Wednesday -- Colgate Musical Clubs

CONCERT TO BE GIVEN

Girls' Chorus to Assemble

When Colgate comes to State Wednesday night, mild voices of music are going to flow all around. In the past Colgate has come here to try to defeat us in basketball, but this year it is going to entertain us. It is not the basketball team this time. It is the Musical Clubs.

The concert given by the Colgate Musical Clubs has always been a treat for those who appreciate this music. But the concert is going to be better than ever, because at this time there is going to be an added attraction. The program will be improved by a selected girls' chorus from State College who will show the audience that all the melody isn't produced at Colgate.

The program will be a varied one, and will comprise vocal and instrumental solos, choruses, and orchestral selections. The men will offer all kinds of music from the state college anthems to humorous glee songs and the most jazzyfierous syncopation. So everyone ought to be interested.

Because of the reputation of the clubs and the fact that this is the first glee club concert of the season, hundreds of the Colgate students and the fact that this is the president of the Eastern New York Branch of the Association.

The convention opened with a meeting on Thursday morning when resolutions were proposed to be sent to the disarmament conference at Washington. Mrs. Edithton Passon, Eliza Pennington, president of the Women's Committee, and Mrs. Rachel Forbes Roberton, on State road, discussed some of the points on the armament problem.

American Association Conference

The conference of the North Atlantic Section of the American Association of University Women was held in New York recently. Mrs. G. M. Conwell, who was graduated from State College in the class of '16, attended, since she is the president of the Eastern New York Branch of the Association.

The convention opened with a meeting on Thursday morning when resolutions were proposed to be sent to the Disarmament Conference at Washington. Mrs. Edithton Passon, Eliza Pennington, president of the Women's Committee, and Mrs. Rachel Forbes Roberton, on State road, discussed some of the points on the armament problem.

Miss Murray resigns

Miss Ethel Murray, a graduate of State College in the class of '16, resigns her position as instructor in English and journalism to take effect December 1. She will take up work with the New York State Association, which is a non-partisan political organization forming legislative news. Women's organizations in this state are adopting legislative programs, and it is her intent to join the New York Association and to furnish those organizations with just as complete news of the legislative sessions as if they had individual representatives there.

The work that Miss Murray will have charge of during the sessions of the Legislature will be at the Albany office, 4 Eagle Street, with the exception of the week-ends when she will be in New York and other cities making reports to the organizations in those cities. Such organizations as the New York State League of Women Voters, the Women's Joint Legislative Conference, Albany City Club, and the State Convention of Jewish Women are her subscribers.

Miss Murray will be the associate editor of the magazine published bimonthly during the time when the Legislature meets, The New York State Association Bulletin. It discusses at length bills reported on each day, as was stated before. This organization is sponsored by the joint platform this year the question of Municipal Home Rule.

Beginning December 1, following the annual meeting of the association, Miss Murray will be at the New York office, 339 Broadway. From December 10 to 18 she will be making reports to the cities in the state in preparation for the writer's work. She will address various women's clubs at these places, assenting them with their legislative programs.

FriendsFUND

Stand By the Students of Europe!

To counter the physical, mental, and moral gains resulting from the relief extended by American students during the past year, to carry out our obligations and the implications of the Golden Rule, including the principle that the strong should help the weak.

To give added force to the efforts to solve world problems, as evidenced by the questions involved in the Conference to Reduce Armaments.

To help overcome the harmful effects of war, privation, and pestilence.

To impress unmistakably upon the people of the world that the United States is a great and good nation, and that the people of the United States are the people of the world.

Continued on page 4
The "News" extends to all of its friends best wishes for a pleasant Thanksgiving holiday, and to the numberless things for which we show gratitude, and which are an important part of our life. While our short vacation is over, we have for us an Alma Mater as State to which we can return.

A PROPHECY AND ITS FULFILLMENT

"Then let us pray that come it may—

The conference of the New York State College for Teachers, at Albany, New York.

The demand for our teachers is annual, as was probably the case last year about ninety per cent of the graduates of the State College for Teachers. Of course, there is almost an annual percentage of a class that does not want to pursue a career in teaching. The appointment of a number of competent and willing to teach in any part of the State could usually be placed as soon as possible, but the fact is last year's class were unable to secure positions, and some of those failed because they did not wish to teach away from home.

New York State College graduates are teaching in every county in the State. A larger percentage is found in the eastern than in the western part of the state, and one hundred east of Syracuse there are about ten west. A great number of State College people teach in the Hudson valley, especially near New York City. New Jersey has a great many of our teachers. The higher salaries paid in the Metropolitan district seem to be the factor.

The success of State College teachers is due, in a large percentage of cases, to the fact that our graduates begin life as experienced teachers. They have had an opportunity to do work in their major subject at the college, and so they are better prepared to enter the teaching field. They are generally more successful in securing positions than those who are not so prepared.

ThePROPHECY AND ITS FULFILLMENT

"Then let us pray that come it may—

The conference of the New York State College for Teachers, at Albany, New York.

The demand for our teachers is annual, as was probably the case last year about ninety per cent of the graduates of the State College for Teachers. Of course, there is almost an annual percentage of a class that does not want to pursue a career in teaching. The appointment of a number of competent and willing to teach in any part of the State could usually be placed as soon as possible, but the fact is last year's class were unable to secure positions, and some of those failed because they did not wish to teach away from home.

New York State College graduates are teaching in every county in the State. A larger percentage is found in the eastern than in the western part of the state, and one hundred east of Syracuse there are about ten west. A great number of State College people teach in the Hudson valley, especially near New York City. New Jersey has a great many of our teachers. The higher salaries paid in the Metropolitan district seem to be the factor.

