Bricks and Ivy
BRICKS AND IVY
Tenth Annual Publication of the Milne School

1949

Albany, New York
Foreword

For six years the Class of 'Forty-Nine has provided high comedy, heavy drama, educational features, and spot fill-ins for the Milne network. The academic year of 1948-1949 goes down in the history of Radio Broadcasting as the year when Lowell Thomas, Walter Winchell, Jack Benny, and the Milne Class of '49 changed sponsors. In this, our final program, we have woven the better examples of scripts, spot news, commentaries, and buttered corn from past performances into a fabric of consecrated entertainment and pathos in which stars, supporting cast, understudies, sound specialists, production engineers, and even maintenance men are presented for the homage due. As befits a program which has its reputation for progressiveness to maintain, we have chosen to adapt the techniques of Television, which has come into its own within the brief span of our history, to scan the scenic background and personalities of the cast. It has been our pleasure to work up this recapitulation and we hope that you will enjoy it too. The large second hand of the studio clock now is moving quickly toward 0:0 hours, the studio engineer has his finger raised—Lights!—Camera!—Sound!!—

We, the Class of 1949, dedicate this annual volume of the "Bricks and Ivy" to Marian Clancy Scully. Always willing to lend a helping hand when in need, she has established a warm and friendly place in our hearts.

History of the Class of 1949

Seventh Grade

Tuning in our television set to September, 1943, we see passing across the screen, the faces of the new citizens of Milne, the Class of 1949! Following a short assembly where we were told “Milne is a friendly school,” it was every Forty-Niner for himself. The first weeks were spent in finding out which stairs were which, which locker room was which, and who was who.

The first extra-curricular gathering of the class was at a Hallowe’en party where Jim Clark began his reign as class clown and master of ceremonies. Joyce Russo was the subject of sneers and jeers for weeks after because of her gypsy fortune telling booth. —Ah! the cider and doughnuts.

Our first Class meeting saw Al Jones elected President. Once more we were told “Milne is a friendly school,” but by this time most of us had found that out for ourselves.

Along came the Junior High reception, and we met the other Junior High citizens. It was a sad affair, because half of the boys fell in love with Freshman Winnie Hauf; but she was already taken.

Having met the eighth graders, a football game was played between the boys of both grades. The end of the classic found the turf covered with seventh graders and the score 54-0 in favor of the upper classmen. No one believes us, but we know it was the fault of the officials.

The boys’ athletic leaders were Bill Kennedy and Al Jones; but the girls, led by Nancy McMann and Joan Austin, claimed they could beat the boys in any sport.

The gentleman now seen on the screen is Mr. Harley Senseman, whose stories about his mother-in-law, whose sturdy arm for throwing erasers and rulers (ask Marilyn Van Olst), and whose speeches on English in science class kept us all talking. That sudden flash on the set was the day in the chemistry lab he left the phosphorus in the air too long. Oh well, what are a few explosions among friends? John Samuels’ career of earning a living by matching pennies was ended by Mr. Senseman’s lecture on the first signs of insanity. Speaking of lectures, are those our seventh grade girls bowing their heads in Home Economics class as Miss Fillingham speaks to them of the evils of coca-cola?

The year went by rapidly as more parties and Junior High dances took up much of our time. May brought forth the spring formal and it showed that George DeMoss was the only brave male member of the class. He took a girl!

With warm weather and June, our first year in Milne was finished. We left school for the summer, but only to return after the vacation as eighth graders.

Eighth Grade

The beginning of our second year in Milne was saddened by a casualty—Nancy McMann had lost her pigtails.

Looking over the class, we discovered that we had lost Jane Lonergan, Bill Kennedy, and Jerry Trimble, but Barbara White, Marilyn Lynk, Nancy Schonbrun, Bob Arnold, Dick Reynolds, Jim Panton, and Herb Goldstein had joined us. Marge Leonard was added to the list of newcomers later in the year.

This was also the year of the national Presidential election and it found Roger Haggerty carrying three bushels of Dewey buttons to every one of his classes. Another election found Dan Westbrook chosen as President of the class.

The annual football classic was again staged, but this time we almost reached the fifty yard line! The score was 24-0. We were improving.

The arrival of basketball season discovered Lea Paxton and Nancy Simmons co-captains of the Junior cheerleading squad, and it found most of the boys joining the cheerleading club. The boys’ basketball team played Hackett eighth grade and won.

Joan Austin played a varsity basketball game and later played a baseball game with the varsity—Wow! All this and still in the eighth grade.

