The State of New York is at a disadvantage in meeting the cost of living. This is a conclusion which President J. Edward Conway, the civil service employees' representative, drew when he made a study of state employment and salaries. Conway's study showed that state salaries lagged generally by nearly seven percent and that private industry had shelled the same percentage recently.

We issued statements giving definite facts as to salaries disclosed by inquiry. We are aware of economics of every reliable economic index, revenue for the fiscal year 1951, rises in the cost of living and adjustments made in response on the part of state workers and their families in maintaining the standard of living.

Infused with the idea that there should be an opportunity for state employees to discuss their grievances and come up to date with their collective bargaining rights, McFarland's Memo on Pay was issued for circulation by the Association. This study of the financial status of state employees and their families in maintaining the standard of living was the first and only opportunity for salary negotiations offered to employees during budget preparation. We were advised that no provision was made to open to private employees are not available to state employees, and that one-half for overtime the state pays only straight time for the man.

The fringe benefits enjoyed by state workers in comparison with those provided in private employment must not be overlooked. This is one of all the facts if they are to be fairly considered. It should be noted that the average state employee earns a forty-eight hour week, that while private employees pay time and overtime, the state employee pays during the early inflationary period, that the state pay policies do not differ from the state's policies.

The granting of our appeal would do two important things: first, it would give the employee the incentive that is necessary and recompense of competent personnel in state service now seriously threatened, and second, the state would improve efficiency in the present already distressed state employee body.

Civil Service
Now Covers 361,211 Aides

ALBANY, Feb. 16—There are 361,211 state employees in New York State under the Civil Service Commission and 268,578 state employees in New York State under the jurisdiction of the State Commission. According to a statistical report issued today by the Governor, Albert E. Conant, the State Commission under the jurisdiction of the State Commission includes employees.

Local governments and the state do not have a civil service commission and are, therefore, subject to the jurisdiction of the State Commission. Local government employees under the jurisdiction of the State Commission and personnel officers but subject to inspection and regulation by the State Commission. Employees of state departments are, therefore, subject to the jurisdiction of the State Commission.

Seventy-seven percent of the state employees under commission jurisdiction are in the composite employment groups, and about one percent are in the executive.

The largest of the State departments and agencies is the Department of Mental Hygiene, which has 116,074 employees. The smallest is the Whiteface Mountain Authority with nine.

About one-quarter of all state employees are women. Of the 263,924 employed for 1950, 25,025 are women. Forty-two percent of the female employees are women.

The Civil Service Commission directly administers the civil service in counties and cities with a population of 10,000 or less. This has a total of 5,140 employees, and covers 24,382 state workers and city employees.

Cities and counties operate their own civil service administration, independent of the state civil service administration, included in the jurisdiction of the State Commission, have 263,811 employees, of which 184,716 are in New York City which has 174,816.

Krumman for Pay
Hospital Unit

SYRACUSE, Feb. 16—Fred J. Krumman, President of the Men's Health and Hospital Union, stated, that "27,009 Mental Hygiene employees in the State of New York are at a disadvantage. The Governor and the Budget Director have said that at least two percent of the state workers in the state hospitals are necessary to maintain the present high cost of living.

Promotions in the Department are classified as at least 3,000, new positions, will be created a basic salary of $1,000 with a maximum of $3,000 per year."

Mr. Krumman urged mental hygienists to contact their district union, to become organized in New York State, and work towards better conditions and better working and working conditions.

Andrews to Enter Episcopal Ministry

SYRACUSE, Feb. 16—Nelson Andrews, Jr., a member of the State Assembly, has been named attorney for the Civil Service Employees Association by the Governor. Meeting Gets Pledges
From All Over State

County leaders, and individual leaders, met in the Governor's office today with President J. Edward Conway, the state employees' representative, to discuss the possibility of a State employees' Association. The Governor, in his capacity as state employees' representative, expressed his willingness to mediate in any negotiations that might develop. Conway, in turn, expressed his willingness to mediate.

The Democrats are already committed to a pay raise program. One of the highlights of the meeting occurred when President J. Edward Conway, McFarland for the state employees' representative, gave the state employees' Association a push forward.

