The experiences of the faculty are the subject of this column, although the opinions expressed do not necessarily reflect the views of the administrator or the Board of Trustees of the University. Students, faculty members, and visitors are encouraged to offer their views on the issues at hand.

Mr. Covered

The attic as a recreation and meeting place is a common feature of many dormitories, providing a comfortable space for students to socialize and relax. It is often used as a study room, and some dorms even have a desk or writing area. However, the deck of the attic is not a common feature, and it is not clear how it would be used.

Facility Features

The deck of the attic may have some potential uses, such as providing extra storage space or serving as a seating area for small events. It could also be used as a Heloview, a term used to describe a study area with a scenic view, or as a quiet space for contemplation.

College Calendar

No special events or dates are mentioned in the College Calendar for the week of February 8-14, 1961.

To Help Keglers

Burt Rolls 603

A new use for the stick that the little ones used to play with is shown by Burt Constanzo of the A. B. C. Keglers. Burt recently attended a bowling tournament where he won the title with a 603 game. The tournament was held at the Empire Lanes in Albany and was open to all keglers. Burt, who is a member of the A. B. C. Keglers, has been bowling for several years and has won several titles. He is known for his accuracy and consistency, and his 603 game was a testament to his skills. Burt plans to continue his bowling career and hopes to win more titles in the future.

Handicap Now Used

Handicap has now been introduced into the kegler's game to make it more even. This means that players with different levels of ability can compete against each other on an equal footing. The handicap is based on a player's average score and is used to adjust the number of pins required to make a strike or a spare. This system has been in place for several years and has helped make the game fairer and more enjoyable.

To Boost Keglers

To boost the kegler's game, the kegler's game is now being used to promote ethical habits among the students. The kegler's game is a great way to encourage students to think about the consequences of their actions. For instance, if a student were to bowl a poor game, they would be penalized for it. This makes it clear that their actions have consequences and encourages them to think about the impact of their actions on others. In addition, the kegler's game is a great way to encourage students to be responsible and to take care of their possessions. For instance, if a student were to leave their kegler's equipment carelessly, they would be penalized for it. This makes it clear that their actions have consequences and encourages them to think about the impact of their actions on others.

More People Smoke Camels

More people smoke Camels than any other cigarette!

"Thereby hangs a tale!"

The class clown went out on a limb and told the other kids that he doesn't smoke cigarettes. He used the quick and dirty method! He tried the old clothes, but some kids had a field day. But then he got the last word on the ground. The kid learned that there's no easy way to dissuade him of his choice. He learned that there's a million ways to dissuade him of his choice. And the last word went...

The only test...

The only test... the 300 Yard Field Milosev Test which simply put in a Camel was a quick smoke on a pack after pack, day after day. No - no cigarettes needed. Just the usual Camel and only Camel for 30 days in your "Fifth" (75 for Thirst, 15 for Taste), we believe you'll see who...