As the year drew to a close and the Student Council elections drew near, we began to realize that we would run the Junior High the next year. After a roaring campaign and Lew Carr’s unforgettable speech, Dan Westbrook nosed out Joan Horton, Al Jones, and Anne Carlough for the distinction of being President of the Junior Student Council.

Final exams again, and then once more we were out for the summer.
Ninth Grade

September of 1945 showed a group of students, in the personage of the ninth grade, who were really proud of themselves. They ran the Junior High.

This year was marked with parties, organized athletics, and more parties. It also found some changes. Lost from our class were Bill Glavin, Barbara Ross, Marilyn Herman, Ed Gaus, and Bob Arnold, but we were blessed with Carol Boynton, Pat Costello, Joyce Hallett, Carol Gade, Bettie Carothers, Ed Wilson, Bob Kelly, Lee Dennis, Ed Segel, and Dick Bauer.

Doris Kaplan had followed Nancy McMann’s example and had done away with her pigtails. We were now growing up.

The year opened with Anne Carlough’s hayride and a banjo concert of high standard on the way. Marge Rumsey followed up with a scavenger hunt that was highlighted with the viewing of television.

With the organization of eleven-man football in Milne, the freshman team played and tied Albany Academy.

Art Walker presided over the class this year, and we had that famous society, “The Razors,” in our midst.

The first leap-year dance came this year, and it was followed by parties at the homes of Joan Horton and Dot Blessing. At Joan’s, we all listened to Ted De Moss score 24 points for R.P.I. Happy, George?

Dave Siegal had a dinner party that was attended by fifteen uninvited guests. Dave never has figured out what happened.

Basketball season came around and it found Art Walker, Al Jones, Lew Carr, and Dan Westbrook playing on the Junior Varsity. The Frosh team had a somewhat unsuccessful season until Senior Don Howard took over as coach. Whatta Team! Jim Clark received his letter from V.I., and Lew Carr and George DeMoss got a letter and Honorable Mention respectively from B.C.H.S. Don’t worry, boys, both baskets look alike.

Then there was the trip to Cluett and Peabody in Troy. The day after the trip found many of the boys sporting new neckties that Cluett had unwittingly given them.

The baseball team won four games and lost five. The season was highlighted by Pete Ball’s no-hitter against V.I.

Our Junior High days came to an end with the Day Boat trip, that will be remembered by all, to Kingston Point.

Tenth Grade

Little wheels in the Senior High. That’s what we see our class as in the fall of 1946.

We were saddened in the beginning of the year by the transfer of our friend and advisor, Dr. Snader.

Getting down to business, we elected Joan Horton President of the class. We were proud to find five of our girls in the Milnettes: Nancy Betham, Carol Boynton, Nancy McMann, Joyce Ruso, and Shirley Weinberg.

New arrivals included Al White and Dane Beswick, but we were soon to lose Al Jones and Phil Davy.

The once-happy freshman girls were soon miserable sophomores, being the last group to be initiated into societies. Initiations were abolished before mid-year, and the boys did not have to eat any of their meals standing up.

Basketball season came around and Art Walker and Dan Westbrook made the Varsity. Their season was somewhat unsuccessful, to put it mildly, but the Junior Varsity, made up of George DeMoss, Dick Bauer, Lew Carr, Ed Wilson, Henry Bonsall, and Spencer Cooper, being cheered on by cheerleaders Marge Norton, Nancy Simmons, and Janet Kilby, did much better.

Ah—biology. We all found out what the insides of rats, worms, and frogs looked like. Lucky us.

Spring introduced baseball and showed Ed Lux, our newest addition, and several of our other athletes playing on the Varsity.

The year was almost over when many of us had our first run-in with regents. We then headed for lakes, or jobs, or summer school, as the case may have been.
Eleventh Grade

Our second year in the Senior High showed more new faces and some familiar ones missing. We all missed Miss Martin when she rejected us for married life. Others missing were Lane Johnson, Spencer Cooper, and Ray Cairns. New faces belonged to Dick Walters, Wally Craig, and Ray Malthouse.

Joan Horton continued her reign and was re-elected President. She also, along with Lea Paxton, was another addition from our class to the Milnettes.

Open houses were thrown (and how) by Anne Carlough, Ed Lux, and Bob Kelly, the latter’s coming on Hallowe’en Night. Lea Paxton gave a party at the Aurania Club and Bettie Carothers had a hen party. That was the night Ed Wilson got a shower he hadn’t planned on, in the form of a paper bag filled with water. There was also the first Junior Prom at which Queen Shirley Weinberg and King Ed Lux were crowned.

