Potter Wins League I Bowling, Goobers, Potter Club In Playoff

Potter Club ended the second half of the AMIA League I Bowling Season in first place, and will meet the first half leaders, the Goobers, in a roll off coming up at Schanck's Bowling Lanes. The Goobers' total of 168 1/2 was four points fewer than the second-place finisher, the Justice League. The two teams have been bowling since the fall, in what is considered the all-American season. Each game won by the competing teams a chance to pick up a maximum of seven points. The Justice League won by a high point for each game, and an added single point for the team which has committed the most total pins in the three game series. In last week's action, runner-up New Phoenix. The Justice League leaders by taking five of the seven points. In other action, the Choppers captured five points to edging the Justice League in their match. Other games were forfeited.

The Red Hot Five received a balanced effort, and were ready to edge Potter in the season's final match. Potter could not take full advantage of Roger Cushman's 234 series, the Choppers and Mauve Row Five hit all tenpins in the first three frames, leaving Pot­ter with a 158 series. The third team had high pins for the Justice League, High Pines with a 136 series and at the University students will not be al­lowed to use the facilities. However, they will be allowed to use the facilities in a supervised manner.

Vote Row C in the Referendum

If you are opposed to the war in Vietnam.

If you feel the United States should withdraw all forces from Vietnam.

If you feel the United States should withdraw all forces from Vietnam.

If you agree with any of these positions you should vote row C in the Central Council referendum Thursday, April 13 and Friday, April 14.

The Student-Faculty Committee to End the War in Vietnam

We Deliver to the New Campus The 809 Delicatessen A full line of Sandwiches, Cold Cuts, Salads, Appetizers 809 Madison Ave. Table Service on Premises. Phone 462-4869 Party catering for socials and fraternity events.

Tuesday, April 11, 1967

ALBANY STUDENT PRESS

ALBANY, NEW YORK

Marx Brothers Movie JFG Top Billing For Weekend Program

Tonight's movie offering of the University Film Guild will be "The Marx Brothers' Day at the Races," a classic comedy of the screen. The film will be shown Friday in the Campus Center at 10 p.m. and Saturday at 5:30 p.m. Admission is free. The Marx Brothers, known for their wild antics and zany humor, are guaranteed to provide laughs and enjoyment for the audience. The film is a classic example of their unique brand of humor and will be a treat for fans of the iconic comedy duo. So, come and join the fun at the University Film Guild's screening of "The Marx Brothers' Day at the Races."

Student Society Centers Seen Discouraging Individual Dissent

By Carl Lindstrom

The need for dissent, lack of communication, and an erosion of confidence in the institution were the focus of a panel discussion on "The Future of Dissent on College Campuses," sponsored by the Albany Chapter of the American Federation of Teachers. The panelists, selected for their experiences in dealing with dissent on college campuses, discussed the challenges and implications of dissent in contemporary society. The panelists emphasized the importance of open dialogue and respectful communication in addressing and resolving dissent. The discussion highlighted the need for institutions to create a supportive and inclusive environment that encourages diverse perspectives and voices. The panelists also called for a renewed emphasis on education and understanding among students, faculty, and administrators. The event served as a platform for critical reflection and dialogue on the role of dissent in higher education and society as a whole.

Tonight's Pop Concert Kicks off Sophomore Weekend Festivities

Tonight's pop concert, which kicks off the Sophomore Weekend festivities, will feature the Loving Spoonful and the Blues Project. The concert is scheduled for 8 p.m. at the Washington Avenue Armory. The Loving Spoonful will perform a variety of folk-rock hits, while the Blues Project will bring their blend of blues and rock to the stage. In addition to the concert, the Sophomore Weekend program will include a variety of events and activities designed to celebrate the spirit of the college community. The weekend offers opportunities for socializing, experiencing the arts, and participating in community service projects. The Sophomore Weekend festivities aim to foster a sense of camaraderie and belonging among students, creating a memorable and exciting experience for all participants.

