SENIORS SEEK MILNE SPIRIT

On Saturday, December 5, at exactly 8:00 p.m. a very important event will commence, which will undoubtedly be remembered as one of the outstanding achievements in the history of Milne. As you have probably already guessed, this is the glorious evening when a group of emotion-packed, selected seniors will demonstrate their acting abilities in the senior play production of "Big Hearted Herbert."

Scoop On Success

In order for a play to become a recognized success, it is generally conceived that the particular production must meet certain requirements. The play's main objectives are to please the audience, young and old alike, and have a responsible cast to justify its quality. "Big Hearted Herbert" has attained these qualifications quite substantially in past performances, by both professional and amateur groups, and therefore should continue in its path of triumph. With this idea in mind, and the thought of a treat in store of some who admitted defeat before, we should consider the thought of a treat in store of some who admitted defeat before, and witness an enjoyable comedy that is not easily forgotten.

Parents Discuss
Senior Year

An interested group of parents gathered in the Milne library at 8 p.m. on November 17, for the traditional Senior Parents' Night. The purpose of this meeting was to have a discussion between the parents and staff members on the scheduled activities and post-school aspirations of the class of '54.

Dr. Theodore Fossieck, principal of the Milne school, began with a review of the year's plans including various details pertaining to graduation. He then answered all pertinent questions. Dr. Fossieck mentioned the desirability of the parents' cooperation in helping to insure a successful and happy culmination to the senior year.

After the introduction of the senior advisors and supervisors, Mr. John R. Tilletts, guidance director, discussed different phases of college requirements, and post graduation opportunities. Mr. Tilletts explained the many questions relevant to school boards and colleges.

The meeting ended at 9:00 with the serving of refreshments by a group of senior girls.

Societies Order
Pins and Keys

It is the tradition of Quin and Sigma that the seniors receive their society keys. On each key will be inscribed the girls' initials.

All sophomores and juniors will be ordering their Quin pins if they desire them. Those pins are black with three gold initials Q.L.S. that signify Quin Literary Society. The Sigma members will also order their pins. Their gold pins are in the shape of the Greek letters that identify Sigma.

Senior High Elect
New Officers

The senior high classes have recently elected their officers, and the fortunate Milnites who will have the responsibility of good class government for this year have been installed.

The seniors, for the second straight year, have elected Creighton Miller as their leader, and Jerry Kane as vice-president. Larry Genden will serve as secretary, and Ira Rheingold as treasurer.

The juniors picked Jerry Thomas as their leader, and Jerry Kane as vice-president. Larry Genden will be taking the minutes, while Janet Killough will keep track of the money. The sophomores' choice for president was Dave Wilson, while Mary Killough will be second in command. Carl Eppelman is secretary, and Paul Howard will collect the dues.

We of the Crimson and White, on behalf of the Milne school, extend to Ellen and Peter Hoppner our kindest sympathies on the death of their sister.

A large number of students represented the senior high school. Mimi Ryan, Tri-Hi-Y stated, "We were very pleased with the turnout and wish to thank everyone who helped in making it a success. We hope that the Milnites show as much interest in coming activities as they have shown in this.

Students Cheer
Pep Assembly

Tuesday, November 24, was the first Pep assembly opening the basketball season. The assembly began with the singing of the Star-Spangled Banner, and the announcements were read by Dr. Fossieck. The cheerleaders were introduced, and to the surprise of the students the varsity cheerleaders ran down the aisles from the back of the auditorium doing their first cheer in their brand new uniforms.

Grogan Introduces Team

Coach Harry Grogan introduced the basketball players, and the cheerleaders did an individual cheer for each player. The following three cheers were led by the junior varsity cheerleaders: We Gotta Win, Junior Varsity, and the Victory Cheer. The varsity then took over with the Welcome Cheer, Pep Cheer, and the Fight Cheer.

The assembly closed with the junior varsity and varsity squads doing the Victory Cheer, and the singing of the Alma Mater.

