UNIVERSITY LIBRARIES NEWSLETTER

UAlbany's Libraries Welcome New Dean

Frank D'Andraia was named dean and director of Albany's University Libraries, and began work on August 1. Prior to his deanship at UAlbany, D'Andraia was dean of library services and professor of library science at the University of Montana. In this position since 2000, he was responsible for the leadership and administration of the University of Montana Library, which consists of the Maureen and Mike Mansfield Library and the library of the university's Missoula College of Technology.

Dean D'Andraia originally comes from Massachusetts, and he says he's glad to be back in the Northeast. No stranger to the peripatetic academic life, Frank previously held positions at several other libraries, including those of the University of North Dakota, the University of California at Riverside, and the University of Louisiana at Lafayette. He is a member of several professional organizations, including the American Library Association and the Association of College & Research Libraries. He has contributed to numerous

Message from the Dean

As I begin my tenure as the Dean and Director of the University Libraries, I look around the campus with the fresh eyes of a recent arrival. My sense of excitement about the University at Albany and its Libraries—the University Library, the Science Library, and the Dewey Graduate Library—has only grown in the time since I made my first visit to campus last May.

UAlbany is a vigorous, student-centered, and community-focused institution, and the University Libraries reflect the institution's forward-looking goals. I am delighted to be joining the University at Albany administrative team, and I look forward to working with my colleagues within and outside of the libraries, and to becoming an active member of the community at large.

I have been pleased to observe that our Libraries, and those individuals who work in them, take seriously their role in the educational process. The Libraries' roots run deep, and UA students and scholars appreciate our strong tradition of service, a sense of connection with our users, and pride in building a collection that ranks among the top 100 research libraries in North America. The positive feedback the Libraries have received from written assessments surveys by students and researchers regarding our collections and operations gives me a great sense of purpose.

This is an exciting time for academic research libraries. Daily reports emphasize the import of information in today's societies. New methods of sharing and accessing information have challenged the traditional roles of print. Our library professionals look forward to taking a leadership role in response to these challenges and are prepared to assist our students and scholars in remaining competitive in today's information society.

Whatever your reason for accessing library collections, either in person or through the Web, I hope you will take time to discover the special role the University Libraries play here, at the University at Albany. I am very pleased to be here, and I hope to meet you soon.

— Frank D'Andraia

Reunion Weekend in June Features the Libraries

Another successful “Afternoon with Minerva” presentation was held on June 4. This was the second year that returning alumni attended a presentation highlighting the history of the University at Albany through holdings in M.E. Grenander Special Collections and Archives.

Brian Keough, head of Grenander, gave a presentation entitled “Developing Oral History and Digital Projects:

Documenting the History of the University,” for the event, held on Alumni Weekend. “This event, which will be an annual event for alumni, is designed to call attention to the need for support for the endowment, The Preservation of Tradition Fund for the University Libraries,” notes Fran Cicero Shepherd ’62, who, along with her husband, Phil ’60, initiated the Fund in 2004. The event was attended by more than 60 people.

That same day, the rich history of the University was given voice by University Historian Geoff Williams, who was a panelist on a program about the Greatest Generation for the Alumni Weekend. Geoff also conducted tours for alumni. Earlier in the year, Geoff made a presentation in April to the Milne Alumni Reunion entitled “History of the Milne School, 1945–1977.”

President Hall Addresses Group in the Library

President Kermit L. Hall was the University Library’s honored guest on May 13, when the Friends of the Libraries co-sponsored President Hall’s reading from his most recent book, The Oxford Companion to the Supreme Court of the United States. The event, attended by more than 100 people, marked the opening of an exhibit, “The President as Scholar,” which displayed Dr. Hall’s monographs and a second exhibit of “President Hall’s Top Ten Books,” the books that have shaped and influenced his life. Exhibits remained in the lobby of the University Library through mid-August.

The Greatest Generation Fund Surpasses $100,000 Goal!

Established in 2003 by members of the Class of 1948, UAlbany’s Greatest Generation Fund for the University Libraries surged past its $100,000 goal in June 2005, three years early. More than 100 donors to the Fund were invited to attend a celebration held on October 7, 2005, Homecoming Weekend.

