IFG Presents Great Russian Film Tonight

Tonight the International Film Group will present to the College community a Russian film, directed by the famous Sergei Eisenstein. The film will be shown in the Tisch 'B' Classroom at 8 p.m. The IFG plans to show a number of Russian films during the coming months, and the group hopes to have a number of Russian films shown by other groups during the year.

Good Woman Generally Good Technicians and Play Choice Cited

By Skit Schroder

The production of "I'm Every Woman," a one-act, one-character play, had its first night of rehearsal this week. The cast consisted of all students, with the exception of the director, who was an advanced student. The play was directed by John Moore, who is also the director of "The Good Woman of Setzuan." The play was written by the playwright, who is a former student of the College.

The Good Woman of Setzuan is a play by the famous playwright, who is also the author of "The Good Woman." The play was written in the late 1800s, and was the first play to be performed in the College's new theater. The play was well received by the audience, and is expected to be a box office hit.

Eisenhower's 'White House Years'- Is I'm More Myth Than Man?

By John Rogers-Lehet

There is an extensive collection of materials on the Eisenhower era in the library. The collection includes books, newspapers, and other materials that can be found in the library archives.

The collection includes a number of items that are of interest to students and scholars. There are a number of books that are of interest to students and scholars. There are a number of books that are of interest to students and scholars. There are a number of books that are of interest to students and scholars.

The collection is available for use by students and scholars. The collection is available for use by students and scholars. The collection is available for use by students and scholars. The collection is available for use by students and scholars.

Greeks Contend With Administration Over Early Freshman Rush Period

The Fraternity Rush has started, and the Greeks are contending with the administration over the early freshman rush period. The Greeks are hoping to get the administration to start the rush period later, so that they can have more time to prepare for the rush period. The administration is not willing to change the schedule, and the Greeks are threatening to go on strike if they do not get their way.

Confederated Conference Provides Forum for Information Exchange

The Confederated Conference of Student Organizations will hold its annual meeting in the College's new auditorium next week. The meeting will be held for the purpose of providing a forum for information exchange and discussion among the various student organizations of the College. The meeting will be held on Tuesday, October 1, at 8 p.m.

MYSKANIA to Rule on Legality Of Senate Chartering Student Buses

As a result of Senate's legislation, concerning buses chartered for the upcoming rush period, the Greeks have been contending with the administration over the legality of the legislation. The Greeks have been contending with the administration over the legality of the legislation. The Greeks have been contending with the administration over the legality of the legislation.

Universal Motion

The Universal Motion Plan has been approved by the Senate. The plan will take effect in the fall semester, and will be implemented by the administration.

Chi Omega, Other Sororities Form "Women's Honor Council"

Chi Omega and other sororities have formed a "Women's Honor Council," which will be dedicated to the protection of women's rights. The council will be made up of representatives from all of the sororities, and will have the power to investigate and take action on any violations of the "Women's Honor Code."
Earlier Activities Day Needed

The Activities Days program was an unqualified success, if somewhat spectacular, this last week. Despite a fine effort by the event's committee, several shortcomings were noted, and an emphasis on more means to balance the program, this readiness of the participants, and efforts made by the staff, resulted in a somewhat disjointed program.

Most freshmen and transfer students could not care less about an activity halfway through the semester.

Rocky Road for Our Hero

Now that New York's governor has declared that he will sign all the suspender unannounced in his last words, we can all look forward to a bright and full year of relief. We are all very glad that New York's governor will be returning to our state.

Our good governor is running for the nomination despite the heavy odds against him. The only thing that might make us is in that the "Roose for Barry" might prevent our future from getting the Republicans。

We really do not see why Rocky got the nomination — so that he could get married. Here is a big show.

No Compromise in Workshops

When the Greek Workshops began last September, there was a general feeling of optimism and hope among the Greeks that the University's new policies would make the workshops effective. Today, that feeling seems to be more of a reality since many of the workshops have been cancelled. Instead, students are meeting outside of class and studying with each other.

This is an example of what can happen when students are given the freedom to come together. The workshops have not been replaced by anything similar, but at least the students are able to meet and share ideas.

Student Protests

Bus Chartering

A student protest against the bus charter is planned for this week. The students are protesting against the high charter rates and the lack of availability of buses. They are advocating a more affordable and accessible transportation system.

Senator Services Committee

Begins Chartering Buses

On May 22, 1960 Senator会同 the University authorized the Senate to begin chartering buses for scheduled vacation periods. The Senate was authorized by the University Board of Trustees to charter buses for the first time, and the chartering of buses has been an important issue ever since.

