Postal Clerk-Carrier Test
Postponed to Oct. 1

The U. S. examination for Substitute Clerk-Carrier jobs in the Post Office will start on Thursday, August 1.

VOL. 7—NO. 45

Postal Clerk-Carrier Test

Temporary positions in these titles. These will not be the first seven days of the extensive period set aside for the examination.

The present 11,000 employees seeking to take their temporary post examinations, surprisingly 80 per cent, must postpone, having been the first of all 3,884 who passed the pass mark, and still set out on the register.

There is no present information on when the results of the examinations will be published, nor when the register will be made final.

The postal clerk carrier, for this reason, will be posted.

Most of the candidates will be those who have passed the examination.

Reinforcement of last year and previous years to bring about a liberalization of the State Retirement System. Dr. Frank T. O'Connell, President of the Association of State Civil Service Employees, and Charles C. Dubhar, Chairman of the Committee on Pension Reform of the Association, have been appointed.

Bill Asks $500 U. S. Raise

WASHINGTON, July 23—Representative Neely (D., W. Va.) introduced a bill to grant a $500 raise to Federal employees, including Post Office workers. It explained that the bill was intended to offset the effect of the rise in the cost of living on Federal personnel.

The bill has the support of the American Federation of Government Employees and the National Federation of Government Employees, but is opposed by the United Public Workers of America.

The bill has the support of the National Association of Stenographers and Accountants, who had expressed themselves against the bill on grounds of economy in Federal spending, or meeting it, but are now actually receptive to proposals for increases.

The opinion expressed by some legislators that a pay increase bill would be difficult to pass now, because of the short time before adjournment, in view of the election of October 15, when the election of a new President was to be held.

Forand's bill to allow all U. S. employees who left the Federal service involuntarily after 25 years' service to be retired on full salary at age 55, is said to be acceptable to House members of the Committee.

The bill has been passed by the House. The final decision is to be taken by the Senate in the interest of benefits to persons over 55.

Nominating Committee Meets

WASHINGTON, July 23—The first meeting of the Nominating Committee of the National Association of State Civil Service Employees was held, and recommendations were made for the election of new members of the Executive Committee.

The nominating committee consists of Charles A. Brind, Mgr. of the American Federation of Government Employees, and John A. Cronin, Mgr. of the United Public Workers of America.

The meeting of the association will be held in Albany on October 15, when the election will take place.

NYC Promotions Hit Money Snag

Money difficulties menace NYC promotions in clerical, typographical, bookkeeping and accounting titles. The prospect of more than 500 promotions, with raise effective July 1 last, looks dimmer, budget examiners stated.

NYC being pressed by departments for more money for new personnel, supplies and equipment. Extra money, beyond the budget, afforded Federal employees in the Health Department to prosecute the restaurant clean-up drive.

Promotions would apply if not requiring more than $120 and, if granted, would benefit many employees who are now receiving $120 a month.

The Board of Estimate on July 25 is expected to post-pone action on the promotions.
Social Welfare Teachers Seek End of Inequality

Want Same Vacations as in Mental Hygiene, Health and Education and More Working Out of Title—Get Some Official Backing

By F. X. CLANCY

ALBANY, July 23.—The practice of having employees work out of title, under conditions that impose inequities, has caused increased adverse comment among teachers in the field of Social Welfare, especially because of the trend toward reductions when it seemed almost at hand. The next step will be to get the proposals approved by Budget Director John E. Burton.

In the Department of Mental Hygiene, Health and Education the excess of work has put the Social Welfare teachers into a one-month vacation, and was required to work out of title, except for the first week, to accomplish that some years ago.

The vacation question is reported to have been considered recently by a group of officials, and the official word has come from Mr. Robert L. Landaile, who is said to have made some changes in the vacation disparity. Employees in the Supplemental Commissioner Landaile recognized the fact that some Social Workers had no vacation, and it was conceded that he will do all within his power. He is known to be sympathetic to the ideas.

Confidence in Landaile

On a showdown between added compensation and extra vacation, to accomplish equalization, most of the Social Welfare teachers interviewed preferred the extra vacation as they pointed out, the out-of-title work then would end. The problem was before the Personnel Council, of which Mr. Landaile is Chairman, and Charles L. Campbell and Charles F. Bush are members. It is reported that the Council sympathizes with the idea of adding compensation and making it the major decision when it is in that year.

Pay Differential, Too

Pay of the Social Welfare and Mental Hygiene is correcting is higher, but that is inequitable, because the work they do is of the same nature and the same degree of difficulty. There is no feeling in Social Welfare that the teachers should not get the long vacations of the other Social Welfare teachers should be treated the same as at the same salary in the three other departments.

Four Schools Affected

The Social Welfare Department and the State Education Department, the Training School for Girls, at Watervliet, the Thomas Indus School, at Catonsville, and the Training School for Boys, at Warwick, are in that group.

Teachers in those schools report that they perform various duties during the summer far removed from teaching, for instance, as boys or girls' supervisors, guards, scout camp direction, farm squad sides, and, in the cases of some women, as clerks in the business office. They cite the Polk-Hamilton law as proving that employers should not be required to work out of title, except for the first week, to accomplish that some years ago.

In the recent Salary Board meeting Social Workers in the Social Welfare Department were compared to Social Workers in the Education Department, our best wishes.

The State Employee

By Frank I. Tolman
President, The Association of State Civil Service Employees

Need Exists to Improve 'Job Classification

CLASSIFICATION and salary allocation are two essential parts of the system developed to evaluate the work of the public employees. A good classification system and a fair salary scale will automatically go hand in hand. The decision on how to define jobs, what to pay for them, how much the pay should be and how it should change, is not arbitrary and unfair. It should be fixed on the basis of the work, and often is too particularistic and at times it looks at a job as an individual phenomenon, and ignores its relationship to the same level. To serve its full purpose, classification must always be recognized as the particular jobs themselves.

Classification

The classification of a large service always suffers when unique, unclassified positions are created or recognized. These X-quantities confuse the arithmetic of classification. Classification always suffers when additional titles are recognized or created. The entire purpose of classification is to get below organizational titles and get at fundamental and functional relationships and differences. Classification always suffers when additional titles or groups are added to the plans and are slurred or subordinated in a standard and series. This generally means favoritism for a few.

AXIOMS OF CLASSIFICATION

It is for the purpose of both uniformity and efficiency in classification that certain axioms have been developed as follows: classification:

1. There must be only a strictly limited number of standard titles.
2. Grade or rank designations (as junior, assistant, senior, principal, head, chief, etc.) shall be a part of each title.
3. The specific standard of promotion and transfer will be clearly shown.

Policy rather than fact or classification determines the number of titles to be used. Under classification, the number of titles are fixed by law. This means that all employees will have the same meaning whenever used.

In the State service some $6,000 jobs are required to about 1,100 titles to about 28,000 positions and to earn these titles more than are needed and there are many more new positions seen.

What then is the situation in respect to the classification of the State service?

The Guttentag survey gave a fundamental sound basis of classification. The careers of employees were studied with the aid of the Social Science Research Council's study of government. During the years before the Welt-Hamilton Law was adopted and the Guttentag survey was made, no reference to the classification plan. Mental Hygiene came under the planning of a career and the fixed idea that the administrative official was the proper basis of classification. In every department requests abounded for new and non-standard titles, many of which were approved.

CLASSIFICATION JOB AHEAD

New York, then, is still far from having a uniformly classified, and only limited progress has been made in job description. The classification plan has been too hazy to appeal to the ability to unravel the most involved statistical problem and to translate his findings into an accurate and understandable memorandum, free from suspicion of self-interest and without the comment of State Comptroller Frank M. Lincoln on Frick Cowen's selection as a gold medalist in the recent classification.

"As the head of the Research Division of the State Civil Service Commission, it behooves me to devote my attention to the classification of State Civil Service employees with a view to its equitable and uniform distribution of public service.

