Danes face Buffalo in season finale

By Marc Brown

Coach Bill Ford is pinning his faith deep in the heart of his team. He knows that with a solid performance from his seniors, they can go far in the upcoming season. "Their experience will be a key in our success," he says. Ford has put his trust in four seniors to lead the way: Williams, Thompson, Stewart, and Brown. With their combined experience, the Danes are primed for a strong performance.

Division II

In another exciting divisional race, the Division II powers are vying for the top spot. Glassboro State University has provided a gourmet sampling of quality team. They have emerged as a major contender in the division, with a total of 86 points from four meets. Their success is due to a strong team effort, with each member contributing to their overall success. With a record of 38 points, Glassboro State University is a force to be reckoned with.

Students deal with media issues at conference

By Jerry Campanile and Steve Fox

Student journalism from all over the state converged on Albany last weekend as a part of the SUNY Alumni Association's 3rd Annual Student Media Conference. The conference was held at the Sheraton Hotel in Albany, New York City.

The conference was held to discuss the role of the student journalist in today's world, and to address the issues of professionalism and ethics in journalism. Speakers and workshops dealt with topics such as media law, ethics, and the role of the student journalist in society.

The keynote speaker was Professor Bill Berkus, who discussed the role of the student journalist in the modern world. Professor Berkus emphasized the importance of critical thinking and the role of the student journalist in holding those in power accountable.

Other speakers included media professionals such as Jim Sheil, the editor of the Village Voice, and Susan Lipsky, the executive director of the New York Press Association.

The conference also included workshops on a variety of topics, such as media law, ethics, and the role of the student journalist in society. Participants had the opportunity to learn from media professionals and to network with their peers.

Overall, the conference was a success, with many participants expressing interest in attending future conferences and in continuing to discuss the role of the student journalist in society.
SA minority office gains widespread approval

By Albany Student Press

With several minority groups at the University of Albany, the Minority Affairs Office has been met with mixed reviews from a number of minority groups.

Some minority group leaders, however, feel that the office has made steady progress toward improving the quality of minority services.

Director of minority student services Carl Martin said that there have been several positive developments in recent months.

Senior Vice-President and Controller John Schaffer agreed, saying that the office has made a significant impact on the minority student experience.

"We have made substantial progress in recent years," Schaffer said. "We have increased the number of minority students served, and we have improved our services to better meet their needs."

Hentoff addresses conference

Hentoff addresses the charges by saying, "I know what I want to say and I want to say it." However, he also acknowledges that the student association (SA) has the right to censor or make decisions about what is published. He believes that the SA's role is to "get the hell off campus." Hentoff also suggests that student journalists should network more and be more aware of the potential consequences of their work.

Letters to the Editor

Random readers

To the Editor:

I recently attended a lecture on the topic of postmodernism and found it to be incredibly refreshing and thought-provoking. I believe that the idea of postmodernism is one of the most important concepts of our time, and I think it is essential for everyone to understand it.

Your attention to the topic is greatly appreciated.

Sincerely,

A unique spot

To the Editor:

I recently discovered a unique spot in the city that I think everyone should visit. It is a hidden gem located in a quiet corner of the city, and it provides a peaceful escape from the hustle and bustle of everyday life.

I am writing to encourage others to visit this spot, and I think it would be a great addition to the city's attractions.

Sincerely,

Colombianism today

To the Editor:

The Colombian government has faced numerous challenges in recent years, including political instability, economic difficulties, and social unrest. However, despite these challenges, the Colombian people have continued to show resilience and determination.

I am writing to encourage others to learn more about the Colombian people and their culture, and to support their efforts to build a better future for themselves and their country.

Sincerely,

Misuse of public funds

To the Editor:

I recently learned about the misuse of public funds, and I am deeply concerned about the impact it has on our community. It is essential that we hold our elected officials accountable for their actions, and that we work together to prevent similar incidents from happening in the future.

Your attention to this issue is greatly appreciated.

Sincerely,

Students recall Grenada attack

By Jeff Lough

Grenada is the stage of an operation that College Park police believe is part of a multinational effort to oust the Pannello regime. The operation is a joint military effort involving U.S., British, and Cuban forces.

The operation began on November 9, 1983, with a landing by Cuban troops. The landing was followed by an invasion of the island by U.S. and British forces. The invasion was met with resistance by the Grenadian government, which subsequently fell.

The operation was led by President Fidel Castro of Cuba and President Ronald Reagan of the United States.

The operation was initiated in response to a request by President Ollanen Tahoe of Grenada for assistance in ousting the Pannello regime, which the government believed to be a threat to the stability of the region.

The operation was carried out with the support of the United Nations and the United States government.

The operation was successful in ousting the Pannello regime, but it also led to the death of a large number of civilians.

The operation was condemned by international organizations and some countries, but it was supported by others, including the United States and Cuba.

The operation had a significant impact on the region, as it marked the first time since World War II that a multinational military operation had been carried out in a sovereign state with the consent of the United Nations.

The operation also had a significant impact on the Grenadian government, as it led to the fall of the Pannello regime and the rise of the new government of Prime Minister Maurice Bishop.
Danes edged by Buffalo

On a big fourth and three play from the 10-yard line, Buffalo scored its third touchdown of the game. The Danes' defense set up a third down, but the Bulls scored on a fourth down play. The Danes were down 15-0.

During the second half, the Danes scored two touchdowns. The first was a result of a pass from the Danes' quarterback to his wide receiver. The second was a result of a punt returned for a touchdown.

In the fourth quarter, the Bulls scored two more touchdowns to put the game out of reach for the Danes. The final score was 30-0 in favor of the Bulls.

On November 11th, Felix Czerny was asked to remove himself from his place of residence. That request came from his wife.

The Albany Great Danes' relay team tuned up for its last meet of the year, the NCAA Regional meet, by bringing on the 800-yard medley relay and the 400-yard medley relay Saturday at the University of Massachusetts. The teams won the event.

"We've done well at the meets and training very hard, but they don't have the studs they used to," said Coach Will White. "So we're just trying to have a good race and try to look forward to the NCAA Regional meet."

Harriers finish 14th

By Dean Sharp

The Albany Harriers women's cross country team finished 14th out of 15 teams at Saturday's Eastern Championships held at Williams College. The team brings to the NCAA Regional meet this weekend at Princeton University.

"The team is working hard and we're looking forward to Princeton, but we have to lose 15 points," said Coach Red White. "We have to let them know we're here to compete and have a good race."}

Danes lose to Bulls in another squeaker, 15-13

By Marc Berman

The Albany State Football team should be considered outstanding for most quarterbacks, Bob Ford should win an award also for keeping his sanity through it all. The Danes had initially touched the ball before it was kicked for a touchback. The game was delayed by several minutes because of a protest by members of the Central American Solidarity Alliance who helped organize the march. The Central American Solidarity Alliance held a teach-in on campus last week about the treatment of Salvadorian refugees in the United States.
