WASHINGTON — President Truman's proposal to provide jobless compensation to Federal workers with "reconversion" jobless benefits of $25 a week for 26 weeks when they return from war service has a far better chance of acceptance by Congress than his over 25 years ago. Truman's proposal to establish this standard of unemployment compensation in the Federal employees in private industry. Congressional reaction at this time indicates that it looks as though the jobless compensation bill will receive strong support this year. But right coming up on the com- pletion of the war, is the major question: will FDR's plan be repeated or sticks on it, just as President Roosevelt was turned down on the same question last year.

Mr. Truman has made an immediate action on his proposal, to ensure an orderly transition from war to peace through additional to State unemployment benefit.

"The absence of protection for Federal government employees, in the happy days of peace and government offices, is particularly serious at this time. The proposal what is needed for the Feds is the same as for the workers be accepted and remain on the job and to prevent the deterioration. The Government has thus far been unable to negotiate with these workers and to those who have hired them to make them take the jobs in the past." The White House has issued a statement, and the major emergency, Chairman Kefauver of the Senate Finance Committee and author of last year's unemployment insurance bill, said he would talk to President Truman to learn what emergency legislation could be brought forth.

"I have no objection," Hoover said, "to setting a standard plan for Federal workers for a limited period. Won't Go More Than $30
He was not disposed, however, to go above the $30 a week provided in the GI Bill of Rights to go through with the President's proposal to establish a uniform form Federal standard for all workers.

However, Rep. Dingell, co-sponsor of the House Social Security program, including unemployment, said he would "consider" undertaking to introduce a bill to implement the President's proposal if Rep. Dougherty failed to act on this legislation. He said he would include Federal pay-rates to be set for converted war workers, which was rejected last year.

President Truman asked Congress to bring him a number of legislation, "of which I have half a dozen or so to talk to President Truman to learn what emergency legislation could be brought forth.

Specific Proposals
Existing unemployment insurcation is defective in State laws, and he made it clear that he is to correct them, for the time being.

1. Emergency action to widen jobless compensation coverage and to increase amount and duration of benefits, to fill a major gap in the Federal program.

2. Emergency action to provide jobless compensation to Federal employees, maritime workers and all those who have not been covered by State unemployment.

3. Provide supplementary emergency funds to those who have been unemployed in hard times, and to those who have been laid off from war work.

4. Congress will not only want the unemployment, but will want to maintain national purchasing power.

Civil Service Program
The Civil Service Commission has some under consideration in a similar program to assure the $25,000 in Federal unemployment, the $5,000 for State service and $2,000 for Federal service. It is for State service and $2,000 for Federal service. It is a "two-year" program, which would be to $3,000,000 of Federal workers who are expected to leave the Federal service during recon-

What LaGuardia Was Doing at Welfare Dept.

Last week’s “News Briefs” in the LEADERs wanted to know what Mayor LaGuardia was doing at Welfare Dept. Here’s the story: “No, it wasn’t a fire truck; only a line of newspaper publicists about a man who works in the post office and got his release on the same time. A Federal judge filed the opportunity to be hired against relief and to be an investigation of the Board of Social Service for its inefficiency.”

This happened several weeks ago and the Mayor, in typical fashion, explained: “It seems to me every one, skinned itself a dozen little platforms.”

What NYC Employees Should Know

How to Earn More in a Grade 1 Position

Than You Would in a Grade 2 Position

Examination Fees

Most of the important civil service examinations are free for employees who have completed the regular examinations. However, there is the privilege of taking a test for a new position to be filled in the agency of the city and the qualifications of the grade 2 position. The legal authority for the collection of examination fees by municipal service commission is contained in Section 14 of the Civil Service Law. Under these fees, commissions may charge a fee for special examinations for positions in which the non-compete and non-combines.

The basic criterion of who must pay a fee centers around the state- be publicly announced. Thus it should not be charged to the applicant. On the other hand, if the examination announces the holding of an examination for positions in the non-competitive class, then a fee may be required from the candidate.

If a non-competitive examination is held for positions in the competitive class, no fee should be charged to the applicant. If the examination announces the holding of an examination for positions in the non-competitive class, then a fee may be required from the candidate. If an applicant has to pass two examinations—an examination before June 30, 1944, and then a second examination on July 1, 1944, the first goes to the Civil Service Commission has his complaint to see us immediately with the name of the City employee.

Fireman Mott Wages Whirlwind Campaign

One of the most active campaigns conducted by the Civil Service Commission is the campaign to improve the wages of firemen. Mott has already violated over 275 of the rules of the Civil Service Commission in the past three years. The Commission has been his appeal on a number of cases. As personal qualifications, he had been placed on the Civil Service Commission's list of disqualifications.