The Senate chartering of buses has been successful. Whether they have been protesting tuition, or the University's new policies, the students have always been able to express their opinions through the Senate chartering of buses.

Reasons, Not Excuses

If it's a matter of what they're speaking on, then, yes, it's that old cliché about the weather. Everybody talks about the weather.

We feel that this system is indicative of a lack of common attitude of such individuals to authority toward student body.

A parent does not tell "everybody else" how his child will be brought up, yet when students question a regulation, they often find that "everybody else" does have something to tell them. We must not think that it is necessary to give students sound, logical reasons for regulations.

If sound, logical reasons exist, the students must have a right to know them. If there is no logical basis for a giving, then the rule should be abolished and not subjected to the needs of the particular situation.

We are not suggesting that students aren't capable of respecting reasonable regulations, but as a reason, "everybody else does it" will not suffice.

Senate Services Committee

Begins Chartering Buses

The University Board of Trustees has authorized the Senate to begin chartering buses for scheduled vacation periods. The Senate was authorized by the Board of Trustees to charter buses for the first time, and the chartering of buses has been an important issue ever since.

The Senate chartering of buses has been successful. Whether they have been protesting tuition, or the University's new policies, the students have always been able to express their opinions through the Senate chartering of buses.

Reasons, Not Excuses

If it's a matter of what they're speaking on, then, yes, it's that old cliché about the weather. Everybody talks about the weather.

We feel that this system is indicative of a lack of common attitude of such individuals to authority toward student body.

A parent does not tell "everybody else" how his child will be brought up, yet when students question a regulation, they often find that "everybody else" does have something to tell them. We must not think that it is necessary to give students sound, logical reasons for regulations.

If sound, logical reasons exist, the students must have a right to know them. If there is no logical basis for a giving, then the rule should be abolished and not subjected to the needs of the particular situation.

We are not suggesting that students aren't capable of respecting reasonable regulations, but as a reason, "everybody else does it" will not suffice.

Senate Services Committee

Begins Chartering Buses

The University Board of Trustees has authorized the Senate to begin chartering buses for scheduled vacation periods. The Senate was authorized by the Board of Trustees to charter buses for the first time, and the chartering of buses has been an important issue ever since.

The Senate chartering of buses has been successful. Whether they have been protesting tuition, or the University's new policies, the students have always been able to express their opinions through the Senate chartering of buses.

Reasons, Not Excuses

If it's a matter of what they're speaking on, then, yes, it's that old cliché about the weather. Everybody talks about the weather.

We feel that this system is indicative of a lack of common attitude of such individuals to authority toward student body.

A parent does not tell "everybody else" how his child will be brought up, yet when students question a regulation, they often find that "everybody else" does have something to tell them. We must not think that it is necessary to give students sound, logical reasons for regulations.

If sound, logical reasons exist, the students must have a right to know them. If there is no logical basis for a giving, then the rule should be abolished and not subjected to the needs of the particular situation.

We are not suggesting that students aren't capable of respecting reasonable regulations, but as a reason, "everybody else does it" will not suffice.

Senate Services Committee

Begins Chartering Buses

The University Board of Trustees has authorized the Senate to begin chartering buses for scheduled vacation periods. The Senate was authorized by the Board of Trustees to charter buses for the first time, and the chartering of buses has been an important issue ever since.

The Senate chartering of buses has been successful. Whether they have been protesting tuition, or the University's new policies, the students have always been able to express their opinions through the Senate chartering of buses.

Reasons, Not Excuses

If it's a matter of what they're speaking on, then, yes, it's that old cliché about the weather. Everybody talks about the weather.

We feel that this system is indicative of a lack of common attitude of such individuals to authority toward student body.

A parent does not tell "everybody else" how his child will be brought up, yet when students question a regulation, they often find that "everybody else" does have something to tell them. We must not think that it is necessary to give students sound, logical reasons for regulations.

If sound, logical reasons exist, the students must have a right to know them. If there is no logical basis for a giving, then the rule should be abolished and not subjected to the needs of the particular situation.

We are not suggesting that students aren't capable of respecting reasonable regulations, but as a reason, "everybody else does it" will not suffice.

Senate Services Committee

Begins Chartering Buses

The University Board of Trustees has authorized the Senate to begin chartering buses for scheduled vacation periods. The Senate was authorized by the Board of Trustees to charter buses for the first time, and the chartering of buses has been an important issue ever since.

The Senate chartering of buses has been successful. Whether they have been protesting tuition, or the University's new policies, the students have always been able to express their opinions through the Senate chartering of buses.

