Chronic Complaint...

Because of the many extra-curricular activities in the college, it is inevitable that some organizations will flourish while others suffer a resultant drop in membership and activity. The most successful groups are those which are apt to attract the large number of students who are interested in the greatest interest. The time and interest of the student organization, as a whole, and in the benefit of the group, is only natural that such a situation should arise. However, we feel it is conditional that the group should continue to be supported by others who are interested in the group, and be interested in the group itself. The group has an obligation to the college and the student body, and should be supported by the university in its efforts to do the best possible work for the students.

This is the Way...

Efforts to provide frequent entertainment for students at the Albany State College at the lowest possible price have been a cooperative effort between the college and the Albany State College Student Association. The student organization, through the cooperation of the Student Association, has been able to present many well-received shows. It has been shown that the college has an obligation to the student body in providing for its entertainment needs, and that the college should be interested in the efforts of the student association to support the organization.