He has been placed on the list of disqualifications for two years in order to attain that record.

His Proposals: Time and Motion study by Mott, and filling of vacancies in order to increase the wages of employees within 90 days; examination of employees in accordance with the interests of the employees; and the employees' right to protection against unwarranted dismissal.

The position of the Civil Service Commission in this matter is that the complete trial record fails to convince the Commission of the necessity of such a change. The following safeguards are designed to preserve a fair and impartial examination. The examination fees are a $1.00 fee for each examination. Fire Auxiliaries: Better Not Get Fair Auxiliaries of the NYC Fire Department are in a quandary over the possibility of forming a separate union for firemen. The 30,000-member organization has not yet decided whether to allow the auxiliaries to form their own union. The auxiliaries have been meeting to discuss the possibility of forming their own union.

The department has taken the position that the auxiliaries should be included in the regular Fire Department union, which represents all firefighters in the city. The auxiliaries have been meeting with the department to discuss the issue.

In view of the above,Auxiliaries have been told not to permit the petition on the issue of the auxiliaries to proceed.

Duties of a clerical nature, calling for independent judgment and routine action, are expected of a grade 2 clerk in the NYC Civil Service. Parts of the promotion test to clerk grade 2 are expected of a grade 1 clerk. Answers will appear in next week's edition of this week's LEADER.

New York City Can Learn From New York State

THREE innovations which the New York State Government has instituted ought, we feel, to be copied by New York City. They are:
1. The Classification Board.
2. The Salary Standardization Board.
3. The Personnel Board.
These three boards—plus the Classification Board—a unit functioning within the Civil Service Department—is empowered to hold hearings dealing with the nature of jobs and to give these jobs the proper titles, in accordance with the duties performed.

The second— the Salary Standardization Board—then sets up the proper salary range for the job, allocates funds to deal with the personnel relations between departments, and is empowered to hold hearings dealing with the nature of jobs and the reverse; promotions to engulf the Civil Service Commission with a variety of problems.

The third—the Personnel Board—is empowered to hold hearings on appeals from disciplinary action by the Mayor's or the Commissioner. It also is required to vacate or modify any action which the Mayor or Commissioner may take in favor of the civil servants not otherwise entitled to State civil service protection and if the City doesn't improve its classification setup now, it's in for a lot of trouble later and a lot more hearings by the State's boards in the public hearing angle. Any employee with a grievance under the jurisdiction of one of these boards has a fair chance.

The Civil Service LEADER urges upon the NYC Civil Service Commissioners, the Budget Director, the City Council, the Board of Estimate, and all bodies of the City to study the State's legislation which established the excellent innovations. Best beginning would be to analyze the work which came out of the famed Foll-Doherty act.

Of this, more next week.

A Popular Pension Issue Which The PBA Should Consider Seriously

Members of the NYC Police Department may have changed their uniforms from many blue to khaki, but many of them are still thinking about their old jobs. A few weeks ago, a PBA member came into our office protesting the change in uniforms for navy blue or khaki, but they're still thinking about their old jobs. A few weeks ago, POLICE CALLS presented a letter from the PBA member stating they should be allowed to wear the uniform they were accustomed to in their old jobs. Theodore Becker

HE BELIEVES that the duty of the City is to do more than just line up its employees for the public service; it must raise the bar to participate in governing. He believes that the City can't rely solely on the status of its employees to get the job done correctly. So, he says, the day he was admitted to the New York State Bar, Theodore Becker filed an application for the position of Commissioner of the State Civil Service Department. That was in 1933 and since then he has brought to his present post all the knowledge and experience that he has acquired through a career of State civil service.

Headed Kilgore

It is very much to the New York and the City's advantage that the Civil Service Department is under the direction of Theodore Becker. Kilgore is the man who has the talent and the ability to carry forward the work of the Civil Service Department.

The State Employee

by CLIFORD C. SHORO

President, The Association of State Government Employees

In an effort to make the "State Employee" a regular weekly feature of The New York Times, President .Clifford C. Shoro discusses all and any matters of interest to employees on all levels. It is a writing column with complete freedom to express his own views.