This fund provides support to the University Libraries’ collections in arts and sciences. Other classes 1940–1949, the “greatest generation” of Americans, also contributed to this fund. Major donors include: Ruth Abele ’42; Eleanor Alland ’48; Adrienne Caruso ’48; BJ ’48 and Chuck ’47 Chase; Dolores “Del” Cummings ’45; Sam ’48 and Dorothy ’47 Dickieson; Wilma Diehl ’48; Sheila Dingley ’48; Ruth Doran ’48; Florence Graham ’45; Gloria Herkowitz ’49; Rose Matychak Lernberg ’47; Leslie O’Heir ’49; Curt Pfaff ’48; Helen Kiesel Schick ’48; Jacob and Betsy Schuhle ’49; and Vivian Thorne ’48.

In addition to contributing to the Fund, the following campaign organizers worked on personal solicitations by letter and phone to members of their classes: Ruth Abele and Carl

Eleanor Holbig Alland '48

The greatest force for the Fund came from and through the Class of 1948. Helen Kiesel Schick '48 worked with class members to fund this initiative on the occasion of the 55th anniversary of the class. Her initial gift was in memory of her husband, Walter Schick '48, who has been honored by the Alumni Association as a prominent educator. Helen has continued her support for University Libraries and for the Fund. "Some of my most vivid memories are of Hawley, always so stately as well as a social center for us," says Helen. "It's always fitting to link this generation with the Libraries." Helen and Walt's four children and their families continue to support the Fund, in honor of their parents.

As she worked to support the Fund, Eleanor Holbig Alland '48, a long-time supporter of the Libraries, "...realized that the future depends on the present, and I began thinking about a charitable gift annuity. I also needed to plan for my developmentally disabled son, so I set scholarly journals, and is a graduate of the University of Massachusetts. Frank earned master's degrees from Northeastern University and Simmons College in Boston.

"Fall semester will give me numerous opportunities to engage with faculty, students, and many others who use and support Albany's Libraries," says Dean D'Andraia. "This will be a good time for all of us to get to know one another." Frank will be meeting with Library supporters in New York City, Portland, Oregon, Washington, D.C., and Boston this fall.

up an annuity for the Fund, with the income to go to my son. My wish is that many members of the Greatest Generation will consider this type of gift."

Curt Pfaff '48 was another prime mover for the Greatest Generation Fund. He passed away in April 2005, so he did not learn of the Fund's great and early success. His widow, Peg Pfaff, worked on the initiative with Curt. Peg notes that "Curt cared deeply for his alma mater, and for the great education he got there. His particular passion was history, and the Libraries at UAlbany presented a natural repository for his philanthropy." Peg and Curt were strong annual donors who became major donors with a charitable gift annuity for the Greatest Generation Fund. Peg continues to support Curt's philanthropic legacy to the University Libraries.

New Acquisition for Special Collections and Archives, School of Criminal Justice

On August 9, Albany's University Libraries and the School of Criminal Justice celebrated the acquisition of the National Death Penalty Archive. This archive represents a special

partnership between the Capital Punishment Research Initiative at the School of Criminal Justice (CPRI) and the M.E. Grenander Department of Special Collections and Archives.

The ceremony, attended by more than 60 people, featured leading national death penalty experts including keynote speaker Hugo Adam Bedau, emeritus professor, Tufts University; William J. Bowers, director of the Capital Jury Project; journalist and scholar Scott Christianson; David Kaczynski, executive director of New Yorkers Against the Death Penalty; Michael E. Radelet of the University of Colorado at Boulder; and CPRI co-directors Professor James Acker ans, researchers, faculty, students, and interested members of the public," said CPRI Co-director Charles Lanier. "Their scholarship will add enormously to the understanding of this significant aspect of our criminal justice system." UAlbany President Kermit Hall and Brian Keough, head of M.E. Grenander Special Collections and Archives, also spoke at the event.

The collection of historical materials will be an unrivaled resource for scholars, students, and the public interested in the history of capital punishment in America, and in the legal and political battles engendered by the sanction. In addition to housing the records and documents of leading figures in scholarship, and legal and community organizations concerning capital punishment, the archive includes oral history interviews featuring prominent activists and professionals involved in death penalty abolition efforts and related work. Currently, the archive contains 300 cubic feet of material, and growth is anticipated.

