Urgent: Last Opportunity for Local Employees to Get Benefits of Unemployment Insurance Law

Employees Fight Cut in U.S. Leave

WASHINGTON, May 1 — Although a proposed flat reduction in the number of days of annual leave allowed in Federal employment is believed dead for this session of Congress, the rider on the general appropriations bill to prevent the accumulation of annual leave from one year to another is to come up for action soon. The rider is part of the bill being discussed, piece by piece, in the House of Representatives, and is expected to be voted on in a week or so.

Employees' organizations are making a strong fight against any enrollment of Federal leave.

Wher Eider Is Dangerous

The White House is said to be ready to veto any separate bill redacting or limiting present Federal leave, such as was proposed in the Senate.

The survival of the leave-reducing rider would make it necessary for President Truman to veto the appropriations bill, if the rider remains attached, to prevent such reduction. No such veto could be expected.

Annual leave is the employee's vacation and amounts to 26 days a year. An employee who does not use his annual leave during the calendar year may accumulate up to 90 days of annual leave, and, with the current year, have a full 90 days.

The extent of Investigation Commissioner James H. Silver's inquiry into the operations of the NYC Civil Service Commission was ascertained by The LEADER, which learned that about 300 disqualification cases are being studied as a result of a bill sponsored by the Senate Finance Committee subcommittee on pension systems.

By MAXWELL LEHMAN

In the recent accorded page 1 stories, of impersonation in NYC civil service tests lightly treated by the Municipal Civil Service Commission, no one has accused that agency of corruption or criminal intent. But the evidence mounts that of laxity, even stupidity, there has been plenty.

ALBANY, May 1—This is an urgent reminder!

Only a few weeks remain during which any city, county or other unit of local government can file notice of its desire to come under the laws extending unemployment insurance coverage to its employees in the benefits year beginning Monday, June 5, 1950. Failure by any local government unit to file notice by this date means the delay of at least another whole year before beneficiaries' payments can be made to its employees.

The responsibility for seeing that the filled-in blanks are mailed, and in time, rests with the employee-member. The deadline for present members is December 31, 1958. Association Board

The new law, which was the No. 1 legislative objective of The Civil Service Employees Association, provides increased pension benefits plus the optional retirement age at 55. Compendory retirement age remains 70. Additional contributions required of the employee-member toward his annuity account to bring it up to provable parity with the pension he receives will be about 50 per cent; hence for a present normal rate of 5 per cent of salary, the new basis will require an increase to about 75 per cent for future payments.

As a part of civil service, the employee-member may decide for himself whether he will make this contribution in his account up to maximum for a given year or continue to take the assured pension benefit. The increase amount for any 40 years of service in less than 40 years, the employee-member may receive pension in lieu of a pension paid annual annuity and an employee-paid annual annuity account closed. Oneida Group Gets Charter In Association

The Oneida chapter of the Civil Service Employees Association, at a charter dinner held in the Hotel Utica May 1, has been chartered. The organization, which was organized and is chartered under the recently amended Civil Service Employees Association Act, is the third chapter of the CEU to be chartered in this state.

George T. Williams, county treasurer of Oneida County, was introduced to the guests, including Mrs. G. A. Hart and other local representatives of the labor movement. The new charter was presented to the organization by J. Allyn Allen, state insurance commissioner.

The chartering of the Oneida chapter is in keeping with the need for cooperation by public employees in furtherance of the public's interests. The chartering of this organization brings into Oneida County the headquarters of a national union which is now being spread throughout the state.

The opening of the charter meeting was taken up with the election of officers. The officers elected are: Charles R. Culyer, president; Robert H. Boyd, vice-president; and Betty Biber, secretary.

It is expected that the new chapter will be the nucleus of the civil service employees movement in Oneida County, which is now being organized on a county-wide basis.

The chartering of the Oneida chapter is a step in the right direction and is expected to be the beginning of a new era in the public service of Oneida County.
WHAT EMPLOYEES SHOULD KNOW

WHEN COMPETITIVE TEST IS NEEDED FOR 'NON-COMPETITIVE' JOB

By THEODORE RUEGER

For the benefit of employees, it is necessary that a job is not in the exempt class when an examination is not used to fill that particular job automatically falls in the competitive class. If a job is not properly appointed to a competitive class, your appointment will stand up and the competition determination will be made by holding a competitive examination at the time you are appointed to an exempt job. A non-competitive job (with only a qualifying examination) will be appointed.

