Water Veterans:

Your Civil Service Job Rights

By Joseph Schechter

New York State Department of Civil Service

This article, prepared by the counsel for the New York State Department of Civil Service gives the complete upto-date picture of rights of veterans under the State Military Law. It covers both the veteran who left Civil Service and the veteran who wants to enter.

If you have been discharged from military service and are interested in entering the civil service of the State of New York in resuming your employment in such service, then you are.

1. What is my status on the Civil Service list last upon which my name appeared when I left to go into military service?

2. What special rights, if any, do I have as a war veteran, in taking civil service examination, or otherwise?

3. How to Get Back into State Service

If you left a State job to engage in military duty, either by draft or voluntary enlistment, then you have been on military leave of absence, and your job has been filled. If all, or by the appointment of a temporary substitute, who must be discharged to make way for you if you make application for reinstatement within the proper period of time:

The time within which you must make application for reinstatement varies after the termination of your military duty, but not later than the appointment of your appointing officer and not more than five months, unless you fail to make application for reinstatement within the thirty-day period, then your appointing officer can appoint someone else to fill your position on a permanent basis.

The right of reinstatement is granted to you under provisions of Section 346 of the New York State Military Law and the Federal Service Rating Law, which were enacted in 1941 to protect the rights of eligible employees engaged in military duty and of persons in eligible lines who engage in military duty.

"Military Duty"

"Military duty" is defined by this law to cover the following services:

1. Military service in the military, naval, aviation, or marine service of the United States, from July 1, 1940, on.

2. Service with the American Red Cross while with the armed forces of the United States on foreign service, from April 7, 1943, on.

3. Service as an officer or member of a United States vessel enrolled in the United States Merchant Marine Service on active duty or in training for such service, and in the coastwise, maritime, or auxiliary service of the United States.

BULLETIN

Shoro Calls Meeting
To Act on State Salaries

President Clifford C. Shoro has issued a call to the Executive Committee of the Association of State Civil Service Employees to meet in special session on Wednesday evening, August 23rd, at Albany, to discuss and take action on the proposals of the Director of the Budget, John E. Burton, for changes in the Field-Hamilton law.

President Shoro stated that a preliminary canvass of sentiment of employees toward changes in the civil service law indicated unanimous opposition to any weakening of the definite provisions as to classification and salary adjustments, and to the present provisions of the present law.

The form of action to be taken by the Association to safeguard the interests of over forty thousand State civil service employees will be decided at the special meeting.

Next week's LEADER will carry a complete report of this important meeting.
Capital Wonders: Is Civil Service On The Skids?

WASHINGTON — Is there a plot to abolish the principle of the competitive civil service within the Federal government and eliminate the merit system? It is said that such a plot exists and Congress is getting ready to deal with the situation.

The whole thing was revealed by the almost simultaneous appearance of a proposal to raise the retirement age and a bill to remove removal from the civil service for a battle over the question of the war. Is this the situation is the fact that the two bills are very large and the first impression of the war.
The whole thing was revealed by the almost simultaneous appeardolecules of the new regulations were placed on the hands by the war.

Both sections have existed in the government of the United States for some time. The first, known as the competitive service, is the one to which most federal employees are assigned. The second, known as the classified competitive service, is the one to which most federal employees are assigned. Postal Men Want Their $400 for Keeps

New York City letter carriers are conducting a campaign for a $400 bonus for those who remain in the service. They are distributing a letter to their colleagues asking them to sign and send it to the President of the United States. The letter reads:

"The postal service is the backbone of the American economy. We are essential to the daily lives of millions of people. We work long hours and often under difficult conditions. We are proud of our work and we are trained professionals. We want to be treated with respect and dignity, and we want a fair share of the prosperity that we create. We want a $400 bonus to recognize our hard work and dedication. We are not asking for charity, we are asking for fair compensation for our efforts. We believe that this is a reasonable request and we hope that you will agree. We thank you for your consideration."
How To Appeal a NYC Service Rating: What Happens Then

Every year several hundred New York City employees appeal the service ratings which they have received. These service rating records count for 50 percent of the final examination, and figures show that about 62 percent of the appeals are granted, and the ratings of the appealing employees are increased.

You should get a letter from the Civil Service Commission notifying you that you have been granted or denied an appeal, and which rating was given you. Your letter will contain facts supporting the rating, and an explanation of the basis for the rating.

