French Fete Tonight

FRENCH PLAYLET TO BE PRESENTED

Again the hands of time announce for State College the annual French fete which will be held in the college gym. Friday evening February 15, by the Hamilton College five, the score being 46-18. The first five minutes of play were the hardest for the visitors for after that they continued to pile up the score rapidly. Our five put up a good strong fight at the start of the contest and it looked as if it were to be a struggle to the end. Doane, varsity center for Hamilton, broke into the scoring with a field goal and a foul point. For several minutes the game was a close guarding contest with neither side being able to pile up any scores. Hatch put the visitors on their feet by scoring twice in rapid succession and Doane added another on a one handed toss. Hamilton continued to pile up scores until at the end of the first half they were leading with a score of 16 to 7. Caton added the only other goal from scrimmage for State. The second half was decided in favor of the Hamilton teamers for they ran up 29 more points. Horning and Caton were the only State men successful in locating a basket.

The game was the close of the basketball season for State. The second half was decidedly the better won by the Mohawks.

LEATHER FAVORS A FEATURE

The Sophomore Soiree will be held in the gymnasium on Friday, March 9th. The Cats have prepared for this event and want the cheers of the students. The reason for this is that they are securing much needed money for their trip of the week.

HAMILTON OVERwhelMS State

CATON PLAYS GOOD GAME TEAM TO GO ON TRIP

State's basketball five were defeated Thursday, February 15, by the Hamilton College five, the score being 46-18. They That Are Faithful

One upon a time in the days of long ago there was a great kingdom. And in that kingdom there had been established a great institution of learning by order of the kings. And to the institution the wise man was a very wise man; and together with other wise men he instructed the young of the kingdom.

Now after many long weeks of study and effort, the questions were given to the young to answer. Those who answered them well remained; and those who answered them poorly were requested to seek advantage in another class.

Those who remained again sought their studies with new inspiration and burned long the midnight oil. Then one morning when the remaining oil was spent, and many pupils were gathered to hear one of the wise men, he failed to arrive. And soon a great many questions arose as to where the wise man could be. Then a messenger came and said the wise man was ill of a great malady and would not arrive.

From part of those assembled arose a cry of joy and they rushed happily to the scene; and from part of those assembled arose the murmuring, "And to what avail was all the burning of the midnight oil?"

And the Gods on Olympus who were watching, smiled at the great consternation. And they instructed that it be written down in the books of men, "They that are faithful even into the burning of midnight oil!"

Two Kinds of Sillones

"Sir," said the young man, "I have come to demand the hand of your daughter." "Demand!" exclaimed the father. "What do you mean?" said the young man, "Sir, the price of my silence," was the reply.

The son was building himself with rage and went to the telephone to ring up the police, when the young man intervened. «One moment, sir. I know nothing of your affairs, and I do not care for a moment imagine you guilty of any misdeed. The silence which I purchased and which I now retain, is the young man who plays the trombone next door." "Oh!" exclaimed the father, "Take her, my boy, take her!"

Two colored stonewares unloading a vessel at a dock were passing complimentary remarks about each other. "Always when they met the occasion was renewed with added earnest on both sides. "Yo, keep on pestilating," remarked one of them, "an' ye sho won't be able to settle a mighty big question for do scientific folk." "What question that?" countered the other. "Kin the dead speak?"

A brawny Irishman leaned over the big glass case in the chemist's shop and asked: "Wot ye 'elp me git out a somethin' to kill moths?" and was promptly supplied with a packet of camphor.

He soon returned red with anger. "Are ye the monkey-faced piece that sold me these balls?" shouted the enraged one. "Just you come on and if ye can hit a single moth with one of these little pellets. I'll spare ye the thrashin' ye'll get otherwise to say nothing about the lookin'-glass an' ornaments miasmal and the misers broke.

Dumm—How did you come out with your "exams"?"

"I knowed 'em all! I knocked them cold!" "Hawst!" "Got zero!"

GRINS

One day, as little Jimmy was sitting on the steps, a man came over to him and asked: "Little boy, is your mother home?"

"Yes," was the reply.