Dick Bauer’s “Blue Bomber” and Jim Clark’s “Green Hornet” were the “idles” of the automotive industry.

Remember the C. & W. press conference in New York City? Who can forget it?

In the athletic world, with the year drawing to a close, Joan Horton, Joan Mosher, Nancy Betham, and Janet Kilby received their G.A.A. blazers and Art Walker, Ed Segel, Dick Bauer, and Dan Westbrook received their Varsity sweaters.

The outcome of a spirited election found Art Walker President of the Student Council for our last year with Pete McDonough, Nancy Betham, and Nancy Simmons his fellow officers.

It was not until Bettie Carothers and George De Moss were chosen as marshals, and others of us, as graduation ushers, that we realized there was but one more step for us to take in our years at Milne.

Twelfth Grade

We took our last step and were finally Seniors. The long dreamed of, and often admired, Senior Room was at long last ours. Ah—the Senior Room! Who can forget the musical chairs or Carol Boynton’s game of blind man’s bluff with one of our supervisors as victim when he opened the door. Our good fortune stayed with us and we received our cherished off-campus privileges in the fall instead of the spring.

The entire class felt Nancy McMann’s absence during our final year. We lost Henry Bonsall, Gifford Barry, Joan Austin, Ken Travis, and John Keal, but gained Betty Froehlich, Audrey Hoplerspenger, Joan Payne, DeEtte Reed, Don Mapes, and Bert Tallamy.

Dan Westbrook, as President, guided us through our final year in Milne.

The Male Quartette was made up of Al White, Bob Yaguda, P.G. Don Mapes, and Dan Westbrook. The latter two were remnants of the Gay Blades Quartet from the year before.

Many of us heard Norman Thomas speak during the national Presidential campaign. There he was, in flesh and blood.

The Senior Play was a great success and just about everyone in the class had a part in putting on the masterpiece.

Then there was the night Coach Grogan entertained the men of the Basketball Varsity at a spaghetti dinner. That was also the night eight of the Varsity learned how to push Art Walker’s station wagon when it broke down miles from nowhere.

Open houses were again popular, with Anne Carlough and Marge Norton among the givers.

Now that our television set has related everything, we are up to the present. These memories will be remembered always and the Class of Forty-Nine hopes that its successors will be able to look back on six years as colorful as ours.

Class Will

We, the Class of 1949, being of Sound Mind and Memory, and realizing the Uncertainty of the Life do hereby Make, Publish, and Declare this as our last and final Will and Testament. To Wit:

We leave Lew Carr's speed, alertness, and graceful agility on the basketball court to next year's center.

Marge Norton leaves her bottle of peroxide to Dick Briggs with full instructions enclosed.

Joyce Ruso will not leave her voice, but doth bequeath the lost chord to him who seeketh.

We bestow Wally Craig's witty remarks on Stan Beeman.

Jim Clark's all-round ability is to be used by Bob Callender, 365 dates a year.

We will that Willie Wade in the sweat from Jack Henkes' brow.

We leave Lea Paxton's directive ability to any Milne supervisors having difficulty running their departments.

To Mr. Cochrane we leave Dick Bauer's ability for fixing cars.

To any one who wants a dramatic career is left the one given up by Larry Propp.

The Senior gals leave their talent for knitting argyle socks to all Junior girls seeking a killing time.

John Samuels leaves a new model razor to the first ambitious little shaver who proves worthy. Low mileage, like new, used only twice to meet emergencies.

We extend Al White's 12-foot stride to Bobby Tewell.

To all future disk jockeys, we leave Bob Yaguda's talent for placing the needle in the groove.

Bettie and George leave those cozy corners in the Senior Room to the first ones who get there.

Dick Walters sadly leaves a Girl Scout Handbook to any seventh grader interested in joining this great organization.

We leave Betty Froehlich's ability at getting her man to Judy Ostrander.

Ed and Dave (Segal, Siegal)'s beautiful red MacIntoch goes to Put Barnes for continued polishing.

If Carolyn Miller would return Joyce Hallett's paint brush, Joyce would gladly leave it to her.

Lee Dennis leaves his love for Latins to all the boys.

We leave Audrey Hopfensperger's name to the first person who pronounces it correctly in one try.

We will just leave Bob Kelly, Don Becker, and Pete Ball in Eddie's.

Carol Dobbs and Joan Mosher leave a bottle of liniment and a sincere apology to each and every member of the hockey team.

"Egg" Wilson's silhouette goes to little Don.

To all future painters of the Senior Room, we leave an illustration of the term, "Dusty Rose."

