Grave Questions Raised By Loyalty Oath Bill

ALBANY, Jan. 8—Governor Dewey’s request for legislation “to assure adequate civil service protection against subversive activities” has created a variety of grave questions.

The Governor is apparently unwilling to go “whole hog” at this time with a full-fledged loyalty oath program. He has asked the Civil Service Commission to prepare legislation designed “to assure loyalty in sensitive areas.”

What is that? How shall a security program be established?

Who shall do the policing? Shall there be an oath program similar to that of the Federal Government? Or shall an adequately supported program be established? Shall firemen and police be required to be tested as models for office?

What, specifically, will such an oath program do?

How about the underlying questions of civil rights?

Lists Open for Inspection

The Railroad Clerk NYCTC eligibility lists are now available for inspection at the 3rd floor State Office Building, 3rd Avenue, NYC, just west of Broad- way. The list is open to inspection by the Civil Service Commission.

Also available for inspection are the lists for the position of Grade 2 and Stock Assistant, Met.

Sections of Governor Dewey's Message Dealing With Matters of State Civil Service

SAALARIES

State employees have received no general salary increases since 1948, when the Civil Service Commission increased salaries of all types of employees excepted from competition, unless they happened to be war veterans appointed without examination. Examination is not deemed necessary for those in the exempt or non-competitive classifications. However, some clerk jobs are covered by the law specifically deprives deputies, clerks and private secretaries of the right to such a hearing on their charges of incompetency or misconduct.

LOYALTY OF PERSONNEL

Legislation is required to assure security in the State Service. Security against subversive activities is essential to the health of the people and to be needed in the event of the reconstituted armed forces and those of our allies. As shortages of skilled personnel are likely to occur to maintain production and transportation of goods, those in the State Service providing information in reference to nutrition, the conservation of food and for the recruiting of farm labor are also a part of this process.

The several State agencies and departments which performed such valuable services in World War II in conjunction with the expanding industrial plant in our economy must reproduce these efforts once again. This is so that our industries will be prepared to provide the products and services in which the State excels and which make our nation the hope of freedom.

Duties Considered By Court

The mere fact an employee calls himself or herself "codefendant" and that the court is cognizant of the fact that the state has no intention of having him or her as a defendant, is not enough to determine the employee's right to a hearing. The state is a body corporate and in order to be a defendant must be a body corporate and in order to be a defendant must be a defendant.

LOYALTY OF PERSONNEL

Despite Absence

In addition to the executive, the only source of water for the detention of prisoners in the State Civil Service personnel working in sensitive areas.

THE DEPARTMENT OF COMMERCE

Ours is a post-war world. During the war, the Department of Commerce, must provide the basis for industrial and governmental cooperation in expanding the production of our industries to meet the needs of total preparation. The Department of Commerce has been asked to help the State in this and the Secretary should be kept up to date恰当供应

HEALTH

At the New York State Rehabilitation Hospital fifty beds have been provided for crippled patients. At the Roswell Park Memorial Institute, the State cancer center, we have broken ground for a new building to increase the number of beds from 110 to 250. Outstanding among the progressive achievements of the State is the establishment of the New York State Research Institute in Buffalo, opened on May 23. This institute will specialize in the study of diseases and discover chronic alcoholics where more than 500 persons have recovered and the public health department is being given a strong consumer service to remove where restrictions might slow the development of such research.

The Department of Health and Mental Hygiene should be given powers to remove in connection with any given to the international force in such a war, and this power should be extended to streets within municipalities.

For the first time the State government has attempted to develop a statewide mental hygiene program to be operated by communities. An intensive trial community mental hygiene experiment in an upstate city is expected to yield a set of recommendations for local mental health programs all over the State. It is hoped that this will provide effective methods for coordinating the work of psychiatrists, health professionals, churches and citizen organizations into a single broad approach to community mental hygiene.

Already we are beginning to feel the effects of decreased mortality. This year the infant mortality has increased as much as the cost of living else-where, unless they happen to be war veteran's appointments and for all those of our allies. As shortages of skilled personnel are likely to occur to maintain production and transportation of goods, those in the State Service providing information in reference to nutrition, the conservation of food and for the recruiting of farm labor are also a part of this process.