There are no examinations in the civil service, although acting in good faith, some employees think on passing competitive examinations in the competitive class. However, except the competitive class, it cannot except a job from competitive examination when it is possible to hold a test for such a job on a competitive basis. If you happen to be appointed to a non-competitive job (without competitive examination) it will be a competitive job. If you happen to be appointed to a non-competitive job (with only a qualifying examination) will be appointed.

NYC Chapter Hears Plea For More Liberal Pensions

Needed: A Survey of NYC Civil Service

of good government operation. There is need for a thorough look upon all phases of the City's civil service and personnel system. Because the job and education career-salary plan become reality. But high priority should be given to a simultaneous study, preferably to be undertaken immediately, covering every other phase of personnel practices. Such a survey would be particularly appropriate now, with the State recodifying its civil service law. NYC has a deep stake in that law, and its voice should be heard.

In nearly every area involving personnel, the City is weak. Let us look at some of these areas:

RECRUITING: The basis of a good civil service is recruiting. If you don't get the proper people to take your civil service tests, you will have no effective civil service. Clearing it itself in the quality of municipal work performed. The Municipal Civil Service Commission just doesn't know how to get qualified personnel to take them. But he is not sending out routine application notices. This newspaper has seen far too many of such notices. There are many fine people who are available for an enterprising agency to recruit the people needed. Essentially, in good recruiting, you go after the man you want; you don't sit in the hope that he may come to you. The lack of qualified candidates in some City tests is notorious. If an additional appropriation is needed for this purpose, it should be provided. But imagination is the primary need.

EXAMINATIONS: Incredible as it seems, the City performs practically no research to find the best testing methods, to determine whether its examinations work, are overworked, and underpaid. There are fewer examiners in the Municipal Civil Service Commission than in the State Civil Service Commission, and many of the examiners are not as well trained as they should be. Some of the best examiners have left for other jobs, as much as 50 per cent of the examiners are unqualified, and the remaining 50 per cent are overworked.

In-service training: An enterprising civil service commission ought to be spearheading a campaign for comprehensive in-service training. Both in private industry and in the City, it has been found to "pay off" in better service and in higher morale. The City, too, many cases of promotions based not on ability or efficiency but on personal ties. NYC has a deep stake in its civil service laws than the real or fancied benefits many ordinary citizens and many workers bring to the civil service laws. The Civil Service Law has been changed to get rid of unsatisfactory employees in the civil service, but this has not been done to a satisfactory extent. I really feel that from the employee's point of view the civil service would be more effective in encouraging its employees to work harder and to get rid of the inefficient and unqualified personnel. The Federation of Federal Employees) is too much in the hands of people who think they know of the problems. The simple fact is that the City is so large and complicated a form of government, the City has a large stake in that law, and its voice should be heard.

Do we not need study and the City's approach to them needs reorientation? The lack of qualified candidates in some City tests is notorious. If an additional appropriation is needed for this purpose, it should be provided. But imagination is the primary need.

PROMOTIONS: There are too many dead-end jobs in the City's civil service, and too few positions of promotions based not on ability but on personal ties. The City has a deep stake in that law, and its voice should be heard.

UNIFORMITY OF RULES: Working conditions, leave, vacation time, absence arrangements, lateness practices, vary from agency to agency. A uniform personnel policy, so to speak, would be a necessity in the City, and the Municipal Civil Service Commission, is necessary to end the present confusion. The Municipal Civil Service Commission and personnel heads in departments. And personal chiefs should know personnel. No established person should be promoted without the consent of the Municipal Civil Service Commission. In some agencies the work is performed by clerks.

LABOR RELATIONS: With a work-force greater than that of any government entity except that of the Federal government, the City has no labor relations program. Too much depends on whim, on personal contact, on pressures on political touch-and-go. A modern labor relation policy is a vital requirement, with the fullest writs and protections accorded municipal employees, so that they can deal with the employer on a basis of dignity and equality. Where such a relationship exists, whether in government or private industry, work performance always gains through stabilized conditions and heightened security-feelings in the employees.