Brian Keough notes that "the archive is especially interested in collecting primary documents, such as letters, reports, unpublished writings, personal papers, organizational records, and related materials. We are also looking for monetary support for this important scholarly resource." For additional information on the National Death Penalty Archive, visit <http://library.albany.edu/speccoll/ndpa.htm>.

Archives, Special Collections Seek Photographs from the 1950s and 1960s

M.E. Grenander Special Collections and Archives seeks photographs about campus life during the 1950s and 1960s. The purpose is to collect a better photographic record of the time period for the archives. In addition, some of the more notable images will be used for notecards which will be used by the Library and for Library donors.

To learn more about donating photographic images and related materials, please contact University Historian Geoff Williams (518) 437-3936 or gwilliams@uamail.albany.edu.

What's New in the Libraries

Jesus Alonso presented “Latin America in Spanish International Centers: Research and Publications” at the Seminar on the Acquisitions of Latin American Library Materials (SALAM) meeting in April.

Marjorie

Benedict will retire in September, after 29 years of service. She will continue to work part time as the French Studies Bibliographer.

Deborah F. Bernard co-edited a book, with Carol Anne Germain, Empowering Students II: Teaching Information Literacy Concepts with Hands-on and Minds-on Activities. They contributed chapters, as did their colleagues Gerald Burke, “The Research Process: Getting into the ‘Flow’”; and Deborah LaFond, “Reading Texts—Connecting Research through Art and Artifacts.”

Elaine Lasda Bergman, who joined Dewey Library from the University Library in early April, had many reviews in the 2005 edition of American Reference Books Annual (Libraries Unlimited) and also in Library Journal.

Karen Brown published “Use of General Preservation Assessments: Process” in Library Resources & Technical Services.

Laura Cohen published articles in Against the Grain; Information Technology and Libraries; and Internet 2004: Collected Presentations.

Catherine Dwyer published “The U.S. Presidency and National Security Directives: An Overview,” in Journal of Government Information.

Roger Gifford, Head of Information Systems, retired in August after 27 years of service. More than 30 of his colleagues contributed $800 to the Inaugural Scholarship Fund in honor of Roger’s long and fine service to University Libraries.

Alexander Gyamfi, User Education, Science Library, published “Approaches to Closing the Digital Divide in Sub-Saharan Africa,” in Information Development.

Richard Irving is the book review editor for Criminal Law Bulletin.

Trudi E. Jacobson and Lijuan Xu (now at Lafayette College) co-authored Motivating Students in Information Literacy Classes, which was awarded the Association of College and Research Libraries’ Instruction Section Publication of the Year Award for 2005.

Kalpna

Kaul retired in May. The Preservation Department hired Mary Howard to fill Ms. Kaul’s position, beginning in July.

Brian Keough and Amy C. Schindler published “Thinking Globally, Acting Locally: Documenting Environmental Activism in New York State,” in Archival Issues.

Barbara Kinlock presented a workshop in Basic Book Repair for the WSWHE (Washington, Saratoga, Warren, Hamilton, Essex) Board of Cooperative Educational Services School Library System in April.

Nearly 30% of the employees in University Libraries have earned degrees from UAlbany!

Deborah LaFond presented “Can We Listen?: Feminist, Postcolonial, Reflexive Practice in Building a Living Underground Railroad Commemorative Tradition in Albany, New York” at the Conference on Intercultural Management at Katholiecke Hogerschool, Mechelen, Belgium, in May. She was a panelist at “Sustainability in Africa.” Consortium on Africa, University at Albany, in April.

Kay Shaffer consulted at the Resource Centre of the Department of English and American Studies at Sofia University (Bulgaria) as part of exchange between University at Albany and Sofia University June-July.

Lorre Smith moderated and was a panelist at “Open Access to Science and Scholarship,” The University Libraries’ 7th Annual Symposium on Scholarly Communications in April.

Angie Torres, a junior at UAlbany, won the Frankenstein Student Competition, an event culminating a series of programs in spring 2005, “What Is ‘Nature’ in the 21st Century?.”

Bill Young published “Reference Team Self-Management at the University at Albany,” Library Administration & Management. He has also been appointed to a University-wide committee that will develop an academic program in Homeland Security.