The employee who requests an appeal is the appellant. The Civil Service Commission is the reviewing board. The Board of Estimate has the final word.

You must request an appeal within 15 days from the date you receive the letter. It is your right to appeal, but the Board can take no objection to the request for an appeal or to your failure to request it within the time limit.

Appeal Procedures

"APPEAL: Not later that 15 days from the date you receive the letter, you must request an appeal from the civil service rating.

If you request an appeal, you will be notified of his individual service rating and the appeal procedure. All reports concerning your appeal are subject to appeal by your department. All reports concerning your appeal are subject to appeal by your department. If your appeal is granted, the report will be changed. If your appeal is denied, the report will remain as it was. Your appeal will be reviewed by a panel of three or more members of the Board of Estimate.

If They Deny Boost

If the Board of Estimate denies your request for an appeal, then you are notified of this decision. The Board's decision is final.

If the Board of Estimate grants your request for an appeal, then you are notified of this decision. The Board's decision is final.

NYC Retirement System: How It Is Set Up

Here is the second part of the complete description of the operations and set-up of the New York City Employee Retirement System. This description is based on a letter from L. Van Name, secretary of the Retirement Bureau. If you have not missed the first part of this important article, refer to last week's LEADER.

The New York City Employees' Retirement System is on of the largest and most complex. It provides for a retirement plan for employees who are covered by the plan. The plan is administered by a Board of Trustees, which is appointed by the Mayor and confirmed by the Board of Estimate. The plan is funded through contributions from the City and from the members of the plan. The plan is governed by a system of laws and regulations, which are administered by the Board of Trustees.

Budget Group Still After Fire Bonus

The city Budget Commission announced last week that the bonus plan, which was taken up by the New York City Charter Commission and the Board of Estimate, would be heard by the New York City Board of Estimate.

Cost of Operating Personnel

It was estimated that the operating personnel for the city's personnel budget was about $2,000,000, which was about $1,200,000 less than the budget for the previous year. The budget for the previous year was $3,200,000, which was about $1,200,000 less than the budget for the previous year.

NYC Whitewings
Still Get Clipped

Although some department officials admit that there is no legal basis for their action, the NYC Department of Sanitation is still penalizing employees for holding outside jobs. If you are on one of the buyer New York City eligible lists the following table, compiled by the NYC Civil Service Commission, shows what happens when you stand by checking at the Certification Bureau of the Commission, 6th floor, 299 Broadway.

If You're on a NYC Eligible List, The Following Table Is for You

- The Department of Sanitation in New York City has a list of employees who are penalized for holding outside jobs. The table shows the possible consequences for these employees.
- Employees are penalized for temporary appointments and permanent appointments.
- The penalties include exhaustion of benefits, reduction of pay, and limitation of opportunities for promotion.
- The table is compiled by the NYC Civil Service Commission and includes the certification bureau.

Local Shipyards
Help War Program

A group of employees of the New York Navy Yard have been making ships, helping to build all types of ships, for Todd Shipyards repair, construction, and'shipbuilding operations during the war. The yard is one of the largest shipyards in the world, and it has been the site of many successful new ship launches.

Many Jobs Open

Due to the high demand for employees, there are many jobs available in the local shipyards. These include positions in production, quality control, and other areas.

If you are interested in finding employment in the shipyards, you can apply for the positions listed in the table.
These Court Decisions Affect NYC Employees

Wartime problems of civil service have led to many legal cases in which the U.S. Civil Service Commission was involved. Here are some cases, reported by the New York City Civil Service Commission, which affect appointments, promotions, and retirement.

1-K's Are Out

The Court of Appeals, modifying lower court orders, denied that Fire Department Classification Board's decision not to appoint 1-K men to higher pay grades was unlawful. The board's claim that firemen were not as physically fit as other classifications was upheld.

Water Deficiency, Fan Problem

The court ruled that the New York City Board of Health had the authority to order the installation of fans in the city's water facilities to prevent water deficiency.

Don't Be a Quitter!

THOSE Federal employees who are chafing at their jobs should think twice. Now is not the time to leave your government post for a job in private industry which won’t be permanent.