The success of State College teachers is due, in a large percentage of cases, to the fact that our graduates begin life as experienced teachers. They have had an opportunity to do work in their major subject at the college, and so they are better prepared to enter the teaching field. They are generally more successful in securing positions than those who are not so prepared.

The PROPHECY AND ITS FULFILLMENT

"Then let us pray that come it may—

The conference of the New York State College for Teachers, at Albany, New York.

The demand for our teachers is annual, as was probably the case last year about ninety per cent of the graduates of the State College for Teachers. Of course, there is almost an annual percentage of a class that does not want to pursue a career in teaching. The appointment of a number of competent and willing to teach in any part of the State could usually be placed as soon as possible, but the fact is last year's class were unable to secure positions, and some of those failed because they did not wish to teach away from home.

New York State College graduates are teaching in every county in the State. A larger percentage is found in the eastern than in the western part of the state, and one hundred east of Syracuse there are about ten west. A great number of State College people teach in the Hudson valley, especially near New York City. New Jersey has a great many of our teachers. The higher salaries paid in the Metropolitan district seem to be the factor.

The success of State College teachers is due, in a large percentage of cases, to the fact that our graduates begin life as experienced teachers. They have had an opportunity to do work in their major subject at the college, and so they are better prepared to enter the teaching field. They are generally more successful in securing positions than those who are not so prepared.

The PROPHECY AND ITS FULFILLMENT

"Then let us pray that come it may—

The conference of the New York State College for Teachers, at Albany, New York.

The demand for our teachers is annual, as was probably the case last year about ninety per cent of the graduates of the State College for Teachers. Of course, there is almost an annual percentage of a class that does not want to pursue a career in teaching. The appointment of a number of competent and willing to teach in any part of the State could usually be placed as soon as possible, but the fact is last year's class were unable to secure positions, and some of those failed because they did not wish to teach away from home.

New York State College graduates are teaching in every county in the State. A larger percentage is found in the eastern than in the western part of the state, and one hundred east of Syracuse there are about ten west. A great number of State College people teach in the Hudson valley, especially near New York City. New Jersey has a great many of our teachers. The higher salaries paid in the Metropolitan district seem to be the factor.

The success of State College teachers is due, in a large percentage of cases, to the fact that our graduates begin life as experienced teachers. They have had an opportunity to do work in their major subject at the college, and so they are better prepared to enter the teaching field. They are generally more successful in securing positions than those who are not so prepared.
"ROUND THE COLLEGE"

Pauline George, '23, attended a reunion of the Rockefeller family at the Hotel McAlpin in New York City last week. Mr. A. F. Recinno was the guest of his daughter, Mildred Stickno, '22, last week.

Margaret Kirkland, '22, attended the Yale-Princeton game last week.

An informal house dance was held at the Phi Beta house Friday evening, November 18.

Anne Nelson, '17, spent a few days at the Phi Beta house recently.

Miss Gillett and Miss Kein are in attendance at the New York State Home Economics Association and the State Teachers' Association meetings at Buffalo, November 21, 22 and 23.

Miss Gillett, Miss Kein, Miss Soden, and the Home Management committee started to Troy on Sunday afternoon to hear Dr. Hugh Black at the First Presbyterian Church. As Dr. Black spoke especially to students, his talk was of vital interest to the visitors.

Chemistry Club

Chemistry Club was fortunate in having Doctor Douglas, of the Chemistry Department, talk about their western trip at their last regular meeting of the club Wednesday evening, November 18, at 7:30 o'clock.

Many slides, nearly all of which were snapshots taken by Doctor Douglas herself, were shown. Those who were present saw pictures of the places Dr. Douglas vividly described in the News. Only a few of the more interesting pictures can be described here. Sit down a deep snowbank in August on one day and the next day cooking a meal in a geyser seem like fairy tales, but the snapshot proves them to be true.

Think of a chimney over 500 feet high, one picture showed such a chimney used in a smelter plant. You can easily imagine how enormous chimney used in a smelter plant. You can easily imagine how enormous.

Those who were present saw pictures of the places Dr. Douglas vividly described in the News. Only a few of the more interesting pictures can be described here. Sit down a deep snowbank in August on one day and the next day cooking a meal in a geyser seem like fairy tales, but the snapshot proves them to be true.

Mathematics Club

Some Practical Uses of Higher Mathematics will be the subject of Doctor Douglas lecture at a meeting of the Mathematics Club to be held this afternoon, Monday, November 21, at 4:30 P.M., in Room 201. Dr. Otto R. Danielson is director of the division of vital statistics of the New York State Department of Health. Math Club extends a cordial invitation to all students who are interested in mathematics, especially to those taking analytical geometry.

Music Association

The following program was enjoyed at the meeting of the Music Association, November 18th: Piano solo, "Eroica"... Piano solo, "Barcarolle"...

Piano solo, "The Witches' Dance"... Piano solo, "After Every Meal"... Piano solo, "Barcarolle"...

Vocal solo, "Eroica"...

"The Mission of the American Association of University Women" was the topic considered at a luncheon at the Cosmos Club on Sunday, Sophia C. Hart, professor of English at Wesleyan, presiding.

At the present the graduates of State College are eligible to become associate members of the association. The Eastern Branch urges all to Mary had a little book,
And "Ped" was her name; —
And she was the happiest girl in town.

Even though she was very lame.
For Mary sat in her window
And looked over "Ped" through and through;
And everyone on the street stopped
To look it over, too.

CONCERT TO BE GIVEN
(Continued from page 1)
After the concert there will be dancing in the gymnasium for college students and Colgate Alumni only.

The itinerary of the clubs enables them to give concerts in New York November 24; in Elizabeth, N. J., November 25, and in Trenton, November 26.

SONGS OF THE Campus.
The Clubs.