Glory Seeking?

Every year, students of this school run for an office, and some have invested so much time and energy into the campaign that they are willing to accept the responsibilities that go along with the position. By the time nominations are being considered, perhaps on the basis of past accomplishments (and possibly even grades), the individual running for an elected position should be able to answer the following questions:

1. Why is this person seeking the office?
2. What will this person do for the students while in office?
3. What office or office position is this person seeking?
4. What other office or office position does this person plan to seek?
5. What is the person's plan for the future?

We encourage all students to take time to consider these questions before running for an office, especially if they are interested in being a member of the Student Council or any other elected body. It is important to think about what it means to be an elected official and whether you are truly qualified for the position you are seeking.

Age Old Problem

What older students should consider is to think about the situation from the perspective of a younger student. What would you want to see in an office candidate? What qualifications should an office holder have? What can you offer the younger students to make them want to vote for you? It is important to remember that younger students are the ones who will be affected by your decisions, so it is important to think about how your actions will impact them.

New PaltzVs. State

The match today between the two teams was a close one, with New Paltz winning 25-19. The game was a hard-fought battle, with both teams displaying good teamwork and strategy. The New Paltz offense was led by a strong performance from their quarterback, who threw three touchdowns and ran for another. State's defense was no match for the offensive attack, allowing New Paltz to score easily on several plays. The final score was 25-19 in favor of New Paltz, despite State's best efforts to close the gap. The match was a real thriller, with both teams giving their all to come out on top. Despite the loss, State's players showed great sportsmanship and spirit, giving their all to the game and never giving up. The match was a great example of the level of competition in the league and a testament to the skills of the players involved. The crowd was thrilled with the game, and everyone left the stadium with a new appreciation for the sport and the athletes who play it.
