The plan of two assemblies each week has been approved by the Student Council. The council further decided that each homeroom should give one assembly a semester. Ten service points will be awarded for each program presented.

It was agreed that there be two parties given in addition to the reception. Whether the reception will be a masquerade or not will be decided by the school.

The following people were elected to the program committee: Mildred Mattico, Janet Clark, John Hawkins, and Robert Wheeler.

SEPARATE PARTIES

Separate receptions are planned by the junior and senior high schools. The junior reception is to be held on November 2; the senior reception, on November 9. There will be dancing and other entertainments.

The ninth grade has been invited to both parties.

NINTH GRADE WILL HAVE SKATING PARTY

A Hallowe'en roller-skating party will be given by the ninth graders at Mid City Park next Tuesday. They will leave the school at 2:30 P.M. and return home between 5:30 and 6:00 P.M.

USEFUL WORK DONE IN COOKING CLASSES

The eighth grade cooking class assisted in the preparation of the food for the tea which was given by the State College faculty for the visiting instructors last week.

Notebooks containing pictures that illustrate health rules are being made by the seventh grade cooking classes under the direction of Miss Fillmore. Aprons and hat bands have just arrived. Members of the class will engage in preparing their lunches very soon.

The elective high school group is making a study of preparing and serving breakfasts. Yesterday the class cooked its own lunch.
I Nimfy's

STAFF FOR-THE JUNIORS WEEKLY
Editors-in-chief
Virginia Tripp
Elizabeth Simmons

Associate Editor
Barbara Swift
Girls' Sports
Virginia Mitchell
Boys' Sports
Richard Cone
Art Editor
Jacquie Crawford
Student Council
Herbert Marx
Humor Editor
Franklin Steinhart
Circulation Manager
Billy Burgess
Composing Staff

ON NOVEMBER THE FIRST

The morning after the night before. "Why, the traditional night when witches mount their broomsticks and ride across the sky, and villains appear with ominous faces and fiery tongues.

That is the time when mischievous boys and girls, arrayed in deceptive costumes, slyly through the shadows. That is the night when everyone raises their voices in shrill protests demanding the restoration of their dormitories. Then, or they won't want you even on the hilltop.

Fun? Yes—and only once a year. But what of the next day that finds the whole country-side out hunting for its belongings which have mysteriously disappeared. If you are out the "night before," you are bound to be "out" on the "mornine after."

BOOK REVIEW OF "BLACKTHORN"

"Blackthorn," by Katherine Adams, is a tale of Elizabethan adventure. It is primarily for girls.

Meredith Corr, a spirited Irish girl and daughter of a great Irish chieftain, is the main character of the story. She is brought up in England under the care of her godmother. She thinks herself to be an orphan until she overhears a state conversation.

Finally, growing restless because of the monotonous life she is forced to lead under the English nobility, Meredith turns dairy-maid and runs away to Netherby Fair.

There the girl is kidnapped, taken to Ireland, and put into prison. Her escape leads to many adventures which she meets on her journey to her father's people.

The ninth grade class wishes to thank the senior high school for the courtesy the members have extended to them in inviting the freshmen to the senior high reception.

uestion—Should there be a superior officer to oversee the traffic squad? Jack Koberger—Yes. Because the squad is too dispersed.

Virginia Jordan—I don't think it matters, is done good about the matter, it should be brought before the student council.

Doris Holmes—Yes. The traffic officers should have no more privileges than we.

IN FRENCH (?) OF GUM CHEWERS

"... gum chewing girl, and a bad chewing cow.

Strange alike—yet different somehow. What is that difference? Oh, I see it now.

an intelligent look on the face of the cow."

And it doesn't mean only a gum chewing girl. A gum chewing boy is just as bad. Better mind your manners, children, or they won't want you even on the hilltop.

CHARACTER SKETCH

This week for our character sketch we have chosen an eighth grader for our victim. He (or she) has curly brown hair. He (or she) was on the honor roll last year. We will even go so far as to say that he (or she) is in homeroom 130.

If you guess this one, hand your solution and name to Miss Moore. The first person who hands in his name will have it printed in the next issue.

STUITEE CLUB QUESTION BOX

Question—When a boy is walking with two girls, should he walk on the outside or in the middle?

Answer—He should walk on the outside.

Question—What should you do when you are introduced to an older person?

Answer—You should stand up and remain standing until the older person sits down or moves away from you.

HOW DO YOU LIKE OUR BULLETIN BOARD?

Have you noticed the bulletin board on the first floor? How do you like its appearance? Some of the students are wondering, if it is in keeping with the rest of the school building. They suggest that the student council do something about it. Let's be able to point to our bulletin board with pride.