Latest Rules on Releases For Government Workers

WASHINGTON—Here is the latest dope on Government's release and transfer policy. It was worked out by Mr. Director Paul V. McNutt, for Federal employees, but is recommended for all Federal employees.

First, if you should quit without notice, your agency will wait 30 days after your annual leave expires to take another Government job and 45 days to go into private industry.

However, and this is the kicker, you can't get a job even after leaving unless you get a "refer-ral" from the United States Employment Service. If you claim a release on grounds of hardship, you must be given a release. If your highest skill isn't being used, your agency of that, you will be given a release. If you are being cared for in UNRRA camps or are doing a highly satisfactory job, you will be given a release when terms of the agreement are fulfilled. The personal office of your agency must be notified immediately of such agreement, however.

Another group of NYC employees—70—were granted leave by Mayor LaGuardia and agreed to stay in their civil service jobs.

Estimate Board Juggles Permanent Bonus for New York City Employees

The proposal to make the present cost-of-living bonus for New York City employees a permanent increase came on a 21-page report being drawn up by the Board of Estimate.

New York City employees who had been carrying extra duties and responsibilities for several months.

The Board of Estimate last week asked the Board of Transportation to make them the bonus permanent.

When it was brought to the Board of Estimate, chairman of the Civil Liberties Commission, said it was studying the proposal.

Persons who showed up to talk or listen about the matter were told that the Board's decision would be made on the matter when they have a chance to talk about it.

How It Was Handled

Here's how the resolution to grant the bonus was handled on the Board of Estimate.

Savage Attack on Fire Dept. Gag Rule

By FRANCIS KELLY

The "gag" rule in the NYC Fire Department which prevented employees from speaking publicly on disciplinary action, is being attacked in court by the Civil Liberties Union.

Commissioner Walter Walsh argues that it's illegal to prevent employees from speaking publicly on the Union's complaints.

The Board of Estimate to make necessary adjustments.

Fire Commissioner Walter Walsh argues that it's illegal to prevent employees from speaking publicly on the Union's complaints.

Commissioner Walsh made it clear to the men that they were free to make "true" statements that might help them. Mr. Walsh didn't like that idea either.

As a solution, Mr. Baldwin suggested that in a case where a fireman is being accused of making a claim, the man be given a chance to take written testament to the facts, or face a disciplinary action.

When Walsh "no like." This time his objection was that if the Fire Department trial, he would face severe penalties, including loss of promotional opportunities.

Firemen's Wives Organize On City-Wide Basis

Representatives of the Brooklyn and Manhattan Firemen and Friends last week went to the Council and won their request for a an anti-gag rule in the NYC Fire Department.

The various groups amalgamated into a single organization, representing the Firemen's Wives and Friends of Greater New York, and pledged that they would not carry out the firemen's "gag" rule.

Employees Read LEADER, Get Shorter Work-Week

Employees of the NYC Health Department have just been informed of a change in their summer working schedule, and here’s how it happened.

Back on July 4, The LEADER ran a story about the City departments and how they changed their working schedules during the warm months. Workers in the various departments were amazed and delighted that they were putting in shorter hours than other municipal employees, according to the survey found that it was so.

This is the schedule which will be in effect this summer:

Daily: 8:00 to 5:30
Saturday: 8:00 to 12:30

The survey found that it was so.

The budget head points out that the average employee has been working over 8 hours and has had 2 or 3 or 4 Saturdays a week. Out of 4 or 5 Saturdays, a Health worker would put in one 9 to 12; and he would have 2 or 3 Saturdays off.

The survey found that it was so.

Anthony Paridisi, shoe-maker in the New York City Hospital, earns about 53 cents an hour, and he thinks that he should be paid more. But Anthony Paridisi, shoe- maker in the New York City Hospital, earns about 53 cents an hour, and he thinks that he should be paid more.