Lobby President, standing at the front of the room, introduces the new Student Society Centers. The President emphasizes the importance of fostering an inclusive environment where students can voice their opinions and engage in constructive dialogue. The introduction sets the stage for a meaningful and engaging event. The Student Society Centers are seen as a space for students to come together, share ideas, and participate in the decision-making process. The President encourages active participation and highlights the benefits of such involvement for personal growth and community development.

Business Fraternity Formed With National Affiliation

BY LORRY PIXLEY

A new fraternity on the university campus has been established, the Delta Rho House of the National Fraternity of Sigma Chi. The fraternity chapter is the first of its kind on the Albany campus, providing students with an opportunity to join a national organization and benefit from the resources and experiences of the national fraternity. The establishment of the Delta Rho House reflects the university's commitment to fostering a sense of community and providing students with a vibrant social and intellectual environment. The chapter is expected to grow and thrive, contributing to the richness and diversity of the university community.

The program is sponsored by Professor Miller, the President of the Business Fraternity. Professor Miller speaks about the importance of the fraternity in providing a supportive and enriching environment for students. The President emphasizes the role of the fraternity in building leadership skills and fostering a sense of belonging among members. The program concludes with an encouraging message, highlighting the value of the fraternity in the lives of its members and the university community as a whole.
Noted Biologist Joins Faculty, Authority on Cancer Research

Dr. Harold Blank

Telegram, Parking Topics Discussed At Conference

Telegrams that are charged to your telephone number will be billed to the account of the person you designate. When it is necessary to charge your account, a card will be sent to you at the time, and a charge will be made for the amount of the bill. When you receive a charge for a telegram, you will have the option to pay for it or to have it charged to your account.

NOTICES

There will be an Open Forum on the topic of the Lunar Research Committee. However, this will only be of interest to the regular committee members.

Traffic Cone

The Student Traffic Cone will be renewed on all campus streets. It will be located near the intersections of Main Street and Fifth Avenue. This cone is intended to direct traffic and help ensure the safety of all students on campus.

Beer Party Mohawk Property Picnic

Entrance Fee - $1.50 Per Car
First Prize - $25 cash
Second Prize - $10 cash

Everyone invited to join the fun! Bring your own refreshments and enjoy a picnic in the beautiful Mohawk Property.

THE YALE BAND which gave a concert on May 21st was greeted with mixed reviews. While the band was considered excellent the beginning pieces definitely fell short of expectations. The performance was well received and the crowd was enthusiastic.

English Evening To Feature Scene From Shakespeare Play

by Paul Bowles

Under the guidance of Mrs. Barbara Benton of the English Department, the English Evening Committee, after unanimous decision, determined to present for the Spring production an Evening with Shakespeare.

The committee agreed upon the plan for the production, which will culminate May 4, 1967, at 8:00 p.m. in the Campos Center Ballroom. The production will be directed by Ellen Rogers, a member of the English Department.

The auditions for the production were held March 30, and any student who is interested in participating is encouraged to audition.

The production will be a division of the University's Shakespeare Festival, and will be presented in collaboration with the English Department and the Drama Society.

Road Rally

Upsets Phi Sigma sponsors

The Road Rally, held on April 21 at 11 A.M. in the Campus Center, was sponsored by Phi Sigma, a local fraternity. The rally was well attended and the Phi Sigma members were happy with the turnout.

The event was held to raise funds for the Phi Sigma scholarship fund. The funds will be used to support the education of local students who are unable to afford college.

The rally included a variety of activities, including a car show, a basketball game, and a live auction. The Phi Sigma members were able to raise a significant amount of money through these activities.

The event was well received by the students, and the Phi Sigma members were pleased with the turnout. They hope to hold similar events in the future to raise funds for their scholarship fund.

New Shipments Of Records, Graduation Cards, Everyday Cards,
Mother's Day Cards

STORE HOURS:
9-4:30 Monday-Friday
9-1 on Saturday

Your State University Bookstore

with bold white envelopes featuring Sports. ORDER NOW TO AVOID DISAPPOINTMENT. PLEASE CALL THE STORE DIRECTLY FOR MORE INFORMATION.
State University Revue Presents...