Westercheter Adopts Salary Plan Linked To Cost of Living

The Westchester County Competitive Civil Service Association today adopted the Bylaws of the Board of Supervisors, and the immediate approval by Acting County Executive James C. Harding of the salary scales recommended in the Harrington Report. These schedules resulted from 19 months of work by the Harrington Association, a private agency hired for the purpose of rendering an objective report. The schedules are linked on the same as the Bureau of Labor Statistics' Price Index.

The adoption means the Association, noting that success attended the five-year feud, marks the biggest step forward for county employees since the depression, and applies to a $300 increase in Emergency Compensation for employees below $6,000 (Salary rated 1932 were set.

"Approval of the Harrington Report recommended in the Report on the matter of classification, creating that the Association has been working steadily and substantially raise the pay level of County employees, and to many, many years

It will be the rate of 3.5 for each position above the $201 Price Index above 125 percent. The Index on April 15 was 124, giving a figure of 215 Emergency Compensation for the rest of the year.

$300 of the present War Emergency Compensation of $390 will be put in the permanent scales, on that all employees will receive a $150 increase as of July 1 (from $360 to $510).

Minimum Pay Up

The Emergency Compensation is also being extended to all positions except those whose salaries are fixed by law. This means that holders of those jobs who receive the $150 per year will receive a full $350 increase in Emergency Compensation (Salary fixed 1932 set).

The basic minimum pay for the County Board of Supervisors was the $1,050 adopted last August to $1,650, by inclusion of the $350 of War Emergency Compensation in the permanent pay scale.

$300 of the War Emergency Compensation is to be added to the permanent pay of each employee except those whose salaries are fixed by law.

Application of Scales

If the figure so arrived at is in a particular case is below the minimum set by Harrington for the position, then the individual will receive an increase the same as the minimum. If the employee would be entitled to an increment anyway on July 1, he is to receive the increment or be increased to the new minimum, whichever is greater. $215 E. C. will be added.

ALBANY, July 23—A membership drive will be begun by the Association of State Civil Service Employees on August 1, covering all the Albany office of the Association for such a drive. Some preliminary steps were taken in NYC last month, when Laurence J. Hollis,

Field Representative, spent two weeks at the NYC Chapter office, and will return to that task next month, at the request of President Carlisle. Culler of that chapter, who made the arrangements with William T. McDonough, Executive Representative of the Association.

The campaign is now being mapped and one Chapter after another will receive the assistance requested, on a schedule to be arranged.

Chapters that desire to participate are formed membership committees, if they do not already have one.

Charles A. Carlisle, JR.

has been his constant attendant. Mr. Carlisle is the representative of the American Legion of Ter Bush and Powell and manages the Society and which is in the office of the Albany Social Welfare Commissioners at the request of the State.

The new facility is a branch of the State Training School for Boys, the second center of this type. The first facility, now in preparation in the New Hampton School, N.Y.C., owned property in Orange County, was the building formerly used as a center for the treatment and care of a small group of court-committed delinquent boys will be opened this fall in connection with the League of Social Welfare at 105 Schermerhorn Street, Brooklyn. Five Pension Bills
Passage a Delayed Boon

The Council’s unanimous vote in favor of the proposed redistribution of voting strength on the Board of Trustees of the Fire Department Pension Fund, after receipt of an emergency message from Mayor O’Dwyer, was a fitting atonement for long delayed action on worthwhile legislation. The bills represent agreement by the Uniformed Fire Officers Association with the Firemen’s Association and the Uniformed Fire Officers Association. Thus any past differences were composed.

Still, some opposition must have continued, not the least of which was to be found in the Firemen’s Association, which has always been quick to revive lost influence. It is fortunate that the Mayor, who has been opposed, is small, but the principle at stake is large. If out-of-title work would disappear. Some additional teachers would have to be hired.

NO AID FOR EXEMPTS

If the veteran held an exempt position and such position was abolished in 1945, then you are entitled to military reemployment list status.

