- Jeanne Chrisler, '39
- Simon Bliss, '39
- George M. York, professor of Commercial Education, and Mrs. Frederick, chairman
- Mr. McFadden, co-chairmen, Alice Drown, Louis H. D. Sprague, chairman, Eleanor Black, associate chairman, and Betty Hayford, juniors; and sets, Margaret Hickok, Virginia Bolton and Marion Minst, seniors; and costumes, Catherine Lynch, Miss Chrisler, and Miss Drown, juniors; and lights, Don South, president of the club. After the play the club will adjourn to the commons of Hawley hall for dancing.

The first step in his professional career came when he obtained a job as a clarinetist in the band of the American Legion, the assumption of which was sufficiently daunted personal fortitude and unostentatious practice to gain the band leader's estimation. In a year he was playing in the band at the Willows. His clarinet solos alone were enough to supply something of the swing needed by the orchestra. Having obtained this experience, he turned to the saxophone. Imagine his family pride, when he was featured with Irving Aaronson's orchestra, to be one of the leading swing musicians of the Coast. His reputation has been a colorful one. His participation in such organizations as the National Broadcasting Company, KABC, Los Angeles, and the American Federation of Musicians, from which he is a member, have added to his local and national prominence. The program is arranged so that it will be of interest to all who attend.

The following season Shaw and his New York University quintet appeared in Boston, New York, and in Los Angeles. Since then Shaw has been engaged by the Columbia Broadcasting System, the National Broadcasting Company, and many other organizations. He has appeared in the leading hotels and night clubs in New York City and has appeared on radio and television. The program will conclude the first year of his association with Columbia Broadcasting System, which was formed to produce and originate music specials.

About New York University, it should be said that the University is one of the leading educational institutions of the world. It is located in the heart of New York City, where there are many opportunities for students to get practical experience. The University is well known for its excellent programs in the arts, sciences, and humanities. It is also well known for its outstanding faculty. The University is located in a very convenient location, so students have easy access to all of the city's cultural and recreational activities.
A University of New York?

For Aspiring Sandgates

Last Friday in assembly, an accident occurred which might very well have been both serious and painful. It seems that some innocent bystander tampered with the lights in such a way that not only was the lighting throughout the performance obscured but a piece of the apparatus fell and hit a member of the audience.

Our complaints regarding the matter were met with a smile. In the first place, it was pure luck that the screening fell in a such a way that no one was hurt. In the second place, we feel that the people whoroleId the lights and successfully tampered with the apparatus enough to be able to arrange the equipment.

We do not wish to dampen the enthusiasm of the showmen and artists, but we do suggest that if they are sufficiently interested in their work, they should show more respect for the audience, thereby preventing not only valuable equipment from being damaged, but also the welfare of the assembly.
