The art show that the Civil Service Employees Association will hold for exhibits from Albany county and surrounding counties is more than a isolated event in the life of civil service employees and sets a pattern. So far as is known, this will be the first time that a group of public employees has held an art show in the history of these called Civil Service employees, and we say it's about time.

The Association deserves great credit for the innovation. From present indications, the art show idea will spread, not only throughout the Association, encompassing all of the other unions of the State civil service exhibits, but possibly an all-State exhibit as a future grand turnout.

Other public employee organizations are discussing the art show idea with enthusiasm. A good idea has the knock of spreading.

September 4 Deadline

It is highly advisable that public employees keep in close touch with current events and contacts with all aspects of life, and not confine their chapter or Association activities to the office. They need — in the truest sense of the term, the recognition of the value of services rendered, and the fair treatment of employees by their public employer. Meetings can be made more interesting, greater attendance can result, and more humbling endeavors can be made through cultural pursuits, talks by leaders of thought in other lines than civil service, and by others who have made their marks. There is something about success that's not to be forgotten.

The art show will be held in the Albany Institute of History and Art, 125 Washington Avenue, Albany, from September 3rd to September 30th.

In view of the recent ruling of the Appellate Division, First Department, the competitive class shall be those employees who have passed the competitive examination for the position. The next promotion to the competitive class position will be determined by the fairness of the examination.

Nassau County Custodial Workers Wage Pay Drive

Policies adopted by the Nassau County School Custodial Workers Association have produced results. Through the efforts of George Zogun, president of the Association, salary improvements have been given in the great majority of the schools in the county. The employees at the start sought a raise because of 25% of increased living cost and additional federal funds to be spent in the increase in the average living costs. Most employees in school service are not subject to a retirement plan before the high cost of living innsure the fact that they are necessary, which must mean that the Board of Education will be taxed.

Stationsary Engineering Training Resumes Soon

ALBANY, Aug. 27 — The second year of training courses in stationary engineering for public employees and others in 33 locations in the State was held in the week of September 17, the State Civil Service Department announced.

Last year's enrollment of 196 to attend the courses under the original plan for training, Dr. Charles T. Klein, director of the Division of Safety, said that this year's enrollment has not been announced.

Training Centers Listed

Despite the large enrollment in the program work in power plants of state hospitals, mental institutions, prisons and schools. Employees from the various public agencies and some employees of private industries are participating. The Training Division supervises the program and plans to hold the courses in Albany, Auburn, Batavia, Beacon, Bedford Hills, Binghamton, Buffalo, Central Islip, Comstock, Danbury, Jamestown, New York City, Ogdensburg, Poughkeepsie, Plattsburg, Rotterdam, Rochester, Rome, Schenectady, Schuyler, Scranton, Syracuse, Utica, Westchester and various other cities in the State.

Classroom Time Doubled

Students will receive three 10-hour lessons during the winter session and a similar amount of instruction in the spring term. This is double the classroom time in last year's initial course. A 10-hour lesson is being scheduled for this year by the Training Division, Dr. Klein stated.

Because textbooks for this year are not available, the Training Division has selected a committee of technical and educational experts to develop a curriculum for the program. Committee members included: Dr. David Alway, Attica Prison; C. W. Mitchell, Wannsee State Public Work; John H. G. Beatty, Sleepy Hollow, Sleepy Hollow, N.Y.; W. E. Timm, Green Haven Prison; Lewis Van Hobben, Rockland Agricultural; Dr. J. C. G. and Dr. Wallace Hollshot of the Training Division.

Courses will begin in most of the centers during the last two weeks in September. Individual courses are spaced out from locality to locality. The courses are required for the second phase of their enrollment and usually are conducted in cooperation with local boards of education. Folk's Past 40 Find Joy In Vast Florida Estate

Fabulous Florida estate now a Retirement Paradise For People With Moderate Incomes

Away from ice and snow and forever freed from the high costs of northern living, more than 300 happy families now share the magnificent estates of Count Fred De Bary, wealthy importer of champagne.

The Count spent a fortune making a show place of this super location in the scenic Highlands of Florida on the palm-lined shores of Lake Monroe. Here he sumptuously entertained Countess of wealth and society, presidents and royalty, including President Grant and Cleveland and Edward Prince of Wales.

Plantation Estates Inc. purchased the De Bary estate and established there a unique community of low-cost homes. People who own a De Bary a fortune have set aside as a the red, poor, for sale one and expansion of residents.

