MYSKANIA SETS DATES FOR MOVING-UP DAY AND STUDENT ELECTIONS

At a recent meeting of Myskania it was decided that Thursday, May 19, should be set aside as the State College calendar for the annual Moving-Up Day exercises. This date was chosen so as to give plenty of time for the classes to practice their stunts and prepare for the athletic contests, and at the same time there will be time for recovery before the final examinations.

At the same meeting Myskania also voted that the student election of officers be left in the hands of members as provided for in last year's amendment of the Myskania Constitution, should be held in Friday morning Assembly, April 15. A list of the eligible candidates has been posted on the bulletin board. The rest of the Assembly period on April 15 will be given over to nominations of class officers. Chose elections will then be held during the Assembly period, April 20.

GYM EXHIBITION TO TAKE PLACE IN NEAR FUTURE

Given at Albany High Gym

Sometime within the next month the "Gym" exhibition will take place in the Albany High School gymnasium. It will be given by the majors, sophomores and freshmen, and will be a great deal of fun. The exhibition will open with the aesthetic dances, "Spring," "Leslie Freund," and "A Quiet' in the Park." The exhibition will go on from there to a regular dumbbell drill by the majors and minors. It will be held on a Thursday afternoon and will probably be the best exhibition the school has ever seen.

Seniors Win Basketball Championship

"21 Girls Hold Honor for Second Time

With the close of the girls' basketball season the teams are glad to announce the championship for the second time the team of '21 are proud to hold this honor. It is very unusual for a senior team to win the championship because of lack of interest, spirit or players, in its last year, the team fell down. The seniors should be highly commended for their spirit that they have kept for their team, class and college. Not one of the other class teams has had regular practice weekly, with practically every member of the squad present each time. Then, too, with Birdie chickering and sometimes few spectators to inspire them, they played their games with the best of sportsmanship. All of the six games were won.

The members of the championship team are: Lucile Rouss (captain), Bernice Cunningham (vice-captain), Ethel Darling, Frances Lawrence, Gladys Testell and Nellie Parkhurst. The seniors are Kathryn Hall, Eunice Owen, Margaret Crane, Grace Dalton and Marguerite Nodier.

FRESHMEN WIN FROSH-SOPH DEBATE

Immigration Question Debated

Last Friday morning the first class debate of the year took place between members of the sophomore and freshmen classes. The subject of the debate was "the United States should be restricted to five per cent. of each nationality in this country at the time of the census of 1910." The sophomores argued the affirmative and the freshmen the negative side of the question. The management of the affirmative team was Susan Collier, Marian Rose being alternate. The management of the negative side of the question was Pearl Shobock, Agnes Smith, Elizabeth Reuter and Catherine Hill were the speakers for the affirmative, Marion Rose being alternate. The speakers for the negative were Elizabeth Gibbons, Evelyn Butcher and Lillian Bosco, with Mary Mahr as alternate.

It was a spirited debate, and the teams were well matched. Every one enjoyed it very much, especially when at the close the freshmen presented a bouquet of flowers to the Sophomore debaters, for which Agnes Smith expressed cordial thanks.

The judges of the debate were Miss Wallace, Dean Hornor and Mr. Whitney. The decision was in favor of the freshmen debating team.

THE BIG ISSUE

The big issue of the "News" is due right after the spring vacation. In order to make it a success the "News" board needs the cooperation of all the clubs and other organizations whose write-ups regularly appear in this issue. We are depending on these organizations to write-up their events in respect to their history, their chief points of interest, their regulations for membership, etc. They will give us this information written in ink on one side of the paper before 9:00 a.m. Saturday morning. April 2, we shall be able to edit this issue with a minimum of worry and time, and with a maximum of attractiveness. With this in mind we shall be able to represent State College truly and effectively.

