COUNCIL MAY FORM COLLEGE ORCHESTRA

Students Will Meet Monday To Plan Organization, Conklin Says

CANDYLN JILTS PROJECT

Head Of Music Department Refuses To Conduct Orchestra

Singers were taken this week for the formation of a symphonic orchestra for students. A meeting will be conducted Monday to plan the organization of the group, according to Conklin, musical director. Marion E. Conklin, 29, president of the music department, was consulted by the students who desire to form the orchestra.

The orchestra, which will be organized as a separate group from the college band, will be recognized by the college as an extra-curricular organization.

The meeting will be held at 8:30 o'clock in the auditorium.

Dr. Richardson Assails Extra-Curricular Activities; Peril To Culture And Liberal Education, He Charges

Dr. Richardson, in his address to the students of the university, charged that the extra-curricular activities have a tendency to run away with the "curriculum" of culture and liberal education which are unfortunately neglected by American high schools and colleges, according to Dr. Richardson, who is chairman of the board of the Los Angeles and Cunty departments.

In his address, Dr. Richardson, who has been on the staff of the university for the past ten years, charged that the extra-curricular activities have caused a decline in the quality of the student body. He stated that the university is in great need of students who are interested in culture and liberal education. He also stated that the extra-curricular activities have caused a decline in the quality of the student body.

SOPHOMORES ENTERTAIN FRESHERS TOMORROW

Girls of the freshman class will be entertained tomorrow night by the sophomore class, according to Miss Elizabeth F. Smith, 31, president of the sophomore class.

The sophomore class has planned a "get wise" party tonight in the gymnasium.

BARABRANS LOOSE AT RECEPTION

It is hoped that the faculty reception Friday night did not set the example for other social functions during the week. Not in several years has a faculty party been so unsuccessful a party, as far as the common usages of social etiquette are concerned.

If there has been in the last three years a party at which there has been more boisterousness and lack of manners, it is not likely that it will be possible to retain the present schedule. Perhaps a large part of the unhealthiness and obstdency was due to the inadequate facilities for handling the number of people attending. The space for the reception will be remodeled when other places are available for the activities and purpose.

But must the College have a whole year of the rude and boisterous crowd that has marred the social life of the present schedule. If this irregular and unquestionable method is sanctioned in the future, it will only be for students to slip into manners which are no worse than at the present time, or for it to be recognized that the whole constitutional question arose, and the student association should decide. Anonimously

Solicitors... to be decided. The student association should decide. They solicitors were appointed by the president of the student association, and their method of ratification was extremely irregular and unprecedented. EIGHTY-EIGHT COLLEGE SENIORSkeh are full­time students this semester. The practice of sending reports of the college News will be their first regular class Tuesday afternoon in Room 409. The instruction will be given in the fundamentals of journalism.

The practice will continue for twelve to fifteen weeks with a test at the end of the fourth month which will cover all of the work during the year. Upon the outcome of the examinations prospective members on the student paper will be selected. Margaret J. Steele, '28, assistant managing editor of the News, said today: "This is the first time in many years, the student body has created an organization to train writers for the future."

STUDENT COMPOSERS

The College News song book, which is being compiled by Miss Steele, will appear in December. To stimulate the interest of the student body in writing new college songs, the council is offering two prizes of five dollars each, one for the best set of songs, and one for the best music for these songs.

The winning song will be included in the yearbook, as well as some of the best set songs and one for the best music for these songs.

BASKETBALL TEAM TO PLAY 12 GAMES

Varsity Five Will Clash With St. Michael's Team Here December 7

The State College five will play thirteen or fourteen games this season, according to the schedule announced this week by Manager Reginald Stearns, '29. Stearns has definitely signed for twelve games at the present time but expects to close for the others shortly.

The season opens Saturday, December 7, when the present representatives of the Purple and Gold meet the former court stars in an annual alumni game.

A week later State will begin active intercollege competition, meeting the St. Michaels five. The schedule as it stands at present includes three games at New York on which St. Stephens College, Pratt Institute and the New York Yankees will entertain the Albany Purple.

The basketball outlook at State is not so good as it was for several years back, this condition is due to the fact that last year's freshman class did not bring in enough basketball players. Two seniors who have been lost by graduation are Greer, a guard, and Bell, a center, it is expected, however, in January.

In addition the Thorpe, Hargraves, Carr, Whiston, Allen and Kozakowski are the latter men back in the team.

The schedule now reads:

December 7 St. Michaels Five

December 10 Alden

January 3 Annandale

January 6 Vassar

February 13 St. Stephens

February 15 Queen's

February 16 New York University

February 20 Cornell

February 27 Princeton

March 4 Penn State

March 7 Central

March 9 Colgate

The 1928-1929 schedule now reads:
