Chemical Plant Explosions

TONAWANDA, N.Y. (AP) An explosion in a chemical plant here Thursday afternoon and Wednesday night injured at least 95 people.

The explosion occurred at about 4:00 p.m. Thursday afternoon at the Tonawanda Chemical Plant, a division of the Union Carbide Corp., which makes chemicals used in the manufacture of plastic.

A spokesman for the plant said that the explosion was caused by a malfunction in the plant's equipment.

The explosion killed 28 people and injured 67 others.

Reagan Counters Criticism

WASHINGTON (AP) President Reagan, facing increasing criticism from both parties for his handling of the nation's affairs, said Thursday that he was "not sure" whether the nation was worse off than it was four years ago.

"I am not sure that the nation is any worse off than it was four years ago," Reagan said in an interview with the Associated Press. "I think it is getting better."

The president said that he was "not sure" whether the nation was worse off than it was four years ago.

On the Road

For three hours they were the only ones on the road, Central to the north, and then they met with the 1964 Civil Rights Act and various other legislation.

Although the president said that he was "not sure" whether the nation was worse off than it was four years ago, he also said that he was "not sure" whether he had made a mistake in going to the Middle East.

Free Flick

There will be a free public showing of the film "A Allison," a documentary about a young black woman who was killed in the civil rights movement.

The film, directed by Allison's friend, was shot in the late 1960s and early 1970s.

The game will be held on Saturday, March 5, at 2:00 p.m.

Dental School Planned for Buffalo Student Center

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) The SUNY-Albany student government has been notified that the university will be able to build a dental school in the student center.

The student government had been fighting to get the university to build a dental school in the student center, but the university had refused to do so.

Mall Zone Maintained

By BRUCE LEVY

A last-ditch proposal by the mall's developer to approve construction of the $16 million retail development was defeated Tuesday night by the Guilderland Town Board. The proposal was defeated 3-2.

At the time Moss announced his approval of the plan, both Horan and Cropsey had withdrawn their votes, which had been held in abeyance until a public hearing was held.

The mall's developer, Pyramid Developers Limited, had proposed building a shopping center and apartments on the site.

OPPOSING BOTTLE BILLS EXAMINED

BY KEN GORDON

Representatives from the new Consumer Union New York, the National Wildlife Federation, and the New York State League of Women Voters have made an appearance at a joint hearing on S. 1669 and A. 1732. Both bills are aimed at handling the problem of deposit bottles and the problem of beer cans. According to the New York State League of Women Voters, the New York State Department of Environmental Conservation and the State Legislature, and the Department of Environmental Conservation, the state legislature passed a law to be effective in 1979.

STUDENTS FEEL STRESS

For the Dottle Bill in the New York State Senate, the Senate Conservation and Recreation Committee Chairman, Senator William Smith, said, "This proposal is the most intelligent and cost-effective way of handling the problems created by the existing Bottle Bill."

Robach's bill will spend over $8 million a year to do part-time work for the Dottle Bill, while the Smith-Robach bill is inferior to the existing Bottle Bill.

Both bills are currently being considered by the state legislature. The Smith-Robach bill is inferior to the existing Bottle Bill in several ways:

1. The Smith-Robach bill is inferior because it is not as cost-effective as the existing Bottle Bill.
2. The Smith-Robach bill is inferior because it does not provide as much support for recycling.
3. The Smith-Robach bill is inferior because it does not provide as much support for environmental protection.

The Novel Approach To Cinema

T he French Literaturist's house in 1856 is a tale of two colonies. In one, a young woman named Agnes Grenville comes to the New World with her family. In the other, a man named John Adams arrives in the colony of New Hampshire with his wife, Abigail. The two colonies are separated by the Atlantic Ocean, but they are connected by a shared history of struggle and survival.

Irvin's Sophisticated Nightmare

W hen Ivor Novello's 1943 musical-drama The Ghost Story opened in London, it was met with mixed reviews. Some critics praised the film's music and performances, while others criticized its plot and pacing. Despite the mixed reception, the film went on to become a sleeper hit, eventually grossing over $2 million in its original run.

