Moistened Underclassmen Tell

Of Impromptu Bath Experiences

Unwilling to bear the inhospitable toiletries, the 90 undermannered students, led by Robert Schilling, '38, decided to step up to the sophomores, '38 male. This impromptu bathing method, but premises more original take place at the Schilling’s, the ailing victim with the ability to maintain, and the resulting effects they held a stressful situation, but I soon became rather accustomed.

Charlotte Perk, '38: "The only thing I was worried about was the soap (not of any brand and luckily Elizabeth followed)."

Leggett, '38: "Give me a towel, a bar of soap, and give me a fresh one or let me wash my face."

DUSTY CORNERS

Spring and the morning interest in Moving-up Day brings with it the usual student hunts for the fresh and in addition a steady roll-off from the more-freshman debate. Both will figure strongly in the coming of interest in the student association.

Outside of more participation in these events, which is probably the natural order of affairs, we have seen but little action this week to date. The legislation of the past few days has been more for the benefit of the student association than anything else.

The revised report can be presented early in the college year. In addition to this, the students will find it necessary to have the writers responsible for what may come about. The gathering of information is necessary to the progress of the students, and the writers must be held responsible for the information. The students had every right to exercise their right, but the writers must be held responsible for the information.

The policy of the paper has been to accept and print any article which might prove more sensational than the news. The opposition to the revision proved that, though the students had every right to exercise their right, the writers must be held responsible for the information.

The few hours of these undignified rompings which were turned to the dusty corners this week were it possible to find out what the students were doing. The students had every right to exercise their right, but the writers must be held responsible for the information.

The NEWS has received communications from members of the student body. The opposition to the revision proved that, though the students had every right to exercise their right, the writers must be held responsible for the information.

INTERCLASS MEET TO SHOW TALENT

The bottle of track talent is being emptied upon the athletic arena this afternoon. The race for the track record among the West Side Indians will be a doozie. New blood will be added to the list of Arkansas speedsters.

The meet is on Thursday, the last track meet that will be held this season. Door prizes and entertainment will complete the exciting day. The track...
Four Classes Await Moving-up
And Tapping of New Myskania

Rivals and former rivals—the yellow and white, the red and white and the classes of blue and green—will come under one roof today as the State's classes move up amidst an atmosphere of solemnity and gaiety and maritini music. Moving-up Day, State's "grandest tradition," will begin again at 8:00 o'clock, after a heraldry of athletic events and rehearsals and guesses the day and week before.

Directed by Vera Shinners, '36, grand marshal, 1200 men and women of State—attired according to class in caps and gowns, canes and white flannels and white dresses, jackets, and bow ties and hair ribbons—will form lines by classes early in the morning and proceed to the Page auditorium.

The Page program will open with brief addresses by each of the class speakers, which will be followed by the presentation of awards and keys to members of various school activities. The climax of the morning's program, immediately following the moving-up proper, will be the "tapping" of the 1036-37 Myskania, senior honorary society.

The morning program will be concluded with the formation of class numerals on the Western avenue campus and the planting of the traditional ivy. In charge of the program will be Martha Martin, chairman; Pamela Pool, chairman; and Margaret Bauer; entertainment, Edward Cramer, chairman; and Joseph Ouollet; publicity, Margaret Loff and Elizabeth Hohle.

What's going on here
...what's happening in these 40 houses

—the curing and ageing of leaf tobacco, that's what's going on.

Thousands of hogheads of mild ripe tobacco are under these roofs...just lying here ageing and sweetening and mellowing for Chesterfield cigarettes.

Like Rip Van Winkle, they sleep—the tobaccos getting mellower and milder for the cigarette that Satisfies.

SENIORS PLEDGE $10,000
Slightly over ten thousand dollars has already been pledged to the alumni dormitory fund, according to Mrs. Bertha Brimmer, secretary of the alumni association. One hundred twenty seniors have pledged. Dormitory captains are requested to file their reports with the secretary immediately in order that tabulations may be completed.

TO ISSUE "LION"
The final issue of the State College Lion, humor magazine, will appear Moving-up Day noon, Robert Benedict, editor, announced today. Students may secure their copies in the Activities office anytime during the afternoon in exchange for their student tax tickets or ten cents. The new board of the magazine, appointed this spring, will put out the issue.

Juniors To Rehearse
A complete rehearsal for the junior Moving-up Day stunt will take place Monday at 3:15 o'clock in room 20, according to Edward Sabol, director. There will be song rehearsals for the class of 1935 Tuesday night at 7:30 o'clock and Wednesday at noon in the Lounge of Richardson hall. Carol Mires, song leader, has announced. Final practice will be conducted at the junior banquet Thursday.

Alpha Epsilon Phi To Fete Parents
Alpha Epsilon Phi sorority will conduct its annual Parents Day on Sunday, May 17, at the chapter house on South Allen street. The day's festivities will include entertainment, refreshments, and a general get-together of the girls' parents, all of which come from diverse parts of the state.