Shoe Soaemaker Disagrees with Budget Director

Study of Welfare Dept. Posts Soon to Begin

Employees of the NYC Department of Welfare are facing another "study" of their jobs similar to the recent survey of the transcription workers. But this time, some tangible results may come through. As an example of the recent study is expected to be the new Department of Social Welfare set up under Mayor LaGuardia, it will be observed by the City department in order to share in the benefits. Among the objections of the State has been the departmental practice of making permanent decisions without the input of the employees. The Tenure Commission, which will be in charge of the survey, will begin in the very near future. Among other departmental

Vs. the Gag Rule

JOHN CRANE, the New York City fireman who opened his mouth to defend the interest of the employee in the Fire Department, is still exiled in Staten Island, at a spot which—in addition to hours of work weekly—takes 2 or 3 hours to reach. At this writing, five fire lieutenants who spoke up are also exiled, although it seems they are in the presence with their fellow employees.

What point is served by the administration in keeping these men banished? The theory of gag-rule and punishment by informal orders of the day are the conjectures of Patrick Walsh surely accomplished nothing by giving Crane the boot. For his fireman, former residence in Staten Island, he represents a feasting sore that mars the relationship between the men and the department.

A call went out by phone to many of the others.

The decent thing to do is return to their former posts. And without inflicting upon them the ignominy of asking what they said and which they sincerely believe.

And that reminds us: There has been no decision in the case of Samuel March, the subway man with the good conscience, who has solidly resisted all inducements to sell his secret. And without inflicting upon them the ignominy of asking what his reason is. If the Board fears to let him go, he will remain at the helm of enterprises of qualified business men with whom he will, soon to be off the fire service, will have to do business. Where his conscience, who has now the NY Daily Mirror, as his employer?

The Board of Transportation gives no satisfactory answer in answer to that question. Is some fagging going on that should not be going on?

Why Is the State Salary Board Delaying?

A ND still the State Salary Standardization Board does nothing!

The Board, set up by law to hear salary appeals of New York State employees, carefully listened to 40 groups of two members a month of the last two months.

The Board knows of the need for revising salary schedules.

The Board has the power to act.

The money for adjustment is available.

But, why? Why do you think so? Why? Why IP. Newton J. T. Bigelow, head of the Board, has a good reason for the delay, the State's employees are entitled to know what that reason is. If the Board fears to act because administration pressure on it, that too is something the employees are entitled to know.

Suggestion To Sanitation Dept.

I WORK for the Dept. of Sanitation and when Wednesday comes around every week there's a further problem of where to dispose of other materials like grass, shorted parts of trunks, men, garbage, etc. Why should the officers of the dept. time like this to squeeze all the collections in one day. The, as paper, and mixed materials. The trucks stay out on Thursdays; the work can be split up this congestion? They could follow the same pattern on Wednesday and paper and mixed on Thursday. It makes the pick-ups all that much more perfect and not still aggravate all the waste.

MICHEL RENNA.

Sounds like a problem that the administration should act on. Can it be accomplished, Commissioner Carey?—Editor.

Where Can We Find Qualified People?

Here: There is a serious dearth of qualified business men in the administration, men who are willing to accept or retain responsible positions because they appreciate the dignity of the situation and who feel that the conditions of employment in the Federal Government would be more compatible with their conception of the moral and ethical standards to which they have been accustomed.

Many have sacrificed much in turning aside from their normal business pursuits to devote their energies wholeheartedly to the cause of vexatious problems forced upon the Government by a world at war. However, I believe that there is a way out of this situation.

Within the present ranks of civil servants who have solidly resisted all attempts to accept more remunerative opportunities, some of these men come up with the interest; many were attracted by the urge to continue the best of their best offers. The average of a civil service employee, could, with the encouragement of lesser opportunities for military service, is one who might be in their country's service during this dangerous time.

Givent the opportunity, many of these employees would be greatly increased degrees of responsibility if the opportunity to possess a technical group of governmental machinery and the supervision of its operation and orientation course would further seen fit to take upon himself positions of step into assignments of greater importance. The factors of training and up-grading would greatly relieve the present congestion of men skilled to handle a vast body of work.

The State Employee

By CLIFFORD C. SHORO
President, The Association of State Civil Service Employees

In writing "The State Employee" as a regular weekly feature of The Leader, we are pleased to cultivate a spirit of comradeship among the employees of the State of New York. He is writing this column with complete liberty to express his own views.

