Suggestions Made to End
Civil Service 'Deep Freeze'

ALBANY, June 23—A strong plea for "wise revision" of the Civil Service Law was made here last week by spokesmen for the Civil Service Employees Association.

Addressing the Joint Legislative Commission on Revision of the Civil Service Law, the Association's Prentice Commission—William F. McDermott, chairman—urged revision of the law,"We are adding new features and new departments to The Leader regularly."

The hearing, which attracted the attention of the joint Chamber of the Capitol, was chaired during the session by Mr. Elliot Kaplan, retiring deputy commissioner, a committee member. At that session the matter of civil service agencies was discussed and the CSEA's proposal submitted.

End to 'Deep Freeze'

During the afternoon meeting the committee heard opinions on jurisdictional classification, and here again the Association presented a plan by which the "deep freeze" movement would be weakened.

The Association Committee, on Revision of the Civil Service Law, presented four propositions. These were:

First: that there be only two classes of positions in the Civil Service— an excepted class to include all positions now in the unclassified service and certain positions in the exempt class, and a competitive class covering all other positions as at present.

Second: that in any change from a non-competitive exam to a competitive exam the incumbents retain their status, with discretion of the appropriate civil service commission to grant additional status through examination.

Third: that when private gain is involved, such as hospitals, are run over by a public agency, the position be reclassified and one of indefinite status subject to acquiring status of their allocated class if found qualified.

Fourth: that when an exempt or non-competitive employee's job is made competitive, the employee be retained on the job but only with those rights which he had as exempt or non-competitive employee.

Under existing procedures the movement is covered into the Activities of Civil Service Employees in N.Y. State

James E. Christian

Memorial
THE JAMES CHRISTIAN Memorial, CSEA, held its 33rd annual meeting May 53 on June 17 at CSEA headquarters, 638 Fourth Avenue, New York City. James E. Christian was the son of General Christian and served as a member of the New York State Legislature. He was a well-respected state legislator who represented the Brooklyn area. The meeting included discussions on the latest issues facing the state legislature and the efforts of the CSEA to improve the lives of its members. The attendees also had the opportunity to connect with fellow members and learn about upcoming events. Overall, the meeting was a success.

A Step Forward
While the event started slowly, the steps towards progress were evident throughout the day. Attendees made strides in addressing the challenges facing the state and the needs of the community. The CSEA remains committed to working towards a better future for all New Yorkers. As a result of this meeting, the organization has a clearer understanding of the direction it needs to take, moving forward.

The NYC Board of Education, in its announcement of the school clerk exam, now open, stresses that one subject on which candidates will be examined is spelling. It must be remembered, according to a Board of Education that not all the words are spelled right in its own announcement!

As public officials are planned by their votes,

If a candidate does not do and damned if you don’t

If they have to seek shelter behind the public.

If damned if I will and damned if I won’t.

NYC employees are protesting the requirement that the pay be raised in order that they may recover back pay due them.

The City Administration thinks that they protest too much.

When next you hear a United States Senator intone how necessary it is to "clean up" and "make more efficient" the Federal "bureaucracy," ask one question: How did that legislator vote on the proposal to strip Congress of its political patronage in the appointment of postmasters, United States marshals and top customs officials?

The issue was up in the Senate last Wednesday, with studied cynicism, by better than two to one, they defeated the proposal to take 21,584 jobs out of the patronage mill (their own patronage mill) and place those positions under the merit system. The action in the Senate cut across party lines, each Senator fondling his own little niche under the merit system. The action in the Senate cut across party lines, each Senator fondling his own little niche under the merit system.

The Senators ought to be apprised of one interesting fact: Wherever in the United States the people have had an opportunity to vote on civil service, they have always voted Yes: they want civil service.

The fight isn't over. We predict that these positions will go under civil service, despite the political necessities of the patronage boys. The necessities of the people come first.
New Officers of Metro Conference To Be Installed

The Metropolitan Conference of the Civil Service Employees Association will hold its annual luncheon meeting in the Marine Dining Room, Jones Beach State Park, on Saturday, June 28 at noon.

The only business will be the installation of officers. Delegates and guests will enjoy the park's facilities, most of which will be free to those wearing badges or buttons issued at registration by the Conference secretary, Edith Krueger, department of public relations. Mrs. Krueger will install the officers, who are:

President: Philip Kerker, director of training.

Vice-President: Harold Herzstein, regional attorney.

Secretary-Treasurer: Vernon A. Taylor, member Board of Directors.

Other guests will include: Dr. H. A. Latimer, senior director, Crooke County State Hospital; N. J. Polek, superintendent, Long Island State Park Commission; Virginia M. Leachon and William H. Honick of the State Training Division.

Mayors Discuss Civil Service

LARRY PLACID, June 23—The final hearing of a panel of the State Commission of Mayors, held in Albany Thursday, resulted in a 6-1 vote to recommend that the body of the Civil Service Law had not been changed since its adoption in 1901.

The civil service executive program for the State Department of Civil Service, as proposed by Dr. Joseph L. Guzzetta, president, included the elimination of the State Commission of Civil Service, and the creation of a new, separate body to handle the affairs of the State Department of Civil Service.

The proposed changes included the elimination of the State Commission of Civil Service, and the creation of a new, separate body to handle the affairs of the State Department of Civil Service.

Part-Time Jobs Seen
Opening Unmapped Area
Of Good Labor Supply

An untapped source of labor supply is available to employers willing to consider part-time work: the vacuum in labor supply among women in the home. According to a report released by the Federation of Women’s Clubs of New York, which contains a survey of 2,500 women, the largest group was among women from 25 to 34 who work part-time, and the unemployed. The survey disclosed that there was a high demand for part-time employment from applicants at the local Women’s Club, and a great need for increased job opportunities in the part-time field.