Vivien-Elizabeth Zazzau was a panelist at the National Women’s Studies Association meeting in Florida (June), and spoke on “Decolonizing the Future: Reclaiming Cyber Environments.”

Awards and Recognition

Karen Brown, Geoff Williams, and student Robert Klingenberger received this year’s Pritchard Award.

Dean Meredith A. Butler was honored as Academic Laureate at the University at Albany’s prestigious Citizen Laureate Awards event in May. She retired in July, 2005.

Timothy Jackson was the recipient of this year’s Alice Hastings Murphy Scholarship Award, in support of his education to become a librarian.

Richard Kistnen, Kwabena Sekyere, and

Joana Tse were awarded the Friends of the Libraries Student Service Excellence Awards this year.

Mary Osielski received both the President’s Award for Excellence in Librarianship and the Chancellor’s Award for Excellence in Librarianship this year. She has distinguished herself in a variety of roles in the University Libraries, most recently as a Special Collections Librarian in the M.E. Grenander Department of Special Collections and Archives.

Suzanne Turner earned both the President’s Award for Excellence in Librarianship and the Chancellor’s Award for Excellence in Librarianship. Under her tenure, the increasingly important service of Interlibrary Loan and Document Delivery has flourished.

In June 2006, the Friends of the Libraries will celebrate their twenty-fifth anniversary.

Collection Endowments for University Libraries

University at Albany's 17th President, Kermit L. Hall, announced in February 2005 that university fundraising will center on endowments for students and academic programs. The strength of the University's academic programs—and its students—is directly related to the strength of its Libraries. We are committed to securing endowment support that will enhance the breadth and depth of resources to secure UAlbany's position as one of the nation's finest research universities.

Support in 2004–2005 for endowments was more than $100,000 in pledges, annuities, planned gifts, gifts of stock, and outright cash gifts. UAlbany's Greatest Generation Fund for the Libraries surpassed its original goal three years early (see story, page 2). Each endowment fund listed below has been supported by named donors since the endowment's inception ($1,000–$25,000+). Subsequent issues of Library Update and electronic publications will provide more specific information about donors and each Fund's progress.

The Dean and Director's New Initiatives Fund for Albany's University Libraries. Established in 2004 by a gift from Dean Meredith A. Butler, this fund will allow future deans and directors to make strategic investments in new initiatives to advance the collections and services of the Libraries. Major contributors include: Robert '52 and Joan '52 Barron; Candace Groudine, Ph.D. '98; Professor Vivien Ng; Joseph '52 and Sylvia '69 Persico.

The Greatest Generation Fund for the Libraries. Established in 2003 by Class of 1948, this fund has surpassed its original goal of $100,000, and is now poised to raise additional funds through major gifts (cash, planned giving, and blends).

Honoring Our Professors Endowed Fund for University Libraries. Established in 2004 by donors who wish to honor specific professors, this fund provides support to acquire, strengthen, and maintain the Libraries' collection of materials related to the arts and sciences. Matthew '57 and Sandra MLS '71 Ostoyich established this fund. David Hardy '57 is a major contributor. Goal: $100,000.

University Libraries Fund for Materials in Fine Arts and Performing Arts. Established in 2003 by donors who care about supporting the arts at the University, this fund enables the University Libraries to enhance and maintain collections of materials related to the fine and performing arts. Supporters include Robert '52 and Joan '52 Barron; Maureen "Mo" Cowie '82 and David Weiss; Carla Craft; Georgiana and Jim Panton; Mary Sellen; and Dr. J. Paul '53 and Doris '52 Ward. Goal: $250,000.

University Libraries Fund for Materials in Economics. Established in 2003 by Jeremy Schrauf, M.A. '75, retired professor in economics, this fund is used to strengthen and maintain the Libraries' collection of materials related to the research and study of Economics.

Professor and Department of Economics Chairperson Betty Daniel and Professor Michael Sattinger are major supporters of this Fund, as is John Michalke '70. Goal: $50,000.

University Libraries Endowment for Enriching Programs in Science and Technology. Established in October 2003 by Dr. Charles '73 and Rene '75 Gibbs; Ms. Edith Quake '63; and Dr. Roy '56, '58 and Shirley Stevens. Goal: $500,000.

