Historical Note

Dr. Salome Gluecksohn-Waelsch received her Ph.D. from the University of Freiburg, Germany in 1932, but was forced to flee Hitler's Germany one year later with her first husband, biochemist Rudolf Schoenheimer. Her first position in the U.S. came in 1936 as a Research Associate at Columbia University, a position she held for nineteen years. Finally, in 1955, she was offered a full-time faculty position in the Department of Genetics at the Albert Einstein College of Medicine. In 1979, Waelsch was elected to the National Academy of Sciences and in 1993, she was awarded the National Medal of Science.

Scope and Contents

The collection contains Salome Gluecksohn-Waelsch's correspondence, biographical material, including awards, citations, diplomas, grant applications, reviews, publications, National Academy of Science files, conference, seminar and lecture materials, photographs, and extensive reprint collection in the field of genetics.