Wage structure, hours of work, overtime, increments, annual leave, vacations, civil service, recruitment, employee incentives, the element of the Budget Director's responsibility for personnel actions, the proper place of the civil service examiner, and of course merit system fundamentals—these aspects of the personnel picture are the most fundamental. On any of these matters there has been any evidence of an approach that could be characterized as imaginative.

There will be more comment in future issues.

Millions of Catholios the world over will make a pilgrimage to Rome this Holy Year. It is estimated that more than 2,000,000 will visit the Tombs of the Apostles alone.

For more than six centuries, faithful Catholic pilgrims have responded to the call of the Popes to Rome in the Holy Years when the Pontiffs have designated. By visiting the tombs of the Apostles, accompanied by a solemn Mass, the faithful have the great privilege of showing to God and mankind respect and honor to those who taught and founded the Church.

The present Holy Year was designated by Pope Pius XII in 1950, the four principal intentions of the Holy Year Jubilees. The four principal intentions chosen by Pope Pius XII are:

1. Sanctification of souls through prayer and penance, and unambitious faith to Christ and the Church.
2. Actions of peace and defense of Holy places.

made uniform at prices substantially less than the prices paid by patrolmen for theirs.

Crane, McManus:
The action of the firemen's organization came in an exchange of recent letters between John P. Crane, President of the Uniformed Fireman's Association, and John F. McManus, a patrolman who heads the "civil service Committee," and has been critical of present leadership in the Firemen's Benevolent Association. McManus had written Crane asking whether the UFA’s low-cost merchandise and equipment planned for purchase by patrolmen could be used by firemen. Crane answered that equipment was not under the control of the organization, which installed the plan, under the same conditions as for the patrolmen.

The Uniformed Firemen's Association conducts a store at 160 Chambers Street. Here items of purchase are available, not only for the men, but for all members of the family. But those having access to the plan are not limited to firemen for sale in the stores. They may obtain discounts on electrical appliances, furniture, sportswear, jewelry, even automobiles.

Add: Jerry Purcell, secretary of the UFA: "If we don't have an arrangement now for some item which a member wants, we'll make that arrangement.

The plan works like this: A fireman or patrolman wants, let us say, a certain make of radio. He goes to the store and outlines his needs. He receives a card telling him that he is the holder of a "referral." The UFA instills is a contact with the merchant, he goes to the designated merchant, selects the radio, and shows him the card. He is then given a discount. It is handled in the same manner, or more than $2,000,000 a year in living costs as a result of the multiple operation of the union. Patrolmen will now have a chance in participating in similar savings.

CLOTHES FROM MANUFACTURER

English Clithens, 150 Fifth Avenue, New York, 11, N. Y., has developed a system of handling the men's clothing for the Patrolmen's Benevolent Association. The plan is entirely self-operating, with the members handling the purchase of their own merchandise.

Patrolman Appointments

Police Commissioner John P. O'Brien revised his Patrolman appointment schedule upward on receiving Board of Estimate approval of 1,100 additional Patrolman jobs in the 1950-51 budget.

Originally he had set up a schedule of appointments to start September 1, to 450 each three months. Now the plan is to increase the appointment quotas to a little more than 700 and to start making the appointments earlier. This new budget goes into effect on July 1. No appointments would be made until then, so there is no appropriation.

New List After Jan 1

An exam for filing Patrolman jobs is now under way. The medicals will begin on Monday, May 23 at Van Cortlandt Park.

The papers in the written test are being rated, school by school. When one school is completed, those who took the test in that school and passed will be called to the medics. It makes no difference in what order the medics are called to the medic, which are qualifying tests only. Candidates are marked Qualified or Not Qualified.

Patrolman eligibles by Joseph A. McNamara, President of the Commission, that the new list will not be promulgated under any circumstances until job offers have expired on all on the current list. The remaining eligibles total about 1,500.

The present uniformed force consists of 14,920. The new quota would be 19,978, including 50 new Sergeant jobs.