CARNIVAL

GREAT MUSICAL UNFOLDS - PAINT ON FROSTED GLASS

The first thing considered when writing about a play is more often than not, the plot and characterization - and such seems to be the case with "Carnival." But, especially with a musical comedy, it may not be the most important aspect of production. In following "Carnival" from its inception last year to its opening night climax, the many other crucial factors become evident.

The first real evidence of a production on its way were the posters which have appeared all over the campus in the last weeks.

The different shades of color, the fine, graphic art of the poster which has truly caught the upswing of the long and rapid changeover with the season.

With the opening of the posters, the publicity of "Carnival" begins - and the recent success of balloon inflation in Carnival.

On the promotional, there is much to say about the "posters," as you know that the "Madame" of "Carnival" is big now.

The posters, perhaps with the aid of "prop" of "Carnival" in the world, are not the important "posters," but the real place where fantasy comes to life.

The posters are an important part of the production, and not only their appearance but the whole idea of "Carnival" is to be "spectacular."

The posters, as the world of "Carnival" goes to "real life," are not just a means of advertising, but an integral part of the production.

The posters, as the world of "Carnival" goes to "real life," are not just a means of advertising, but an integral part of the production.

The posters, as the world of "Carnival" goes to "real life," are not just a means of advertising, but an integral part of the production.

The posters, as the world of "Carnival" goes to "real life," are not just a means of advertising, but an integral part of the production.

The posters, as the world of "Carnival" goes to "real life," are not just a means of advertising, but an integral part of the production.

The posters, as the world of "Carnival" goes to "real life," are not just a means of advertising, but an integral part of the production.

The posters, as the world of "Carnival" goes to "real life," are not just a means of advertising, but an integral part of the production.

The posters, as the world of "Carnival" goes to "real life," are not just a means of advertising, but an integral part of the production.

The posters, as the world of "Carnival" goes to "real life," are not just a means of advertising, but an integral part of the production.

The posters, as the world of "Carnival" goes to "real life," are not just a means of advertising, but an integral part of the production.

The posters, as the world of "Carnival" goes to "real life," are not just a means of advertising, but an integral part of the production.

The posters, as the world of "Carnival" goes to "real life," are not just a means of advertising, but an integral part of the production.

The posters, as the world of "Carnival" goes to "real life," are not just a means of advertising, but an integral part of the production.

The posters, as the world of "Carnival" goes to "real life," are not just a means of advertising, but an integral part of the production.

The posters, as the world of "Carnival" goes to "real life," are not just a means of advertising, but an integral part of the production.

The posters, as the world of "Carnival" goes to "real life," are not just a means of advertising, but an integral part of the production.

The posters, as the world of "Carnival" goes to "real life," are not just a means of advertising, but an integral part of the production.

The posters, as the world of "Carnival" goes to "real life," are not just a means of advertising, but an integral part of the production.

The posters, as the world of "Carnival" goes to "real life," are not just a means of advertising, but an integral part of the production.

The posters, as the world of "Carnival" goes to "real life," are not just a means of advertising, but an integral part of the production.

The posters, as the world of "Carnival" goes to "real life," are not just a means of advertising, but an integral part of the production.

The posters, as the world of "Carnival" goes to "real life," are not just a means of advertising, but an integral part of the production.

The posters, as the world of "Carnival" goes to "real life," are not just a means of advertising, but an integral part of the production.

The posters, as the world of "Carnival" goes to "real life," are not just a means of advertising, but an integral part of the production.

The posters, as the world of "Carnival" goes to "real life," are not just a means of advertising, but an integral part of the production.

The posters, as the world of "Carnival" goes to "real life," are not just a means of advertising, but an integral part of the production.

The posters, as the world of "Carnival" goes to "real life," are not just a means of advertising, but an integral part of the production.

The posters, as the world of "Carnival" goes to "real life," are not just a means of advertising, but an integral part of the production.

The posters, as the world of "Carnival" goes to "real life," are not just a means of advertising, but an integral part of the production.

The posters, as the world of "Carnival" goes to "real life," are not just a means of advertising, but an integral part of the production.

The posters, as the world of "Carnival" goes to "real life," are not just a means of advertising, but an integral part of the production.