If he held a reemployment list position, then he is also entitled to military employment list status and must be restored to a position similar to the one he held at the time he entered military duty.

WHAT TO REQUEST

If his name was reached for certification while he was in military service, his name being released in accordance with the Militarv Law to appoint him or to skip over his name, if he appointed him, then, even though the veteran was unable to report for duty, he was granted a military leave of absence with the right to return to his position.

If he remained absent from his position for more than forty-five days after the termination of military duty, the veteran should request that his name be removed from the military reappointment list.

It is hoped that the veteran groups, many years ago, public assistance has been gradually expanded to include hospitalization and chronic care in institutions without some help from the State it will be impossible to meet these needs.

State Welfare Teachers’ Plea Should Succeed

OBSSESSION to summer work performed out of title is small, but the principle at stake is large. If out-of-title work would disappear. Some additional teachers would have to be hired.

The purpose is to rectify an impossible situation where representation is accorded to organizations either as an expression of public opinion, and some to thriving, representative groups.

State Welfare Teachers’ Plea Should Succeed

It is admittedly a problem to keep the one department running comparatively to other departments, even in the absence of political infighting. The number of teachers in Social Welfare is small, but the principle at stake is large. If out-of-title work would disappear. Some additional teachers would have to be hired.

Candidates Call Fire Test Stiff

Candidates who took the NYC examination for Fireman (F.D.), held a week ago Saturday, report that the examination was well received because it would be more suitable for promotion to Lieutenant.

At the various schools where the tests were held candidates told representatives of The LEADER that the examination was a "fair and good test." One candidate described it as a "whiz." Others believed that the tests were fair, the only criticism being that the firemen who withdrew their applications after the examination finished earlier than they had expected, thought the test was "too much for the average man." This criticism was made at several of the schools, but few candidates were left who felt this way.

The physical examination is expected to be held early in September.

An analysis of the exam for Fireman (F.D.) given a week ago Saturday to 15,909 candidates by NYC shows that 36 percent of the questions were phrased in physics, 15 percent in chemistry, 12 percent in mathematics, 10 percent in biology, and 6 percent in geometry, other topics.

The most important question for you, the candidate, was "What is the fire from here?" asked in the New York Fire Department's answer sheet. The next most important question was "What is the fire from here?" asked in the New York Times.

The first 25 questions are published, and the terminal end of the test is the test of mental alertness.

Given in Official Text

The official examiner in the NYC examination for Fireman (F.D.), and a report of the key answers to the questions of the test, which is still in progress, will be of interest to candidates for the test. The exam will be given on a basis that will not take more than 30 minutes per question.

The second question asked was: "What is the fire from here?" The third question asked was: "What is the fire from here?" The fourth question asked was: "What is the fire from here?"

The economy of time is usually wasted on the first two questions. The third question asked was: "What is the fire from here?"

The examination was held on Saturday, May 9, and will be held on Saturday, May 16, at the New York Times. The examination will be held on Saturday, May 9, and will be held on Saturday, May 16, at the New York Times.

Judgment and Language Sample Answers for Clerk-Carrier Exam

The candidate in the Post Office Department's Civil Service Commission, whose name is held in confidence, has been selected for the job of a fireman. The selection was made on the basis of a test of mental alertness and a test of reasoning ability.

The test of mental alertness consisted of 20 questions, of which 15 were answered correctly by the candidate. The test of reasoning ability consisted of 30 questions, of which 20 were answered correctly by the candidate.

The candidate's answers showed a clear understanding of the problems presented, and a logical approach to the solution of the problems.

The candidate's answers are typewritten and are available for examination by candidates for the fireman's examination.

Fire Lieut. Filing Active Near End

As almost 6,000 Firemen have applied for the examination for Lieutenant today, it was conditioned that 2,000 would enter the test will be more fully fulfilled by tomorrow (Wednesday), when the test will be held at the New York Times.

As is true of practically all examinations, the largest number of applications are received in the last few days, and normally by the final day of the examination.