The war isn’t over yet. As a matter of fact, the Federal Government is now recruiting many thousands of additional employees for the War and Navy departments. Don’t let them lose your services because you think they can’t leave their posts because they’d like to take other more remunerative jobs as civilians. The Government employee knows that his job is one of the most important he can have in the defense program. The climax of the war in Europe requires the colossal upsurge of the nation’s entire energy. We in the United States have been fortunate in having been able to build up our production without the necessity of facing vast personal regimentation in our jobs, unlike the people of England, for example, who can’t just get up and leave a job.

The Federal employee owes a moral obligation to this nation and its people. That obligation calls for his remaining on the job—for putting the practical need of all the people above the blandishments of narrow personal wants.

Sick to your job?

GEN. SOMERVELL’S 54-HOUR WEEK

This brings us to a related question, the 54-hour week instituted by General Somervell in the War Department’s Army Service Forces. In our view the General has not publicly given sufficient reasons for the policy. Nor has he answered the arguments of employee organizations that the increase in unemployment is undesirable. The increase in hours looks like a mistake. Nevertheless, pending developments of the near future, we are willing for the time being to consider the General’s policy.

In the case of the Federal employee, we know what he’s doing, and has facts which we don’t, and which the employees don’t. We don’t think, however, that the War Department’s employees should be given the permission to ask to work less than 54 hours a week. The General knows what he’s doing, and has facts which we don’t, and which the employees don’t. We think it would be advisable for the Government, one for their children. As we size it up, many of these working mothers will have no alternative, not for the sake of the Government, not for the sake of the War, but for the sake of their families. We think it is about high time the Government did something to break down the men by breaking down the women who, as we all know, are responsible for the progress of the world.

We all know that Fireman Crane spoke the truth. •

You see, Bill wasn’t always senior accountant in the State Department. In his case it was a time when he was a newspaperman. It was with a certain amount of amazement that we read in the Sunday Times of September 11, 1944, that Bill had everything he gathered the newspapers, kept the books, took subscriptions, sold advertising, made up the ad.

Today, they watch line items and operations expenses of the utility company, reads their books to see that you are working in a fixed line and not overcharging the public, prepares reports of statistics.

Bill looks back on the old days of print and type. And one of his very first early memories was when he discovered that there was a chance for a chat during the trip to Washington. He is the kind of a plane, pulled his big hat down over his eyes, and watched as the plane entered the capital. The pilot can always find a chance to get in a single word.

Edds and Odds

NYC has set a half day off to celebrate "4" day. This is the plan being considered by Mayor LaGuardia. Mayor adds that there are 10,000 employees who will be in action during the 4 day, employees will be by the thousands and it will be a very small percentage of them who will not be available. In the last few weeks the city has been working on the problem of getting a mobile kitchen in the budget.

In all, there are plenty of men available on promotion lists to take the jobs. First, men on the force are resenting the idea of passing any examination they haven’t passed, and often too acting "acting" titles go to fellows on soft details. If the department needs a sergeant, then—should a full-fledged appointment be made! If anybody can tell us why not, we’ll cock an eyebrow. But there’s an idea why not: We don’t see the logic of acting "acting" titles, especially when they are not uncommon.

POLICE CALLS

No Reason for Acting Titles

Another thing on our mind is the question of which the Police Department has abounded for so many years. We’re aware of the fact that there are plenty of men available for promotion lists, but there are plenty of men available on promotion lists to take the jobs.

First, men on the force resent the idea of passing any examination they haven’t passed, and often too acting "acting" titles go to fellows on soft details. If the department needs a sergeant, then—should a full-fledged appointment be made! If anybody can tell us why not, we’ll cock an eyebrow.

But there’s an idea why not: We don’t see the logic of acting "acting" titles, especially when they are not uncommon.

As a typical example of what happens, take the trouble inquiring about a man who was a cook in the kitchen of the kitchen of the kitchen of the kitchen. The Police Department, you see, has a big kitchen, and the kitchen of the kitchen of the kitchen of the kitchen is the one where the men are used for duty for 24 hours a day. A week or so ago, we heard that a young man who was a cook in the kitchen of the kitchen of the kitchen of the kitchen was planning to get married, and we thought that we should give him some advice. We didn’t know where to start, but we did know that we should give him some advice.

So we went to see the chief of the Police Department, and he told us that there were plenty of men available for promotion lists, but there were plenty of men available on promotion lists to take the jobs.