To such degree as this Will may be contested, we specify that the benefit of the "Dout," (Robert, that is!) be divided equally among all heirs, assignees and their issue.

To the school goes the best reward of all, namely . . . we leave.

Junior Class

Junior Class Officers

ALLAN SCHRAMM . . . . Vice-President
EDWARD BUTLER . . . . President
HELEN PIGORS . . . . Secretary
ROBERT LAWTON . . . . Treasurer

As we switch the dial on Station W-MHS-TV to Channel 11, there is a lot of noise and activity which, upon closer focusing, we make out to be the Junior Class. New members of the large and active supporting cast are Diane Grant, Mary Carroll Orme, Jay Lochner, Stephen Lochner, Douglas Heald, and Shayla Scott. The first scene shows a class meeting. President Ed Butler is doing the announcing, assisted by Vice-President Allan Schramm. Bob Lawton, in the capacity of treasurer, is trying to collect dues, while Helen Pigors, our secretary, is endeavoring to note down all the discussion.

Bottom Row—Helen Pigors, Robert Lawton, Shirley Long, Marjorie-Ann Potter, Marcia Cohen, Guy Miller, Joan Clark, Helene Good, Joyce Roberte.
Our camera now picks up Room 224, better known as the C. and W. Room. Here are Eleanor Jacobs, Nan Bird, Anne Coniglio, Nancy Gotier, and Marjorie-Ann Potter working to publicize the network show. Janet Hicks is busily pounding away for the Typing Staff. Next we can see the Art Room where we catch a glimpse of Put Barnes, Charles Kritzler, Jay Lochner, Dawn Dodge, and Fred Dalldorf figuring for the Yearbook Business Staff, while in the back of the stage we see Joyce Roberte sketching for the Art Staff.

The sound of music fades into the sound track. Of course, it is the Milne Music Department. Focus the camera over there, immediately. Visible are Nancy Gotier and all the Milnettes. Now the whole choir comes into view. Hear that accompanist! That is our Marlene Cooper—watch her hands fly over that keyboard! That angel 'way up high is Nancy Shaw doing her usual fine narrations for our concerts. The Male Ensemble also has a sizeable contribution from our class.

Let's switch now to sports, where the Junior Class stands out as usual. Football practice kept lots of people working hard, among them Stanley Beeman, Paul Hubbs, Allan Schramm, Leon Feinburg, Ronnie Vandenburgh, and many others. Our camera in the gym reveals Alec Pirnie and Schuyler Sackman playing Varsity basketball and Ted McNeil, Dick Briggs, Roeliff Jennex, Doug Heald, and Bernard Campbell on the J.V. From the gym our camera lens naturally roves to Miss Murray's office, and here we catch Barbara Leete, Lorraine Walker, Judy Horton, and Barbara Dewey with their heads together over G.A.A. affairs.

Our time is running out, but in these last few moments we give you some flashes of the many events which we undertook in our Junior year.

The Class of '50 has had a wonderful year, and is looking forward to next year as Seniors! Then, this same Class will furnish you with many more exciting television shows. Until then, this is Channel 11 signing off.
Bottom Row—Harry Stevens, Altha Funk, Kathleen Kelly, George McDonough, Joan Vinikoff, Ricky Berns, Ruth Staley, Robert Tewell.
Second Row—Keith Beswick, Marian Siesel, Terry Hilleboe, Carol Nichols, Doris Metzner, Barbara Tomlinson, Mary Panton, Annette Waxman.

Sophomore Class

This is Station W-MHS-TV Channel 10 starting a three-year contract on the Senior High Wave Length! Same Gang, New Officers, New Ideas, and hereby announcing a rip roaring first year.

Focus that screen a little sharper and lo! That Master-of-Ceremonies smile of Dale Christie’s descends upon you; and he briefly introduces other station executives, Paul Huprich, Lois Tewell, and Jo Ann Milton. Look just a little closer and you can’t miss that tell-tale gleam of the class rings that we received ’way back in October.

That’s Barbara Stewman and Ricky Berns, our new performers, wondering what it’s all about and Who’s Who.

Coming into focus, now, is the stylish set with those hefty shoulders and hard helmets. They are identified as Bob Mull, John Lucas, Ray Guertin, Paul Huprich, John Taylor, Bob Callender, and Jack Magrew. That accounts for the school’s football success and no doubt the scoreboard for the basketball victories needed the help of Ray Guertin, Dick Taylor, Bob Mull, John Lucas, Dale Christie, Bob Callender, and John Taylor, with George McDonough as Manager. The cheering heard on the broadcast was led by Sue Armstrong, Barb Tomlinson, and Lois Tewell.