Reasons, Not Excuses

If it's a matter of what they're speaking on, then, yes, it's that old cliché about the weather. Everybody talks about the weather.

We feel that this system is indicative of a lack of common attitude of such individuals to authority toward student body.

A parent does not tell "everybody else" how his child will be brought up, yet when students question a regulation, they often find that "everybody else" does have something to tell them. We must not think that it is necessary to give students sound, logical reasons for regulations.

If sound, logical reasons exist, the students must have a right to know them. If there is no logical basis for a giving, then the rule should be abolished and not subjected to the needs of the particular situation.

We are not suggesting that students aren't capable of respecting reasonable regulations, but as a reason, "everybody else does it" will not suffice.

Senate Services Committee

Begins Chartering Buses

The University Board of Trustees has authorized the Senate to begin chartering buses for scheduled vacation periods. The Senate was authorized by the Board of Trustees to charter buses for the first time, and the chartering of buses has been an important issue ever since.

The Senate chartering of buses has been successful. Whether they have been protesting tuition, or the University's new policies, the students have always been able to express their opinions through the Senate chartering of buses.

Reasons, Not Excuses

If it's a matter of what they're speaking on, then, yes, it's that old cliché about the weather. Everybody talks about the weather.

We feel that this system is indicative of a lack of common attitude of such individuals to authority toward student body.

A parent does not tell "everybody else" how his child will be brought up, yet when students question a regulation, they often find that "everybody else" does have something to tell them. We must not think that it is necessary to give students sound, logical reasons for regulations.

If sound, logical reasons exist, the students must have a right to know them. If there is no logical basis for a giving, then the rule should be abolished and not subjected to the needs of the particular situation.

We are not suggesting that students aren't capable of respecting reasonable regulations, but as a reason, "everybody else does it" will not suffice.
Albeit bringing them up to date with fraternity and sorority alumni.

Dean Hartley conducted a meeting of the brothers of APA Monday, November 18.

They believe that must ul the meetings can be fun - try one! A wise choice of a single activity can't hurt, and if you're tired of one, there are always others.

Meeting the Greeks feel that by meeting with members of fraternities and sororities, many freshmen who know little or nothing about school organizations and activities will be educated on the subject.

"Freedom of the Press" has not been recorded, out this day, however, was not necessary.

It was the first picture ever to appear in the news section of the student newspaper, the State College News was ranked the third best college newspaper in the country.

"The Greek workshops" in their beginning the News was ranked as the best college newspaper in the country, and the first attempt to produce a daily newspaper was made.

On the other hand, the editors of the News were able to use the same kind of freedom of speech that the student newspapers enjoyed.

The Greek workshops, however, had to be used because the students were not allowed to speak their minds.

Dr. Alfred Dedicke, the first editor of the State College News, aptly expressed the purpose of these publications. In his first editorial in 1914 he wrote, "In the course of time, you will feel the pulse of the student body. It is still a minor standing at an angle, into which a person pierces not his own, but rather the image of another."
Democrats Register Significant Gains in New York’s Off-Year Elections

In New York’s Off-Year Elections, Democrats in the Empire State expanded their hold on county offices and legislative and judicial boards.

The Democratic victory, which included gains in a variety of off-year races, reflected the success of the Democratic strategy of targeting traditionally Republican areas.

Significance of These Victories

The victories in off-year elections are significant because they mark a shift in the political balance of power in New York State. The Democrats’ gains in county offices and legislative races indicate a growing divide between the two major parties in the state. These victories are particularly notable because they occurred in a year when the presidential election was not in play.

Significantly, the Democrats made gains in traditionally Republican counties, such as Nassau, Suffolk, and Rockland. These victories suggest that the Democrats have made inroads into Republican strongholds and are gaining traction in the state.

Election Results

Democrats won a majority of the county executive races in the state, including the coveted office of Nassau County Executive. Additionally, Democrats gained a majority of the legislative seats in the state, including the state Senate and the Assembly.

The Democratic victories were particularly notable given the challenging political climate. The state was in the midst of a recession, and the economy was struggling, which made it difficult for any party to win a majority of the vote.

New York State Republican

The Republican Party, which has traditionally dominated New York State politics, lost ground in the off-year elections. The party was particularly unsuccessful in attracting voters in traditionally Democratic areas, such as the cities and suburbs.

Impact on Future Elections

The Democratic victories in off-year elections suggest that the party is well-positioned to make gains in future elections. The party’s success in targeting traditionally Republican areas indicates that it is developing a strategy to expand its base of support.