A Fair Deal For Women

The STATE OF NEW YORK pays thousands of its women employees less than a minimum living wage. The State itself has determined that the minimum living wage for men in the State is $1,599.91. Of course, the present cost of living is higher, or well above the $1,599.91. This makes it imperative that we have the backing of the legislature to enact a new law which would cover women's wages.

The Department of Public Assistance, under the Feld-Hamilton law or another law embodying the same principles in salary and protection, have low salary levels. This will be accomplished only if all women in the State are treated as equals.

The State of New York pays thousands of its women employees less than a minimum living wage. The State itself has determined that the minimum living wage for men in the State is $1,599.91. Of course, the present cost of living is higher, or well above the $1,599.91. This makes it imperative that we have the backing of the legislature to enact a new law which would cover women's wages.

Workers' wages are notoriously lower than men's earnings, although their living costs are higher. Women's wages are not only lower than men's wages but are often fixed at rates far below the rates paid men in very similar positions.

Women Police Officers are paid lower rates than Police Officers (men). Married in prison's prisons and reformatories are paid less than the equivalent guards in our penal institutions, technicians, dental hygienists and nearly all the jobs in which women excel and therefore for qualifications are employed in these positions have low salary rates.

To a certain extent this is assured by the provision of the Feld-Hamilton law, that all persons holding the same title shall be paid equal rates.

Women have the distinct duty of seeing to it that the Feld-Hamilton law and all similar laws are strictly administered and that women are paid equal wages for equal work. This will be accomplished only if all women in the State service are ready to assert their rights.

State Employees Urged To Help With Farm Work

ALBANY—J. Edward Conway, President of the State Civil Service Commission, last week urged State employees to use their vacation time by working on farms. State offices are rapidly approaching another harvest season, and a call for volunteer help in the harvesting and processing of farm products is, therefore, inescapable. The work is strenuous, but it offers a chance to help neighbor and country.

The areas most in need of help are the Hudson Valley, the Mohawk Valley, the Southern Tier and the Southern Tier and the Southern Tier. The areas most in need of help are the Hudson Valley, the Mohawk Valley, the Southern Tier and the Southern Tier.

Last year many State employees volunteered for work on farms and in the food processing plants of the State. It is earnestly to be hoped that even more State employees will volunteer this year. The State has, in the past, given a very liberal vacation time for its employees. This year many State employees have requested equal vacation time. Employees Human Too, Convention Is Reminded CHICAGO—Representatives from Federal employee unions appeared before the Democratic National Convention here last week to discuss the conditions facing their members and better work relations.

The convention’s discrimination against Government employees for political reasons at the time and a half for overtime, as well as the continuing pay, instead of under a formula that gives them only a small increase, was among the issues presented to the country by the work force.

The Convention asked the President to set an example of economic stability and harmonious labor relations. The United Federal Workers of America presented a resolution to the Democratic National Convention calling for the following program:

1. The Employment Act of 1946 shall be a formula for workers comparable to those normally promised. Unions have worked a serious impediment to the economic fundamentals of a wartime government, their work must continue.

2. Full time and a half for overtime work, but that the current problems faced by Government workers with living costs have risen so sharply and the problem of living, living work, must be met.

3. There will also be a need for the recognition of the rights of workers to become members of unions.

4. An area in which the Convention’s program can be carried out is the establishment of a comprehensive health program on the Government for emergency care.

5. Government should assume the role of a model employer to set an example of economic stability and harmonious labor relations for industry.

6. To continue to extend the application of the Classification Act to all Government and set a standard to maintain its merit system.

7. The Convention resolved to support the Federal Employees’ Civil Service Act and the Civil Service Reform Act to extend the benefits of the other workers to those who have had no assistance in the service.

8. The Convention also called for the following:

a. That a formula be set up for Government workers comparable to those normally promised.

b. That the living costs of workers comparable to those normally promised should be met.

c. That a comprehensive health program should be established on the Government for emergency care.

9. That the Government should continue to set an example of economic stability and harmonious labor relations for industry.

10. That the Convention’s program be carried out in the establishment of a comprehensive health program on the Government service for emergency care.