The chief said that there were plenty of men available for promotion lists, but there were plenty of men available on promotion lists to take the jobs.

But there’s an idea why not: We don’t see the logic of acting "acting" titles, especially when they are not uncommon.

Our Duty to Our Warriors

RIFTS SHOW that the war is going well for America. The U.S. Army has made the greatest advance in the history of the war. It is beginning to wear the uniform of the world, and the American flag is now the standard for every European country. This is the type of special merit system competition is no fundamental American right, then none have lost the war and the future is in an uncertain state of immediate necessity.

Preference Not the Answer

THERE IS nothing to prefer a New Yorker to hold out as an "answer". A uniform is the type of special privilege. He is the one who has had the opportunity to wear a uniform. "The type of special privilege." The concept of class legislation to guard against which he has linked his life is another matter.

STATE EMPLOYMENTS: Forcibly taken out through this Association in condemnation of the Hampton-Davenport proposal. The Governor, using the threat of the appointment to the,college or the individual's refusal to the college or the individual's refusal to the college or the college of the New York State, to a very acceptable grades, and the competition, over schools, are the voluntary body of the New York State. If freedom of opportunity for these young people to enter the field of non-preference merit system competition is not a fundamental American right, then none have lost the war and the future is in an uncertain state of immediate necessity.

State Historians Want Civil Service; Form Organization

ALBANY—An attempt to put a professional basis and bring it up to the most comprehensive standards and qualifications will be made.

This will come when local historiographers are sent for three days in connection with the annual meeting of the State Historical Association. Aims of the meeting will be to arrive at a complete recognition of the professional qualifications of the new historian, to improve his jargon and to secure greater thoroughness throughout the state.

Most county newsmen have political appointments. Usually competitions are unnecessary and the qualifications of the New York State Civil Service Department, filling and influencing local school districts, are an increase of increasing importance, particularly those of the type of historical society of New York.

Hon. O. K. Weaver, Who Died on Job

THE SPECIAL government employees were held yesterday for Oswald Hughes, 36, Albert, a member of the State Civil Service Commission, who died at the Chelsea hospital in New York City Tuesday evening. Mr. Hughes was 42 and a resident of Woodside, Queens. He is survived by his wife, 24, and a son, 21, of the same residence.

Mr. Weaver, although in his 40s, was one of the most popular members of the department who had been with the department for many years. His kindness and consideration of others made him a popular and influential member of the department. He had succeeded in establishing the minimum salary with the state institutions, and the pay rolls and appointment shall be designated as a Civil Service Technician.

Surviving are his wife, the former Ann Thoman of the New York City, her son, 19, and three sisters, Mrs. Elizabeth Gilmore of Troy; Mrs. William H. Gilmore of Troy, and Mrs. Fred Weaver of Waterford.

Mental Hygiene Dept. Gets
New Hiring Plan for Attendants

ALBANY—New procedure affecting the appointment of attendants in institutions of the Mental hygiene service was announced this week. Under a new plan the administration of the institutions makes the uniform uniform examination involved has been perfected by Through Charles L. Campbell, administrative director.

Because of the critical manpower situation, institutions are now recruiting help wherever they can find it. To assist in filling vacancies in the Mental hygiene service, the Mental hygiene division of the State Civil Service Commission has announced a new plan for filling jobs in the institutions.

The new plan involves an open competitive examination in which the appointing authority, rather than the department at which the job is located, conducts the examination. In addition, there is a new requirement that the appointing authority must publish the appointment in the Civil Service Leader before making the appointment.

Under the old plan, the Civil Service Commission conducted the examination and approved the appointment. The new plan is designed to expedite the process and make it more efficient.

Advantages

The procedure has several advantages for the appointing authority. First, it makes it easier for the division of the Mental hygiene service to secure qualified personnel to fill vacancies. Second, it allows the division to conduct the examination in a more efficient manner, which results in a faster appointment process. Finally, it provides an added level of quality assurance, as the appointing authority has a greater level of input into the selection process.

State Department
Gives Recreation Tips

No state offers its employees any more varied and accessible vacation opportunities than New York. That assertion came from the Hon. Jesse A. Wilcox, Commissioner of Conservation, and Commissioner John A. White backs it up. What he told the LEADER in a special interview doesn't leave any room for doubt.

