GOVERNOR VETOES BILL FOR LIBRARY

Executive promises to pass original appropriation if presented

Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt vetoed the item in the State budget Monday which gave State college $10,000 for remodeling Hanley hall auditorium into a library, according to Governor J. C. Long, secretary to the governor.

The vetoing of the budget item has caused disagreement between the Governor's office and the Hanley committee. It had been included in the budget by the Governor for the purpose of repairing the roof of Hanley hall auditorium and third hall.

The wording of the budget item is similar to that of another budget item that the Governor included in the budget.
The voice was found to be much better than formerly by the “vocalist.”

The music department is having difficulty in arranging a time for rehearsals which will be suitable to all the students, and the administration is now looking into the possibility of scheduling the choir during the hour before classes start. However, it is hoped that all members of the choir will be able to recognize the changes after the three-year absence.

Bonds of Family Are Breaking Down,

Dr. Anderson Tells College Men

The atmosphere of family life is on the wane in the homes of New York State College for Teachers, said Dr. Russel Anderson, professor of sociology in the college, Brooklyn, R. I., in a lecture delivered in a group of men at the College Thursday night. "Modern inventions and encroachments are making inroads into the physical and emotional life. The home seems to be breaking down," he said.

Dr. Anderson reviewed the history of the family and made predictions for its future. He discussed the origination of the family, pointing out that the family was not founded until emotional grounds. The family, he said, "is the need to protect the child in infancy, and the continued rule of the family was a large factor in the ancient man's 'farming of a family group.'"

Dr. Anderson declared the emergence of women from the "farming" that tends domestic strife to family solidarity. The "marriage" is the little room for a family," he said.

JUNIORS TO PLAY 1933 BASKETEERS ON MONDAY NIGHT

The junior team will be greatly interested in the upcoming basketball tournament, which will be held in the gymnasium at 7:35 p.m. in the Pine Hall gymnasium.

The tournament is to be played in a single-elimination format, with the winners proceeding to the next round until a champion is declared. The junior team has been practicing diligently and is expected to perform well.

STATE STAGE

A play presenting a new stage of a title past was presented Tuesday night by Miss Dorothy Stimson, Miss Katherine Grady, Miss Margaret Cussler, Miss Gladey Hates, and Miss Evelyn Pitts.

The action at the start of the play was rather slow, and the performance progressed. The play ended with a scene in which the players went up to the street after the play was over and the players were all on the street in front of the stage.

Miss Dorothy Stimson was a character of the play, and the audience found her performance to be excellent. The play was well written and acted, and the audience was impressed by the talent of the performers.

WOMEN'S CHORUS TO ENTER MUSIC CONTEST IN MAY

The State college women's chorus has entered the inter-collegiate contest sponsored by the Women's Federation of Music, according to Mrs. Leslie, 32nd, president of the student association announced today.

The contest is a $100; efforts are being made to have a second prize of $50. This year the sectional contests will be held in New York City in the month of May. The winners of the sectional contests will compete in New York City in the month of June. In order to be eligible to enter the contest, the members must be members of the federation. The members of the State college chorus became affiliated with the national organization this week, each member paying a fee of 25 cents.
already been tested in the attempt to form a men's chorus this year, according to Dr. T. Frederick Candlyn, instructor in music. "The effort has been made to see how much better than formerly." Contrast between old and new practices can be accomplished, however, by this survey of the male voice choir for a chorus for next year," Dr. Candlyn, due to the conflict between practice sessions and the education class which is attended by seniors. "Monday and Wednesday are the only days of the week that I have time to give rehearsals to the men's chorus for next year." Monday Collins, seniors; William Mann, juniors; Howard Mann, Duane Maslan, Donald Reagan, Anthony Stroka, Frederick Baker, and Robert Rankins.

Several more candidates will take the voice test before the work is concluded for the year, according to Dr. Candlyn. Those who have already had a chance are: Humans, William Linton, Donald Whitson, and Raymond Collins, seniors; William Sawyer and Laurence Scolman, juniors; Harold White, Robert Bailey, Anthony Stum, Frederick Appleman, and Robert Haskell, sophomores; Harold Beard, Ormond Greene, and William Ross, freshmen.

Freshmen Women Get Brises At Soirée; Sophomores Remove Class Banner Safely

Efforts of nearly fifty freshmen women to capture the sophomore class banner at the sorority Friday night resulted in disorganization and besides for the freshman a three-runs rule a successful get-away with the banner. The large sophomore banner was stored in the Pep hall gymnasium where the object of quick action by both freshmen and sophomores resided. As a result of the last dance four o'clock, the sophomore women, headed by Virginia Hawkins and Arlene Van Buren, proceeded with their plans. These preparations aroused the interest of the watchful freshmen who descended into the back of the gymnasium to better observe the preparations. Not until the Delta Omegas banner and a large cardboard box was erected in order to deceive the ears.

At the appointed three hours of the afternoon those bearing the banner entered the college. The freshmen gave chase but were bewildered as to which one they ought to concentrate their attention upon. As Van Buren and her party left the building they were attacked by another at freshmen women who were preceded by a car containing the banner. The banners, however, being made of cardboard, were easily awakened.

The banner was safely away with the coveted banner. The freshmen who lost its track. The freshmen women, headed by Virginia Hawkins and Arlene Van Buren, proceeded with their plans. These preparations aroused the interest of the watchful freshmen who descended into the back of the gymnasium to better observe the preparations. Not until the Delta Omegas banner and a large cardboard box was erected in order to deceive the ears.
