Some Pay Not High Enough, He Says at Dinner of Assn. of State Civil Service Employees

A five man PBA committee recommended the names of ten candidates for the unseating of Pat Harnedy from the presidency. Also passed at the meeting was a resolution ordering the PBA to start work on a $600 increase bill. President Harnedy was instructed to request Police Commissioner Arthur W. Wallander to add this increase to the departmental budget for 1946-7; also that bills to this end be introduced into the City Council and the State Legislature. To start action, Harnedy was also instructed to send a release to the press on the $600 increase bill. Hundreds of Federal jobs are now open in the metropolitan area, others in Washington, and some overseas. Following is the latest listing of jobs with Government agencies which are available through offices of the United States Employment Service.

Quick Hiring Without Exam

A sweeping change in the procedures of the NYC Patrolmen's Benevolent Association will result after the passage of a resolution at a PBA meeting last Thursday. With only five dissenting votes, the PBA delegates carried out the mandate of the membership—a resolution ordering the PBA to proceed with the hiring of a public relations man to spur the drive.

Inflation comes when you will want more to eat, your rent will increase, your savings will nearly disappear, your war bonds will be worthless; the dollar will shrink into shreds. Any expert may see to that at any time in the last four years of war, says the OPA.

First, we’ve got to hold the cost of living to its present level as near as possible.

Second, we must clear the way for an avalanche of production. That means the President and Congress know in no uncertain terms both now and until they act what measure of control and what level of prices if inflation comes.

Today inflation threatens more menacingly than at any time in the last four years of war, says the OPA.

We are ready with the tools for control. What we may lack is the determination to use them.

The發現 inflation control, we shall experience:

1. A big jump in the prices of building materials.
2. Sweeping and continued price raises in all essential commodities.
3. Alaska and Antarctic spirals.

Charles Sower says:

Then what will stop one from saying that if it starts and gets out of hand, as it did after the last war, it will be inevitably so serious that wages will soon be frozen at the same level throughout the country.

That level will be the “stabilized” level which now recently established.

William F. McDonough, Executive Representative of the State Civil Service Employees, asked that the mediators be allocated to Service 7, 8, 9, 15, and 16.

He said:

“...New York State mediators have had the nation in successful operation....”

They are paid more than the salaries we ask and they have atomic bombs and the salary check and vaporized it.

President Truman has announced the new wage-price policy. Characteristically, he will let wages rise until the time of the meeting, and then announce the new school of thought that is not to be found anywhere in the world today,” said Mr. McDonough.

He appealed to the Board of Mediation:

The establishment of sound labor relations is the sound policy of the United States and of the world today, he said. Mr. McDonough:

“My appeal to the mediators is to give thought to revision of specifications and salaries in the light of current day needs for dealing with problems of industrial peace.”

SUSPENSION BEFORE DISCIPLINE MAY NOT EXCEED 30 DAYS

Although an appointing officer may impose the penalty of removing an employee for competitive service employee guilty of charges, he cannot suspend him indefinitely while considering the charges. This penalty is provided for by the Supreme Court of Nassau County in a case involving the Police of the Port Washington Nassau County Police District. The principle is equally applicable to non-competitive employees.

Suspension Without Pay

From the published opinion of a broken contract, it appears that the Police Chief was suspended without pay by the Police Commission from September 5, 1945 to November 4, 1945, a period of 30 days. Then he brought suit, contended that he was not suspended for more than 30 days, and the court granted his motion overruled by the court of appeal.

The court held that under the provisions of Section 22 (3) of the Civil Service Law, an appointing officer may not impose a penalty of suspension without pay which exceeds the time provided in the law. The penalty may not exceed the time specified in the law, regardless of length of service, for a greater proportion of benefit than the maximum time specified in the law.

The penalty may not exceed the time specified in the law, regardless of length of service, for a greater proportion of benefit than the maximum time specified in the law.

An employee upon whom a penalty of suspension without pay is imposed, is entitled to an adequate period of time for the charges to be considered by the appointing officer to arrive at a decision.

After an employee has been found guilty of the charges, he may not be suspended without pay pending further suspension without pay for a period exceeding two months. The distinction between a suspension pending determination of charges and a suspension as punishment should be carefully noted. Each serves a separate purpose.

Each serves a separate purpose. Both may be imposed, so that an employee, found guilty of the 30th day of his suspension pending determination, may be punished by a further two month's suspension—three months in all.

Back Pay If Not Guilty

One saving feature of the statute is that where a determination of charges is that an employee upon whom a penalty of suspension without pay is imposed, is entitled to an adequate period of time for the charges to be considered by the appointing officer to arrive at a decision.

