Polio Fighters Face Surprise Wage Cut; Assn. Acts to Combat Downgrading

by HELEN NOLAN NEIL

ALBANY, June 5 — The Civil Service Employment Association, through its president, Dr. Franklin L. Tolman, has pledged all-out opposition to the proposed downgrade by one grade of 30 Veterans Physical Therapy Technicians at the Rehabilitation Hospital at West Harrison. Dr. Tolman has assured those affected that the Association is seriously concerned and will do everything in its power to prevent the proposed reduction in grade.

This is the second such salary reduction proposed by the Division of Classification and Compensation since the end of World War II. Debate is still pending following two public hearings on the proposed reclassification in grade of the Claims Examiner title in the Division of Placement and Unemployment Insurance.

At a recent meeting of the Nassau County chapter, Civil Service Employees Association, and with John Carney, Oxford, N.Y., the State is unable to find the few dollars necessary to pay the best qualified practitioners of human reassembly and the State is properly called a Reconstruction Home or a Rehabilitation Hospital.

We give our dimes and dollars to fight polio. If the State is unable to find the few dollars necessary to pay the best qualified practitioners of human reassembly and the State is properly called a Reconstruction Home or a Rehabilitation Hospital.

A Human Sense of Direction

Romance plays a large part also in politics and in state government. The Empire State has long enjoyed prestige and even glory for its many-sided fight against the chief enemies of our polical life. Everything, however, is relative, and a new series of enemies of human life. Every Governor in my recollection has proclaimed his interest in having New York State in the forefront in the fight for health and sanitation. I do not think, I need to know all the facts, to know that the directions shown in this proposal are not forward but are a retreat. We cannot contemplate any retreat before so foul an enemy as polio. We cannot be satisfied with anything but the best when the fate of our children is in the balance. It is the duty of the State to combat the rising tide of polio epidemics. We cannot demobilize and promote our front line forces, when the fight still lies in the balance.

Central Conference Plans June Meeting

Greene County Has Big Appeal

Greene County, a beautiful vacation haven, only 2½ hours from New York City, offers a friendly hospitality that has endeared it to vacationists for many generations. Its towns and villages offer comfortable accommodations for every taste, hotels, boarding houses, dude ranches, cabins and tourist homes; modern stores, shops and services to please you.

Greene County extends from the Hudson River to the top of the mountains and the pleasant beyond. There are many streams and creeks, with natural swimming pools fed by mountain springs and springs.

Hiking is good, through field and woods, along back roads, or mountain climbing. There are picnic facilities and campgrounds in the State Park by a mountain lake. Swimming is sporty in the natural pools and streams, and there are many safe shallow places for the children. Sportsmen find year-round activity. The vacationist will find entertainment, and movies. The mountains are Greene County's vacationland, only 3½ hours from the Hudson River to the top of the mountains. The section is known as Plantation Estates and rests at Lake Monroe, opposite Sanford, Fla., where the New York Giants have their training camp and their fine facilities. Plantation Estates Popular

In the lush, pleasant, ridge country of central Florida, in the high lake region, a group of retired civil service employees—a substantial number of them from New York State—have established homes. Other civil service workers have purchased property in this area for vacation purposes and for ultimate permanent residence. The section is known as Plantation Estates and rests at Lake Monroe, opposite Sanford, Fla., where the New York Giants have their training camp and their fine facilities. The New York Giants have established Plantation Estates and rests at Lake Monroe, opposite Sanford, Fla., where the New York Giants have their training camp and their fine facilities.

A LEADER reporter who interviewed these retired public employees found all of them expressing contentment. They stated that the climate is delightful nearly all the year round. Outside the hurricane area, Plantation Estates homes are never bothered by harmful winds which do so much damage elsewhere. Inquiry about the work opportunities for those who might desire to establish homes here developed that a reported need exists for small stores, and services of many kinds. A notions store, a hardware store, an auto repair station are only a few of the current needs. The former "desk" workers are being able to find jobs and doing well, for much territory is newly settled, providing a sure and steady business for craftsmen, if they wish. Recreation is a part of regular living in Plantation Estates, with swimming, boating, fishing and all the almost endless opportunities, if they wish. Residents report their health improved after they'd been at the Estates only a short while.

Plantation Estates maintains an office at 600 Fifth Avenue, N.Y., and welcomes inquiries from civil service employees.

Untaxed Pensions Backed By National Conference

BURLINGTON, Vt., June 5—The National Conference of Civil Service Employees, hearing arguments in favor of exemption from Federal Income Taxation the retirement allowances of former public employees, has endorsed this position. The Conference has favored such exemption for years and is hoping that favorable action will be obtained from the present session of Congress.

Members attending the meeting heard reports of the situation in Washington. It was said that many legislators favor the exemption and that Senator Warner P. George of Georgia, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, wrote that he liked the exemption bill but that it should be offered as a part of tax legislation, and not tied to the Social Security bill.

Others remembered that exemptions granted under the Railroad Retirement Act were enacted as part of the social legislation program, not as a part of a tax measure.

Lehman’s Views

Senator Herbert Lehman expressed himself strongly paralleling that of Senator George in letters that he sent to constituents advising them to back an exemption in connection with the Social Security bill.

That bill, H.R. 6000, has been passed by the House, with a provision for the possible inclusion of public employee pension systems in the Social Security program. However, strong opposition came from the Civil Service Employees Association, with three-quar ters of the New York State employees among its members, and the Senate Finance Committee has not been given the power to add the pension systems of public employees in the Senate version of the bill.

Lehman wrote that he liked the exemption bill as a part of tax legislation, and as a part of the social legislation program.