The Democratic victories also suggest that the party is gaining momentum in the state. The party’s success in off-year elections, particularly the gains in county offices and legislative races, indicate that the party is making inroads into traditionally Republican areas.

Overall, the Democratic victories in off-year elections suggest that the party is gaining momentum in New York State. The party’s success in targeting traditionally Republican areas indicates that it is developing a strategy to expand its base of support. The Democratic victories also suggest that the party is gaining momentum in the state, particularly in traditionally Republican areas.
A.M.I.A. BOWLING LEAGUE BEGINS TXO, KB Lead After 1st Round

AMERICAN BOWLING LEAGUE gets off to a great start.

Doug McAllister and Al Barnard of Kappa Beta and TXO are tied for first after five games of the American Bowling League.

One of the most exciting matches of the day was one in which the team members competed in the Baker's Dozen. In this event, each team had to make 30 strikes in the first 12 games. The team with the highest score wins the match.

The winners advanced to the second round to compete against each other in a match of 20 games. The team with the highest score wins the match, and so on, until the championship round.

The tournament continues for two more weekends, and the team that wins the championship will receive a cash prize of $500.

SEAMAN FINISHES SPORTS CAREER AT STATE SOCCER CO-CAPTAIN AND 3-YEAR VETERAN

Annapolis, Md. - The annual awards dinner for the Annapolis High School varsity soccer team was held on Tuesday evening at the Annapolis Yacht Club.

Several players received awards for their outstanding performances during the season. The team's co-captain, Tom Seaman, was named the Most Valuable Player, and he was joined by the 3-year veteran, Bob Ellis, who was also named to the All-State team.

The team finished the season with a record of 12-3-1, and they were one of the top teams in the state. They won the conference championship and made it to the state playoffs.

CHICAGO BOUND
STATE PUPS LEAVE ALBANY AIRPORT
Cross Country Squad Ends Season With 7-0 Record

Yesterday afternoon at 3:15 P.M, the Albany State cross country team left Albany via Mohawk Airlines Flight #26, their destination Idlewild Airport, N.Y.C.

There they boarded a DC-8 jet and started their trip to Chicago. The team flew to Chicago on Friday and started competing on Sunday. The team finished the trip on Wednesday, and they flew back to Albany on Thursday.

The team competed in the NCAA Cross Country Championships, which were held in Illinois. They finished in 7th place.

The team members were very happy with their performance and were excited to have their season come to an end.

Peds Beat Post 3-2 in Final Game
End Season with 3 Wins 7 Defeats

On Saturday November 9, the Peds of Albany State played host to the Varsity of C.W. Post. The Peds played a record of two wins and seven losses while Post had a record of four wins, five losses and two ties.

The weather was fairly cold, but the Peds were able to get off two shots at the Post goal but the ball did not penetrate the goal. Post then took the lead, and the Peds were unable to get off another shot. The final score was 3-2 in favor of Post.

The Peds are disappointed with their season's performance, but they are looking forward to the next season and hope to improve their record next year.
Play Review

'The Stranger' Highlights Four Generally Good AD Presentations

by Skye Slevin

The play, "The Stranger," by Alfred Denham, is a wonderful opportunity for a number of the cast to shine. The action takes place in a small country town in Canada and involves the arrival of a stranger named Henry Brandt.

Movie Review

Disney Picture, Fantasia Still Great Film Treat

by Paul Jaccottet

"Fantasia," Disney's first feature-length animated film, is a masterpiece of animation and music. Directed by Walt Disney, the film tells the story of a young boy who enters a world of imagination and fantasy through music.

State Drama Students Take Top Honors At RPI Arts Festival

Pauline Avison and Jan Bobridge, winners of the first prize at the Rochester Institute of Technology Arts Festival. The festival is a showcase for students' talent in a variety of artistic fields.

stateu.edu/news

Finance Committee Freezes Budgets Of 5 Organizations

Senator authorizes two individuals, Services Group to Charter Buses

Tina Williams, the Services Group, was able to authorize two individuals to charter buses for transportation during the holiday season.

stateu.edu/news

The Curly Coge

by Libby Slevin

It's a shame how often truth and drinking go hand in hand. It's even harder to find a movie that doesn't exploit this idea. Maybe if people could look at the reasons for drinking, the whole thing might be more clear.

State University NEWS

ALBANY, NEW YORK

November 22, 1983

VOL. XLIX, NO. 23

Expansion Forces Budget Increase

State Senate authorizes two individuals, Services Group to Charter Buses

Tina Williams was able to authorize two individuals to charter buses for transportation during the holiday season.

State University of New York