JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL CONTRIBUTES PROSE AND POETRY TO "CRIMSON AND WHITE"

The Christmas issue of the Crimson and White was given out last Friday. The Junior high school has a larger section than usual. Barbara Birchenough was the junior editor and Ruth Mann, the assistant junior editor. Ruth Treusdale, L. Sippally, Loo Lincoln, and Arthur Thompson were the ninth graders who contributed. Edmund Haskins, Lillian Walk, and Virginia Soyer contributed from the eighth grade and Betty Douglas, Frances Seymour, and Sylvia Hopkins, from the seventh grade.

Those who did not receive copies may get them at Miss Whooling's office.

CHRISTMAS GREETINGS!

Mr. Sayles and Dr. Fredericks wish members of the faculty and the students of Milne a very happy Christmas. Dr. Fredericks' special message was: "Let us each make a special effort to remember some one to whom we can bring a smile of happiness."

ON CHRISTMAS

What do we think of when we hear of Christmas? I'm afraid we think of receiving our presents on Christmas morning, but we should think of giving presents and the reason we have Christmas and what a true Christmas spirit should be. Here at Milne, as at other schools, we give gifts of food to those who are less fortunate than we. Christmas sales of Pulmonary stamps are conducted to all the sick. We give the Christmas plays for our own enjoyment. Let's see if we can have the right spirit in giving, not because it is the usual thing, to do it because we really wish to help others at Christmas time.
