Hoop Coach Gets Splashed, Reduced to Glorified Duck

By GORY ALAN

Top coach and athletic director, Bill Austin, and athletic department head, Dick Sauers, have been hit with a wave of criticism as a result of the recent fusillade of complaints against the basketball program. The two men have been under fire from student and public alike for the way they have handled the program.

Austin and Sauers have been accused of favoritism, lack of discipline, and poor planning. The athletic department has been criticized for its lack of organization and direction.

In response to the criticism, Austin and Sauers have both defended their actions. Austin has said that the department is working hard to improve the program, and that the recent complaints are part of the normal growing pains of a new program.

Sauers has said that the department is working hard to improve the program, and that the recent complaints are part of the normal growing pains of a new program.

These comments have been met with mixed reactions. Some have praised the men for their openness and willingness to listen, while others have criticized them for not doing enough to address the concerns.

Despite the criticism, Austin and Sauers remain committed to improving the program. They have announced a series of changes, including the addition of new coaches and the introduction of new training methods.

The athletic department has also been working on a new five-year plan, which will outline the department's goals and objectives for the future.

In the meantime, the basketball program will continue to be closely watched by fans and critics alike. The team is currently ranked among the top teams in the country, and is expected to make a strong showing in the upcoming season.

Groups Call Procedures Racist

The Student Activities Board (S.A.B.) is facing criticism for its handling of the speakers' forum program. Some members of the board have been accused of using the forum as an avenue to promote their personal political views, rather than serving the needs of the student body.

The board has been accused of failing to provide a balanced range of speakers, and of ignoring the concerns of students who disagree with the board's political views.

The board has also been criticized for its failure to provide guidelines for the forum, and for its lack of transparency in its decision-making process.

In response to the criticism, the S.A.B. has said that it is committed to providing a forum for the free exchange of ideas, and that it is working to improve its procedures.

The board has also announced a series of changes, including the introduction of new guidelines and the appointment of a new forum coordinator.

In the meantime, the forum will continue to be closely watched by students and critics alike. The board is expected to make a strong showing in the upcoming season.

Brothers, Can You Spare A Dime?

A meeting — a chance meeting in downtown Albany (April 19) — brought together two "musical" minds — a college music student and a local lawyer/author. The two are now working on a musicalization of "Spring Song," a play by Marilyn French. The play, about two women who are anything but sexually compatible, is being begun development. The production is designed entirely by graduate students at the University of the South, and will be directed by Professor John T. Tefft. The show will open on May 15, 1982, at the University's Performing Arts Center.

Light My Fire

25th Century News published a glowing review of the Ramones' concert in Yonkers, but the band's show in Albany was a letdown. The Ramones, as usual, were on time and on form, but the audience was not. The crowd, consisting primarily of high school students, had no appreciation for the band's music, and the result was a lackluster performance. The only redeeming feature of the show was the band's musicianship, which was top-notch.

Spyrogyrations

Recently, many jazz fans have been comparing Spyro Gyra to their own musical taste, and the results have been mixed. Some fans find the band's music too fast-paced and too commercial, while others believe that Spyro Gyra is one of the best groups in jazz today. The band's latest album, "Last Exit," is a good example of their style, combining jazz and rock elements in a way that is both fresh and exciting.

Quest For Nest

Carol Newhouse

The Quest For Nest is a new musical that tells the story of a couple that couldn't make it on their own. The show opened at the PAC on March 30, 1982, and has received critical acclaim. The music and lyrics are both excellent, and the cast delivers a strong performance. The show runs through April 30, 1982, and is not to be missed.

Ballet High

The long line outside the PAC to see the Ballet High performance was a testament to the demand for tickets. The show opened on March 30, 1982, and has been a huge success. The dancers were excellent, and the music was both uplifting and inspiring. The show runs through April 30, 1982, and is a must-see for anyone who loves ballet.

Confines of Capitalism

If the market isn't broken, if the ASP promises to be a policy group, then what is a student newspaper? "Every student is entitled to a free speech= ful discussion," says President David carroll. But so are the Imperialists.
Is this not the reason for the DN? A Liberal wing that speaks for the unheard, a Conservative wing that resists the overreach of the state?
Is the overtly political article a press release? Isn't there a reason for the DN that someone with a politicized agenda can't fulfill?

Our society is affected by the influence of capital. In this world, the mighty are of the mighty. Some of the wealth we have is commonly owned by the few. The rest of us are the little guy, and we're willing to let our money sit in the bank and forget about it.

I can't imagine that the President of the ASP would be interested in
the fate of the world,
but I do see a paper that is not afraid to talk about it. The DN isn't afraid to talk about the world. The DN is a policy group.

The market is broken. The market is the problem. If the market isn't broken, then what is a student new-paper?

Travesty And Fraud

The returns from the recent elections in El Salvador are still incomplete, but it seems that most of the candidates in the elections have won with a majority. The main candidates in this election are the party of the Socialists.

The election was absolutely right in failing to make a difference to the democracy. The reason is that the election was too complex. The candidates on the right did not have enough political clout to push through their candidates. The candidates on the left did not have enough political clout to push through their candidates.

The Barga,jian Revolution that succeeded the Sandinista revolution in 1979 is a test of all the assumptions. We have been told that the United States government is a major supporter of the Sandinista government. However, the Sandinista government has not increased its support for the United States government.

Tarheels Nip Georgetown in NCAA Final, 63-62

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) Freshman Michael Jordan hit an 18-foot jumper with 15 seconds left and James Worthy won the final rebound with Patrick Ewing to give North Carolina its first NCAA basketball championship under Coach Dean Smith with a 63-62 victory over Georgetown Monday night.

Worthy scored a game-high 28 points and hit the biggest basket of the game when DcMeo's football coach (who also just happened to be the SunyAC coach) knew that he started a powerhouse. A 17-3-1 record in the 1981-82 season was the State grappling program. He has recruited "DeMeo in high school."

Another $10 million will be put into the computer center. The administration cut the hours requested additional funds for the terminals have signed petitions circling around the perimeter and Jordan left court, first Worthy, then the coach, and finally the usual afterthought, "Sleepy" Floyd who delivered the championship with a team that had perhaps the best starting five of his career in the past 22 title games have, for the past four seasons, played the very best teams.

We played probably the best team we have ever had on our hands. Worthy then headed down court, Brown turned to his right side.
