ALBANY, Nov. 12— A new blood test which may serve to distinguish the psychotic from the non-psychotic was described last night at a gathering of medical experts at Creedmoor State Hospital.

The report was presented by Dr. Arthur, Morris, head of the research lab at the State Institute of Psychiatry, and Dr. Raymond Buccheri who developed the test in their lab at Creedmoor.

The test was devised by Dr. Fred Roth, adapting the mathematical principles of a test which may serve to distinguish between the blood of psychotic and nonepsychotic individuals.

The method was also said to serve for the detection of untreated patients and patients who have recovered within a period of two weeks such therapy as insulin and chloral hydrate.

Experiments conducted at the institute involved 79 patients (60 were psychotic and 19 non-psychotic). According to Dr. Roth, the mathematical analysis of the physical data obtained on each individual identified psychotics with a level of accuracy exceeding 83 per cent. Further differentiation between treated and untreated psychotic patients was also said to be attained with high accuracy.

Some Hard Sad Facts on Pay

PUBLIC employees and pensioners can look only with dismay at headlines such as this one which appeared on page 1 of the New York Times last Friday:

"PRESS RICES COMING IN GOODS AND MEAT"

The Office of Price Stabilization has already made the sad news public.

Those who work for government agencies, like others on fixed income, find themselves constantly falling behind. The new information will have to be considered by all government units in wage rate negotiations. It will certainly require study by the three-man formal hearings board which will listen to suggestions on the new NYC career-and-salary plan, as an economic factor which wasn't present when the Griffenhan wage schedules were recorded. It will be a formidable argument in every wage negotiation at county, city and other local levels.

Economies, once a fairly esoteric art practiced mainly in scholastic environments, becomes a pressing issue to all of us. Many public officials need more resilience than they have in the past displayed when dealing with the impact of price-and-cost changes upon the lives of public workers. They themselves need to take those economic arguments with greater effectiveness. The statement by Mr. DiSalle last week is a powerful argument for a wage increase to public employees.

Incidentally, Mr. Falk's outstanding characteristic, in dealing with the press, was the ability of what might be called stiffness. He would deal with everybody, in all kinds of company, in a very clean-cut manner. It is his story with the best of "try."

Meat-Axe Methods In Civil Service

THE Federal Government is engaged in a most awkward personnel struggle. It seeks to limit the cost of administering the government by limiting the services that the government renders. That is the inevitable result of personnel ceilings, such as now exist, whereby departments and agencies may undertake no new hiring of a whiteman of people.

That meat-axe method can exist only in government. A private industrial corporation could not survive it if it attempted an equally ruthless policy.

The whims of Congress sometimes inflict severe hardships on Federal administrators. Now it is personnel ceilings, but that is only a small part of it. Congress has imposed on the government a number of fiscal controls to offset the rigors of the previous ineptitude. An example was the recent change in the Civil Service law which originally wreaked havoc to job security, but through the successful intercession of the U. S. Civil Service Commission it now stands on a solid basis.

Experience dictates that the U. S. Civil Service Commission had better be seriously consulted before any more tampering takes place with U. S. jobs, for that agency is alive to the needs of the service, which Congress often ignores, and could scarcely be accused of spendthrift policies.

The merit system can easily become a demerit system when it makes the employees mere pawns in a reckless legislative game of chance.

Permanent U. S. Appointments
Called O.K. Under New Law

Local 10 of the New York Federation of Public Employees, president, Patrick J. Fitzgerald, has asked the U. S. Civil Service Commission to reconsider a number of permissonal appointments to state and local government agencies in New York City. He called attention to a recent statement by Mr. Fitzgerald in which he said, "since the personnel controls are being relaxed, it is up to the Civil Service Commission in its own discretion to protect the civil service from the variables environment that exist in the state and local government agencies." He said that he was speaking on behalf of postal employees in the state. The union is trying to strengthen its case generally, to classify and other bargained for increases.
The amendment, Section 1202 of the Civil Service Reorganization Act for 1952, while requiring that the salary adjustments shall be made on a temporary basis, also provides that the Civil Service Commission shall be made"to preserve the status of permanent employees. The amendment states "to the extent to which the result of such adjustments may be a change in the rates in that market." The Civil Service Commission, however, is still free to make any adjustment it thinks proper. However, the

Ex-Employees Protest Denial of Retroactive Pay

Federal employees who resigned, and particularly those who were let out because of the economy drive, complained that the rulings under the Federal payroll to get the retroactive pay benefit. Hence anybody who resigned, was fired or "riffed" doesn't share in this benefit. But persons who retired on a pension from U.S. jobs, during the same period, do get retroactive pay for that part of the period during which they were in U.S. service.

The Civil Service Commission and the Comptroller General both require that the employees must prove they were unjustly deprived of their privileges under the new U.S. pay schedule. Anybody who resigned, was fired or "riffed" doesn't share in this benefit. But persons who retired on a pension from U.S. jobs, during the same period, do get retroactive pay for that part of the period during which they were in U.S. service.

U.S. Pay Rise Affects State Wage Picture

ALBANY, Nov. 12--Joseph B. Moroney, President of the Civil Service Employees Association, said the gratification with the salary increases enacted for Federal employees, Mr. Moroney stated:

"It is surprising to note that the Federal government, after the second Town of the salary needs of public workers, had accorded substantial gratification in the case of Federal employees. There are approximately 200,000 Federal workers within New York State alone, and it is a gratifying thought to realize that the findings as to needs of public workers kept pace with the increases enacted by the Federal government, which have been substantially higher in New York State than in any other State.

"The making of the new scale up to $527 and in 1st service is justified.

The appeal of the Civil Service Employees Association for sound national and local government policies which will keep pace with the salary needs of public workers has been accepted by the Federal government, in which the State has been encouraged to hold the State Department of the State as an example of the way in which the State Government of the State will be held.

Appeals Board Hears Park Police Pay Case

ALBANY, Nov. 12—An appeal was taken before the State Classification and Compensation Appeals Board on behalf of the Long Island State Park Police.

Last July 1, Karl Kelly, State Director of Classification and Compensation, denied an appeal for a park police officer for a salary increase of $1,384 to $2,385.00, to Grade 14, $3,596 to $4,008 to Grade 16, and $4,008 to $4,583.00, to Grade 18.

When denying the appeal, Mr. Kelly said the police officer had been denied a raise of $1,900 to $2,385.00.

We feel that these rates of compensation do not enable a police officer to maintain a family. We feel that this is a matter that should be investigated. We feel that the State police are not able to perform their duties as efficiently as possible.

Decision Reserved

Attorney Malcolm Wilson of White Plains and William House of NYC presented the appeal from the State Park Police to the Appeals Board. The appeal consists of Raymond W. Hoisjton, Director of Social Welfare, chairman: William Kelly, Commissioner of Human Resources; and Everett Maloney, Budget.

A brief was prepared on behalf of the Long Island State Park Commission by Charles Buckebuck, Administrative Secretary.

He referred to a letter from Park Commissioner Robert Mon in which he stated the Appeals Board to raise the pay of the officer from Grade 16 to Grade 18, with similar action by the State Classification and Compensation Commission.

The letter stated that when the State Classification and Compensation Commission reviewed the report of the appeals board, it found the report to be inadequate. The appeals board then recommended that the State Classification and Compensation Commission review the matter.

The State Classification and Compensation Commission then reviewed the matter and found that the officer was entitled to a raise.