RAH FOR STATE COLLEGE

Are some State College people ashamed of their Alma Mater? They should be. We have a faculty and president who are beyond any reproach. Our headman and dean who are beyond any reproach. We have a faculty and dean who are beyond any reproach. We have a faculty and dean who are beyond any reproach. We have a faculty and dean who are beyond any reproach. We have a faculty and dean who are beyond any reproach. We have a faculty and dean who are beyond any reproach. We have a faculty and dean who are beyond any reproach. We have a faculty and dean who are beyond any reproach. We have a faculty and dean who are beyond any reproach. We have a faculty and dean who are beyond any reproach. We have a faculty and dean who are beyond any reproach. We have a faculty and dean who are beyond any reproach.
As a personal booster of Charles Dickens, of course, Mr. Chesterton would take some Dickens work or other. And while he denied David Copperfield or "Blinkered Rudy" or "A Tale of Two Cities" would afford a more interesting reading, or perhaps two, "Pickwick Papers" so doubt he would last long. For he could be dipped into again and again for many successive days and a page could be trusted to cheer almost any downcast mood. One might range far afield, and come to a literature and make a worse choice than "Pickwick."

"However, Defoe's 'Robinson Crusoe' would do Mr. Chesterton mighty as well as third choice. It might have practical value for a castaway, dependent upon his own resources of ingenuity to get food, shelter and rainfall. And if Mr. James Barrie's conception, elaborated in that desert isle play of his, 'The Admirable Crichton,' was right, such a solitary gentleman as Mr. Chesterton would be hard put to it under wilderness conditions to survive. Professional men, doctors, lawyers, writers, editors, chemists, bankers, as in a sophisticated society, not in the desert isle and not cost upon their own resources upon some uncharted island would be as helpless as he.

"Mr. Chesterton, so formed, would not have much time to 'beat and murder his soul' or to feel the piercing 'Pickwick Paper.' His life would be usually filled with sticks to make a fire and cook his food. Necessity would spell the end of his days and he would not have much time to 'loaf andDropDown and absorb his waking hours, and when he went to sleep he would be too weary to dream about Sam Weller or Rome.'

It is possible, however, that Mr. Chesterton would have little need for 'Robinson Crusoe' in spite of its practical value for the castaway. He would be in no mood, perhaps, to read about someone in a similar predicament, although he might remember some of the recipes for retaining food and rainwater.

His choice of reading matter, on the whole, could hardly be improved upon— the Bible for wisdom and comfort, Shakespeare's plays for relief, irony, wryness and knowledge of life, and "Pickwick" for ruling and holding, humor. Many men store bitternesses, the man might well be humbled by to dream about Sam Weller or Rome."

WINTER THOUGHTS

English 16

As the snowing wheelbarrow drifted from sight

Behind the house,
And the stars came out on

Prescott's billboard,

The Mine burnt orange mousy shawls

Wafted their henna-shaped Tecumseh

Fly scraper

Crawling, through the dizzy Congo

And the cold.

Of frosted glass

Sereneed it's purple green-ghost hair net

At the gorgeous green-life phospho.

MR. CHESTERTON'S FAVORITES

Gilbert K. Chesterton said that if he were marooned on a desert isle with his books he would take with him three books to read in his leisure. These were: the Bible, Shakespeare's plays and Dickens' 'Pickwick Papers.' A third choice of Mr. Chesterton's has not been passed by without criticism. Here are one critic's views:

Charles Markas, of 123 Beaver Street, assisted Miss Gardner into his car and took her home. The number of the automobile which struck the young woman was obtained and the wiper will be interviewed as to who operated it and why it did not stop or report the accident to the police.

On Tuesday, March 29, the election of the rest of the V.V.A. officers was held. The results of the elections for next year are as follows: President, Ramona Rice; Vice-President, Lottie Lesueur; Secretary, Mary Hunter; Treasurer, Adie Wood; Annual Member, Ruth Kinney.

SLACKERS

In November, the majority of the members of the student body signed blanks by which they promised to pay on or before February 1, $150 for a 1921 football.

One hundred seventeen people have not met this obligation definitely; to them this promise is a "scrap of paper." This contract means nothing to:

37 seniors;
13 juniors;
22 sophomores;
13 freshmen.

There will be a table in the rotunda April 4 and 5. At this time these people will be given a chance to redeem themselves. The Board has to have the money to pay its bills. Please pay for Ped.