The several State agencies and departments which performed such valuable services in World War II in conjunction with the expanding industrial plant in our economy must reproduce these efforts once again. THE DEPARTMENT OF COMMERCE

We feel that the plight of the lower salaried state employees is even further emphasized when we pause for a moment in this series of reports on the work of the Executive Department (In the LEAGUE), and consider the work of the employees in executive positions. In 1940, an executive in one of the capitol districts could purchase a reasonably satisfactory home for $10,000. Today the cost, for the same kind of a house, requires $25,000. Consequently fire insurance coverage is more than double. Interest on the investment in the home is likewise about $3,000 a year. Total real estate taxes on such a house have increased from $60 to $200. Fire insurance protection on the contents of the home has increased as much as the B.L.S. index on furniture, 99.8 per cent; the contents of the house has increased as much as the B.L.S. in- dex on household equipment, 112.7 per cent. Cost of food and rent at $42.50 per week; the price of a meal at a good restaurant was $1.75, and the contents of the home is likewise more than double.

The executive on a $10,000 salary required $40,000 of insurance for his home. The premium on the policy was $2,000. Consequently fire insurance coverage is more than double. CSEA Field Agents in Big Drive

ALBANY, Jan. 8—Field representatives of the Civil Service Employees Association, which sponsored the recent "Big Drive," reported a success last week that will bring substantial benefits to employees now working in the Rochester area until the end of the year.

James M. Fugis visited chapters and met with officials of the public section, beginning January 2 in Buffalo, Jamestown, Batavia, Niagara, Niagara Frontier, Genesee, Allegany, and Orleans counties. Tributes were paid to the hard-working membership committees, headed by Mrs. B. M. Fairhand, Association president, and officials are heartened by the early response. Reports have been received indicating that at least 1,000 members have already exceeded the pace set in last year's "Big Drive." The Federations have plans for an additional drive on many new chapters.

Prospects for the success of the drive were noted by President Eugene F. Hall, the New York State Federation, and Mrs. Fairhand. The drive is expected to continue during the month.

Chapter Activities

Thomas Indian School

The THOMAS INDIAN SCHOOL, at Attica, N. Y., has one of the largest Indian people into office; president, Dr. John V. Vetter; vice-president, Chauncey Munn; secretary, Harry G. Wells, and adjutant, Charles C. Halsey.

The meetings are held on the first Monday of each month. The chapter is moving into its new quarters in the school. Plans for the future are being drawn up for the work of the winter. It is expected that the chapter will attract many new members, and that the new quarters will be occupied shortly.

Syracuse State School

At a recent meeting of the Syracuse State chapter, President Karl Hatting, vice-president, Mr. R. K. Sorenson, head accountant, and Mrs. M. J. Wingo, member of the Syracuse State School chapter, were elected to the office of the State Civil Service Department.

The chapter has made plans for the coming year, and is looking forward to an active year of work.

Employee\'s Annual Leave Cut
Believed Doomed

WASHINGTON Jan. 8 - A new plan to deal with the losses of 1,500,000 Government workers is being drafted by some Senators who claim the present leaves "extensive."

"I feel that a graduated system of annual leave would serve a better system than the present," one said. "The older employees both need and desire an extension than a younger beginning." He feels that his plan would save the government nearly $100,000,000 a year.

Too Little And Too Late?

In one sense, it may be said that public employees are being made to bear far too heavy a burden of inflation and related emergency.

Let us take New York State and New York City.

In both jurisdictions, salary raises have been promised. In neither, has anything concrete yet been accomplished. How evil the effects of present economic stresses are upon the employees can be seen from two significant incidents:

Couldn't Afford Pension Offer

The State's 50-year retirement plan, an eminent piece of legislation which gives to employees several important advantages, has been taken up by some 30 per cent of those who are eligible to come under its liberal provisions. Why haven't they hastened to accept the plan? The answer is: at least half of them couldn't afford it. They are barely making a living now; and the additional contributions, even though small, would be more than they could bear.

It isn't nice that employees should be so "strapped"...but it's true.

In New York City, an eminent judge went out of his way to show, by figures, how impossible it is for a policeman to supplement his minimum.

Do you remember what Governor Dewey said during the election campaign?

Here are the words:

"Faced with the necessity of meeting normal family expenses, trained professional people have been forced to supplement their income by work as stevedores, deliverymen and unskilled laborers. In spite of present hardships they have maintained an outstanding example of loyal, responsible and unselvish service."

Part-Time Jobs Many

The reporters of this newspaper can verify that frighteningly high percentages of public employees—State, NYC, local—not only must take additional part-time jobs to supplement their income but, in many cases, must work in trades, which they had no knowledge of or desire to follow.

Who would have thought that those who must leave little children to take jobs so that, together with their husbands' civil service salaries, they can scrape through.

Yet...the raising of the minimum wage has not, as yet, really helped.

In the State, a salary report which should have been due a month ago has apparently not yet reached the Governor. It seems fair that employees should not have to wait until the new budget year before receiving increases. The Governor, who has stated that he recognizes the problem, clearly has an obligation to ask that the Legislature enact upward wage revision immediately—and make it effective immediately.