Who could miss those senior high dances, and of course, the big success of the year was the Soph Dance. Did we have fun, those of us that dared to go, and most of us did!

Beverly Ball had an open house, and so did the Homerooms, every Tuesday, led by Terry Hilleboe, Beverly Ball, and Paul Huprich.
Of course there were the rushes and the social scramble for us all; money was gone like the wind.

How can we possibly leave out the Biology Lab right after breakfast and the "early" choir rehearsals. After these, you may be sure that we were ready to go home.

We had a wonderful year, new vocabulary in language and biology, and new friends. As time is up, we'd better remind you that the Class of '51 will be back next year—but on a new channel.

You have your dial set at Channel 9. The show is given by the Class of ’52. New members of the cast on our program are Marcia Hallenbeck, Joan Callahan, John Scott, Wesley Moody, and Ronald Thomas. Bill Hayes, Dee Parker, and Eric Dodge are in charge of direction and production.

Our snappy cheerleaders helped keep the action lively. Molly Muirhead, Christine Brehm, Mary Alice Leete, “Mickey” McGrath, Caroline Kritzler, and Sandra Dare yelled for the Freshmen and Jayvee teams.

The talent on the show features everything from music to comedy. Ed Bigley, with his trumpet, and Deb Kinelblot and Ellen Siegal, at the pianos, provide our musical accompaniment. The art background was done by Dick Lytle, Mary Alice Leete, and Cynthia Tainter to mention a few.

The plot is filled with gaiety and life. Every member of the class was in the cast and helped make our Freshman program a wonderful one. The only thing better will be seen next year when we put on the Sophomore show. Tune in!

Third Row—J. Sutherland, N. Prescott, B. Sweet, D. Parker, R. Reynolds, P. Spoer, M. L. Richardson, N. Bryant, P. Thompson, S. Cooper, E. Bigley, D. Lytle, S. Gunther, C. McGrath, S. Schneider.
Eighth Grade

Eighth Grade Officers

Bennett Thomson .. President
Joan Sternfeld .. Secretary-Treasurer
Allison Parker .. Vice-President

This is Station W-MHS-TV, tuning in on Channel 8. Bennett Thomson directed the show with the most able assistance of Joan Sternfeld. Ruth Dyer was script-girl.

To get the year off to a good start, almost all of the Eighth Grade Class came to the Welcome Dance. That, together with the Junior High Leap Year Dance and the other entertainments, helped keep the program lively.

Members of Channel 8's cast also participated in the presentations of the Music Department, sports programs, and in creating backgrounds with the Art Council.

Directing those programs that helped make the show a success were Bunny Walker, Bill Wade, and Mary Alice Tulloch, our Student Council Representatives.

This was the year that Eddie's become a habit; when "the more parties, the better" was a motto; and the Loudonville Canteen saw many a member of the Eighth Grade square dancing.

This is the end of Program Two of the Class of Fifty-Three, but we'll be back for Program Three next fall. This is Channel 8 signing off in Forty-Nine.
This is Station W-MHS-TV on Channel 7. It was our first year of broadcasting on the Milne network but we caught on fast.

The year was started with much bewilderment but a great deal of fun after we learned our lines—locating such strategic points as the cafeteria, and the right classrooms at the right time. The Junior High Reception provided one of the first colorful spots and was succeeded by other grand parties.

Helping to direct Junior High programs, were Mary McNamara, Hannah Kornreich, and Gwendolyn Zeitler on the Junior Student Council.

Leonard Ten Eyck, our boy soprano, provided something of a sensation when he was in the spotlight.

So we close our broadcast until next year when we're no longer "little seventh graders."
ORGANIZATIONS
Senior Student Council

Senior Student Council Officers

Arthur Walker . . . . President
Peter McDonough . . Vice-President
Nancy Betham . . . . Secretary
Nancy Simmons . . . . Treasurer

Planning and guiding the year’s program, from the control room, was the Senior Student Council.

Program Directors were Arthur Walker, President; Peter McDonough, Vice-President; Nancy Betham, Secretary, and Nancy Simmons, Treasurer.

Nancy Shaw, Paul Hubbs, and Helen Pigors represented the Junior Class. The Sophomores had their representatives in the persons of Patricia Ashworth, Terry Stokes, and Lois Tewell.

