English 22 (High School Library Management) in order to include all the material. The time may be changed if desirable. Will all students who desire to take this course next year report their preference as to time to the Registrar at once.

ETA PHI

Dorothy Bohmiller, '19, and Florence Stanhope, '21, spent the weekend in Allamont.

Elizabeth Gardner, '20, attended the Delta Phi dance at Union, Saturday night.

Mrs. Osborne was the week-end guest at the home of her daughter, Elizabeth Osborne, '20.

Harriet Archibald, '19, gave a tea at the Psi Upsilon House, Union, for Mrs. Wooton, the house mother, who visited College for Movement Day.

Delta Phi congratulates Elizabeth Alexander, '20, on her election to Muskatia.

DELTA OMEGA

Jessie Gifford, '20, spent the weekend at Canaan.

Caroline Lopes, '19, was a guest at the Phi Upsilon House, Union, for the Junior week-end.

The girls were delightfully entertained over the week-end at the home of Lovisa Veldor, '20, in Catskill.

Miriam Smith, '20, attended an informal gathering at the Delta Phi House, Union, Saturday evening.

Miss Elizabeth Becker, '19, spent the week-end at the homes of her sisters, Margaret and Alma, on Moving-Up day.

SHAKESPEARE CLASS

Continued from Page 1 to the jovial Sir Toby. The other member of the cast was Sir Andrew. Auguste-cheek (Elise Hanbury) was the one who had to be given help. The rest were both exceptionally good scenes, having to the brevity of time allowed for the presentation they could not be given.

But although our assemblies mean a great deal to us now, we can more make out of them if we wish. There has always been a noticeable restraint and hesitancy on the part of the student body to speak on questions that are presented to us to discuss and vote. There is often much heated discussion in the halls and locker rooms before and after the assemblies. A single speaker rarely a peep when such discussion would be in order. We feel free to talk in class meetings, but are not in Student Assembly? A little honest discussion on the question before us would put new life into our Friday gatherings.

To-morrow we shall have another chance to talk on the question of a Board of Finance. Let's use all the ideas we have opinions to express and the ability to get them over.

Our student body will be only too glad to publish, and the students may in fact be true, but it is that case surely is not the time to learn a thing or two before going into the world.

service flag was carried by Bertha Tate and Hazel Baisden. The program opened with the Alma Mater, led by Elizabeth Archibald, and the College song leader.

njoyed the large auditory. Girls, daintily dressed in white pants were: Nellie Parkhurst, Gertrude Southard, Beatrice Buchanan, Agnes Rabe, Elsie Hanbury, Ellen Elizabeth Archibald, Helen Leitzell.

The May pole dance was exceptionally suitable to the occasion, and its graceful interpretation delighted the large audience present. Among the participants were: Nellie Parkhurst, Gertrude Southard, Beatrice Buchanan, Agnes Rabe, Elsie Hanbury, Ellen Elizabeth Archibald, Helen Leitzell, Martha Stuart, '19, ber the Sophomore colors, and Clara Knickerbocker accepted the gift for the College and expressed her pleasure in the choice of the name for the field.

The Junior stunt, consisting of a Grecian dance, was delightfully executed by dancers in white Grecian costumes, with yellow ribbons and garlands of smilax. The dancing to the tunes of "Pan" (Earle Hockett) delighted not only the May Queen, Miss Dorothy Banner, but every spectator. Those who took part were: Florence Van Ness, Madeline Cummings, Elizabeth Archibald, Helen Leitzell, Agnes Rabel, Elsie Hambury, Ellen Donaldson, Mary Stripling, Florence Rohr, John Taylor, Katherine Chamblee.

The classes then "Move-up" in their glory with Mary Carney leading the faculty for the times when '22 had failed. The be of '19 was held by Hazel Hengge, '19, then presented the Senior gift to the College, asking every spectator. This was followed by speakers from the auditorium to the campus, where each class formed its own numerals.

That the Freshmen should give a resume of the third inning seems to have been almost a tradition, but this stunt has never been so cleverly done as by the class of '22. While the organist was playing the national anthem, the players from the class of '22, with their walks, their jumps, and their cheers, captured two places for the team. The Frosh men failed to show as much form in the 25-yard dash as the members of the class of '22, but the Frosh with 20, and the Sopho with 22, captured two places for their team. The Frosh men failed to tally, but the girls team was well balanced and received a place in every event.

A baseball game between the even and odd-numbered classes followed the track meet, in which the Sopho-Senior girls' team was leading at the close of the third inning when the game was called on account of rain. The standings:

- 50-yard dash (women): First, Parkhurst, '21; second, Becker, '22; third, Walsh, '22.
- Standing broad jump (women): First, Carver, '22; second, Parkhurst, '21.
- Relay race (men): First, Sophomores; second, Seniors; third, Juniors.

- Women: Freshmen, 3; Sophomores, 2; Juniors, 1; Seniors, 0.
- Men: Freshmen, 3; Sophomores, 2; Juniors, 1; Seniors, 0.

Kappa Nu and Psi Gamma girls were the guests of Eleanor White, '15, at her summer home at Van Wees Point last Saturday night.

The National Convention will be held here next fall.
