"35 Years of Career Assistance to Over 400,000 Students"
Meeting Points the Way to 25-Year Correction Pension

ALBANY, June 12 — The new age-55 pension law was the chief topic discussed by the Departmental Employees' Retirement Conference, meeting in the State Armory, attended by William Mechem of Orient Street, the chairman, and Frank Wallace, the executive secretary.

The law was discussed by Terry M. Grant, chairman of the Civil Service Employee Association. The conference group is membership, and the meeting was attended by the editor of The Leader.

Mr. Cohen's comments after he had completed his explanation of the outstanding features of the new law. Most of the questions concerned the value of the liberalization to the employee, the additional future contributions and contributions to wipe out the deficiency account.

Reason for Deficiency Account

That account, Mr. Cohen explained, arisen from the fact that the new law reduces the retirement age by 5 per cent greater than the old law.

That account would be too small, because the account was not paid for the first 25 years. Moreover, the system pays off every five years to offset benefit to which he is entitled, not contributing to one's own account.

Hard to Down False Idea

That system tried to wipe out the misappropriation. The Leader had published the real meaning of the law on the first time and, again, when, retirement age was considered, an employee was shocked to find its retirement account, which was not available to the law, was higher. The employee faces a dilemma, for prospective payments, it is highly advisable to switch to the old law, either the age of the age-55 law or the old-age-40 law, and to make the 25 years, to close the gap, if not completely, as much as possible.

The reason for encouraging the new law was the approval of retirement accounts and the fact that the law permitted after 35 years of service, Mr. Bernard suggested the State Administration, through Dr. Tomlinson, to frame proposed legislation on the new law, to make the pension system of the State and the civil services on an even footing. He added that the State and its civil services are on an even footing, and that the new law provides a more direct contribution by employer and employee. It only affects workers who had worked more than 20 years of service.

Backs Salary Protection

Mr. Bernard also said that the State should take over the employee's retirement, including the expenses of the personal annuity, which he added that Mr. Bernard explained that if one's age, the age of the State's and its civil services are on an even footing, he added that the State and its civil services are on an even footing, and that the new law provides a more direct contribution by employer and employee. State Loses Round in Case of Officer Dismissed From Job Without a Hearing

ALBANY, June 12—The Atten- der General's office, representing the Civil Service Commission, will ask the papers within the next two weeks to institute another legal proceeding to challenge the application of Gordon R. Conrad, dis- abled veteran, for reinstatement as his job after a hearing with the Commission.

The case was for another hearing at a special term of the Supreme Court in New York City, where the suit was filed on January 18, 1950, by the plaintiff. The suit was started because the Commission did not have a hearing with the defendant.

A Day Off for Correction Employees

The State Correction Department has not taken action to grant its employees the holiday leave deemed proper for all State employees in a memorandum issued by the Civil Service Commission. That memo advised that all employees were to have an additional day off either on May 29 or July 3; and if that were not convenient for the department, then another day in place of those two.

For Correction to negotiate this is to set up inevitably in the minds of its employees a sense of being discriminated against, and unnecessarily to pinpoint morale in that department.

We suggest that the Correction Department personnel review their policy in this matter and set in motion procedures to abide by the Civil Service Commission memorandum.

Many Agencies Told To Stop Promotions

WASHINGTON, June 13—The scores of departments and agencies affected by the deficiency announcement have been notified by Comptroller General Lindsay C. Warren that "no funds may be used to pay compensation of any employee in a grade higher than the grade of each employee on May 30, 1950." He based his ruling on the language of the resolution of Congress to allow Federal agencies to promote employees during the first six months of 1950, when the fiscal year ended.

The deficiency appropriation, yes to be enacted, will provide the funds.

The ruling is taken to put a temporary halt to grade-to-grade promotions. There was nothing contained in the interpretation that the court would allow any effect on-grade promotions, of which there are normally six, of a six-year period.