Community Club Too

Today's De Bary mansion surrounded by acres of rare tropic landscape, is now the common club house, with free membership for all. In the happy home owner may relax in the shade of mighty camphor trees, stroll through groves of palms, drive down the winding curving drives, play golf, tennis, take trips and enjoy the healthful climate and tennis court, everything, as their own.

Folks over 40 can enjoy low cost living at “De Bary.” For in a dream setting and price any millionaire would envy. A spacious bungalow that rents for only $300 a month with a $300 security deposit. Any bargain hunter in the market for a retirement home will see and free booklets are available at the New York Office of Plantation Estates, 105 Fifth Ave., New York, N. Y., for sale on the premises.

The Way to Grant Realistic Pensions

MONTANA has changed from the average compensation of the last five years to the average compensation of the last three years as a basis for pension computations. As average salaries are higher for the three years than for the five years, the pensions will be increased proportionately.

A bill approved by the NYC Board of Estimate, the NYC Council, and employee organizations in NYC, including the Civil Service Forum and the Civil Service Technical Guild, to change the NYC basis from the last five years to the last four, passed the Legislature. Last March Governor Thomas E. Dewey vetoed it.

The effect of this bill would have been, in the average case, to base pensions on the salaries received two years prior, instead of two and a half years prior to retirement. Every significant state that has left its rate would have left 1 pay employees, when they retire, with an allowance of half a low standard of living, in the normal case of retirement on half pay. Instead of offering too much the bill offered too little.

The Legislature should enact bills for NYC, and for other large cities in the State, on a three-year average, in recognition of reduced purchasing power of the dollar, as Montana has done, and the Governor should sign them.

Public Employees Get Angry Over Pay

PUBLIC employees are beginning to make voters at large conscious of the administration's wage scales that prevail so widely, contrasted with those in private industry.

Public employees are prohibited by regulation law from going on strike, but in the past couple of years their groups have gone on strike, law or no law, while others have resorted to the slowdown and mass absences on the ground of "illness." Redress of grievances resulted. There is growing proof that public employees are being driven from their traditional conservatism to a more militant course, not necessarily the strike. Sheer desperation accounts for this trend. Public officials must heed and meet the issue by paying public employees what they deserve.

Personnel Ceiling Reduces Service

THE personnel ceiling jammed through Congress will do the country no good. It undermines management, and will result in too little service to the public in non-defense agencies. These sweeping rules of administration that emanate from Congress are full of danger.

The new law will have repercussions that Congress probably didn't anticipate. Employees thinking of resigning from a non-defense agency obliquely would transfer to a defense agency, then resign the new job. That would permit the agency for which they formerly worked to fill their old jobs.

How Appointments are Made

The Civil Service Law provides the formula and the procedures for making appointments to positions in the executive department. The formula prescribes the power to decide whether an appointment is to be made, the appointing officer, and the manner in which the appointment is to be made. The process may be written or oral, according to the type of appointment.

Rhode Island Gets Plan to Handle Grievances

The American Federation of State, County, and Municipal Employees announced a plan to Governor Roberts of Rhode Island to handle disputes between State, local government, and public employees.

Salary Increases

This bill provides for an increase in salary for hourly or non-hourly employees, including (1) classified employees; (2) those whose earned income is at least $400 (20c an hour for hourly or non-hourly employees); and those whose annual rate of pay is at least $17,000, with an amendment placing a ceiling on increases for any one postmaster or supervisor under this bill (Classified Employees and Others) since July 1, 1951.

Salary Increase: (a) Grants to Classified Employees and Others on the payroll on July 1, 1951, and who are (in the opinion of the President) 'the poorest,' will see if the predictions coincide with supervisor ratings. The study tried to determine the degree to which personality characteristics could be detected and if so, how well. This study also included workers whom he considered 'the best employees' and 'the poorest.' The supervisor of female attendants could be detected and it was found that the supervisor's ratings were consistent with the findings of the study. The study attempted to determine if the personality inventory and the Cor-

The election was conducted by the American Arbitration Association. Those newly elected will take office on September 1.

The chief's vacancy resulted from the expiration of the term of Deputy Chief George David, president of the UFOA. The Captain's vacancy arose from the expiration of Captain Freeman's term, but he ran for re-election. The Lieutenant vacancy resulted from the expiration of Henry J. Pehlin's term. The full board will elect the officers.

