New Students Enter School

Seventeen new students, in addition to the entire seventh grade, have swelled Milne's enrollment to a record 426.

Additions to the eighth grade are Leslie Brodie, Joyce Hugyerty, Susan Landon, Constance Jean Long and Ellen Spritzer. Susan and Leslie agree that student teachers are fine, that their classmates are "great" and that they are glad they came to Milne.

Helen Alpart and Margaret Childers, both from Albany Academy for girls, have joined the ninth grade. Both girls say they find our co-educational school much to their liking.

Six Newcomers Join Juniors

The tenth grade welcomes Janice Boncek from Amsterdam High School and Arthur Hengerer from Albany Academy for Boys. Jaynce comments, "I love Milne. I really do; it's great." Arthur says, "I like Milne very much. You have to really dig into your work."

The juniors received six new students. They are Susan Austin and Eileen Dunn from Albany High School, David Gartner from Knoch High School in Syracuse, Carol Ann Hukey from Troy High, Alicia Jaccobson from Albany Academy for Girls and Mary Beth Long from Marcellus. Susan and Eileen say they like Milne and are glad they came. David reports that he likes the teachers, and Alicia says she likes the school spirit. Carol and Mary Beth say, "So far, so good."

Seniors Welcome German Girl

The senior class greets Liselotte Undritz from Germany, who has been in America for two years. Lithewi was one of the ten best girl athletes in her school. She says, "In Germany, we can't choose our subjects, except for French or Latin. We must take German, English, French and or Latin, algebra, geometry, geography, history, biology, physics, chemistry, art, religion, chorus, home economics, and music."

Four years of elementary school are required before one enters a six or nine year high school course program. High school in Germany would include the equivalent of two years of college work in America. A university education may follow the high school education in Germany.

Liselotte was one of the ten best girl athletes in her school. She says that athletic courses in Germany are much more strenuous than they are here.

Liselotte is undecided about her future plans, but says she likes Milne very much.

Five New Supervisors

Five new supervisors and a returning supervisor have joined the faculty.

Mr. Soderling Returns

Mrs. Naomi Mager is one of the new additions to the English department. She moved from Voorheesville, is married and has one son. Mrs. Mager says she thinks Milne is a wonderful place and that its students are mature and extraordinarily responsible. Mrs. Mager came to us from New York City and was a student teacher there. Liselotte agrees, but has a favorable impression of Milne students and thinks they are interested in her major. Her main field is dramatics. Mr. Crouse, who is single, says, "I can't afford to get married!"

Dr. Eunice Miller, the business department, has taught at Swannakee High School in Long Island. Dr. Miller says the students of Milne are friendly and alert. She is a friend of antiques and likes to read. She once took flying lessons. During the past three years, she worked for and received her doctorate from New York University.

Clawson Addition to Math Dept.

Mr. Harry Clawson from Butler, P.A., is the new addition to the mathematics department. Mr. Clawson says he thinks Milne is a very nice school with a group of students interested in learning. He teaches algebra and taught aeronautics, astronomy, and driver education last year. He coached baseball and J.V. football while teaching high school and played tennis, baseball and football in college. Mr. Clawson is interested in scouting and is a camp director at the Philmont scouts ranch camp. In addition, he was once an N.R.A. junior rifle instructor.

Mr. Ellis Hagstrom comes to the Milne social studies department from the Harvard Program of Teacher Education. Mr. Hagstrom is married and has two children, a boy, three, and a girl, six. He is a graduate of Colgate and is interested in scouting and camping.

Soderling Returns

Mr. Arthur Soderlind has returned to the social studies department after a year of studying for his doctorate at the University of Iowa.

Basketball Outlook Bright for Raiders

Millites Play Summer Ball

Milnite school was well represented in organized baseball of the area this summer. A total of twenty-six boys participated in Little League, Babe Ruth League and American Legion baseball. Twelve seventh graders were Little Leaguers, and nine eighth and ninth graders played in Babe Ruth Leagues.

Juniors See Action

Four juniors played on the Fort Orange Post Club of the American Legion. Wes Jacobs, Richie Lockwood, Bud Mohan and Howie Wil-dove represented Milnies on the team.

All saw considerable action. Richie and Howie were battery mates for part of the season, and Jacobs and Mohan were the starting second and third sackers, respectively. Wes, although hampered by a broken finger for the first half of play, was among the leaders of the team in batting.

Charlie Arvill helped to form a Menands addition to the American Legion teams. The team will join the league next year.

M.B.A.A. Plans Movie, Elects

Coach Grogan called the Milnite Boys Athletic Association together for its first meeting of the season October 3 in the Little gym. The purpose of the meeting was to elect new officers and to discuss the coming M.B.A.A. movie.

Tom Sternfeld New President

The M.B.A.A. homeroom representatives elected Tommy Sternfeld to preside over their meetings. Brad Snyder was elected vice-president, Bob Blayney, secretary, and Dick Collins, treasurer.

Following the elections, the subject of the annual M.B.A.A. movie was discussed. Committees for selecting the movie, which is to be October 25, and for ticket promotion were set up.

Movie Proceeds Buy Sweaters

A donation of fifty cents will be collected from each movie-goer. After the expenses of the movie are paid, the money remaining will be used to purchase sweater awards for boys who have compiled fifteen credits in athletics.

