FEDERAL EMPLOYEES
U. S. Plans to Hold Retirement Money, Dole It Out in Form of Small Pensions

WASHINGTON—Here's bad news for Government employees who plan to leave the Federal service after the war.

Thousands of you have hoped that Civil Service would consent to return to you the money you have paid into the Federal Employees Retirement Fund. Apparently, however, Civil Service intends to do nothing of the kind. Instead, it appears very probable that the Commission will try to hold on to your money—and distribute it back to you in the form of a small pension after you reach Government retirement age.

Such, at least, is the tentative plan of the Civil Service Retirement Division. Recently, this Division was asked to work out a formula whereby employees who quit the service could convert their Federal retirement insurance into Social Security insurance. It was expected that this plan would take provision for some sort of a rebate to employees. Here, however, is the plan the retirement officials worked out:

1. Only employees who left Government after less than five years of service would be permitted to convert their insurance. (This feature of the plan was no surprise. It had been anticipated, and also had won general approval.)

2. One-fifth of the employee's retirement fund would be set aside for eventual payment to Social Security System.

3. The other four-fifths would be retained by the Commission until the employee became eligible for Civil Service retirement. Then he would get it back in the form of a small pension.

In other words, the employee would get no immediate cash rebate whatever. Whether he wanted it or not, he would have to leave his money in the Retirement Fund. Fortunately for U. S. Workers generally, this plan is only a tentative one. Employee union officials here already have indicated opposition. And there's a fair chance that Civil Service will be forced to give up its proposal. Certainly, when the bulk of war service ap- pointees learn of the plan, they won't take it lightly.

U.S. Civil Service Tells Employees The Lowdown on Jobs After the War

CHARLES SULLIVAN

WASHINGTON—Blunt warning to workers:

Many of you will have to give up your jobs after the war to make way for returning war veterans.

This direct order from Civil Service Commissioner Arthur S. Flemming was presented in a speech in New York City last week. He said Government would "see to it that persons who held temporary positions in the service, the Federal Civil Service Commission has announced the following positions will be filled by new appointments:

Council Bill Wipes Out 'Under Protest' Signatures

New York City employees who ask for back pay, to which they may be fully entitled, won't be put on the government payroll in the future for their "under protest." That is, if a bill which the City Council is scheduled to vote this week passes.

The bill, introduced by Councilman Anthony DiGiovanni, provides that any employees who are members of a union which has not signed a "no protest" contract will be paid only after a suit brought by the union or the employee has been decided by a court.

NYC Pension Setup Faces Deep Changes As City Calls For Higher Contributions

BY JEROME YALE

Future employees of New York City face the alternative of higher pension contributions or a cut in retirement benefits, according to the provisions of a bill introduced by Mayor William O'Dwyer.

The measure introduced by Sen. James A. Mitchell, who has the support of Mayor O'Dwyer's administration, is designed to guarantee a return of 4 per cent on funds of the 3 per cent rate, the City will be able to pass a rate which would allow a return of 4 per cent rate.

An employee may now pay 4 per cent of his annual salary into the retirement fund for 34 years. During that time, he has paid in the amount of $180 per cent of one year's salary. At the end of 34 years, he will receive $180 per cent of his annual salary in retirement.

Further, the legal papers main- tain, the Fire Commission has a man soiling the bonds—say general.

Unemployment Insurance For Public Employees

OTS of people seem to think that unemployment insurance for Government workers is a novel and slightly radical idea. If you pin these people down, however, they can't give you any good reason why an employee who works for the Government should not have the same protection if his job terminates as an employee in private industry. There isn't any good reason.

Until the end of World War II, when first introduced in the United States, was deemed to be novel, and slightly radical. But since that time, thanks to the Government's rate-making formula which has helped millions of workers out of those terrible tight periods when they are hit by unemployment, it has been accepted as a necessary cushion to absorb the shock of economic insecurity.

Government employees are subject to the same shocks to the same financial difficulties, to the same need for a cushion, as employees in private industry, during those same times when they are released from a job.

It is perfectly obvious, then, that men and women working for the Government should have the same protection in this respect as men and women who work in private industry.

There are a number of bills in Albany now providing for the extension of unemployment insurance. One of these bills, introduced by Senator Halpern and Assemblyman Ehrlich, would extend the benefits of the jobless aid to State employees. Another, introduced by Senator DiCostanzo and Assemblyman Ehrlich, would extend the benefits of the jobless aid to Federal employees.

With large numbers of veterans returning, there is always the possibility that some of these former jobs, have had to wait for the termination of their contracts to make the conversion over to the jobless aid program before they can receive benefits.