The LEADER has received in absolute confidence a letter written by Judge Director Thomas J. Patterson to the New York Times. These lines were signed by Judge Director Thomas J. Patterson and were sent in response to a letter written to the paper by Mayor Vincent R. Impastato. The letter written by Judge Director Thomas J. Patterson introduced a detailed and comprehensive plan for a new increment system for employees in the various departments and services of the city of New York. The letter was addressed to the mayor of the city of New York and was titled "Complete Guide to Your Civil Service Job".

"Complete Guide to Your Civil Service Job" is written by a former New York City employee, William T. Pender, who served as a shorthand reporter for the New York Times. The book, which was published in 1952, contains 216 pages and provides a comprehensive guide for employees in the civil service system. It includes information on job duties, employment opportunities, and benefits available to employees. The book also includes a section on how to transfer between different positions and how to advance in the civil service system.

The book was well received by employees and was praised for its detailed and helpful information. It has become a popular reference for employees in the civil service system and is widely used by current and former employees.

49 Right Answers Pass

The Commission announced that each of the questions will count 100/99, or 1.0101. If anybody is able to give the correct answer, he'll get, technically, 99.9999, but would count as 100/99, or 1.0101. The only change made, one of them a deletion of a question. In the two other sections, 102 (Health — Queens College). The respondents were: 2363, (Huntington Arthur — Brookline College); Proctor, JA 624, of Trans.

The exam was taken by 5,714 candidates, and the number of correct answers of protest was about 1,400. Candidates who got the 69 right answers were: 1,400, and those who got 70 questions right, 1,400, out of the original 100, that changed, were made, one of them a deletion of a question. Matter of Ammunition

A matter of ammunition. The other aspect of the prophecy is that the American people are not fooled by the rhetoric of the President and his Administration. They know that the war is a losing war, and they are not going to support it any longer.

U.S. Pay Raises Nearer; Senate and House Vote Is Next as Bills Advance

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27 — The House Committee on Post Office and Civil Service formally reported $400 and 20 cents an hour for temporary workers, particularly veterans.

The final outcome of the postal bill, although admitting that the President's Administration will finally take is still in doubt. The outlook, judging from the Senate Finance Committee, is that the Representatives would not be too happy to have to vote for the postal bill, "but the bill should go over fast." Representatives of classified employees had the same feeling about the bill that would affect them.

Truman a Puzzle

The attitude that President Truman would take on any bill for a flat increase is not known, especially as he spoke up, prior to the Senate vote on the two postal bills, in favor of a 7 per cent increase. The U.S. Civil Service Commission has indicated its strong stand, especially as he spoke up, prior to the Senate vote on the two postal bills, in favor of a 7 per cent increase. The U.S. Civil Service Commission has indicated its strong stand, especially as he spoke up, prior to the Senate vote on the two postal bills, in favor of a 7 per cent increase.

The Senate's dates for calendar calls are every two weeks. The Senate Finance Committee will try to get the pay bills up for a floor vote on the floor. Efforts will be made by senators to have a Senate trail up the pay bills, and if there is any objection by any senator, action on them would follow at a later date.

In the Senate the bills are: Classified employees, H. R. 339; postal workers, H. R. 244.

Next Move

The next move is to get the bills out of the Rules Committee. The House adjourned until September 12, and it is expected that the bills will be brought to the floor for a vote soon thereafter. Since they contain provisions for increased retirement to July 1, the particular day on which they are enacted is not considered important.

Today's bills, in positions which are downgraded, will go along, as will the Senate Finance Committee. The Senate Finance Committee has been told that the lower grade, not to those they held on October 28, will gradually decrease, not to those they held on October 28, will gradually decrease.

Many Federal Employees

In Downgraded Jobs

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27 — Under a new regulation, the U.S. Civil Service Commission has authorized Federal agencies to permit employees holding a position which is placed in a lower grade of the classification Act, October 28, 1949, and April 1, 1949, to remain in the same position.

The conditions are: Employees in positions which are downgraded, from those which have previously been placed in a lower grade by administrative regulation, may still continue to receive the employees' salaries to correspond with the lower grade if they so desire.

The Civil Service Commission has indicated its strong stand, especially as he spoke up, prior to the Senate vote on the two postal bills, in favor of a 7 per cent increase.
