Heart and Hitler

Winston Churchill is reported to have written an editorial signed by William Randolph Hearst which appeared in a number of newspapers. In the view of the recent American editor, this was quite a strong endorsement. There are many people who believe that it is to be taken as a warning to Hitler's Italy to be on their guard against the activities of the German government.

W.A.A. and M.A.A. to Have Annual Sports Day Mar. 26

Ray Colvin, Bill McLean, Scott Mayle, and Julian Hardy were selected as the officers of the M.A.A. for the new season. The annual Sports Day will be held on March 26th, and the members of the faculty and student body will be invited to participate in the activities.

Personal Viewpoints

Commentator:

We would like to draw attention to the following statement, which appears in the NEW YORK TIMES, January 1, 1938:

"The real test of a democracy is not how it acts in normal times, but how it acts in times of emergency. Democracy is not a perfect form of government, but it is the only one that has ever been tried."

This statement is quite relevant to the current political situation, and we believe it should be kept in mind by all citizens.

Statemen's Report

The State of the Union Address was delivered by President Franklin D. Roosevelt on January 27, 1938. In his address, he discussed the current economic conditions and the need for continued government intervention to stimulate the economy. He also emphasized the importance of international cooperation in solving the world's problems.