The Crimson and White staff extended to the Milne school wishes for a very happy Thanksgiving vacation.
Transportation Proves to Be Problem

By JOHN WOLFE

I take it for granted that all we are madly in love with our school. Every morning the Milnite arises with elation and practically breaks his little neck to arrive there sooner than everybody else. How, then, is he confronted by one problem. What will be his means of transportation?

Transportation Is the Problem

Some are lucky enough to own their own automobiles. If they are, they are capable of gazing some money for gasoline from their parents, they can drive to school at their own leisure. Of course, if one breaks down on the way, it's just too bad. They miss school, and naturally are so remorseful about it that they hang themselves.

Another method is hitch hiking. The procedure for this is simple; one merely stands himself at some busy corner and languidly extends a thumb in the general direction of his destination. He tries to look as cool and miserable as possible and gives every passing motorist a speech. This method is often successful, and it enables one to meet the most interesting people.

The bulk of the student body, however, rides in those flip-flopped devices known as buses. Ugly red monsters, belching foul exhaust fumes, they roar about the city relieving the populace of their long lives and change. The individual who invented them must have had a great grudge against humanity.

Oh Happy Day

On a typical morning, the average Milnite is dragged from bed, eats his Wheaties, engages in the usual daily activities of waking everyone up, and stumbles out to the corner to catch the bus. They are supposed to run every fifteen minutes. He waits for an hour, sees no sign of one, and finally about five of the evergreen station wagons come chugging up in close formation. If he is lucky, one of them may stop for him.

The bus stops, and the door opens. All that one can see is a solid wall of human beings. "Please show each other to the rear of the bus," lops the driver. The determined Milnite grits his teeth, lowers his head, and charges. Somehow he finds himself with a precarious foothold on the edge of the door. "All right on the door?" says the driver as he closes it on him. There is no answer, and the sublime committee of his home room is going to busy collecting money for a down payment on his shampoo and Milnite locker rent. Au revoir, see ya' in the taxis.

M.B.A.A. Plan New Schedule

This year the Milne Boys' Athletic Association is planning on undertaking many activities for the benefit of the school, and of course, for the benefit of the association. At this time the M.B.A.A. is in the process of planning the presentation of the first half of nine home basketball games in the Hall gym. This is a good place to add that a great deal of work is involved in making sure that the basketball program for any evening goes off smoothly and efficiently.

M.B.A.A. Schedule Repeated

Another one of the M.B.A.A. projects this year is the introduction of season passes for home basketball games. These passes are available at a price which saves the purchaser about three dollars over the regular prices. He or she would ordinarily have to pay. The M.B.A.A. feels that this is a way of giving the students who attend a good share of the games a reasonable reduction in cost.

The president of the Milne Boys' Athletic Association, Creighton Cross, hopes that you will support these projects as strongly as possible. He expresses the feeling that they will be very successful.

Herman's Highlights

On Wednesday, November 23, the Milne Red Raiders will travel to Averill Park, carrying with them Missouri on January 16, 1936. Although the Milnites and the Raiders have been going from one activity to another. She has been on Student Council for five years and in her freshman year was vice-president of Jr. Student Council. Since her freshman year Mary has been cheerleading for both the in varsity and varsity squads. A few of her other activities include -secretary and President of M.G.A. graduation ushers. Sigma officer and associate editor of the Crimson and White.

MARY McNAMARA

 Aren't we lucky? Look what Missouri sent us! That's right, "Mare Babe" was born in St. Louis, Missouri on January 16, 1936.

Since entering Milne in the seventh grade, it seems Mary has been going from one activity to another. She is on the Student Council for five years and in her freshman year was a member of the varsity squad. After her freshman year Mary was a cheerleader for both the in varsity and varsity squads. A few of her other activities include -secretary and President of M.G.A. graduation ushers, Sigma officer and associate editor of the Crimson and White.

The Mexican hat dance, bowling, Juliana and especially trips to Providence, Rhode Island, are Mary's favorites. To wear three-inch heels and still be 5' 4" tall is a longed for ambition in her life. I can't imagine why.