The Permanent Salary Board

STUDIES in recent years in industry have revealed that adjustments in the social and emotional realm—some industry has found—mean far more to employees than financial satisfaction—are tremendous factors in production. No one can deny that a worker who is satisfied with his work is not weakened by other adjustments. The attainment of individual recognition is often more important to the employee than his earning power—more important to the employee than a large salary. Many a company has found that the dignity of man and the value of this dignity to society overall transcends the salary. And the dignity of the employee must have. Consideration of the quality of a service must go hand in hand with the recognition accorded to the individual who is paid the worker, and there must be no false economy here.

For such reasons the State Salary Standardization Board is one of the most important public bodies in the State of New York. The Salary Standardization Board and the Classification Board are an important part of the State machine on the district. No group of men elevated to a place on the Salary Board can fail to feel the high responsibility placed upon them to maintain the standards they have established.

Confidence in the Board

We have confidence that the appointees of Governor Dewey to the new Salary Standardization Board will be men of integrity who look to the people and to the more than 40,000 State employees who belong to the Association of State Government Employees. We believe that the Board will be fair and will act fairly on the merits—this time it is not a fossil, rock or article of Indian lore. It is an important part of the State machine and we are confident that the appointees will do their work efficiently. We are confident that the Board will serve the important function of settling unusual questions involving one group of men and that every agency dealing with large or small groups of civil service workers should have as a member of the staff a competitive relations officer to assist with the Board's work.

Incentive Group Workers

WHEN a person has held a war duration or substitute appointment for three years, that person becomes permanently "in the same or a similar position." Where a group is employed and salary is adjusted according to skill, an employee entitled to increment credit for the period of the substitute appointment if he is placed in another employment. This does not mean, however, where the clerk seeks a position with another title where the duties and responsibilities are entirely different from those of the former job.

War Emergency Compensation

WAR EMERGENCY Compensation to persons on the State payroll who receive their salaries from the State Comptroller and the executive branch of the State Government in New York City are paid by the Comptroller from State funds. A person who has served three years in the armed forces or who has received their checks from the State is entitled to the War Emergency Compensation. The amount of compensation is based on the number of years of service and is paid monthly. Compensation is payable to all State employees, regardless of the state of their health or the nature of their disability.

New Scientific Agency

ALBANY—Somewhat new has been added to the State Museum in the form of a new article of Indian lore. It is a new agency, State Science Service, which is expected to become an important part of the educational program. The service will provide a means for the State to receive the results of research and experiments done in the State, and will enable the State scientists not only to expand their present activities but also to become a research center in the State. The service will be staffed by Dr. Carl E. Guthe, who is also on the staff of the Museum. Dr. Guthe is a member of the Museum staff and has made important contributions to the field of biological science.

The meeting was held on Saturday afternoon at the conclusion of the Institute's annual meeting, which was held in the City of Albany. The meeting was attended by representatives of the State Motor Vehicle Institute, the Motor Vehicle Institute of New York, and the Motor Vehicle Institute of Pennsylvania. A great deal of discussion took place at the meeting, and the Institute is looking forward to another successful year.
Reform: What's Good, What's Bad About State Civil Service

In its annual report on New York State's Civil Service, the Civil Service Commissioner praised the Governor's record, but at some aspects of the Civil Service Commission was not so enthusiastic. The Governor's record thus far has been, on the whole, beneficial to the State and its citizens. The Civil Service Department has demonstrated considerable efficiency.

Too Many Exemptions

"We arecontent to have the Governor's approval of far too many exemptions from competitive examinations. The Commission is asked to review the Governor's actions. We must ensure that the Governor does not make any further appointments without first obtaining our approval."

Mental Hygiene Hiring Under Simplified Plan

The Mental Hygiene Department, New York City, has adopted a new simplified plan for hiring employees. This plan, which was recently adopted by the New York City Department of Mental Hygiene, provides for the appointment of mental hygiene professionals in accordance with the Civil Service Commission's standards.

The Mental Hygiene Department has appointed numerous qualified individuals under this new plan. This new plan has been successful in attracting highly competent professionals to the Mental Hygiene Department.

ALBANY — The Health Department goes on a five-day week! Following the precedent set by the Division of Placement and Unemployment Insurance, the second State agency to adopt the 5-day work-week made its public announcement to that effect. The one hour and five minutes provided for lunch period shall be conducted by the division director for the employees under their jurisdiction. The period worked on Saturday morning shall not be accumulated to extend vacation, but shall be used as stated above. "Deviation from this schedule on account of special conditions existing in any division or district office will be allowed upon recommendation of the respective director or district officer."

Vacation:

"Vacation during a full week, that is, Monday through Friday, will be charged as five and one-half days in order to balance with the Governor's order as to the one and one-half days' vacation. Vacation on an individual day will be charged as one day."