Braves Cop Series in Seven Games

A new era in major league base-ball began October 10, 1957, when Fred Haney's Milwaukee Braves defeated the mighty New York Yankees, 5-6, and the reign of New York City baseball teams came to an end. For the first time since 1918, the World Series winner is a non-New York club.

Yanks Take Series Lead

The Yankees took the opener, 3-1, but the Braves evened the score with a 4-2 win behind Burdette and Ford on the hill. Wes Covington's great catch saved the game for the Braves, who took a 3-2 series lead.

In the sixth game, played in New York, Hank Bauer's home run gave Bob Turley a 3-2 win over Buhl. Wes Covington was the hero of the dramatic seventh game.

In the third frame of the final contest, the Braves tallied four times. They added another run and held on to win, 5-0. It was the first series victory for the Braves since 1944.

The Albany Academy cadets, last season's Capital District league champions, will once again be a tough nut to crack. However, with good height up front, our rebounding should be greatly improved over last year's and should help us against Academy's abundant reserve of tall veterans.

Support Your Team

To make a trip to the sectional tournament, the Raiders need only to finish higher in the Capital District league standings than the Fortann Rams, since the Rams are the only other Class C school in the loop. Your vote, as a student, is important. Let's make our fifth trip in six years, a rather enviable record.

But the big thing yet to be won is a Class C championship. This would validate this year's. When the opening whistle gets the '57-'58 campaign underway, let's make it our business to support the team by attending games. In that you'll be doing your part of the work, and the team will do the rest.

By KATIE SIMMONS

Hi, kids! Nice to see all your bright, smiling faces again and for all you new people—glad to have you with us.

Everything seems to be about the same this year, but something was different this morning. It was a different kind of assembly. No one told us that "Milne is a friendly school." This fact must always be kept in mind, especially by you seventh graders. When you ask directions to the main office and find yourself in the middle of the boys' locker room, remind yourself that the direction giver was not being malicious, just friendly.

Imagine that by now everyone has gotten his bearings and has settled down to the old grind. Cheer up! Always look to the future, and the future does hold many weekends.

So There You Are

After trudging through the week, happy Minutous find Friday night right on their plate. And though there's an extra spurt of energy, everyone is in fine spirits and raring to go. Then some poor unfortunate asks the fatal question: "What shall we do?" The conversation that follows sounds as if it were lifted word for word from the script of "Marty": "I don't know, what'll we do?" Then "I give up." This has the general effect of dampening spirits and ruining the evening for all.

Of course, there are really millions of things to do. There are always the movies and the cinema, or for a change, you could go to "the show," or if you really want to get out of the rut, you can "step out" to the Madison.

There are a number of drawbacks to attempting to attend a play at this many-splendored theatre, however, if you really want to see the movie, you will find it impossible. The first drawback is of you constantly getting up to get popcorn, have a cigarette, or just to walk around. If you are especially helpless this doesn't bother you, there is always the problem of hearing. This is an acute one, as nobody ever shuts up. Seniors, too, have a certain problem. As they walk in the door, they are suddenly seized with the feeling that they must be at least forty and are rapidly aging.

... And Here's A Party"

If you rule out the movies on the basis of too many splendors, then the only other alternative is a party. This gets fairly expensive, though, for there are only so many splendors in each class who have the parties. It is also rough on furniture and parents' nerves.

After years of searching, these are the only two choices I have found and, after tooting my brain to this and that, the only two possible. Usually I have spent my evening just sitting—thinking of something to do. This is no fun, for you are afflicted both the dated and the dateless and is rapidly reaching epidemic proportions. In fact, there are a few people in each class who are having a good time.

Senior English classes now consist of humanities, psychology, and two contemporary literature groups, due to revisions made by the English department.

American literature is no longer offered due to scheduling difficulties and a lessened demand for the course.

Humans has been shortened to one period each day because of scheduling difficulties.

Klara Schmidt Tours Spain

Klara Schmidt, a junior, returned to Milne this fall after almost two years in Spain and southern Europe. Klara's trip began in early September when her father was sent to Spain by the Air Force. Klara and her brother, and two sisters flew to Madrid from New Jersey. Her impressions of the city on the cold day the family arrived have been summed up as "big and noisy." Klara recalls the difficulty she, and her family had in ordering their裔 Spanish meals, because they could not yet speak Spanish fluently.

The Schmidt's stayed at Madrid Plaza, Spain's tallest building, that night.

Schmidts Make Home in Zaragoza

The next day, the Schmidts flew to Zaragoza, which is located in northeastern Spain and is the capital of Aragon. They were the only third American family to move to the new Air Force site, and Klara says the Spanish "thought we were odd." Klara describes the city and its surroundings as being "plain" with no trees, "like a desert." While they were in Zaragoza, Klara's family lived in a hotel for two months, then rented a house. Klara describes the house as being typically Spanish. It was made of stone, had tile floors and no electricity or central heating. During the summer in Zaragoza, the temperature reached 100 degrees Fahrenheit, and in the winter it dropped to 7 degrees Fahrenheit, and a coal stove was used in the Schmidt's house.

Klara says that Zaragoza is smaller in area than Albany, although it has about 90,000 more people. The reason for this, she explains, is that most people live in apartment houses in Zaragoza. There are few private houses. Klara describes the city as "very modern." Klara attended Air Force School for a year and studied Spanish as well as other subjects.

Klara has seen almost all regions of Spain and describes the Spanish people as "nice," "friendly," every...
