The Acquisitions Services Department is committed to following all campus and New York State rules and regulations regarding licensing, acquiring, and paying for resources obtained for the University Libraries’ collections. In addition, the department will comply with current copyright policies of the University Libraries in relation to purchasing materials or accessing e-resources.

In general, the purchase of materials and resources for the Libraries’ collections are obtained from established and reputable vendors or publishers. On rare occasions, Acquisitions is tasked with obtaining materials from a library or other unconventional source and the seller may request that a search for the copyright holder be completed. If that is requested, Acquisitions will contact the person who is serving as the Libraries’ copyright expert to search for the copyright holder.