With the Federal Government paying the first dollar of unemployment insurance, the State Government should pay the same amount for any jobless aid program. It is perfectly obvious, then, that men and women working for Government employees should have the same protection in this respect as men and women who work in private industry.

No reasonable argument can be advanced against the inclusion of Federal employees in a plan of unemployment insurance.

The House

Pretending to work is a joke of railroad work in the world is in the unceasing round of the trains which roll down the track during the rush hours. Over 90,000 men work for the New York Central in the New York City Transit System. They drive the trains, pull in and out of the terminal, manage the trains over their routes on the City's rails.

Perhaps the next tribute that can be paid to superintendents, yardmasters and railroad engineers is that fact that when there is a fifteen-minute delay in the trains from a signal, a New York Central official can say the next train is 'on time.'

The chief's of the present Willkie-Reagan ticket, back in his chair and say, 'Yes, sir,'... But in the past, whether it was right or wrong, there is always the possibility that someone else could say 'No.' The chance of his success, therefore, is 'possibly.'

The interview ends, with Mr. Hogan (now a State official), reporting: 'I have no idea what to do without him say that there isn't a job for me. It's a good thing I can't do as well as any man who is working under him.'

The State Employee

by Harold J. Fisher

President, The State Civil Service Employees

In "The State Employee" at a regular weekly feature of The LEADER, Harold J. Fisher will discuss all questions pertaining to State and local civil service in New York State. He is writing this column with complete freedom to express his own views.

The Question of Preference for veterans in civil service has been broached regularly, and it is the purpose of this column to discuss the matter in the light of recent developments.

In the past, many complaints have been directed at the generalization of the merit system as a means of maintaining efficiency in civil service. It is the belief of Mr. Fisher that the merit system is the best way of insuring a competent and efficient workforce.

The LEADER feels that Mr. Fisher's contributions will go far toward enlightening employees, administrators, and legislators.

Association Pleads for Increased Cost of Living Bonus to State Employees

ALBANY - State civil service employees were represented at the legislative hearing on the Governor’s Budget in the Assembly Chamber, Albany, on February 10. Mr. Fisher and others argued in justice in emergency cost of living appropriations by the State for its workers, said Mr. Fisher:

"The Association of State Civil Service Employees, with a membership of some 7,000 employees and services of 36,000, appreciates this appropriation as the necessary pay increase," he said. "It is essential to maintain the standard of living of our members. The Association is in the interest of the employees and the public at this time. The cost of living is increasing; the Governor must act now."

State employees live upon the same standards as other workers. Other industries are asking for wage adjustments to preserve the value of their money wages. This is essentially a request for an increase in the standards of the wages of the State Workers. We do not ask for any payment on the appreciation of the government or the state in the interest of the workers. We do ask for an increase in their compensation."

"We urge that the present law be revised so that 15 per cent or a dollar on all salaries above $1,800 be provided. We also recommend that pension plans be revised so that present retirement payments will be increased and we trust that all State workers be provided for."

An Age of Planning

"This is an age of planning for the future. The State must have a Legislative function by which to future-proof its employees. We have seen the importance of planning for the future and have been advised by our employers to be prepared to plan forward."

The Association of Civil Service Employees has been in the interest of the workers. We do not ask for any payment on the appreciation of the government or the state in the interest of the workers. We do ask for an increase in their compensation."

"We are asking for an increase in the cost of living bonus to State Workers. This would provide the necessary funds to maintain the standard of living of our members. The cost of living is increasing; the Governor must act now."

Canal Employees Ask Higher Pay

ALBANY—An appeal of the Senior Canal Employers for higher pay was heard by the Assembly Labor Committee on February 9. The appeal involved the following:

- 3,000 Canal Operators

It was pointed out that the Canal Operators required highly specialized training in the mechanical and mechanical work to repair and keep in order the complex machinery of the canal system. These efforts amounted to 30 months of training.

The President of the Canal Operators, Mr. John Doe, argued that the present pay for Canal Operators is $4,000, which he feels is inadequate. The Workers Association supports the view of the Operators and requests an increase in the pay to $4,500."

Cromie Cites Assn. Stand On Civil Service Bills

ALBANY - John A. Cromie, Chairman of the Legislative Commission on Civil Service Employees of the State of New York, said the legislation sponsored by the Association of State Civil Service Employees of the State of New York, Mr. Fisher, and others was just to emergency cost of living appropriations by the State for its workers.

"They are trying to prevent a current depression. We have seen the importance of planning for the future and have been advised by our employers to be prepared to plan forward."

"We will vote for any legislation that will benefit the workers. We feel that if we do not act now, we will have to act later."

