March 18th is the Deadline to Order Commencement Announcements...
To any kid who'd like to go somewhere:

We'll pay half your fare.

The idea's not as crazy as it may seem. Anytime you take a jet, there are almost always leftover seats. So it occurred to us that we might be able to fill a few of them, if we gave the young people a break on the fare, and a chance to see the country.

The American Youth Plan

We call the idea the American Youth Plan, and what it means is this:

American will fly the jet coach fare for anybody 12 through 21. It's that simple.

All you have to do is prove your age (a birth certificate or any legal document will do) and buy a $3 identification card.

We date and stamp the card, and it entitles you to a half-fare ticket at any American Airlines counter.

The catch is that you might have to wait before you get aboard; the fare is on a standby basis.

"Standby" simply means that the passengers with reservations and the serviceemen get you, before you do.

Then the plane's yours.

The American Youth Plan is good your round except for a few days before and after the Easter, Thanksgiving and Christmas rushes.

If you can't think of any places you'd like to go offhand, you might see a travel agent for a few suggestions.

We can't add anything else.

Other than it's a marvelous opportunity just to take off.

Apostle to Native Population Important in Winning War

by D. Gordon Cohen

Community theatre has, without a doubt, emancipated a field of creative effort by bringing professional artists into close contact with the people. The theatre has become a powerful influence for racial integration and assimilation, and it is important to note that the theatre is an active instrument in the fight to bring about a more meaningful and complete understanding of the American Indian. This is clearly demonstrated in the work of the Native American Theatre, which has been at the forefront of this movement for many years.

The theatre has been a major force in the Native American community, providing a platform for the expression of cultural heritage and the promotion of Native American values. It has served as a venue for the presentation of plays, musicals, and other forms of artistic expression, and it has also been a space for the promotion of education and awareness about Native American issues.

The theatre has been instrumental in raising awareness about the unique culture of Native Americans and the challenges they face. It has provided a space for Native American artists to showcase their talents and to share their stories with a wider audience. The theatre has also been a vehicle for the promotion of cultural exchange and the fostering of understanding between Native Americans and non-Native Americans.

In conclusion, the Native American Theatre has played a vital role in the fight to bring about a more meaningful and complete understanding of the American Indian. It has been a powerful instrument in the fight for racial integration and assimilation, and its contributions to the Native American community cannot be overstated. The theatre continues to be a vital force in the community, and its impact will continue to be felt for years to come.
Sonlorless Sauvasons End at 13-9, Morrison Paces Latter Victories

BY DAVID Y. YOOGAS

Led by Lamont Morrison's scoring, rebounding, and play-making, the Albany State Great Dane basketball team ended the season on a happy note by winning its last two games of the season. The victories came in a thrilling 72-71 overtime victory over Marist on March 1 in a away contest and an 85-62 decision over Corning Community College in a home contest last Saturday night. The hoopsters finished the season with a 13-9 record and no seniors on the team.

In the Hobart contest, Morrison was the star, tallying 18 points on 7-17 shooting. The forward, who has been outstanding all season, hit 7 of 17 from the floor and made 5 of 8 from the free throw line. The team's victory would have been even more significant if not for a technical foul on a Danes' player.

The Danes went on to win by a 72-71 margin with 4 seconds left in the game. The victory was the Danes' fourth straight and 13th overall.

Morrison was the team's leading scorer with 18 points, followed by Matt Lee, who scored 12 points.

On the road, the Danes had no problem with Marist. They jumped ahead early and never looked back. The Danes led 24-15 at the break and 42-27 after three quarters. They won by a 72-71 margin with 4 seconds left in the game.