The last examination was held in 1941 and the previous examination was not held last year, but now it is under way, and applications are increasing in that order:

1. veterans; 2. veterans and non-veterans; 3. non-veterans.

force to a fire, your officer cautions you:

(A) damage to its tires may leave a piece of fire apparatus stranded; (B) burst hose may rob the fire company to which you are assigned. As an alert fireman, you should realize that the fire chief next time this order is given will not make any unnecessary change in your duties during this maneuver.

16. Suppose that the duty of the fire hose is to maintain the distance of the hose from the pump. What is the distance that the hose will not jump into a life net unperceptibly? (A) the fire covers a large area; (B) a person attempting to distribute the shock; (C) an employee who is not allowed to "give" slightly at the moment of impact.

17. "Fireman holding a life net should keep their eye on the person jumping from a burning building. You will then be able to best justify this recommendation is that: (A) the fire covers a large area; (B) necessary because such action would allow persons to distribute the shock; (C) an employee who is not allowed to "give" slightly at the moment of impact.

Two Congratulated at NYC Chapter Dinner

Diners at the dinner-meeting of the New York City Chapter of the Civil Service Commission turned out to pay tribute to two students who have been recommended to the NYC Chapter for full Power Memorial scholarships. The winner of the 1946 Power Scholarship was Cornelius J. O'Shea, Service Commission technician. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John O'Shea of Jamaica, Queens. His application was recommended by the NYC Chapter of the Civil Service Commission.

The second recipient was Roland Bernard, a junior at the High School for the Performing Arts in New York City. His application was recommended by the NYC Chapter of the Civil Service Commission.

Summer Resorts Plan To Stay Open Longer
Summer will be two months longer in New York State this year, the New York State Department of Conservation announced today. The prediction follows a survey which shows that for the first time in history the majority of the state's resorts are planning to extend their season into the early fall months.

According to the Department's figures 85 percent of the resorts now open will be open in September, and 70 percent will be open in October. They will be able to accommodate about half as many guests during these two months as they were able to last in July and August.

Resort operators report that the demand for reservations is setting new records, and some people planning vacations this year are looking for places where they can extend their stay into the fall. The inverter summer vacation period, which usually ends around July 15, will be extended by an additional two months.

Traditionally, the resort season runs from late May to Labor Day, but this is the first time that New York resort operators have been able to welcome guests into the resort season as early as September. This has led to a rush of new reservations, and the Department expects that the trend will continue into October.

The decision to extend the season has been welcomed by both guests and resort owners. "It's great to have the resorts open longer," said one guest, "especially if you're planning a vacation in August or September." Resort owners have also been pleased with the decision, saying that it will help them to make ends meet during a difficult year.

The Department of Conservation has also been working with the state's resorts to ensure that they are prepared to handle the additional guests. They have provided advice on how to prepare for the extended season, including tips on how to extend the season's life, how to maintain the quality of the accommodations, and how to ensure the safety of the guests.

In addition, the Department has also been working with state and local governments to ensure that the resorts have the necessary permits and licenses to operate during the extended season. They have also been working with the state's health department to ensure that the resorts are able to meet the necessary health and safety standards.

The decision to extend the season has also been welcomed by the state's tourism industry, which has been struggling to recover from the pandemic. "It's great to have the resorts open longer," said one tourism industry expert, "especially if you're planning a vacation in August or September." Resort owners have also been pleased with the decision, saying that it will help them to make ends meet during a difficult year.

Edward C. Costello retired from the Fire Department on an annual pension of $3,735. His friends and associates in the department are sorry to see him go but wish him well in his new field of work.

Order No. 39, the three special fire companies which had been operating on Long Island, was struck from the books of the Department of Fire Protection of the State of New York, so that the companies have now been called back three times since June 25th to combat fires, which the department considers an extinction blaze in the sections.

When the firemen of the New Jersey Fire Department stepped in on Long Island, they were not stopped from revisiting the athletic field of the department, but many companies have been called back three times since June 25th to combat fires, which the department considers an extinction blaze in the sections.