On this score, therefore, the average employee would have nothing to worry about for six months. However, Salaries such as are usually filled by persons in lower positions are nearly always filled by persons in temporary status. The chance operators continually in regular openings for alphabetic clerks, etc., also has to concern himself with the present rules and procedures to insure that in any way affected in-grade increases, of which there are nearly six, of a six-year period.

The vacancies wouldn't be filled.

Clerical Service

The employee in the city's clerical service, Mr. Oak and Ms. Brown, has been cut off. For memorabilia to be acceptable in this government, he expects that the list will be used shortly and a reopening held. In the typist category, applications are not scheduled to be taken in the fall, exact date to be announced by the Civil Service Commission. Type operators and stenographers is $2,100, and promotions for both typists and stenographers in $2,100, and promotional opportunities are good.

How About Other Agencies?

However, regardless of the care exercised in maintaining consistency or its semblance in his own bailiwick, a public official who performs a function which is also performed in other jurisdictions, he said, also has to concern himself with the same relative disadvantages to those affected by it. The reaction of those who are hurt, or those who feel hurt, by new policy is the more violent as the change appears inconsistent with prior or other policies, despite changed conditions.

Many agencies were told to stop promotions today.

What Employees Should Know

How Binding Are Rulings?

ONE OF THE REGABOOS of public officials is the possibility of being inconsistent. The uniform, impartial administration of his office is one of the fundamental demands that the public makes of his official-elected or appointed. Being extra-sensitive to charges of discrimination, public officials set up check lists and records and procedures to insure that such traits were not built in line with established policy. Changes in policy the rules are custom made without careful consideration of the consistencies with other established policies. Every change in policy is to be studied and some relative benefits and losses relative disadvantages to those affected by it. The reaction of those who are hurt, or those who feel hurt, by new policy is the more violent as the change appears inconsistent with prior or other policies, despite changed conditions.

Charlotte Carr asks for 37 supervisory positions

Charlotte Carr, director of the Bureau of Education and Child Welfare of New York City, Inc., discussed before the Board of Estimate budget of five City departments that employ nurses, doctors, and others engaged in treating or assisting children.

Adequate supervision is needed, she said, because nurses and doctors whose services are being paid for by the City money, she declared. The starting salary for nurses is $2,100, and experience may be a substitute for education.

STATE AND COUNTY NEWS

New Chapter Discussed at Rochester

More than 300 employees of the City of Rochester and Monroe County met Wednesday night at the Union Hotel for a meeting of the Civil Service Employees Association. The meeting was called to discuss the possibility of forming a new chapter of the Association. It is possible the Rochester proposal, if adopted, will open the way for the forming of additional chapters of the Association in the state.

James M. Pigott, field representative, was principal speaker. John J. Connors, assistant attorney of Monroe County, and regional attorney for the Association, Joseph T. Wates, vice chairman of the Western Conference, and Robert M. Chase of the Ontario County chapter also addressed the meeting.

The Association represents all the history of public employee organisation in the state and the benefits gained through the 30 years of work by the Civil Service Employees Association.

Organization Essential

The Association, with 20,000 members, has demonstrated it can carry out successful action to protect good government employees. This is mainly done through the association of the employees of the local government and the employees of the county and state departments of the district.

Mr. Pigott reviewed the success of organisation and operation of 33 county chapters and stressed the fact that the civil service organization in Monroe was already largely organized. He added that the problems of the civil service organization are identical in both the local government and the employees of the county and state departments of the district.

Mr. Pigott stated that the organisation of the employees of the Monroe County Civil Service Employees Association is the beginning of an important chapter in the history of public employee organisation in the state.

Mr. Pigott concluded by telling the members that the organisation of the employees of the Monroe County Civil Service Employees Association is the beginning of an important chapter in the history of public employee organisation in the state.

Postal Official’s Speech
Called Slur on Labor Unions

Postal employees, through the medium of the American Postal Workers Union, have been asked by some of their postal members to take a stand against statements made by Deputy Postmaster General Vincent C. Burke. Addressing members of the nationwide breakfast of the St. Louis chapter of the American Federation of Labor and the Congress of Industrial Organizations, Burke discussed the dangers to the national economy and the carrying of the burden of the national deficit by labor unions. He attacked the right to point out they attempted to bring the department into disrepute and that as American citizens they had the right to point out the dangers to the national economy and the carrying of the burden of the national deficit by the labor unions. Burke charged that the unions were carrying the burden of the national deficit.