The Council did many things this year. It obtained an increase in the student tax. It set up the new budget. This was the Council’s first year under a renovated Constitution. Buses were charted for “away” games so that Milne could have a larger cheering section behind its teams. Of the dances sponsored by the Senior Student Council, the Soc-Hop was by far the most successful.

As next year’s Council prepares for its own program, Milne remembers all the activities of the 1948-1949 show and how the Senior Student Council guided it through a wonderful year.

Sitting—Peter McDonough, Nancy Simmons, Nancy Betham, Arthur Walker.
Standing—Patty Ashworth, Lois Tewell, Paul Hubbs, Nancy Shaw, Helen Pigors.
Absent—Terry Stokes.
Now's the time to focus our television camera on the Junior High Student Council, the organization that has performed miracles in providing entertainment during the past year. The man now in the spotlight is Tom Eldridge, President. Behind him are Mary Alice Leete, Vice-President, Colin Kennedy, Secretary, and Cynthia Tainter handling the money.

Well, this is television, so let's turn the camera back and get a glimpse of the past year's doings. The Council met with long awaited success by having some mighty fine dances, especially that Leapyear Dance. Helping behind the coke stand, with the decorations, and giving some swell suggestions were Bunny Walker, Bill Wade, Bill Hayes, DeForest Parker, and the rest of the Council.

Money! Money! Money! It takes plenty of it during the year, but the Council felt quite satisfied with what they received from the budget; a great increase over that of last year. Now the stage is set, and the new Council ready to take its place as the '48-'49 Council moves on for a change of scene.

Sitting—Gwendolen Zeitler, Mary Alice Tulloch, Hannah Kornreich.
Standing—Colin Kennedy, Mary Alice Leete, Cynthia Tainter, Birchard Walker, William Wade.
Here before you, you see the Yearbook staff gathered together during one of their few moments of leisure time. They have worked hard and constantly to make this book what it is.

For the first time in four years the Yearbook has opened some of its pages to advertising. To further supplement the Bricks and Ivy monetary allowance, the staff sponsored a performance of "John Loves Mary" at the Playhouse.

The staff started to work before school opened with the editors mapping out the year's program early in September.

Senior Class Presents "Spring Dance"

Three Acts Involve Collegiate Romance

If you want an evening that's full of fun, don't miss "Spring Dance," presented by Milne's senior class on Friday, March 12. This romantic comedy centers around a typical New England college girl and a cleverly constructed plot. The show features three acts - "The Drama," "The outskirts of campus," and "The fourteeners." Each act is a different college tradition, and Milne's students have truly practiced what they preach. The audience will be treated to a series of love stories, each with its own unique twist. The climax of the show comes in the middle of the second act, when the main character, played by Betty Johnson, must choose between two suitors. The show concludes with a final love scene, which leaves the audience feeling satisfied and entertained. So, mark your calendars and make sure to attend this year's "Spring Dance," a must-see event for all Milne students and alumni.

Audience Fees Question

Following the speeches, an open discussion period was led by Ed Wilson, chairman of the faculty, who questioned the audience on the possibility of increasing fees for the school. The audience members raised concerns about the rising costs of education and the impact on students and families. The discussion was lively and passionate, with many sharing their personal experiences and advocating for different solutions. The faculty agreed to consider the input and will continue to work on finding a fair and equitable solution.

Grants Seniors New Privileges

For the second year, the school is offering new privileges for its senior class. This year, the seniors have been granted the opportunity to attend events and ceremonies without having to pay fees. This change was made in an effort to reduce the financial burden on the seniors and encourage more participation in the school's events. The seniors have been thrilled with the new privileges and have already begun planning events and activities for the coming year. The faculty is proud to support the seniors in their transition to adulthood and looks forward to seeing them make the most of their new privileges.

The Art Council is now appearing in its own show on Station W-MHS-TV, for the second year. Joyce Hallett, the leading lady, was supported in her role as President, by Doris Kaplan, Vice-President; Nan Bird, Secretary, and Carolyn Miller, Treasurer. It starred in a colorful production under the direction of its Faculty Advisor, Vincent Popolizio.

In keeping with the purpose of making Milne more art-conscious, the Council had charge of all posters placed in the corridors. The Art Council bought school art supplies, helped with departmental bulletin boards, and made posters advertising important Milne functions.

Mr. Popolizio and the progressive cast of the Council are looking forward to an even more brilliant production next year.
Oyez, Oyez, all viewers of Station W-MHS-TV—the Milne Chapter of the American Junior Red Cross has finished another great and successful year.

The Red Cross took upon itself many jobs for this past year; packing Christmas Boxes for the underprivileged children of the world; made washcloths for the new Veterans’ Hospital; and made a scrap book, showing activities of the school, which was exchanged with a school some place in the world.