A. It is the only way.

Why You Gain

Halving the income, and then figuring on a 20 per cent drop, doesn't bring you back to where you'd have been in the first place. A joint return is not a case of the whole income being taxed half, and the half being taxed on the half. Since the surcharge is applied to the total income, the surcharge on the bracket income, halving the income, and then having the income taxed in a lower bracket at the lower rate, is the same as doubling the income.

"What would be the tax on half the income?"

"That's the tax."

"Why Gain?"

"That's the tax."

How to Combine Income

First, after you deduct the various contributions, the present increase in Federal taxes, the coming increases in rentals?

Will Lose Best Employees

From the point of view of State and City, it is obvious that pay increases are inadequate, both jurisdictions will lose their best people. We must not underestimate what such a loss would mean. We must not underestimate what such a loss would mean. We must not underestimate what such a loss would mean.

It costs money to run a City and a State. It costs more today—for more—than it cost twenty years ago. The citizen, who want first-rate services, must reconcile themselves to these costs. Frankly, as we talk with people, it seems to us that they are far more reconciled to it than are the public officials.

It's already too late. Let it not also be too late.

U.S. Hiring for Defence Jobs Begins

Full preparations for any national emergency now being made by the Federal Government, under the direction of the heads of executive departments, have offices in a dozen or more districts throughout the country for the selection and processing of applicants for defense jobs. These offices will be in a fortunate position to take advantage of the tightening manpower situation, a decision has been made to hurry along the planning and construction of these offices and start recruiting and interviewing applicants immediately.

Women will have the widest choice of jobs in history, one official said.

The price control now in effect are on a voluntary basis, but any day they are expected to be made compulsory. Inventories controls are necessary and have sent manufacturers sending out the materials and supplies. All stores can be sold at a profit, subject to the activity of the Government in directing the activities of employers in every division and industry. Both to be filled in the beginning, as price, inventory and man power controls are exercised, will be by transfer. Men experienced in these lines will have the posts of administrators and junior executives. The attempt will be made to reward the forces as competent employees as can be obtained.

The national emergency will affect everyone over both the Department of Labor and the U. S. Civil Service, in the same average pay range.

One of the Problems

One of the difficulties, it is said, is that many women are not provided with adequate information about their rights and the job opportunities available to them. There is a need for campaigns to inform women about their options, including vocational education and training programs.

One of the sensational experiences in World War II was the rationing of scarce commodities and being extended later, would call for a full force of inspectors and enforcement officers, as well as investigators and the like.

McGrath Opinion Upholds Reservists' Job Benefits

All bureau heads and personnel officers of NYC departments were notified by the Municipal Civil Service Commission that reservists who voluntarily entered upon active military duty subsequent to January 1, 1947, and were subsequently entitled to unemployment compensation under the Federal Unemployment Act, are entitled to all the rights and benefits of regular employees of the State Military Law.

The main question therefore was whether the reservist, while engaged in active military duty, was under the jurisdiction and control of the Police and Fire departments, and was entitled to the perks and benefits usually extended to regular employees. The unanswered question is whether the reservist was subject to the control and direction of the Police and Fire departments, and was entitled to the perks and benefits usually extended to regular employees.

The decision of the Supreme Court of the State of New York, dated December 8th, 1960, and filed in the Court of Appeals on February 20th, 1961, is the subject of this article.

for one year prior to admission. A family must have had a low income in order to be eligible. Most families lived on less than $50 a week when they moved into a project. Tenants pay their rents weekly in advance.

Most of the families who move into the authority's projects are employed in fairly permanent occupations; some tend machines, drive trucks, clerk in stores, work as barbers, porters, elevator operators. None of the families of different race, creed and nationality ha've a history of criminal record.

When through increased income, a family is able to rent a standard apartment, it is expected to find a more desirable dwelling for rent rather than being required to move. Before the war, the number of families with an income of $4,000 to $10,000, the family became eligible for occupancy before the war, for the largest proportion of the families of 6 persons, was $3,970.

Study Is Started on Hiring Policies
In NYC in Case of An Emergency

While plans for civil defense recruitment and public safety in the event of a national emergency have been in the forefront in NYC, the Municipal Civil Service Commission has been quietly making arrangements for a complete study of what it would do in the event of World War III. Since the experience during World War II did not prove encouraging, an entirely new plan is being developed. The commission, which has been given the job of the war commission, will take the difficulties. Some of the legislation may be required.

to assure service men their full civil rights, and that nothing has outweighed any good to be hoped for. We are, however, going to put the fear of God into this whole group. This bill will be held opening day.