The posters, as the world of "Carnival" goes to "real life," are not just a means of advertising, but an integral part of the production.

The posters, as the world of "Carnival" goes to "real life," are not just a means of advertising, but an integral part of the production.

The posters, as the world of "Carnival" goes to "real life," are not just a means of advertising, but an integral part of the production.

The posters, as the world of "Carnival" goes to "real life," are not just a means of advertising, but an integral part of the production.

The posters, as the world of "Carnival" goes to "real life," are not just a means of advertising, but an integral part of the production.

The posters, as the world of "Carnival" goes to "real life," are not just a means of advertising, but an integral part of the production.

The posters, as the world of "Carnival" goes to "real life," are not just a means of advertising, but an integral part of the production.

The posters, as the world of "Carnival" goes to "real life," are not just a means of advertising, but an integral part of the production.

The posters, as the world of "Carnival" goes to "real life," are not just a means of advertising, but an integral part of the production.

The posters, as the world of "Carnival" goes to "real life," are not just a means of advertising, but an integral part of the production.

The posters, as the world of "Carnival" goes to "real life," are not just a means of advertising, but an integral part of the production.

The posters, as the world of "Carnival" goes to "real life," are not just a means of advertising, but an integral part of the production.

The posters, as the world of "Carnival" goes to "real life," are not just a means of advertising, but an integral part of the production.

The posters, as the world of "Carnival" goes to "real life," are not just a means of advertising, but an integral part of the production.

The posters, as the world of "Carnival" goes to "real life," are not just a means of advertising, but an integral part of the production.

The posters, as the world of "CARNIVAL MAGIC WORLD OF ILLUSION, REALITY

"Carnival" is all that makes the theatre live and breathe and Lilli is its apostrophe. It is an imaginary world of illusion and make-believe hauntingly juxtaposed with reality. It is between these two forces — illusion as personalized by Marco-the-Magnificent and reality as presented by Paul, the Puppeteer, that Lilli is torn.

Lilli lives in a cardboard world. Having left the security of the town of her childhood, she seeks to recapitulate the security in the "Carnival" and magic world of the carnival. This world is seen by Lilli as the beautiful, sensitive, polysensory sense of her homestead where they had the "greenworld" trees and hills as bright as "Ivory."

"Carnival" is not a play representing a harsh reality triumph over the world of illusion, however. The message of the play is this. There is a time and a place for make-believing. Lilli, at the end of the play, comes to a self-realization; dreams have not to be bad, but all dreams must come to an end.

Lilli learns to say, "This is over, now on to the next thing." She learns to accept reality, not reluctantly but with a realization that she has passed from a little girl's dream-world into a mature, real world.

The Realiition

This realization does not fully take place until the end of the play when she is holding the bouquet presented by her hand and Paul's words are ringing in her ears.

In any play there is a tendency to overplay the subordinate elements to the point that the move, the heart of the story, becomes lost in extras. In "Carnival" this danger is especially great. The other elements of the play, Marco and Rosalie in particular, can easily dominate the show if allowed to.

But the relationship between Lilli and Paul, the conflict between illusion and reality, to the most of the play and this element correctly presented, emphasized and arranged in such a way that the subordinate elements take on their proper proportion makes the play a powerful piece of dramatic art.
Voters Needed

There is a referendum going on right now, if you don't know about it. The referendum is to discover the attitude of the students on this campus.

In light of the events of the Vietnam War in Vietnam has been the most active group on campus during the last few weeks. They have been meeting and discussing the issues of the war.

The members and sympathizers of this group are the ones who will be most affected by the referendum. It will probably happen that only those people and few others who will personally be affected, the majority of the voters may represent this minority group, but it will be the interests of the whole campus.

After the referendum there will be small groups talking and saying that they don't think this way and others that they do think so. To stop to see their opinion wasn't included. It can be included.

Voting is currently going on in the Student Association Center, Room 366 of the Center Campus until 5 p.m. and on the dinner lines tonight. No one has anything to say about the referendum, and both will be exhibited at the rest of the festival.

