DOLLARS AND SENSE.

Member of the student association will exercise one of the most important functions of self-government in student assembly today when he approve or reject the budget for the coming year.

One of the major problems of the American Revolution was that of the payment of the soldiers, for "Taxation without representation". In order to avoid a situation such as that of the American Revolution, the student body should reflect sufficient interest in the disposal of its money so that it may be used to the best advantage.

Upward the students to attend assembly and vote in full on the amount of the money to be spent. The amount of the money to be spent will be placed upon many of the worthwhile organizations by the student body, upon payment of the proposed student association budget, if the proposed student association budget is adopted.

SKELETON IN THE CLOSET

Hazing may be obsolete in most colleges but it is still held fast. Freshmen week which begins Sunday is a relic of the ancient and honorable custom of the Greeks. It is very regrettably in the past but it is the idea in the cause.

Books

Maude S. Garnett, Science of Science. A summary of man's scientific knowledge. By William E. Truett Tappan (Dover Publications, New York, $2.50). Science, throughout the ages and its relationship to human philosophy and religion from Thales to Einstein is the subject of this by a noted scholar. The parts playd by astronomers, biologists, physicians, philosophers, in solving the mystery of life are all outlined and the innumerable contributions explained in a manner understandable by every reader.

The Right Attitude

The faculty has taken the right attitude toward the regulation of student participation in extra-curricular activities as is shown by the action of President A. R. Broderick in calling the retiring sons of presidents and extra-curricular leaders to confer with the faculty.

The interest of the students was high this year unusually sporadic. But Dr. Brubacher feels that the students are more aware than ever of the social problems that arise during a period of college life, and he has written in his letter to the students that the policy is one of enlightenment rather than to impress the freshmen with the idea of their own unimportance and of orientating men to the world which surrounds them. The freshmen in order to have another interested in the problem is not a new one nor is the outbreak of hazing unusual. But Dr. Brubacher feels that the blame for flunking students must not be placed upon many of the worthwhile organizations by the student body upon payment of the proposed student association budget, if the proposed student association budget is adopted.

WHERE the very first mention of hazing was made, the modern method is merely embarrassing, where before hazing was physical, it is now mental, where hazing was a matter of simple means of impressing freshmen with a sense of their own unimportance and of orientating them into the routine of the college life, it is now an outward custom of only which the need for remedy figures on.

Taking Electrical Convenience From Ol' Man River

The total capacity of waterwheel generators built by General Electric in the last ten years is more than enough to supply light and power for twenty cities of one million population.

Installed in power houses along the waterways, these machines transform the strength of mighty rivers into useful electric energy for homes, for industry, and for transportation.

The vision and skill of college-trained men are largely responsible for the continuing leadership of General Electric in the service of furnishing machines and devices that provide the swift, sure convenience and the economy of electricity—on land and sea and in the air.
