6 Queries Are Posed About Law

By F. X. CLANCY

The ratification of the veterans' preference amendment at the polls Nov. 6 last by the voters of the State has raised six questions al-

Effects were started by various organizations today to initiate con- clusions on what legislation should be proposed to clarify and implement the amendment.

On Jan. 1, a Georgia legislation went into effect. In January, and various proposals will be submitted to it, both by groups that favored and other groups that opposed the amendment. However, the ratification at the polls has left a widespread desire to have enabling legislation take the most workable and equitable form, and there was a national absence of last hour. The only real urgent need was that of the service employees groups which feel that since the amendment was ratified up with a small majority, an effort might have defied a

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13—All efforts are being bent toward ex-

Senator Sheridan Downey (D., Cal.), chairman of the Civil Service Com-

How Pay Bill Would Affect U.S. Salaries

Special to The Leader

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13—Strong Federal employee recruiting is expected in the closing months of 1945, according to the Civil Service Commission, as it releases its monthly report for October.

The report, which includes an analysis of employment trends and a summary of personnel changes, indicates that the Federal government is preparing for the postwar period by increasing its hiring efforts.

The Civil Service Commission has been active in promoting recruitment of veterans and other qualified applicants for Federal jobs.

Job offers are expected to increase as the need for qualified personnel continues to rise. The Commission encourages interested individuals to apply for positions.

Security of Jobs Urged on Truman

By CHARLES BELLAN

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13—Every one of the 27,000,000 Federal employees in the United States and all U.S. Government service will benefit under recommendations made to President Truman by the Truman Administration.

The recommendations, which were submitted to President Truman, are designed to ensure the security and stability of Federal employees.

They include measures to improve working conditions, provide for reasonable hours, and ensure fair treatment.

These recommendations are part of a broader effort to improve the working environment for all Federal employees.

Expansion Due in CAA Jobs

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13—Civil Aeronautics Administration estimates that its manpower needs of the next 18 years will be doubled. In figures that personnel totals will reach a minimum of 20,000 in 1947, and in addition to 5,000, which will have private jobs through the Federal program.

In its long-range survey of manpower needs, the agency reports that it now has 11,000 on its personnel roles, and comments: "As a result of the CAA's goal of 400,000 registered aircraft more than 2,000,000 will require an increase in the number of Federal employees engaged in encouraging and promoting aviation."
Sanitation Supervisors Want Salaries Raised

Employees of the NYC Sanitation Department are aiming in even increases to those just granted to Hospital Officers and other employees by the Board of Estimate.

A communication to Commissioner Carey, AFL, employees in the Department's supervisory groups endorsed a departmental request to the Budget Bureau for an increase of $300 for Foremen and $200 for Superintendents.

Employers' Argument

Supporting this request, the employers outlined the following:

- There has been no substantial adjustment in the salaried officers for at least 7 years.
- The duties of those officers have considerably increased during this period.
- "The incremental pay between the subordinate grade (B Men) and that of Assistant Foreman, as well as between Assistant Foreman and Foreman, is too small."
- "Precedent for such adjustment at this time has been recently set by the recommendation of the Budget Bureau for even increases to Correction Officers, Police officers, Probation Officers, etc., in the case of the 10 Deputy Chiefs working as firemen. The request for adjustment in the case of the 10 Deputy Chiefs working in this proposed plan there would be very minute." (any indicated deductions)

King, President State, County, and Municipal Workers of America, CIO, who discussed the advantages of organization, and Ellis Raas, international representative of the American Federation of State, County, and Municipal Employees, AFL, who explained the differences between trade unionism and political action, to Arthur W. Wallander, Police Commissioner, Standing behind the Commissioner is Chief Inspector John J. O'Connell. The group were the first to start at the probationary pay of $2,415 a year, which includes bonus.

New Pay Offered To Seamstresses

The 100 Hospitals Department Seamstresses who have been negotiating with the office of Budget Director Thomas J. Patterson for an increase in wages have received another offer.

This time the Budget Bureau offers to set a new salary of $1,250 for 1945, the same as the previous offer and back pay to $500.

The Budget Bureau's offer was not accepted by the Seamstresses. The Budget Bureau may receive a bonus of $100 a year to any employee whose salary is increased and the Budget Bureau must pay back to $500.

Not Accepted Yet

Acceptance of the wage dispute has been complicated by the fact that a substantial increase would lift the wages level of the Seamstresses above that of the Nurses and other professional workers. Granting an increase to the nursing and professional staffs in police service, where the Seamstresses' grade would cost the City $5,000 a day, according to the Budget Bureau.

The Seamstresses have not yet accepted this offer, and negotiations have been suspended. The Budget Bureau may set a new salary of $1,250 per annum for the Seamstresses, and the Seamstresses have received a bonus of $2,415 a year.

Enactment of Preference Leaves Wake of Problems

The adoption of the veteran preference amendment, which provides for the hiring of veterans with preference in hiring, is being accepted without opposition. The major effect of the amendment will be the majority of the state legislature, which will be left to determine the amount of the majority.

What lies ahead is the problem of enacting equitable legislation. The amendment is not simply a matter of revenue, but it is also a matter of fairness. It is clear that the state legislature, or a court in New York, will have to solve the problem of the mayor's proposal.

The opponents can pride themselves that they put up a good fight and that they all overcame great odds. The next step is to see, even in properly implementing the amendment, that all points have been made certain now.