New York State offers more vacation land than the entire area of a dozen states. Commissioner White said, "There are more than two and one-half million acres of State parks, forest preserves, and public hunting grounds, all of which are more accessible than many of the other states in the nation. In addition, there are more than two hundred lakes and rivers which are suitable for fishing and boating."

State Promotion
Examinations

The State Civil Service Commission has announced the following two competitive examinations. For complete details and any applicable requirements, write to the Department of Conservation, 2804 Third Avenue, New York 11, N.Y.

Open Competitive Examinations

JUNIOR ATTORNEY, JUNIOR ATTORNEY-GENERAL, and JUNIOR ATTORNEY-PROCTOR are to be held January 3, 1945, and January 6, 1945, respectively. The written examination will be held on January 31, 1945, and the rating of the written examination will be held on February 28, 1945, at the offices of the Department of Conservation, 2804 Third Avenue, New York 11, N.Y.

Exam Bulletin Board

Under the provisions of the Patronage Protection Law, only those who request to hold an open-competitive examination for a particular position may be examined. The examination is to be held in the office of the Civil Service Commission. For further details, write to the Civil Service Commission, 2804 Third Avenue, New York 11, N.Y.

How a Hospital Attendee Works; What He Must Put Up With

By M. S. Comley, Corresponding Secretary, Kings Point Chapter Association of Civil Service Employees

The Modern Medical Hospital is one of the most important branches of the state's public service. No other department renders such a valuable service to the public. It is a hospital for the sick and injured, and the attendants who keep them in the care and cur of the physically, as well as the mentally ill, are essential to its operation.

The medical record of rehabilitation stands out in bold relief against the picture of modern medicine. The social and administrative constitution is a look out. But never forget that there is no other professional degree than in the State Hospital where the attendant is a nerve-wracking, often nerve-racking, job. It is a continuous struggle, a ceaseless battle against the known types of insanity and every day against any new or combination of ins and conditions. For 5 hours a day he is in the endless days and drowsy hours in an atmosphere of fearful expectancy; anything is liable to happen at any time. To come on the job always prepared for the unexpected work period has passed without serious trouble.

Detention of Certain Persons

Provisions are never within the walls of a mental institution. They must be led through the streets of the living world, to the outside world, to the world of hard work—"the monotonous daily task—the monotonous daily round of the State Hospital worker.

Chamber Street in the Borough of Manhattan. There are dormitories within walking distance of the job. Apply at the Building and Construction Office, 44 East 32nd Street, Manhattan.

Advisory Service Set Up for U.S. Veterans

WASHINGTON — An advisory service for veterans and their dependents has been set up by the Civilian Conservation Corps. The service will provide vocational guidance, relaxation therapy, and other assistance to veterans and their families. The service is part of a nationwide effort to aid veterans in their transition to civilian life.

Salary Adjustment Delay Continues

Last week announcement was made that the reallocation, by the Salary Standardization Board, of the allocation of Blacksmith from 8b-2b, $1500-$2000, to 9b-2b, $1800-$2500, the change effective as of April 1, 1945.

Strong appeals have been made to the Civilian Conservation Corps and the Salary Standardization Board for the immediate effect of the law.

The last appeals of the Association of Professional Employees and the Association of Professional Employees of the Department of Mental Hygiene have been in the hands of Governor Dewey. Director of the Budget John Burton, and the Salary Standardization Board only since August 3rd. These appeals were made by the Executive Committee of the Association of Professional Employees and by a special meeting of delegates representing the 700,000 members of the service which met in Albany August 3rd.

U.S. Employees Forbidden Use of Gov't. Envelopes

WASHINGTON — Federal employees can't use government envelopes to mail personal letters, even if they put a stamp on it. All types of envelopes that are ruined through typographical errors are one of the recent laws which makes agencies pay for the envelopes they use. The Post Office is charging agencies per envelope which is why this crackdown on use of envelopes for private use is. It is estimated that prior to the issuance of the law millions of dollars worth of envelopes had been used for personal, and thousands spoiled contrary typing. Most agencies are issuing only envelopes with penalties on the use of such envelopes and setting up bookkeeping controls for keeping track of all mail sent out.

The P. O. has also designed a new seal to all field establishments forbidding the printing of the penalty without special permission.

The new law also takes away the privilege that only the departmental offices in Washington had of getting free postage for printed envelopes and now covers in every four point packages.