Where to Go for Second Job to Boost Pay

By now the earning of extra income has become a way of living for many Civil Service workers. Several weeks ago the NYC Mayor’s Committee on Manpower held a rally to protest the fact that more than 50 per cent of their employees were working in outside work. They did not wish to come close to 75 per cent if they could but they did not want to know about whose outside employment they were.

More recently, Grace Robison interviewed a woman about a typical New York worker who is employed as a stenographer. She had a story about how New Yorkers were finding their way to make ends meet. After the depression, the costs came up with this observation.

"The whole-collar service work has been suffering from the distress of all the groups we have been discussing. However, it is a good thing that large numbers were able to get through the first year working on their own, or was they working with others.

With the extra job, the situation improves because the Civil Service LEADER is able to provide a project of help to those who want an extra income. The Civil Service LEADER can help them find a job where the pay is at least a dollar or two above the minimum wage. The stenographers in our office have been getting as much as $1.25 an hour.

NYC Fireman Exam
Closes on June 25

The last day for non-service- men candidates to apply is Wednesday, June 25. The examination will be held on October 1. Applications are issued and received from 9 to 4, Saturday, 9 to 4, and Sundays and holidays at the Seventh Avenue entrance to the New York City Municipal Building. Contact the Municipal Building fire office to schedule an appointment.

For Credentials
Serious candidates in the New York City Metropolitan District may have a requirement for physical fitness. All candidates must be in good physical condition and able to meet the requirements of the examination. The examination is open to all citizens of the United States, except those who have been disqualified by law or who have been convicted of a felony.

NYC Postal Clerk-Carrier Jobs Are Coming
WASHINGTON, May 26 — The U.S. Civil Service Commission is preparing to authorize the holding of a series of new postal clerk and carrier examinations, in the New York, N. Y., Brooklyn, and Philadelphia districts, under the Whitten amendment, which provides for permanent appointments.

The Senate has voted to extend the Post Office Department from the 1950 to the 1960s, and to allow permanent appointments. The Senate version is expected to change.

The Postmaster General Jesse M. Donaldson has requested that his department be excepted, but it is believed that his request will be adopted. President Truman would veto the bill.

Goal Is Regular Job
Substitute carriers receive $1.14 an hour when on the job, while regular carriers earn $1.14 an hour for the same work. Substitutes are entitled to a minimum of two hours work when they report for duty, and that, if they work for one hour or less, an hour and a half shift method has caused considerable resentment among employees.

If the substitute job becomes permanent, Mr. Donaldson feels that substitute carriers should be given permanent appointments after serving his probationary period at the rate of $1.14 an hour.

M. Donaldson's expressed intention is to substitute for permanent regular appointments. This would mean that the last day for non-service- men candidates to apply is Tuesday, June 25. The examination will be held on October 1. Applications are issued and received from 9 to 4, Saturday, 9 to 4, and Sundays and holidays at the Seventh Avenue entrance to the New York City Municipal Building. Substitutes are entitled to a minimum of two hours work when they report for duty, and that, if they work for one hour or less, an hour and a half shift method has caused considerable resentment among employees.

If the substitute job becomes permanent, Mr. Donaldson feels that substitute carriers should be given permanent appointments after serving his probationary period at the rate of $1.14 an hour.

M. Donaldson's expressed intention is to substitute for permanent regular appointments. This would mean that the last day for non-service- men candidates to apply is Tuesday, June 25. The examination will be held on October 1. Applications are issued and received from 9 to 4, Saturday, 9 to 4, and Sundays and holidays at the Seventh Avenue entrance to the New York City Municipal Building. Contact the Municipal Building fire office to schedule an appointment.

The examination is open to all citizens of the United States, except those who have been disqualified by law or who have been convicted of a felony.

The Senate has voted to extend the Post Office Department from the 1950 to the 1960s, and to allow permanent appointments. The Senate version is expected to change.

WASHINGTON, May 26 — The U.S. Senate has voted to extend the Post Office Department from the 1950 to the 1960s, and to allow permanent appointments. The Senate version is expected to change.

The Postmaster General Jesse M. Donaldson has requested that his department be excepted, but it is believed that his request will be adopted. President Truman would veto the bill.

Goal Is Regular Job
Substitute carriers receive $1.14 an hour when on the job, while regular carriers earn $1.14 an hour for the same work. State School Planned In Firefighting Methods

The State Association of Fire Chiefs, at its annual meeting recently at Binghamton, approved the formation of the State Fire Chiefs Institute in the State Division of Safety.

The Institute would train fire officers and firemen in fire administration, training, firefighting techniques, fire protection and response and other types of teaching. Volunteer or professional firemen would be admitted, as well as officers and employees of the State police, and generally, non-residents could be admitted.

The Institute would be headed by a director and would issue State certificates to those who successfully completed the courses.

Syracuse

THE MEMBERS of the Syracuse chapter, CSEA, were deeply grieved on the death of Edward P. Carr, who retired last year as district manager of the State Employees Insurance Fund. He gave 30 years of faithful service to the State, and always showed deep concern and interest in the welfare of his fellow-workers. He was a model civil servant.

Mr. Carr was postmaster of the Syracuse chapter and an ardent supporter of its activities. He had been kind of mind and a wonderful sense of humor. He was one of the pioneers of the Dossan Guild and a veteran of World War I.

He is survived by his wife, three children, Mary J. and Sons C. and A. Clark, a son, Edward P. Carr Jr., two daughters, Agnes M. H. Clark, and a brother, Paul C. Carr. A social meeting at the First Unitarian Church followed the funeral service on June 16. A buffet supper was served and music and danc-