The man rang the bell, but no one answered. He rang again, but still there was no answer. After ringing a short while he turned to Jimmy despondingly, and said: "Little boy, I thought you said your mother was in." "She is, but I don't live here," was the prompt reply.

Eddie Candor was telling a friend about a poker game played in "Gee, the first pot a guy calls me and when I show my cards one of the men says that it isn't necessary because it's a gentleman's game!"

"And how did you come out?" asks the friend. "Oh, I won every pot but the first one."

Little Girl (in theater)—Mother, when do the Indians come in? Mother—Weary, there are no Indians in this show. "Well, then, what kept all the men in the front row?—Yale Record. "Did you see any train robbers on your trip West?"

"You bet I did! I took two chorus girls out to dinner!"

An Irish recruit in the rear rank standing during his first drill. The hard-boiled private said:

"Squadas rights," and other movements. Pat left his squad and sat down in the shade of a nearby tree, with the drill sergeant yelling behind him. "But do you get that way; who are you, Pat?"

Pat disgustedly replied: "You don't seem to know which direction you want to go. I'll show you how to make up your mind!—Judge."
THE COAL SHORTAGE

The inmates of the K Π P house are again feeling the results of the coal shortage. A few weeks ago they were burning soft coal as could plainly be seen, but now they are out of even soft coal and there are no chances in sight of getting any more. Sunday morning the last shovel full of coal was put in the furnace with many misgivings. Monday the men came to college complaining of the extreme cold weather. Certainly the K Π P men will have to spend their evenings elsewhere until warm weather deets away with the necessity of coal.

During the last coal shortage the men entertained several of the alumni apparently with success. Who will they entertain during this one?

Classes will without doubt suffer as a result, for arising in a cold house is apt to be more or less of a burden: and the desire to use the allotted number of cots will be very hard to combat.

It is hoped by the men that winter will soon pass. If it does not some are thinking of collecting coal in baskets. Coal is scarcer now than many other things so a warning to guard the coal bin is not out of place.

Not March 7 postponed till March ?

G. A. A. FROLIC SATURDAY

Don't miss the G. A. A. gym. frolie next Saturday, March 4, at eight o'clock. Those who are cheerfully inclined are especially urged to be on hand as candidates for the standing broad grin, cleanse the other athletic events. No ban has been placed on the refreshments in spite of the athletic nature of the frolie, Nellie Moxim will see to that of all performers are given their entire quota of outs.

We want those who are not subjectively humorous or hilarious to act as spectators, and so forget the cares which do so easily beset them. Miss Moore has taken the responsibility of the program upon her capable shoulders.

MUSIC ASSOCIATION PRESENTS NEW YORK TRIO

The Music Association will present the New York Trio on Saturday, March 10, in Chanclery's Hall.

The New York Trio is one of the greatest of its kind in the country. The pianist, Clarence Adler, is a famous solo pianist. Spieler, violinist, is concertmaster of the New York Philharmonic Orchestra. Correllus Van Vliet, Colliet, is first violinist of the New York Philharmonic Orchestra.

Among the numbers on the program will be two of the most popular of trios, played by request. One is a solemn, sombre thing by Tchaikovsky. It is a trio on the death of a great artist. The other is a jolly, joyful trio by Schubert. It is perhaps the most popular of trio. The third group will be made up of a series of dances.

Tickets will be $1.50. They may be purchased from Dr. Thompson, Dr. Ogletree, Candlyn members of the music council, and members of the women's chorus. Students will be admitted, as usual, on their student tax tickets.

Farewell to Kitty

You can keep all the kisses I gave you.

You can keep all the golden curves;
You can keep all the sweet tricks I taught you,
And the jokes you made me confess.
You can keep whatsoever you care—
My loving, the parties you throw;
But please send me back what I am losing—
The cold cash I wasted on you.