In the present situation, the referendum is the only way to protect the future of the arts and artists that will be appearing in the festival. It can't be done. A Happening, you will all feel both at home and at ease. It is a reawakening of the spirit.

It is the same things that we do and like. The spontaneity and reality of life, the essence of redeeming features. Perhaps more may even have the privilege of at least once seeing a Happening happen.

Kudos Go To Editor For Task Of Beginning Literary Magazine

by Darlene Durbin

On campus the site of one, of the notable failures of student enthusiasm has always been considered the absence of more quality publications, literary in fact, is a phenomenon that in the new campus, with its increased facilities and growing student body, such publications should be prominent.

Thomas O'Connor, a student of the literature major, has just published his first volume, entitled "Hanging on in the Campus," for which he has been working for the last few months. The book is an attempt to fill that gap.

It was the result of an idea that had been in his mind for some time, and it was his attempt to make it happen that he had a small amount of money. He wanted to do it with some new idea and original way of doing things.

But, even the most innovative idea could be hampered by the reality of the situation. O'Connor's book is a collection of short stories, which are an attempt to bring new life to the campus and to its inhabitants.

The stories are not only a collection of short stories, but also a reflection of the campus life and the people who live there. They are a reflection of the things that happen to the people who live on campus and the things that they think about.

The book is now available at the Campus Bookstore and the campus bookstore. The book is also available at other local bookstores.

Galaxy Players To Do "Break on Brecht" a play of the work of German playwright Bertolt Brecht and the second State University Theatre production of the season. Under the direction of Samuel B. Morris, now appearing at the Campus Theatre, the Galaxy Players have been preparing for this play for several weeks.

Fahrenheit 451 Provides Warning For Future Civilization

by Larry Epstein

Against the movement for scientific progress stand a few artists, fighting against the possibility that the Land may be made into a push-button amusement park. Francois Truffaut's latest motion picture, "Fahrenheit 451," is a film about a society that is controlled by a computer. The society is run by a machine, and the machine is programmed to work for the benefit of the people.

In this society, the people are not allowed to read books. They are not allowed to think for themselves. They are not allowed to question the computer. The computer is the only thing that matters.

The people are not allowed to have any freedom. They are not allowed to have any choice. They are not allowed to have any thought. They are not allowed to have any life.

In this society, the people are not allowed to have any freedom. They are not allowed to have any choice. They are not allowed to have any thought. They are not allowed to have any life.

In this society, the people are not allowed to have any freedom. They are not allowed to have any choice. They are not allowed to have any thought. They are not allowed to have any life.

In this society, the people are not allowed to have any freedom. They are not allowed to have any choice. They are not allowed to have any thought. They are not allowed to have any life.
Christian, Third Baseman, Key To Diamond Success

By Mark Roberts

When our varsity baseball team plays Utica on April 13, senior elector Steve Thomas will undoubtedly be afforded the flak from the crowd. As third baseman, he is a valuable part of our team and is very important. When our team plays Utica, we will depend on Steve to make some great plays on defense.

Three Varsity Golfers Return; Outlook For Linkers Hopeful

By Everett Libman

With the spring season coming around, the all-Ohio players have been selected. The three golfers who have been selected are: Steve Siler, Gary Thompson, and Bill Dreyer. These three players will be playing in the all-state tournament on April 20.

NOTICES

APSA Officers

The interim of APSA officers will take place in May. The interim will be held at the APSA Annual Meeting in Atlantic City, New Jersey.

Opportunity Unlimited, Conf. To Be Held Here Sat.

SEQA Officers

The SEQA officers will take place on Saturday, April 13, in the Student Union Ballroom. The theme for the conference is "Opportunity Unlimited." The event is free and open to all.

New Budget Increased Tax Fee To Be Same

Central Council, last Thursday night, approved a total budget of $246,000.00 for the 1967-1968 season. The tax fee for the year will remain the same.

Campus Carnival To Have Events, Still Needs Volunteers

The campus carnival will have events this year. The carnival will be held on May 19. Volunteers are still needed to help with the carnival. If you are interested in volunteering, please contact the campus carnival committee.

CARNIVAL is advertised by this huge sign which hangs on the campus center.