The cast was under the able direction of Joan Mosher. Herbert Goldstein was Vice-President; Mary Alice Leete, Secretary; and Wallace Craig, Treasurer. The activities on the program were supervised by Mr. Clinton Roberts.

The Red Cross has accomplished much through the generous contributions of the Milne students. It feels proud to be doing so much good in the times of duress which exist in the world today.

Football

This year Milne had only a five-game football schedule televised over Station W-MHS-TV. With a record of two wins and three defeats, the Milne six-man football team enjoyed its second year of participation in this sport.

Opening their campaign against Columbia at East Greenbush, the Crimson and White fought to a 26-12 setback in a mud-soaked game that was played in a steady drizzle. Ed Lux, Milne's high scoring half-back, tallied two touchdowns.

St. Peter's of Saratoga, our next foe, walloped Milne 32-0, but the game was closer than the score indicated. The boys put up a hard battle to the end. Dick Bauer, regular half-back, was injured in the third quarter and was lost until the last two games of the season. It was a tough loss.

Playing the Central Hudson Valley League champs, Ravena-Coeymans, Milne gave spirited battle losing 36-6. Ed Lux scored Milne's six points.

Milne won its initial victory with an impressive 45-25 score over the Hoosac School at Hoosick Falls. Second and third stringers played most of the game, but Lux spearheaded the scoring attack with two T.D.'s. Quarterback Art Walker scored one touchdown and passed for three more six-pointers. Pete Ball, Jim Clark, Paul Huprich, and Ronnie Vandenburgh rounded out the point making.

Milne closed its season with a decisive 48-7 triumph over a green St. John's of Rensselaer sextet. Lux brought his scoring total to 43 points with two touchdowns and one extra point.

For next year, Coach Harry Grogan will have to find replacements for seven Seniors who have played their last game: Ed Lux, Dick Bauer, Art Walker, Lew Carr, Jim Clark, Dick Reynolds, and Pete Ball.

Lewis Carr, center; Donald Mapes, forward; Daniel Westbrook, guard; Arthur Walker, guard; Edmund Lux, forward; Harry Grogan, coach.

At the beginning of the 1948-1949 basketball season, Coach Harry J. Grogan was faced with the problem of finding replacements for eight members of last year's Varsity. However, with veterans, Don Mapes, Art Walker, Dan Westbrook, and Ed Lux returning and with Lew Carr, Ed Wilson, and George DeMoss among eight of those moved up from the Junior Varsity, Coach Grogan soon had his new ball club.

The team started the year hesitantly, with a noticeable weakness at the foul line, but under the toughening effect of a heavy schedule the varsity began to do the school's name justice and finished the season in a blaze of glory. With Lew Carr, Art Walker, and Ed Lux ranked among Albany's top scorers, Milne took pride in having one of the most potent ball clubs in the city.

* Philip Schuyler High School forfeits its games to Milne due to the participation of an ineligible player in the games.
Tuning in on Channel 1949 we find a thrilling field hockey game in progress on the Milne Field. The announcer tells us it is the Milne team (girls, of course) vs. Girls' Academy and it should prove to be an exciting game. At the end of the half we find the Milne girls happy but tired, leading their opponents 1 to 0. After a pep-talk from Miss Murray the team once again lines up on the field and the starting whistle is blown. The teams are playing an excellent game despite an extremely muddy field. The Milne forwards have the ball and it looks as though they might make another goal—Yes, the ball has gone over the goal line just before the final whistle and the game is over with Milne the victor with a 2-0 score.

Before we turn to another channel, we'd like to review the main events of the hockey season. The Milne girls started off with a bang by going to Emma Willard's on October 16 and winning 3 out of 4 games with area schools.

The team attended an all-day playday at St. Agnes on November 6 and a good time was had by all. The highlight of the day came at lunch time when Mrs. Fossieck surprised and pleased the team by bringing some delicious home-made cupcakes.

This game today finished up the season for the girls. Janet Kilby '49 has been their Captain and Miss Murray their able Coach.

This is your annual Hi-Y program on W-MHS-TV, Channel 49.

Director George DeMoss, assisted by Dick Bauer, has led Milne's Hi-Y through a heavy year's program of fun and work.

Proceeds from the annual square-dance, from coke stands set up at other dances held at school, and from the check room at the Spring Concert enabled us to fulfill our pledge to the YMCA.

