Two Motorcycle Films Highlight IPF Program

March 12, 1966

A two-month "Underground Film Festival" is to begin in the University Union on March 14 with "The Wild One," and "Scorpio Rising," both of which are described as 'Surrealistic and Shocking Style.'

Judicial Board should consider application for a minor field of study. Men and Sophomores will be able to consider it as a minor due to eighteen hours of courses, sufficient for the field, but as of now, only Freshmen and Sophomores can be used for a minor field of study.

In a surrealistic and shocking style, "The Wild One" has become a classic of a certain type of film. In its original form, it was a non-fiction smash hit. But now, in the hands of certain directors, it has been transformed into a work of art. The film has been the subject of much controversy, with some people claiming it is too shocking for young audiences. However, the film has also been praised for its innovative use of techniques such as superimposition and montage.

The Wild One is directed by Martin Scorsese, who has been called the "King of Cool" by many critics. Scorsese is known for his innovative use of lighting and camera angles, as well as his ability to create a sense of realism in his films. In "The Wild One," he uses a combination of slow motion and everyday objects to create a sense of timelessness.

The film tells the story of a young man named Johnny, who is a member of a gang of bikers. The film follows Johnny as he navigates the dangerous world of the bikers, dealing with issues of friendship, loyalty, and betrayal. The film is known for its intense and often disturbing imagery, as well as its raw and honest portrayal of the biker subculture.

Overall, "The Wild One" is a film that is not for everyone. It is intense, shocking, and often disturbing, but it is also a work of art that has stood the test of time. The film has been praised for its innovative use of techniques, as well as its compelling story and characters.

JUVENILE HOMICIDE ADDRESSED

A faculty member of the University, Dr. John Smith, has been active in the local, university and national organizations. He has since been active in the local, university and national organizations.

The "plague" that struck Waterbury received a lot of public attention. When the news was first reported, people were very much upset by it. But after the virus had been identified, they started to be more optimistic about the possibility of getting well.

If going by car, people should have more than one driver since the virus can be transmitted by one person to another. Also, people should wash their hands frequently. There is still a possibility of food contamination, but it is not the only way it can be transmitted. If people want to avoid getting sick, they should not eat food that has already been prepared by other people.

A Key View of Sports

by Ray McGee

While all of us are allowing unusual amounts of patience in allowing the student-athletes to participate in intramural sports by our relocation on the new campus, there is a certain group of students who will be trained still further, and to a greater extent than the rest of us. This group is our school's wrestling team.

These men must travel daily down to Milton school for two to three hours of intense practice, and then they must sleep off this each night. Finally, the team performs. We have heard about any self-sacrifice being exhibited this year. The Dynam wrestling team has an abundance of talent this year and should register a very successful season. It is a pity that so few people will award them the credit they deserve to get the squad in action.

We are not calling for people to push aside their selfish ways and actively support these men. We are merely suggesting our respect for these dedicated athletes and pledging our utmost support toward their efforts.

A. A. Board has just announced that it will provide this service to in and from Rider Valley Community College for all 10 of their home basketball games. The Board will decide today as to the number of buses to be made available and the schedule of arrival and departure. The schedule will be posted in advance.

Thanksgiving, the real beginning of the Christmas season, was held on Nov. 22. It is a time for us to think of the things we are thankful for and express our gratitude to others.

There are many reasons why Thanksgiving is considered to be the best holiday of the year. Some people believe that it is the only time of the year when everyone comes together to share a meal. Others argue that it is the perfect time to spend quality time with family and friends. Whatever the reason, Thanksgiving is a time of giving thanks and enjoying the company of loved ones.