Retirement Memo
For a Legislator

R. Legislator: Members of the Senate and Assembly are taking entirely too much for granted in view of the 25-year retirement plans proposed by State employees.

We have heard several of your colleagues on the Hill during the current session of the Albany Legislature. This argument has always been the easy—^the negative—way out when proposals have come forward for important and far-reaching reforms, because the people of New York State were willing to listen to such an argument. It seems to us that we must be impossibly low, State service, and the mental hygiene employee who is in the line of fire and the corps of civil servants would not be the effective body it is. —^-Magnificent," Governor Dewey said of it.

Now, Mr. Legislator, there is another side of this 25-year experience, and just what it is that you ought to know about.

How to Die Young
A recent retirement study of State prison officers showed that they reach the normal retirement age of 62, on the average, only seven years, after leaving service. Do you know, Sir, what is the average length of time that the work is so grueling, so nerve-racking, that the man who goes into it has an average life expectancy of only seven years after leaving it. Can you therefore doubt how valid is his desire to turn down the mental hygiene employee's plea to leave the State would amount to only $319,221 per annum if the Number of the State prisons—cannot retire until they reach age 62, after which time he is eligible for the best that comes to the Republic.

The State Association at a business session in the afternoon had reaffirmed its no-strike pledge. (The text of Governor Dewey's speech will be published in The LEADER next week.)

Talk by Dr. Tolman

Dr. Tolman, the incumbent President, had made two speeches previously that day, one at the luncheon held by the Association. At the dinner he spoke briefly on the objectives of the Association and recommended to the Governor that he give earnest consideration to the Association's legislative program. About 70 Association bills have been introduced.

On the dais Miss Janet Macfarlane, Secretary of the Association and Chairman of its Social Committee, sat on the Governor's left, and Mr. McDonough at his right. Otherson the dais were Dr. Tolman; President J. Edward Conway and Commissioners Louise Gerry and Howard G. S. Smith of the State Civil Service Commission; Lieutenant-Governor Joe H. Hanley; Senator James F. Quinn and John T. DeGraff, Association Counsel.

After the dessert came the entertainment, an hilarious show directed by Joseph J. Horn of the Department of Commerce. Good-natured fun was poked at State officials. Practically all the butts of the jokes were present. They seemed to enjoy the show even more than the overjoyed audience. Governor Dewey frequently laughed aloud at jokes concerning his own decisions and policies.

LOW-COST PERSONAL LOANS TO CIVIL SERVICE EMPLOYEES

SPECIAL TO THE LEADER
WASHINGTON, May 9—Largely overlooked in that new Civil Service reform bill which the U. S. Civil Service system back to peacetime basis was one provision that would provide important impact on veterans who held Federal jobs.

These veterans left Government work at the understanding that they could go back to the same jobs when they returned—providing the jobs still existed on their return.

But under the new executive order, the veteran may be required to return only if peacetime Civil Service status had been announced for their particular job.

Case of John Jones

If John Jones is still in the Army when he is discharged, he can go back on the job he was in even if the job was still in existence. The Army, It was his understanding when he left, that he could go back to the job he had immediately after leaving. But, alas, when he got out of the Army, and applied for his old job, he was denied.

Barrier in Getting Back

Under the rules established by the Army, when he left, he could go back to his job immediately after leaving to take an exam in order to keep it. But, he was unable to take the exam, which is required for getting back in the Army.

Now, however, under the new rules, he must first take an exam in order to keep his old job. And even after the exam has been taken, he may be out of luck, because he was still in the Army.

Vets Meet a Barrier

WASHINGTON, May 10—In getting jobs back from the Army, a veteran may meet a barrier.

Before the war, he was a grade 9 employee, in the War Department. He held a war service appointment—permis, for the duration—plus six months. He left the Army when it was disestablished. When he went into the Post Office Department last year, he learned that he could not go back to the job he had left but that he had to take an exam in order to keep it. But, alas, when he got out of the Army, and applied for his old job, he was denied.

WASHINGTON, May 10—In getting jobs back from the Army, a veteran may meet a barrier.

Before the war, he was a grade 9 employee, in the War Department. He held a war service appointment—permis, for the duration—plus six months. He left the Army when it was disestablished. When he went into the Post Office Department last year, he learned that he could not go back to the job he had left but that he had to take an exam in order to keep it. But, he was unable to take the exam, which is required for getting back in the Army.

Now, however, under the new rules, he must first take an exam in order to keep his old job. And even after the exam has been taken, he may be out of luck, because he was still in the Army.
