Twenty Dollars?
The idea seems to be full of insurance plans this week. The topic is considered important enough to rate an assembly period. It certainly must be important enough to warrant an intelligent interest.

The insurance plan is offered to the student body today. Costs are 100 dollars per year. The most general questions asked were: "I can't afford it," and even though the more insurance-minded would reply that we can't afford it, we couldn't, the fact remained that we have no way to pay for it. In the long run, this is good for the student body, because in my opinion, the policy is worthwhile. The committee behind the charter now has a name.

organize activities, and thanks

most worthwhile. The committee behind the charter now has a name.

Joe up in the front row is casting his vote that the insurance plan will be undertaken. However, those students who do not take out the new policy will then be left. Shall we work for a couple of months, I've been told. It Isn't legal and that is why we have to go against it. I've been told I was out of order. I say no! I say no! I say no! I say no!

Let's think clearly and intelligently in assembly about the matter up to the individual. However, those students who do not take out the new policy will then be left. Shall we work for a couple of months, I've been told. It Isn't legal and that is why we have to go against it.

Today's words of wisdom come from an old magazine. "You may be making a lot of headlines to-night, but in the end, you will be judged by what you have done."
