Squad Lost to Jamaica

The varsity basketball team will play St. Stephen's college tonight and New Paltz Normal school tomorrow night, both games on the home court.

Following their defeat by Jamaica Teachers Training school quintet, 18 to 16, Saturday night, the Purple and Gold resumed practice this week.

Tonight's game with St. Stephen's college is much more difficult after two wins. St. Stephen's was easily defeated, 47 to 23, by the Twilighters at Schenectady last Saturday night. New Paltz Normal is not expected to offer great opposition tonight.

As a preliminary to tonight's game, the Freshmen team will meet Middleburgh high school at seven o'clock.

Much better work is looked for from the varsity tonight. Those who saw last week's game declare that the team came nowhere near the realization of its possibilities. Despite the defeat, observers are firm in their conviction that the quintet this year is about as good as Inst. T.

Tonight's game will be several who have had prominent work in the varsity last season.

Dr. L. K. Hornung, Captain of Basketball.

Mystery Woman Appears in Case of Kershaw vs. Millet

Those who have been following the case of Kershaw vs. Millet, being tried before Judge David Hutchinson, are greatly mystified. The name of the third party, often referred to as a certain young lady in college, has been very carefully omitted from all evidence thus far presented before the jury. Who is this young lady, to whom Mr. Kershaw is said to be married?

Neither the attorneys for the plaintiff nor the defendant will give a clue to her identity.

The complaint is as follows: The defendant has defamed the plaintiff's character and good name in such a manner as to bring his relations with the general public and more specifically, with the students at New York State College for Teachers, to a ridicule in his mind and to injure his good name in such a manner as to cause him to be unqualified for any further employment in his prepared line of work.

The defendant has alleged that the plaintiff was engaged to a certain girl studying at the New York State College for Teachers, and furthermore alleged that the plaintiff's character and reputation is so sickle and inconsistent that if the above-mentioned girl places any faith in the plaintiff's promises or declarations she shall be misled and disappointed to such an extent that she shall suffer both moral and pecuniary damage.

The defendant furthermore has stated her views in a letter to the plaintiff, a student at the New York State College for Teachers. Furthermore, the defendant has accused the plaintiff of being the woman, in disregard of all rules issued from the office of the Dean of Women of the New York State College for Teachers, and has conveyed women's duties to the departure of male visitors.

The defendant has claimed that the plaintiff is not a fit person to teach children, and that he is 'getting away with murder' teaching boys and girls during the school term.

The plaintiff was engaged to a certain girl studying at the New York State College for Teachers, and has been engaged to teach children, and that he is 'getting away with murder' teaching boys and girls during the school term.

The complaint is as follows: 'The plaintiff demands judgment for the sum of $3,500 and the costs of this action.'

Miss Edith Greene testified that she was engaged to a certain girl studying at the New York State College for Teachers, and has been engaged to teach children, and that he is 'getting away with murder' teaching boys and girls during the school term.

PHI BETA KAPPA

Members of the faculty holding Phi Beta Kappa scholarships have told what they think of those who mean them. Students have long desired to have established here, a chapter of Phi Beta Kappa. A letter from Lleuenylla Gill, '25, tells us of the work she is doing in sorority and of a touching story of how she came to attend Phi Beta Kappa. I sec the key on a person I think—'There is no one with a key but the one who has it.' To see keys on people in general."

MRS. FLORENCE FECAR, Miss Marion Fleming and Professor Florence E. Sparrow attended a meeting of the New York state teacher-training institute in home economics, Buffalo, December 10th, 11th and 12th, for the purpose of determining what home economics students should take in preparation for major and minor courses. In addition to the practical desirability of their combinations, as well as an indication of their taste and inclination.

There are moments when one feels he has known the ultimate beauty: when he recklessly desires a swift and final numbing of the senses that no other sight could be so beautiful, so magical, so another story for a bit. Surely, no other book of beauty. Color has its appeal, and sometimes it can bring joy. But I warn you—laugher of the gods. But I warn you. Read "Thunder on the Left."
Students Endorse U. S Entry In Court, 652 To 40; Haig and Godfrey Named Delegates To Conference

After an educational program of free literature, open forum and platform address, students, Friday, voted in favor of the United States entering the world court.

S. Niles Hight of 522 Hamilton street, president of the senior class, and Harry S. Godfrey, of Cohocton, editor-in-chief of the State College News, were named to represent the student body on the court. The conference will be conducted today and tomorrow, at Princeton University.

The final vote on the court issue was 652 to 40.

Prior to the vote, Professor David Hutchinson, head of the college government department and new president of the Albany Institute, discussed the merits of the court and its origin.

"The court is purely Anglo-Saxon in its method of procedure," he said. "The project is American in its origin. For centuries the United States has been urging the world court upon Europe...."

"The United States entered the court in 1908, and was joined by the United Kingdom, France, Russia and Japan in 1912. On the American side, Secretary Root, who was also later to become Secretary of State, was a leading figure in the movement to form the court."

The vote was taken at 8:15 sharp. Student tax tickets are not required for admission and visitors are welcomed.

The student body is given the first chance of purchasing subscriptions to the book before it is placed on the open market.

LUTHERAN STUDENTS HAVE CHURCH DINNER

The First Lutheran Church gave a dinner recently, to which were invited Lutheran students of the city. Miss Mathilda Peper, secretary of the Lutheran Board of Education, spoke informally, stressing the work of woman missionary societies in foreign countries.

The welcome was given by the Rev. Chalmers A. Frontor, pastor, and answered by Anne Steidingcr, '27, president of the Lutheran club at State College.

A regular discussion is conducted every Sunday by the students. Last Sunday, Miss Steidingcr led the group into a discussion of the students' standpoint on religion and possible unity of organized Protestant churches.

The president is well pleased with the progress of the club. "Before, no one knew what the club was, but now it is coming to the limelight. At first there were from six to eight in the discussion group, but now there are twelve, including students from other schools, and it is hoped that the Lutheran club will become as well established at College as the clubs of other religious denominations," she said.

FOUNDATIONS ALL LAIKD FOR SCIENCE BUILDING

The new Milne Science hall is one step nearer completion; the foundation has been laid. The cement work has been completed. President A. R. Brubacher said, and the refilling is now going on. so that the building process may begin in the spring. Further work will not be done until the legislature has acted upon it. State College has a favored position in the hundred million dollar bond issue.

In the last election, the amendment which was passed by a very small majority, provided for the raising of $100,000,000 by a bond issue, rather than by direct taxation. Ten million will be spent each year for ten years for building and improving public buildings.

This year it is fully expected that the legislature will appropriate one million for the completion of the Milne Science hall.