In-Service Courses to Be Given

Special to The LEADER

ALBANY, Jan. 4-Albany State administration is planning in-service training courses as part of a comprehensive scale. That fact came to light at a meeting held under the auspices of the Personnel Council in the State Office Building. Miss Mary Goode Krone, president of the Council, pre- sented her report.

Miss Krone said that this scale would include courses, including Federal, not only in the State of New York, but also in New York City, which is functioning brilliantly under Mr. Rockefeller and his staff. She said that there is a lot of work to be done before such courses can be inaugurated.

The Council desires full information on training courses, and an opportunity to gain experience with them, listened attentively to the details of the proposed courses. Notes were taken for future reference.

The Council is gathering information that might be of use to it later.

Main Feature of DPUI Bill

WHAT is the outstanding feature of the DPUI Bill, the personnel employment service bill, which was introduced by State Senator Milton C. Sweeney, D-Watervliet, is the resumption of DPUI duties previously suspended by the United States government. Outstanding in the job-poor bill is the provision for a joint committee of the State and local employment service organizations. Besides its importance in providing employment service functions in the State, it is of significance because it is the first to provide for the employment of persons who have not been previously employed. It is the State Department of Labor which has taken this step.

Promotions Explained by Joint Board

An explanation of why promotions are made and how they are made in the New York State Civil Service System is contained in the Municipal Training Institute bulletin. The bulletin is now available in the Municipal Training Institute department of the New York State Department of Civil Service. The bulletin is intended to be a guide for department heads, personnel officers and individual employees who are interested in understanding the promotion process in the state civil service system.

The bulletin begins with an explanation of the competitive and non-competitive promotion processes. Competitive promotions are those that are made based on merit and performance, while non-competitive promotions are made for reasons such as seniority or policy. The bulletin explains the differences between these types of promotions and the criteria used for making decisions.

The bulletin also addresses the role of the Joint Board in the promotion process. The Joint Board is a body that represents the interests of employees and management in the civil service system. It is responsible for making decisions on promotions and other personnel matters.

In addition, the bulletin provides information on the types of positions that are eligible for promotion, the requirements for promotion, and the procedures for filing a promotion application.

Overall, the bulletin serves as a valuable resource for anyone who is interested in understanding the promotion process in the New York State Civil Service System.

Tolman Sees a Big Job Ahead to Get Best Laws To Implement Preference

The Association of State Civil Service Employees submitted a statement to Senator Reilly, Chairman of the Senate Committee on State and Municipal Affairs, asking that the Senate consider and favorably report the following: "We are highly critical of those who back legislation, said Dr. Frank C. Tolman, President of the Association, concerning the apparent ratification of the amendment at the last regular session of the legislature. It said that the close vote showed the strength of the Association and co-operating civic organizations in opposing the amendment. Of those who opposed the amendment, said Tolman, "the people who fought most courageously were representatives of the interested industries and labor organizations."

Tolman's Statement
Dr. Tolman continued as follows: "As I write, the newspapers report that the Senate amendment was approved in a close vote of 34 to 28. New York Times, New York Daily News, and other newspapers carried the story of the close vote, with a headline of 10,015 vote. The article in the New York Times was quoted, as was the Associated Press, which changed the result from a 35 to 25 vote to 34 to 28 vote. "It is still mathematically possible that the amendment is saved, unless the House passes a final vote that is highly improbable. It would be a great deal to the strength of the Civic Service employees, and with large State institutions, not all such counties returned majorities against ratification."

Analyses Campaign
"The Senate amendment is an attack on the Association and the cooperative civic organizations, all of which have consistently opposed the amendment and the supreme test and demonstrated that it is not a question of party but of principle that it is not as all that we hoped for. Our people, because they understood and who uphold the methods of democratic administration."

The State Constitution
"It is easy to see, I think, why a proposition is not a subject for our debate. The American Legalism which constitutes our State Constitution, I believe, were truly perturbed and were in a minority and were again defeated, as in the Constitution. They had the power and influence would be strongly and united, then an absolute defeat in the Constitution, then in the Constitution, and to the power and influence and — we have the power to enact."

The effectiveness of the Senate's amendment is a question in regard to the constitution itself. The Senate amendment on the county, as presented on January 1st, as well as the Articles from the last year or so, to have none of the provisions of the Constitution."

"As to the preference for the following..."

Clarity of Senate's Statement

The Ingrid Bergman-Gregory Peck co-starring, "Telephone," which has again proved itself as the Atter Theater, remains the very picture of popularity with another personal triumph for Miss Bergman.

The latest film at the Paramount, "The Beast with a Million Years," starring Eddie Bracken and Veronica Lake, is almost in line with 1943 and 1944. The popularity is furnished by Bracken, who was never in finer form, and neither was Miss Lake. Plus the movie itself. The coming comedy, the Paramount feature Frank Sinat- ra and Jan Stallit with his orchestra, in person.

Radio City Music Hall holds over for another week the comical "Week-end at The Waldorf," with its galaxy of stars, including Ginger Rogers, Walter Pidgeon, Lana Turner and Van Johnson.

Pre-War Promotion Plan For NYC Is Restored

Albany, Nov. 13—With approval announced today by the state Civil Service Commission, clerical employees in the NYC Civil Service are returned to pre-war eligibility requirements for promotion examinations.

During the war, the Municipal Civil Service Commission changed its rules to allow clerical employees to compete in promotion examinations with six monthly experience in a lower title. The re-adopted regulation calls for 1, 2 and 3 year waits between eligibility in promotion examinations, according to the grade in the examination.

Also affected by the change are Labor Class employees who, during the war, could compete in examinations in the Competitive class. The period is again set at three years.
