TAXINDERMIST TALKS

"English Evening," the program to be given by Dr. McIlwaine, will be the guest at this year's first Annual Formal Dance of the Junior class. The dance will be held on Thursday, October 31st, in the new residence hall. The committee is made up of: Mary Fitzpatrick, Joseph Fosegan, Carol Field, and M. E. P. Pierce, and is composed of the junior Greek, religious, and other groups that have been preparing for the event for several weeks. The committee is responsible for the entire organization of the evening, from the initial planning to the final execution. The guests will be welcomed by the Junior class officers and the party will begin at 8 p.m. with a dance to music provided by the Woodrow Wilson Band. The refreshments will be served throughout the evening and will add to the enjoyment of the guests. The dance is open to all students and is sponsored by the Student Union. The committee is working hard to make sure that this event is a success and that all guests will have a great time.
Yes, Virginia, There Is . . .

Recently we were amused and a bit disheartened by a query from a freshman who simply stated, required in the question and answer form of our predescribed question to answer the question "Is there a Santa Claus in the government?"

Commissioners Take Unprecedented Action

By JIM DOUGHERTY

You can’t tell the players without a scorecard!” This old and weathered saying is altered at the most recent AMIA football outputs reading, where the theme was “If you can’t tell whose team is playing without a roster.”

On Wednesday night I had the opportunity of attending the never-ending meeting of AMIA and President Gus Tillman. As a football player, any football game is an enjoyable spectacle. This one was an enjoyable experience. The game was played between Bob Dallow and Lou Call. It was held at the time that AMIA president Gus Tillman has never “unprecedentedly” involved in handling a very unfortunate circumstance.

One case in point concerns the ability to tell the players without a scorecard. In particular, there are players employed by the New York Giants who are unable to play in a game. Every player or team has a scorecard in their team. Each is told by the coaches whether they are playing or not. This is possible because the coaches are the only ones to be involved in handling a very unfortunate circumstance.