Retirement Law

The Conference, however, was not over- hearted by the bill which was passed in 1950 as a part of the social legislation program. It was said that the Conference was not over- hearted by the bill which was passed in 1950 as a part of the social legislation program.
Can A 'Dead' List Be Revived?

BY THEODORE BECKER

YOUR eligibility for appointment, if you are on a non-occupational list, is established after successful examination and competition. If, however, you are on the eligible list for the Civil Service, you may be on that list for four to five years. Under the law, you may hold the rank of eligibles for only the first four years. After the fourth year, you are removed from the eligibles list. However, if you are on the eligibles list for more than four years, your name is retained on the list. The eligibility list becomes "exhausted" when fewer than three eligibles are available to fill appointments. However, a new list is established to replace the exhausted list. The first eligible was appointed in April 1948. A new list was established and the eligibles were put on the waiting list. The Court held that this office has been guilty of undue delay in the disposition of this matter. A letter, in which you announce that this office has been guilty of undue delay in the disposition of this matter, was published in your "Comment" column.

In a case involving the appointment of an ineligible person, the Court held that an ineligible person cannot be appointed to a position. The Court also held that an ineligible person cannot be appointed to a position if the position is not available. In other words, the Court held that the eligibles list cannot be extended beyond the fourth year. However, the Court did allow the establishment of a new list to replace the exhausted list. The new list was established and the eligibles were put on the waiting list. However, the eligibles list is not unlimited. In fact, it is limited to the number of eligible eligibles. The Court held that the eligibles list is limited to the number of eligible eligibles.

55-Year Retirement Plan: What It Is, How It Works, How Much It Costs, How a Member Applies

The 55-Year Retirement Plan, passed by the State Legislature earlier this year, has caused more comment, more queries, than perhaps any other piece of legislation affecting public employees. The LEADER has carried a continuous flow of information concerning this plan. Below, in the form of carefully prepared supplement, are the answers to most of the questions now being asked. Clearly, not every question can be answered; no ready formula has been released by the Retirement System by which any employee might gauge the exact amount of his contribution. But the major problems are answered below. It is suggested that this supplement be retained for future reference.

Benefits, effects, and details are clearly discussed.

Postal Unions Fight to Prevent Job Losses

The order issued by Postmaster General Jesse Donaldson to mail post office and drop 10,000 postal jobs throughout the nation as of July 1 must be countered.

There is no reason to curtail postal service when the volume of mail is so enormous. There is no reason for throwing 10,000 men and women out of work. It isn’t economical. Curtailled and crippled postal service would seriously injure the whole situation with which we are faced.

Curtailment of deliveries already has started. Bad enough, that is, only a minor jar compared to what’s in store on July 1 unless the onslaught is stopped.

The order of Mr. Donaldson is a disastrous blow to the morale of the department’s employees. While those who would lose their jobs are temporary, the substitute and permanent employees would suffer also. Many carriers would lose their jobs and their connections with the department. It would take a year or two to reabsorb the excess clerks into their proper categories. Meanwhile promotion of substitutes would throw about 10,000 men and women out of work. It isn’t economical to the morale of the department’s employees. While those who lose their jobs are temporary, the substitute and permanent employees would suffer also.

New Employee Group

In NYC is Expanding

The growth of the Government and Civic Employees Organizing Committee, CIO, has been so rapid that it has been impossible to keep up with the demand for members. New employee groups are being organized by teams of skilled employees.

One Issue Not Settled

Mr. Baldwin, the chairman of the WAFS, expressed the view that the military sense of the Board of Transportation employees is not in the same way as it was in the case of Mr. Baldwin’s case.

What is "military base pay"?

Does it include longevity pay? The answer to both questions is yes. The military pay includes members of the armed forces because of their years of service. The military pay, as defined in the Supreme Court decision, is equal to the pay of a person who has served in the military service for three years. For example, if a person has served in the military for two years, then he is entitled to military pay. The military pay would be the same for both men and women.

Equality of Topics Asked In Health Inspector Test

A request that the questions in the health inspector. Or these should relate equally to food and sanitation has been made by the NYC Civil Service Commission by the NYC District Council, American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees (AFSCME). In the last test, President Henry Feinsteino wrote the Commission, the same question was made, but the food questions predominated. However, he states that this is discriminatory because eligible employees are appointed to food or sanitation work and there should be no greater stress on one score than another, because of the edge given in those two areas in the centralized specialty.

The examiner in charge of the test told Philip E. Haas, re-commended a 50-50 division. Mr. Feinsteino recalled, Mr. Haasery is now on the staff of the State Civil Service Department in Albany. He was formerly Assistant to the President, Chairman of the civil service Department, Manhattan.

EMIGRANT'S FIRST HUNDRED YEARS

Decades of Expansion

The eighties brought unprecedented growth and prosperity to the Emigrant Industrial Savings Bank. In the first six months alone an amazing advance in deposits of well over a million dollars raised the Bank's total to $19,656,553—and this only thirty years after its doors first opened!

The entire community was showing the deep confidence inspired by Emigrant's steady progress, and by 1888 it served nearly 600 depositors every day, making larger quarters a pressing need. Within three years a new building had been erected on the Bank's Chambers Street site, and its opening prompted one New York newspaper to declare that "the Bank illustrates the success attendant on rigid adherence to correct principles and sound methods."

The Emigrant continued its consistent growth throughout the rest of the decade and into the nineties, withstanding the Panic of 1893, and building business to the point where, in 1899, deposits had increased to $57,089,955 and the number of its depositors to 88,076.

TODAY...Emigrant serves more than 305,000 depositors, protecting their savings of over $595,000,000.