CLASSICAL CLUB ORGANIZED

State College has a new club. The Greeks and Latins have organized a Classical Club whose constitution was adopted February 14, 1923. Its purpose is to combine the knowledge gained in the class room with a spirit of camaraderie and informality and to enable the students to gain information relative to the life and literature of the ancient peoples. The honorary members of the club are Dr. Brubacher, Dr. Richardson, Miss Wallace, and Miss J ohnson. After the adoption of the Constitution, the following officers were elected:

First Consul, Mildred Kahn, '24;
Second Consul, Charline Clark, '24;
Scripotor, Glennon Raaman, '23;
Questor, Wilhelmina Westbrook, '23;
Notarius, Mabelle Jochumsen, '23.

Meetings will be held monthly and plans are under way to make them attractive and interesting.

FACULTY NOTES

Miss Pierce is attending the Educational Convention held at Cleveland this week where she will give an address on student life. While there she will meet the college alumnae in and about Cleveland and address them on the Dormitory Drive.

Dr. Brubacher is to address the student body of Syracuse University under the auspices of the associated chapters of Phi Beta Kappa, next Monday, March 5, on the subject of scholarship.

Miss Perine has been called the green room home because of the serious illness of a brother.

Professor York attended a dinner given by the Colgate Alumni of the eastern New York section last Monday, February 19. Their new president, President Culten, addressed the gathering.

STUDENT ASSEMBLY

Elizabeth Remmer, '23, read the new rules for interclass rivalry in chapel. Friday morning, Dr. Thompson then made a few announcements concerning Friday evening's concert, and while he passed out tickets for the students, the four classes took part in a sing.

SPANISH CLUB

There will be a meeting of the Spanish Club on Friday, March 2, at 7:10 in Room B. A musical program has been planned and old members are invited to come and to learn some Spanish songs.

CANTERBURY CLUB

Cantonbery Club held its regular monthly meeting Monday evening, February 10, in St. Andrew's Church. After the business meeting Dean Carnell gave an interesting talk about the English towns of Canterbury and Oxford. He then presented the club with some pictures of Canterbury.

A corporate communion was held at St. Andrew's Church on Sunday morning, February 25.

Dr. Creighton, under whose guidance and direction the club has flourished, is soon to leave Allentown for another parish. Altho we regret his departure, we sincerely wish him the best of success in his new work.

Y. W. C. A.

There will be a Lenten Vesper service for all students Sunday afternoon, March 4, at 4 o'clock in the Rotunda. Professor John M. Nagles will speak. Victoria Peterson, '23, will lead. There will be special music under the direction of Marjory Blythe, '23. Tea will be served in the Rotunda.

HOME ECONOMICS CLUB

The Home Economics Club held its regular meeting Tuesday evening. February 27, in Room M. After the business meeting Miss Marjorie Sinnott, '23, read a very humorous paper in which not a few of the members were complimented? Miss Steel also gave some helpful suggestions for future work. Refreshments were served afterward in the cafeteria.

Freshmen were invited.

much farther in our knowledge of the different styles in the provinces.
These tools will have a value other than just being artistic.
At 8:15 a program will be presented.
A great deal of experience and work has been extended in this direction, and the entertainment is promised.
There will be some French folk dancing and solo dancing.
The final number on the program will be a playette given in French which everyone will be sure to enjoy.
All these treats have been promised us and all we have to do is to come ready to enjoy ourselves, not forgetting the tiffin sum of ten cents, which is required as an entrance fee.
Large in the evening there will be an orchestra which in itself means a good time.
Surely with all these inducements everyone will want to come and have a good time.

THE FEBRUARY QUARTERLY
I would that this review might approach the witty keenness of Dr. Hading’s TRIP WITH A. E. F. scandal among the faculty—impossible!
One feels sorely in need of a CONTRIBUTORS COLUMN in which he might become acquainted with the three new authors of ’26 and the one of ’24. They are evidently worth knowing.
If “writing poetry is a disease,” we hope it is catching; for such a number of uniformly delightful verse we have not found between QUARTERLY covers in a long while.
In fact, every class of this college generation is represented, and one more, ’22.
The “eyes of youth” as they look out at us from this little book are wistful, thoughtful; but as over they sparkle mischievously just as we begin to get too serious, in the form of THE LAQUER BOX, PRINTING CLAIRENCE, THE SECRETS (now no secrets) OF THIS SACRED SITTING ROOM, and the usual category.