Our weekly shows had never a dull moment. Chaplain Jim Clark was always short of nickels and Treasurer Peter McDonough had trouble keeping track of the inflow of nickels. Script Supervisor Lee Dennis was always trying to keep up with the minutes.

Many new members provided a memorable program on initiation night. After it was all over the boys relaxed with coke and donuts.

Whenever the show slowed up and we forgot our lines, Dan Westbrook, prompting from his Robert's Rules of Order, had us rolling again in no time flat.

If we ever had a problem of disposing of extra cases of coke or of extra donuts, Dr. Fossieck, our Faculty Advisor, and Bob Lawton rose to the occasion.

Ed Lux was always the first one to move that our weekly show terminate, in favor of refreshments or movies.

It is now time to sign off until we return again next year on Channel 50.
The societies in Milne have added much sparkle and gaiety to the Senior High Social Activities Program on W-MHS-TV.

Quintillian, Zeta Sigma, Theta-Nu, Adelphoi, Phi Sigma, and Theseum Literary Societies have each been seen on the television screen in popular and frequent society-sponsored shows.

Theseum's square dance passed in review early in the year. Denny Flint called the turns, while his High Hatters kept up the tempo.

The Quin and Sigma Rushes were the big social events of the fall. Quintillian and its rush, developed around a theme of backwoods and open country life, came first. Then the Sigma rush was presented with the theme of bloomers constantly kept in mind.

The next major attraction was the "Theta-Nu Follies" with a triple theme of "Magic, Music, and Movies." Magician Harold Vine mystified all television screen gazers with his feats of prestidigitation. The Milnettes were next on the "Follies" program and, as always, delighted every one. "Pot of Gold," and selected short features were shown as the final portion of the program. Proceeds from the "Follies" were used to finance an issue of the Crimson and White.

Quin and Sigma held their combined annual dance in the Engle Room on February 26th. This was a bright spot on the program. The girls turned Emily Post's rules topsy-turvy and treated the boys to an evening of fun.

The highlight of the spring social calendar was the "QTSA' Spring Formal, held in May. On the screen we witnessed the traditional Milne spring ceremony—the crowning of a Senior girl as Queen of the Ball. The "QTSA" Scholarship Award is maintained by proceeds from the Spring Formal.
As the Walrus said . . . "The time has come . . ." Through the medium of Station W-MHS-TV, the Class of 1949 makes its final bow on the television screen to The Milne School. Our programs on this network have been without sound, so we will have to hear the cheerful laughter and noise in our hearts and minds. The Class of 1949 relinquishes its time on the Milne network with the assurance that by the production of this yearbook it has given to Milne its best efforts.

We are happy in realizing that we have captured and preserved in this, the 1949 "Bricks and Ivy," many of the worthwhile, but fleeting, moments of our last year, as well as those of the underclassmen. Each of us is looking towards the horizon which at the moment hides from view the future, but we will always find some small moment to look back and reminisce about our years at Milne.

If at some time in the future when you, our classmates, have settled into lifetime occupations this book recalls to mind some of your more pleasant days in Milne, then our objective in composing this yearbook will have been achieved.

The Staff,
Bricks and Ivy, 1949.

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

The members of the Staff of the Bricks and Ivy wish to express their gratitude to the following persons and organizations which contributed to making this Book a success:

DR. THEODORE FOSSIECK for his understanding advice, editorial criticisms, and persistence in keeping things going,
MISS RUTH WOOLSLAGER for her excellent direction of the advertising and business end,
MR. VINCENT POPOLIZIO for his cooperation in the art department,
DR. JOHN ROY NEWTON for his invaluable supervision in formulating the material,
DR. ROBERT W. FREDERICK for lending us a little of his wisdom and experience during many of those doubtful hours,
MR. JOHN SCULLY for that affair that helped a lot and solved a great problem,
THE GUIDANCE OFFICE for not being too intolerant with us during those busy times,
THE CRIMSON AND WHITE for their general all around assistance throughout this year,

THE FORT ORANGE PRESS for their magnificent advice and work in handling the printing,
MAYFAIR STUDIOS for their willing cooperation and high quality pictures,
THE ADVERTISERS IN THIS BOOK who, with their ads, have made this Yearbook financially possible,
ATTERBURY PLAYERS, INC., for their great work in that wonderful play, "John Loves Mary,"
THE KNICKERBOCKER NEWS for their willingness to supply us with prints and negatives.

The amateur photographers and artists, the advertising solicitors under the direction of Mr. Clifton Thorne and Miss Bernadine Snyder, and those who contributed articles to the B. & I. who proved to the once-skeptical Editor that the school was really behind its Yearbook.