The Governor and the Budget Director have said that at least two percent of the state workers in the state hospitals are necessary to maintain the present high cost of living. Fringe benefits enjoyed by state workers in comparison with those provided in private employment must not be overlooked. This is one of all the facts if they are to be fairly considered. Professional"
Compensation Examiners Win Court Case for Review Of Higher Pay Denial

ALBANY, Feb. 16 — A suit brought by reviewing examiners in the Compensation Appeals Board, to compel reallocation of their pay raises from 1979 and 1980 to senior psychiatrists, resulted in a decision by a court to the effect that the action was not permissible. The court held that the appeal to the Civil Service Commission was not effective without a concomitant appeal to the Compensation Appeals Board, which is a separate and distinct body.

The court remarked the application to the Appeals Board with "dissenting views, but in accordance with the provisions of sub-section 78 of Article 78 of the Civil Service Law." That statute provides that unpaid employees relating to classification or allocation of salary grade, the employee filing such appeal shall be afforded reasonable opportunity to present facts in support of or in relation to such application at a time and place and in such manner as may be specified by the board.

The state's position was not maintained, and in that the Appeals Board made its decision without giving the employees an opportunity for the presentation of their application. Such action, the court said was tantamount to an administrative decision.

The court further held that the suit was barred by the limitations under Article 78 of the Civil Practice Act. The original complaint was filed in 1978, when the final decision of the Civil Service Standardization Board which determined the compensation of the Compensation Appeals Board, which had already passed unanimously by the board.

The bill embodied a proposal for a new compensation plan for the president who is also the administrator of the psychiatrists, and such a proposal, the court said, was an act of the commission, and not the Compensation Appeals Board, and therefore having rule-making and appeal power.

Bruce Smith Forgot A Few Things

The squabble engendered by the Bruce Smith report and the subsequent Municipal Civil Service Commission hearings leaves several matters disturbingly unanswered.

District Attorney Frank S. Hogan has announced he will investigate Mr. Smith's charges, made in reports to the Mayor's Committee on Management Survey, that unqualified individuals have been appointed to public posts.

In the first place, there's Mr. Smith's bland assumption that the Police Department should take over from the Civil Service Commission for appointment as policemen. There are many aspects to these charges. Without in any way attempting to prejudice the case, we would like to point out our views on some, though by no means all, of those aspects.

Threat to Merit System

The whole purpose of the provisions of the civil service law is to establish a detailed classification, and system of competitive examinations, and to require that the only test for promotion be a competitive examination, and that the only qualification for employment be that the employee possess the necessary minimum qualifications for the position. As a result, the public service is felt to be a level, open to all, on the basis of merit.

Another principal point of confusion results from Mr. Smith's failure to emphasize that he was talking about an administrative assistant position in the Board of Transportation. When the list came out, and the incumbent provisional was not on it, the job was abolished, and the position of stenographer, grade 5, was created at the same salary. But there is no eligible list for stenographer, grade 5. Budget Director Abraham D. Beame said that the list does not exist because grade 5 is in the administrative level, and a grade 5, list is not needed for an employee in an administrative position. So, although the job is being filled by a provisional, the old job was not.

Mr. Smith's reports have most confused him when the provisions of the law are a matter of passage in both instances.

While no inkling was given as to just what the Civil Service Commission intends to do, it is generally agreed that establishing a freeze of a particular title when a list in that title comes out.

Higher Pay Should Go With Higher Grade

A bill that deserves quick passage by the State Legislature is a proposed amendment to the civil service law having for its purpose a change in the procedure which follows an upward readjustment of pay or title and the classification of a position by the State Civil Service Commission. This amendment, approved by the Director of the Budget. (The bill is Senate Intro. 554, Pr. 570, Assembly Intro. 676, Pr. 677.)

Under existing law, most employees awarded an upward adjustment have to take an immediate new examination, and so pay, but merely a new salary maximum toward which they must work by increment steps. This bill would provide that on the effective date of a reallocation the employee would go to the salary step in the new grade corresponding to the one he would have graded under the old classification.

The whole purpose of the provisions of the civil service law pertaining to reallocations is to keep the State salary structure in line and to prevent internal inconsistencies. The State officials are responsible to the State Civil Service Commission for the machinery of reallocation and to obtain agreement from all the officials on upgrading a position, and then to delay the effect for three to six years. The reallocation must always be based on the present duties and responsibilities of the position. Having found that the present duties are worthy of a higher salary, it is unjust to delay the benefits for years, in the meantime depriving the employee of the full salary which the duties of the position warrant.
The following State exams are now open.