Oaths of Office

SWEARING in is good for you. It is a civic duty to want to keep your job in State service. A State employee must take the State Civil Service Law, every peculiarity of which must be memorized before he shall be entitled to enter upon the duties of his office. Each shall take and file an oath or affirmation in the form and language prescribed by the State. The Constitution required this, and the oath may be taken before a notary public, a commissioner of deeds, or any other officer authorized to administer oaths. The oath or affirmation is to be taken:

"I, do solemnly swear or affirm, that I will support the Constitution of the United States and the constitution of the State of New York, and that I will faithfully discharge the duties of my office..." according to the best of my knowledge.

Substitute "affirmation of office" for "oath" if you have an affirmation or affirmation, which every State employee must take. State employees... Henry J. Wagner, president; J. G. Moyer, Bureau of Civil Service; John S. Lynn, first assistant; Harry A. Kowalski, second assistant; Andrew J. Manley, third assistant; Marian Birchmeyer, John J. Fever, Andrew R. Mulligan, Miss Garten and Miss Anne O'Boyle, George B. Parsons, and Leo W. Alexander, William J. LaRosa. Philip Vuchauau, Andrew Carney, James Crane, Robert W. Buchanan, George Bogau, Max Morris, Daniel Barber, Everett Mignemi, Albert A. Damon, Walter E. Joy, at least...

Many are as much draftees in war and farm services as any in the States. The draftee is no more patriotic, armed forces. In fact, many a farm boy would prefer the armed forces. The equality they fight for as a principle and the efficiency of civil service are more important to them than any given less than an equal opportunity to engage in public service? The equality they fight for as a principle and the efficiency of civil service are more important to them than any given less than an equal opportunity to engage in public service?

We ALL AGREE that the returning war veteran needs our aid in making a new start. There is a scarcity of jobs available. We have given a break in government service without at the same time discharging the State-employed person. The job situation is made, every one of these fairly should be evaluated.

The State Employee

Disabled Vets Would Be Able to Transfer To Other Jobs Under Proposed Law

What is to be done about a veteran who returns and can't take on his former job? For example, a member of the State prison guard who comes back with a case of shell shock. Or a New York City sanitation employee who loses a leg in military service?

The Civil Service Department sponsored a bill that transfers employees who have been disabled on active service to "similar" positions which carry the same qualifications and duties. This would mean the disabled veteran, since the bill was introduced by Senator Desmond, to be transferred to a position which he may be fully qualified to fill, based on his training or experience. For example, a veteran who lost a leg might be incapable of performing the regular duties of his position, but he would be fully capable of handling the easier work of a time-keeper, watchman or clerk. In other cases, the veteran would not be suffering from a case of shell shock, but his nervous condition may be capable of being improved by medical treatment and psychiatric advice, or in some cases, the service disability might not be subject to the rule that the employee is unable to perform the duties of a position.

The measure has been approved by the Civil Service Commission and the New York City Council. It has been endorsed also by Hon. R. H. Bross, President of the Civil Service Association and by the State Association.

State Salaries

When Dr. Frederick H. MacCurdy, the Commissioner of Mental Hygiene, by executive order raised the minimum wage for workers in such capacities as watchmen, janitors, housekeepers, and a dozen other classes of employees, the amount of contribution.

Legislation will clutch the minds of those in charge of the work of educating those employees in the field of mental hygiene, because they must be told that it is the law to employ them at the same wage as the work as other employees under Federal and State laws. But those other employees are not in the same category. It is contended that the amount of the $1,200 minimum 100 percent covers for all Full-time employees, and that for a special exam within one year of his return from service.

Asst. Librarian Exam Will Be Advertised

The New York City Civil Service Commission has also requested the Senate Banking Committee to conduct a special exam within one year of his return from service.

ATTENTION!

Mr. & Mrs. United States

BY WALTER WINCHELL

Famous Columnist and Radio Commentator

Too many of you are counting the days to the end of the war instead of counting the many enemy forces that must first be defeated... This war will not be over soon. In 1944 or whatever guess they tell you. I refer to all those experts who know a little about a lot, but do not know a lot about anything!

Total freedom against totalitarianism means total war to the finish... Until the last Jap is educated to civilization or killed by it... and until the last Nazi criminal upholds law and order or falls before it, this world will know no peace... This means war to the death because the Axis leaders fear the battlefield less than they fear the coming court of justice. We must do more than destroy their land armies and their submarines. We must clear their minds of world domination and their children's hearts of education for murder. Tokio must learn that the road back from Pearl Harbor is paved with fire, steel and regret. The Nazis must be made to realize that our goal is Berlin... not Munich.

The journey is long and the week will fall out, but from Cape Gloucester to Cassino the fighting men who are protecting you have made their choice. No matter how long it takes... they want no peace on the installment plan.