The Preservation of Tradition Fund for the University Libraries. Established in 2004 by Philip '60 and Frances Cicero '62 Shepherd, to provide funds for the preservation of the University's history and traditions through support of the M.E. Grenander Special Collections and Archives related to this purpose. Goal: $100,000.

Gifts to endowments can be made outright (cash), through a living trust, or a bequest in a will, by a paid up life insurance/retirement plan gift, a real estate donation, or through a plan that gives a return to the donor (charitable gift annuity or a pooled income fund); or a charitable remainder trust or charitable lead trust. All such gifts present tax advantages, and you can combine a gift to realize significant tax advantages for you and your family.

Friends Host Fall Events, Plan for Spring Anniversary Celebration

The Friends of the Libraries have set their agenda for fall 2005. The group will focus on a series of events that will enrich the shared cultural experience of faculty, staff, students, and friends from the larger community.

Plans thus far include the following:

◆ September 21 — A trip to the Peebles Island Resource Center, located on a scenic historic site at the confluence of the Mohawk and Hudson Rivers.

◆ October 8 — The Friends of the Libraries' Annual Book Sale was held in front of the University Library, uptown Campus. Revenue generated through the annual book sale goes to support the Libraries' programs and student scholarships.

◆ October 26 — A trip to Cedar Grove and Olana State Historic Site, home of Hudson River School artist Frederic Edwin Church (1826–1900).

◆ November 7 — A tour of exhibit by Beijing-based artist Lu Shengzhong at University Art Museum.

University Art Museum Director Janet Riker will lead the tour and conduct the lecture, which will be followed by optional luncheon, UA Campus.

In addition, the Friends will co-sponsor the Science Library's Science Colloquia, a series of lectures by science writers and journalists.

This academic year, the Friends are also planning on a special series of events for Spring 2006. According to President Ben-Ami Lipetz, "We have cause for special excitement, because we will be entering our twenty-fifth year of existence, and we have many accomplishments and experiences to look back upon. Some appropriate celebrating will be scheduled in the spring 2006 semester."

University Libraries Wins State Archives Award

The Board of Regents and the New York State Archives has awarded the 2005 Annual Archives Award for Program Excellence in a Historical Records Repository to the M.E. Grenander Department of Special Collections and Archives.

An award by the Board of Regents and the New York State Archives, this award is given annually to the historical records repository best exemplifying sustained excellence in efforts toward collection development, preservation, and access to archive materials. According to Christine Ward, State Archivist, the award "...recognizes the department for its many documentation projects, its efforts to reach out to teachers and students at all levels, and its generous staff, who give freely of their time to mention others and to serve on various boards and committees related to archives."

The Regents presented this award at a special luncheon on October 6. Brian Keough, head of M.E. Grenander Special Collections and Archives, said, "We were nominated by the Capital District Library Council for this statewide award. This is a great honor, and I wish to acknowledge all the Department staff in making this nomination possible."

Library Donors 2004–2005

Gifts to Albany's Libraries through the Annual Fund are a vital source of funds for purchasing books and other materials, enhancing library services, for initiating special projects, and for providing general support. These funds are unrestricted. We have delineated the names of our supporters into categories in the list of recognition. The donors listed have contributed in whole or in part to the Libraries at the level noted. We have made every effort to ensure the accuracy of this listing of our donors to the Annual Fund for July 1, 2004–June 30, 2005. If you find an error, please notify us, and accept our apologies.

Annual Fund Support

Thanks for your support for the Libraries' Annual Fund as well as for endowments! As usual, you will find a tear-off pledge form on the back of the Library Update.

Gifts to the Annual Fund are unrestricted, and allow us to acquire books and other materials, provide library services and programs (e.g., student internships); fund new projects (the new leisure reading area); capital improvements (the "wireless" study area); and support symposia for students, scholars, and the community.

Endowment Fund Support

Gifts to endowments are restricted; these funds ensure our long-term innovation, growth, and development. Endowment funds draw interest; approximately 4% of the revenue generated from endowed funds can be spent yearly, as defined by each endowment. Specific endowment initiatives for Albany's Libraries include:

*Strengthening library
collections endowments
$4 million*

*Advancing technological resources
$3.5 million*

*Renovating and expanding
Dewey Graduate Library
$3 million*
