Statewide Voting Rights Sought

By Milo McIver

A student voting rights group is going to court to try and force the state to obey its own laws, according to reports.

The Student Voting Rights Coalition, a group of national student organizations, is challenging the state's new voting laws, which were signed into law last month. The coalition says the laws violate the rights of college students to vote.

The state's new voting laws include a requirement that voters register in their college towns, even if they are not residents of those towns. The coalition says this violates the rights of college students to vote in their college towns.

The coalition is being represented by the New York Public Interest Research Group (NYPIRG), which is a non-profit organization that specializes in civil liberties and voting rights.

The university has instituted a new Poster Policy as of September 18, 1981. The purpose of this policy is to provide a clean and attractive learning environment for everyone. Here are the regulations:

1. Only posters announcing campus events conducted by students or authorized non-profit campus groups will be permitted. Other types of posters will be removed.
2. Posters will be affixed to bulletin boards by staples only. Adhesive paper, sticky materials, etc., will not be permitted.
3. Each group will be limited to one poster per board. Bulletin boards will be returned to the normal appearance of a bulletin board.
4. Posters must be stamped approved by the Campus Center Information Desk staff. This stamp will guarantee validity to the poster.
5. Posters will be removed; student groups and authorized non-profit campus groups will be responsible for the removal of all of their posters. Interior bulletin boards will be utilized for campus groups and authorized non-profit campus groups.
6. Posters will be removed by the university's maintenance staff if they are not renewed. The university reserves the right to remove any poster at any time.

South Africa vs. Red China

Andrew Brooks

May is a good occasion to perhaps listen to some erudite faculty members. Alas, passionate oratory, or a battle of wills between politics being politics, I had no such luck, else present to vote, end the meeting, and should in the same perfunctory manner start up the wine and cheese reception.

Dr. Cannon (of accounting fame), raised are.

I was sure that this was going to be a Café Terminus. Little did I realize that the senate should not have resolved that the senate should not mention that some years back, the faculty urged attendance at an event that might involve violence, and two faculty members forego the occasion to contemplate what urgings have stopped a rugby game and nothing else! What has been done at Albany is that a rugby game on moral principals, but their government's policy has succeeded; the racist rugby team has not tolerate any trace of apartheid. Our protests as much as does the South African government will not reverse its policies; tomorrow nothing will change. Tomorrow no South African is going to leave a rugby game, hand it to a South African native and give him 35c and he might get a haircut; the future of white South Africans is at stake.

If I wished to be nasty I might say that Mayor Corning is taking a lot of abuse from the people of this country. If I was a rude person I might say many snide remarks.

Our new monthly look at what’s here, happening, and hot
Ahead: More Looks Back

While the end of 1981, a good time to take a look back. Rock and roll is growing and changing at an incredible rate, and many artists are returning to the past in order to move forward. The Clash, The Who, and a number of others are bringing back sounds and styles from the past, and this trend is likely to continue into the next year.

Cinema Energy: All Potential?

Film is entering a new age of energy, with many directors and producers looking to the past in order to find inspiration for their work. The idea of using old and obscure forms of filmmaking is being embraced by many, and this is likely to continue as we move into the 1980s.

Hubert's Secret

Hubert's life was filled with love and laughter. He loved his family, his friends, and his community. He was a kind and gentle man who always put others before himself. Hubert was a true pioneer in his field, and his contributions will be remembered for generations to come.

To the Editor:

I was disappointed to read the recent letter in the newspaper. As a member of the community, I believe it is important to support and uplift one another. The writer's comments were hurtful and did not reflect the values of our community.

Sincerely,
