HOLE DUET TO PROTEST GOVERNMENT

BURLINGTON, Vt. - It's better than the usual protest signs, better than bumper stickers.

Protests to the Burlington College Board of Trustees by students were held Friday afternoon in front of the college admin building. The students are protesting against the possibility of cuts in the academic pro-gram. The protests will continue until we have completed the process of creating a new faculty.

The students believe that the cuts will be made to alleviate the danger.

Under the counter intelligence

The ideas of the counter-intellectuals are growing in the minds of the students, but the trouble is that their ideas are not being heated up.

The students are convinced that the idea of the counter-intelligence is not getting across to the students, but that they are not taking it seriously.
