Harriers Spoil Oneonta Record
As Danes Register 22-34 Triumph

The Albany State Great Dane cross-country team handed a high-powered Oneonta squad its first defeat last Saturday, topping the Griffins 22-34 at the University. The Harriers were led once again by Joe Keating, who set a new course record of 17:13, the 3.9 mile course.

In addition to Keating, other key runners were Brian Meeks, first in the 4.4 mile, and Billy Flaherty, who finished second in the 5 mile. The Griffins were led by Mike Dumas, who won the 4.4 mile race, and Bob Gross, who took the 5 mile.

In the women's meet, Albany split with Oneonta 20-22. The Harriers were led by Nancy Elliot, who won the 3.9 mile, and Sue Grant, who took the 5 mile.

The Harriers, who are currently ranked third in the national polls, are looking forward to the upcoming meet with New Paltz, which is ranked second in the country.

Hacker Argues Right of Congress To Take State Power at Expense

by Dave Hacker

Hacker states his case very clearly and forcefully. As a former student of Catholic University, he has a solid academic background to support his arguments. He believes that the federal government has the right to take state power at any time, as the states are a creation of the federal government. The federal government has the power to create laws and enforce them, and if the states do not comply, the federal government can use military force to enforce its laws. Hacker's argument is well-reasoned and well-supported, and he presents a strong case for the federal government's right to take state power at any time.
A MOMENT OF relaxation for Don Dowling at his dressing room. The S.U. Theatre is opening its new season in a new building, and everything is new. S.U. Theatre Begins with Debut in Design

Steinbeck Classic to Open '65-'66 Season

by Diane Somerville

The S.U. Theatre is proud to present the world premiere of "Of Mice and Men," a new play by John Steinbeck. The play is based on Steinbeck's novel, and the script has been adapted by Diane Somerville.

The play is set in the 1920s, and it follows the life of two migrant workers, Lennie and George. They are struggling to make ends meet, and they dream of owning their own farm. However, their dreams are constantly threatened by the realities of life on the road.

The production team has worked hard to create a realistic setting for the play. The set is designed to look like a farm, with fields, barns, and a small house. The lighting is designed to give the play a sense of time and place.

The cast is made up of ten actors, and they have been working hard to bring the characters to life. The actors have been rehearsing for months, and they are ready to take the stage.

The play opens on November 1st, and it will run for five nights. Tickets are available at the box office, and they are expected to sell out quickly.

Men and Mice

The play is a story of two men and their experiences on the road. It is a story of struggle, hope, and disappointment. The actors have worked hard to bring the characters to life, and they are excited to share their story with the audience.

The play is a new experience for all involved, and it is a testament to the power of theatre. The S.U. Theatre is proud to present this world premiere, and they hope that the audience will enjoy the play as much as they have enjoyed creating it.

Tickets are available at the box office, and all seats are reserved. Student tickets are $1.50.
Vietnam Peace March Reveals U.S.'s Anti-Intellectual Atmosphere

by Jim Begley

Two weeks after the F.B.I. used its storage depository to return 31 boxes of Jane Fonda's papers to a California lawyer, they were once again in the hands of the Justice Department. The return of the documents was a victory for Fonda, but the F.B.I. was not finished with her. The agency continued its investigation into the actress's activities in Vietnam.

Statement Unfounded

The F.B.I. recently announced that its investigation into Jane Fonda's activities in Vietnam was unfounded. The actress's lawyer, Robert Altman, called the announcement a "spectacular victory." He said it was a clear indication that the government was not interested in pursuing charges against Fonda.

Amendments

Amendments to the U.S. Constitution are being debated in Congress. The amendments would limit the government's ability to force states to accept certain programs. The amendments have been met with mixed reactions, with some lawmakers supporting them and others opposing them.

Political Posters

A series of posters has been circulating in the country, calling for peace in Vietnam. The posters have been placed on street corners and in windows, and have sparked a controversy among politicians.

Vietnam Peace March

The Vietnam Peace March is a peaceful demonstration held every year on Veterans Day to call for an end to the Vietnam War. The march has become a symbol of opposition to the war and has attracted thousands of participants.