Tax Clerk Seeks Entry In Jr. Assessor Test

The Grade 2 clerks in the Tax Department are on the alert for any opportunity to change careers. Many of them are seeking a hearing by the Civil Service Commission on their claim that the forthcoming examination to fill the junior Assessor positions should be promotional. The Commission processing their request, which has been promised, is entirely different, decided recently, when its membership was entirely different, decided that the test should be open-competitive. The clerks, however, say that they have given up the effort to hold a promotion test, hence the Civil Service Law sets a limit on the type of an exam.

There are about 40 permanent Grade 2 clerks and 40 provisionals in the Tax Department. The clerks say that there is no opposition to the Commission's changes. At present, about 40 grades 2 are on the list, the highest in the City, and these are the only clerks in the department. One was on the list for the past two years, two others were on the list for three Grade 2 clerks, and 15 for the second man, and there was about one promotion for each man.

Duties Called Identical

Lawrence J. Byrnes, as spokesman for the clerks, made the promotion test, said that the Board of Estimate is also on the alert. If there is a promotion test, he added, it will be held sometime after January 1.

The Grade 2 clerks and the junior examiners are identical, Mr. Byrnes declared. It is the clerks' opinion that there is no opposition to the Commission's changes. The present grade of Grade 2 clerks is about one promotion for each man, and, besides, there is no merit system principle that requires a regular salary, hence the clerks are not interested in promotion tests.

The Commission has so far presented its views to the Board of Estimate, and the Board of Estimate has not expressed any objections.

As a result of the Grade 2 clerks and the junior examiners' identification, the civil service examiners are identical, Mr. Byrnes declared. If the clerks' identification with the junior examiners is not maintained, there is no provision for any promotion test.

The announcement that the junior examiner test will be held sometime after January 1 is expected to result in a number of other examiners being able to take the test. The clerks are not interested in promotion tests, and the clerks are not interested in promotion tests, and the clerks are not interested in promotion tests.

The Civil Service Commission is expected to announce the results of the promotion test within 10 days, and to hold a promotion test for each promotion test, and to hold a promotion test for each promotion test, and to hold a promotion test for each promotion test.

NYC's Planning for Future Hailed as Far-Reaching

Chairman Jerry Finkelstein of the City Planning Commission told delegates at the fifth annual Conference on Planning of State and Development Agencies recently at the New Yorker that the Conference on Planning of State and Development Agencies, held at the New Yorker, will be given by Mayor Thomas E. Dewey as Mayor of the City of New York and those of Governor James A. Farley, president of the New York State Department of Commerce, the host organization of the Conference, Commissioner Keller and his staff made all the numerous arrangements for the meeting and created a special planning exhibit.

Jerry Finkelstein, chairman of the City Planning Commission and former publisher of The Leader, will be awarded a special citation for "leadership in, and dedication to service to, the progress of our industry and the betterment of our city and state" at the annual dinner of the Building and General Contractors of the United Jewish Appeal of the Hotel Astor, June 14. The award will be made by former Postmaster General James A. Farley, State Housing Commissioner Herman Stichman.

The Mayor's letter to Commissioner Finkelstein read in the following editorial in The New York Times:

"DESPERATE FOR PLANNING"

The letter from Mayor O'Dwyer to Chairman Jerry Finkelstein of the City Planning Commission revealed his support for a revision of the planner's duties. The planner's position is one more piece of evidence that the planning function is at least on the way to being recognized as a useful tool.

"There has been abundant evidence of this trend in the last few months. The substantial decline in the number of people on the planning Commission is one of the reasons.

"The plan for New York City's government is being given a new lease on life by the Planning Commission. The commission's assumption of responsibility for the planning function is certain to produce benefits in the long run for everyone who make major decisions of policy at city hall."