The French Lieutenant's Woman

T he French Lieutenant's Woman is a novel by John Fowles, first published in 1969. It tells the story of a lower-middle-class man named Robert Shaw, who enters into a love affair with a member of the upper class. The novel explores themes of class, race, and identity, and it was later adapted into a film starring Anthony Hopkins.

Come to Quad Board... Tell Us What You Want!

Dear Aldo,

I'm having a party Friday night at the dorm for about ten of my fellow upperclassmen. How much of your Cella wine should I try?

Dear Unsure,

The general rule is a half bottle per person, but you never can be sure how much of my light, refreshing, cold Cella Lambrusco, Bianco, or Rosato people will put away, especially on a Friday. So for ten people let's say twelve bottles: four red, four white, and four rose. That should be enough to guarantee:

1) A good time is had by all.
2) A heated discussion about the true identity of Kilgore Trout.
3) Everybody singing the old Beach Boys songs.
4) A few closing words from the House Resident.

Chill-a-Cella!

Alice Cella

The light, refreshing wine with a little more sparkle.

Dear Unsure,

May Americans be prevention, never surviving a nuclear war, but if the Federal Government is determined to intimidate, a favorite pastime of its officials is to talk. The Federal Emergency Management Agency is reviewing plans to move the U.S. military from all bases worldwide over to the year 2000.

William Orton, head of the agency's Civil Defense division, said that the plan would have no impact on the environment and none on the country.

Dear F.E.M.A. official — titled, "Guidelines of Nuclear Attack Response," the F.E.M.A. emergency theory is essentially a training manual for people with a place to live. Anthony Chipman, head of the agency's civil defense division, says that the book could be a key to protecting oneself from the world and environment. The book is written with the idea that in the event of the destruction of a parent's mature judgement, "I love nukes."
ROC T - Two Opinions

Pro

To the Editor:
It has been an interesting, if somewhat frustrating, semester. There is no doubt that ROTC, especially the ROTC dorms, has helped the development of the campus and created the property situation we can live with, a great deal of time, and a lot of frustration.

Before discussing the issues, however, it is important to remember that ROTC is not a government or university administration. It is an academic freedom lies. Any other claims, ROTC and SUNY are the same as anyone may take count every penny that goes into my pocket. ROTC discriminates in its enrollment policy, thereby violating university policy.

There is nothing about ROTC that I have known for less than a month. I am fortunate to be able to study in a foreign country and cultivate, free from any preconceived notions of education.

Parking Peeve

To the Editor:
I am writing on the behalf of my friends who are often faced with the problem of parking in the student center parking lot. The problem is that sometimes there is no parking available and the lot is closed. This is especially frustrating when we are trying to attend events at the center.

Therefore, I suggest that the center extend the hours of operation to include evenings and weekends. This would allow students to attend events without worrying about parking.

NYPIRG Speaks Out

To the Editor:
I was interested in the recent column about ROTC and SUNY. As an employee of the State University, I have noticed that ROTC's policies are often at odds with those of SUNY.

While ROTC is an important part of the university, it should not be allowed to undermine the values and mission of SUNY. The two should work together to ensure that all students receive a quality education.

K. H. Berlin

Check Please?

To the Editor:
Recently, I was faced with a situation where I had to pay for a parking permit. I was shocked to discover that the price was very high and that there were no discounts or exceptions.

I believe that the student center should be more flexible in its pricing and offer more options for students who cannot afford the full price.

Sarah Johnson

Help Wanted

To the Editor:
I am writing to express my concern about the current employment climate on campus. Many students are finding it difficult to find work that pays enough to cover their expenses.

I suggest that the university work with local businesses to provide more job opportunities for students. Additionally, the university should provide more resources to help students find and prepare for jobs.

Robert Smith

New Gym Rules

To the Editor:
I have noticed a recent change in the gymnasium rules. Students are no longer allowed to bring food or drinks into the building. This is a significant change that will have a major impact on the way students use the gym.

I am concerned that this rule will make it difficult for students to stay hydrated and nourished while working out.

Need Not Apply

In recent years, this newspaper has had a relatively liberal advertising policy. The only restrictions we've imposed were that the advertisements not be obscene, not sell anything illegal, and not be for alcohol.

Over the past year, we've relaxed some of our considerations. We've allowed ads for an illegal product, and we've permitted ads from commercial sources.

But there has only been one case where we found ourselves compelled to refuse some ads. We recently denied advertisements promoting Rensselaer Publishing Institute's Army ROTC Extension Center at SUNYA.

We have decided that the ROTC/ASP, who is left to regulate military services and intelligence services are recruiting. The ads describe scholarships and "ways to move up in the ranks of the military."

Because these ads are not suitable for our audience, we have found them unsuitable for our publication. This might not appear to be to your advantage, but instead, it protects the interests of the student body, as well as the university.

We hope that you will understand our decision.

K. H. Berlin

Holy Cow!

To the Editor:
I recently came across an article about the benefits of yoga. It seems like a great way to improve flexibility and overall health.

I wonder if the university could incorporate yoga classes into its curriculum, perhaps as an elective or even as a requirement for all students. This would be a great way to promote healthy lifestyles and reduce stress.

I look forward to hearing your thoughts on this idea.

K. H. Berlin

Hedging Bets

Things just got a bit more complicated! It's a good idea to work out as much as you can, but it's also important to consider the impact on your biology.

Both having many friends and being involved in extracurricular activities can have a positive impact on your overall well-being.

I suggest that students take a balanced approach to their lives, finding the right balance between social and academic activities.

Karen Smith

Resume Rebuttal

To the Editor:
I was very disappointed to receive a rejection letter from a job interview. I had prepared extensively and was confident in my qualifications.

I noticed that the interviewer was interested in my experience, but seemed to be more focused on my educational background.

I believe that my experience is as important as my education, and I hope that the company will take that into consideration when making a hiring decision.

I look forward to hearing from you.

Albany Streak Stopped With Hamilton Loss

By LARRY BARK

A streak is nothing more than a streak, but it's still a streak. The Albany State Great Danes had been unbeaten in their last five games, but they were upset by the Hamilton College Continentals on Saturday afternoon, 75-70.

The Danes were led by senior forward Vic Herman, who scored 19 points and grabbed 12 rebounds. Hamilton was led by junior guard Dan O'Shea, who scored 25 points and made seven 3-pointers.

The Danes had won their last four games, including a 73-68 win over the SUNY New Paltz Hawks last week. The Continentals had lost their last three games, including a 89-78 loss to the SUNY Oneonta Red Dragons.

The Danes remain fifth in the conference standings with a 13-2-1 record. The Continentals are 8-5 in conference play and 11-7 overall.

Library Maintains Nat'l Ranking

By JACK DURSCHLAG

The SUNY Albany library has maintained its national ranking for the second straight year, according to U.S. News & World Report.

The library is ranked 50th in the nation, up from 51st last year. The library's rankings are based on several factors, including the number of full-time faculty, the number of doctoral degrees awarded, and the number of research grants received.

The library has also been recognized for its collaborative efforts with the SUNY system, including the SUNY Shared Collections Initiative, which provides access to a wide range of digital resources.

Telephone Rates Viewed as Stable

By MARK GESNEK

The SUNY Albany telephone rates have been viewed as stable by most students, according to a recent survey.

The rates have been stable for the past two years, and most students said they felt they were reasonable. The rates are set by the SUNY System, and are reviewed annually.

The SUNY System is also in the process of updating its computer systems, which will allow for more efficient and cost-effective operations.

Council Sees the Light

BY RICH BRICKER

The SUNY Albany Student Association (SUNYAS) has passed a resolution calling for the establishment of a new student fee to fund the construction of a new student center.

The resolution was passed unanimously by the SUNYAS executive board, and will be presented to the SUNY Albany Student Senate for ratification.

The new student center would house a variety of student services, including a student union, a cafeteria, and a multipurpose room.

SUNY Student Leaders Convene at Brockport

BY LISA MORABITI

The SUNY Brockport Student Government Association (SGA) hosted the annual SUNY Student Leaders Conference this week, with representatives from all 64 SUNY campuses in attendance.

The conference focused on issues such as student involvement, leadership, and the role of student leaders in the SUNY system. The conference also featured guest speakers, workshops, and networking opportunities.
